PREFACE TO THE FIRST EDITION

A suggestion for a "Merchiston Register" occurs in The Merchistonian for 1893. Dr Rogerson at that time compiled a list of Names and Addresses, but he did not proceed further. His list was invaluable in making the present Register, which was begun in 1902. The sources of information available were The Merchiston Magazine, 1837-42, '48; The Merchiston Chronicle, 1859; The Merchistonian, 1865-7, 1878 to the present time; and a School Roll which was started in 1863. The paucity of material accounts for the slowness with which the work progressed.

The Editor is particularly indebted to the late John Hunter Tait (O.M.) for valuable information about Merchistonians of the seventies and earlier, and for the History of the School, which forms the introduction to the Register; also to John Lamb, Esq. (O.M.), R. B. Webber, Esq., and F. D. Evans, Esq., for their contributions on Football, Cricket and the Cadet Corps respectively.

There are necessarily many omissions and inaccuracies, the remedying of which must be left to Merchistonians. All corrections and additions should be sent to the Editor.

PREFACE TO THE FIFTH EDITION

The general plan of the Fourth Edition has been maintained, but an account of the Preparatory School has been added, a list of Oxford and Cambridge Blues restored, and numerous small errors of fact corrected. The Editor is very much indebted to the help of numerous Merchistonians, particularly Messrs W. G. Cousin, A. R. MacWilliam, A. D. Fairweather and Professor A. S. Duncan, in making corrections and additions, and to his colleagues Messrs M. S. Preston, C. G. R. Mair, H. V. Stone, C. P. Chamberlin, J. W. Donaldson, W. L. Bircumshaw, L. G. Patterson and J. R. Brown for their continuation of the synopses and lists which form the latter part of the book. He would like to express his admiration of the generous response there has been to the Governors' offer of a modest price, cash with order; this has saved much administrative difficulty in the taxing task of producing a new edition in less than twelve months—a task in which he has been greatly aided by his wife in many ways, including both the checking of the previous Index and the preparation of the new one.

The First One Hundred and Twenty Years

CHARLES CHALMERS, 1833 — 1850

The school is generally taken to have been founded in 1833, for in that year Mr. Charles Chalmers came to reside in the old Merchiston Tower, bringing with him about thirty boys to start a school under the name of the Merchiston Castle Academy. The first headmaster had become a schoolmaster almost by accident: after an unfinished degree course at St. Andrews, cut short by ill health, he had gone into a publishing business, first in Edinburgh and then in Glasgow, but after some years he gave up his interest in the Glasgow firm and returned to Edinburgh with the intention of continuing his own studies in Mathematics and Science, in both of which he was a brilliant and original thinker. While carrying on these studies he took into his home as boarders a few young university students, coaching them for their examinations, and he found this occupation so much to his liking that he decided to take a larger house than the one in which he was then living and to start a school proper. This new house was situated in Park Place on a site now occupied by the M'Ewan Hall and so it may fairly be said that Merchiston was really founded in Park Place in 1828.

As the number of his pupils increased Mr. Chalmers had to engage assistant masters to help him and he soon found that the Park Place house was not large enough for his purpose. Looking around for somewhere bigger and with more ground around it, he decided to lease the old Merchiston Tower on the Borough Muir, just as his successors a century later found in their turn the need to move to the open spaces of Colinton. Thus in 1833 began the school's association with the old family home of the Napiers. At that time the southern boundary of the city of Edinburgh lay no farther out than Tollcross, and Merchiston Tower stood in open country. To the north were farm fields running down to the canal half a mile distant: to the south an uninterrupted view of the Braids: and to the west, a few hundred yards away, two farms called the Grange and Myreside respectively. Only on the east were houses to be seen and these but few and widely scattered over the Borough Muir. The old original Merchiston Tower had been recently extended by the addition of a false front on the south side, giving it the appearance known to many generations of Merchistonians but very unlike its look to-day in 1950 when it has reverted to the original L-shaped tower with all the "modern" improvements removed. There were of course none of the classroom additions, study block, assembly hall, etc., which twentieth-century Merchistonians also associate with the Castle.

Though the surroundings were pleasant, life must have been very hard in the Castle, particularly during the dark days of winter ; candles in sconces on the walls lit up the passages by night ; baths proper were unknown and a boy was fortunate if he was able to get hot water once a week in a small tub filled by hand. The smallest boys were looked after by a "Mother Brunton" who personally soaped and sponged each in turn on Saturday nights, and though this applied only to the very youngest it was a very necessary proceeding as boys at that time joined the school at the early age of eight. School work was based on a thorough knowledge of the Classics, French, English and Mathematics, though with the Headmaster's interest in the Sciences it was natural that he should include these subjects in the curriculum ; he also took boys out weekly on botanical excursions and on visits to local factories, so that at a period when the few other schools of similar type confined themselves to a study of Latin and Greek, Merchiston was giving a lead by this introduction of a Science side. Study was not taken lightly and for Prep. each night all boys assembled in one large room with masters at the head of their own particular pupils to assist them : this had its advantages as well as its disadvantages, for if the form master was satisfied that Prep. was properly finished boys were allowed to go out early : but on the other hand those not so diligent had to get up early next morning to complete their work.

During the early period of Mr. Chalmers' headmastership a Merchiston Magazine was started but it flourished only for a few years and as it was mainly a medium for aspiring writers to practise their art, very little of the day-to-day activities of the school remain recorded except in the memoirs of various Merchistonians. We do know, however, that the number of boys in the school soon rose to eighty, and early on a Literary and Debating Society was started for the older boys which has continued its activities unbroken to the present day. Organized games as we know them had not been introduced but in the playing field, which then lay just across the Colinton Road and opposite the school where Abbotsford Park now stands, the bigger boys enjoyed football, shinty, or cricket, these being played among themselves and not against other schools. Alternative occupations were golf on Bruntsfield Links or the upkeep of small gardens. The pastimes of the smaller boys appear to have been tig, rounders, marbles and peg tops : these juniors were well looked after and regularly on Saturdays a number of them went to the home of the Headmaster's famous brother, Dr. Thomas Chalmers, where they danced reels and played charades, afterwards being taken back to school by hackney coach, for though there were horse-drawn trams in Edinburgh itself there was no means of getting to Merchiston except by walking or by coach. Up to 1838 on Sundays all boys had to walk twice to Buccleuch Church on the east side of the Meadows but in that year a church was erected at Morningside and thereafter till the school moved to Colinton, Merchiston boys attended services in the new church, and in others built later. There were also meetings in the school on Sunday afternoons when Dr. Chalmers and other eminent preachers addressed the boys.

In running the school the Headmaster was helped on the domestic side by Mrs. Chalmers and, in his later years, on the teaching side by two sons, and we get the impression that the school was part of a happy family centering around a man of considerable originality of thought and charm of manner. This state of affairs went on till 1848 when Mr. Chalmers handed over the duties of resident housemaster to his son Thomas, though continuing to direct the school himself from his house outside the Castle. This arrangement broke down after two years partly on account of the ill health of the son and partly because of the Headmaster's advancing years; so in 1850 Mr. Chalmers decided to give up all connection with the school and to sell it. He made sure that it would continue on the lines on which he had started it by handing it on to a Mr. John Gibson; then, in his house near by he spent the remaining fourteen years of his life in continued research in the sciences which had been his life-long interest.

II

JOHN GIBSON, 1850 — 1856

At the time when he took over the school Mr. Gibson was thirty-seven and unlike his predecessor had become a schoolmaster as soon as his own schooldays were over and while still studying at Edinburgh University, proving so successful that at the age of twenty-eight he was appointed the first Government Inspector of Schools in Scotland. He appears to have preferred teaching to inspecting and nine years later acquired Merchiston from Mr. Chalmers and in 1850 became its second Headmaster. Mr. Gibson's tenure of office was very short for he died at the early age of forty-three in the year 1856 but in his few years he left his mark on the school in many ways. To accommodate the still increasing numbers he added to the existing buildings an Assembly Hall and some classrooms, and built a Gym (always called the Play Room) adjacent to the Bowling Green. He also leased "Merchiston Bank," a house standing where Merchiston Bank Terrace now stands, which then became an extra boarding house. Not that all boys were boarders for the school now took in day boys from an expanding Edinburgh: like all day boys throughout the generations these were made use of by the boarders to bring in illegal grub from the local shops, and other things than food were apparently smuggled in, as for example, on the Queen's birthday some years later in 1885 when some boys who celebrated the occasion with fireworks in the dormitory caused a fire sufficiently extensive to gut the Headmaster's rooms below. Life in general in the Castle cannot have changed much from the early days under Mr. Chalmers: rooms were still illuminated by gas and heated by open fires; hot baths were non-existent but each boy was allotted a time for a hot footwash once a week, the washing ceremony taking place in a garden house near the east entrance to the school grounds where the head gardener presided over a row of tubs and a boiler. Gardening was still a popular hobby, while football, shinty, cricket, rounders, marbles and peg tops also had their devotees. Teaching of the normal subjects was very carefully done under Mr. Gibson's guidance while the study of Chemistry and Natural History continued as before, but the chief merit of the Headmaster's short reign was that he kept up the happy atmosphere brought into being by his predecessor. He was a man who devoted himself to the welfare of the boys and set them an example of unselfishness: he could be quick tempered when occasion warranted it and would take no excuse for any mean behaviour, but by example and precept tried to teach the boys to be straightforward and honest, doing this with a smile and cheery voice which made all boys like and respect him. He was much helped by Mrs. Gibson who took as much interest in the boys as her husband, recognising each one by name and knowing the details of his home life. Between them Mr. and Mrs. Gibson indeed made the Castle a second home to each boy and helped to establish the tradition of a happy school with a family atmosphere which has lasted with few interruptions to the present day.

The Headmaster's death took place most unexpectedly at the beginning of the Autumn term of 1856. On the first night of term he must have known he was seriously ill for, after taking prayers as usual, he shook hands with each boy in turn as if in farewell: this was his last appearance in school and he died a few days later. Shaking hands with every boy is now the accepted custom of the Headmaster or the Master on duty, each night, after prayers, though it is doubtful if it originated in this last act of Mr. Gibson as tradition suggests.

III

THOMAS HARVEY, 1856 — 1863

Mr. Gibson's successor was Mr. Thomas Harvey, M.A., Oxon., who remained headmaster for seven years. Mr. Harvey subsequently had a long career as Rector of the Edinburgh Academy but it must be admitted that he was not exactly suited to the particular climate of Merchiston. He was a brilliant classical scholar but appears to have been less able to inspire respect and friendship among his pupils than the first two headmasters, and some of the family atmosphere was lost. It is probable that education on the classical side improved in his time, partly because of his teaching and partly as a result of the introduction of examinations into the school programme. He did not confine his attention only to teaching for in his time the somewhat primitive washing arrangements were improved by the addition of a plunge bath about fifteen feet by twelve, and waist deep, in which boys could take a cold dip before breakfast: he also engaged a professional coach for cricket. However we have little record of his time, nor do memoirs of Merchistonians refer much to his years, a significant sign that there was little in the way of new development. In fact numbers began to go down and the school was getting to a very critical state in its existence; for it must be remembered that it was still a privately run institution competing with several others of like nature, only a few of which have survived to this day. It was easy in those times for an enthusiast to start a school but with the death of the owner there was little to guarantee continuity: there was no corporate body to carry on and in the early stages too small an old boy element to give support by voice or in more substantial ways, and no real school tradition had been established. There was thus every possibility that Merchiston Castle School might gradually show a decline in the numbers of its pupils until such time as it became unprofitable to continue: that it did not do so but instead rose to greater heights than before was due to the fortunate chance that brought forward Mr. John Rogerson as its new headmaster when Mr. Harvey resigned in 1863. Mr. Rogerson was no newcomer to Merchiston for he joined the staff as an assistant master under Mr. Harvey in the same year (1858) as another well-known headmaster, Mr. Hely-Hutchison Almond. In 1862 Mr. Almond went to Loretto as Headmaster and in 1863 when Mr. Harvey went to the Academy and Mr. Rogerson became Headmaster of Merchiston there began a long period of growth and success for the three schools, with the common bond that their headmasters had all been on the Merchiston staff together.

IV

JOHN JOHNSTON ROGERSON, 1863 — 1898

John Johnston Rogerson who was to be Headmaster of Merchiston for thirty-five years — a time longer than his three predecessors put together — was Scottish born, and educated at Moffat Academy and Edinburgh University. He began his teaching career at Loretto immediately after graduating: he stayed there three years, then taught for a while at Cheltenham before returning to Edinburgh where he became a visiting master to two or three schools, Merchiston included. He eventually bought the school when Mr. Harvey resigned. The thirty-five years of his headmastership are generally looked upon by the Merchistonians of his time as the really great days of the school and to them all "The Chief," as he was known, was the symbol of everything that a headmaster should be. Under his guidance the school advanced in numbers and renown: its success in games was particularly marked and in scholarship it made almost as great progress: it was one of the advanced schools of its day, introducing all that was best of the new ideas in education — education in its widest meaning. That the Headmaster was recognised in the outer world as one of the leaders in his own sphere was shown by the University of Edinburgh conferring on him the honorary degree of LL.D. in 1891. Those who love Merchiston realize what an enormous debt they owe to Dr. Rogerson for he certainly made the school a household word in Scotland, but it is in no way belittling a great man if it is admitted that his task in building up the school was in some ways easier than that of his successors who have to keep to the very high standard he set while faced with much greater competition. The days of the Chief are remembered as days of unbeaten Rugger sides — unbeaten for several seasons on end — some never having their line crossed from one end of the season to the other: great days indeed, but probably the old Chief would be equally proud of his school to-day when, under conditions of much greater competition, the team can still go through a season without defeat by any other school. Gone are the days when members of the XV. played in the Scottish International XV. while still schoolboys, but again it must be remembered that the number of clubs from which players can now be selected is much greater than it was fifty years ago. To do justice to Dr. Rogerson's genius is difficult for one who did not come under his spell personally, but only to peruse Merchistonian Magazines of his time is sufficient to bring vividly before the reader a picture of a very kindly and understanding personality, one who expected each boy to do his best in work or play just as he himself took immense pains with everything he did ; one who above all recreated the atmosphere of Chalmers' and Gibson's happy community life with the aid first of Mrs. Gibson as Lady Housekeeper and later Miss Prince, for the " Chief " remained unmarried all his life. He was understanding and direct in manner, had a natural instinct for good discipline without being in any way unapproachable, and was recognised by the boys as being very just in all his dealings with them. Discipline at first was mainly in his hands and in the hands of the assistant masters, for the prefectorial system was still a thing of the future, the only boy with any authority being the Captain of the School who was elected to his post by those members of the previous year's football team who had returned.

As a means of developing character Dr. Rogerson had a high regard for games, especially Rugby football, and one of the first things he did on becoming headmaster was to introduce proper coaching and to see that the game was played conscientiously ; though the actual training was left largely to other members of the staff he used to discuss the afternoon's match with the boys after tea on Saturdays, commending good play and criticising any mistakes which had been made, with a view to eliminating faults. In cricket he showed an equal interest though not himself a performer of note. Under him the school worked long hours and it is interesting to compare them with those of to-day. The day started with prayers and catechism at 7.30 in the morning for half an hour, followed by an hour which was allotted to breakfast and dictation. From 9 to 12 o'clock without a break there were lessons : and games came immediately afterwards from 12 till 2. After this came an interval of an hour for a late dinner and some slight relaxation till at 3 o'clock lessons started again and went on till 6 p.m. Another hour's interval for tea brought Prep. at 7 and the working day came to a close with the end of this at 9 p.m. This programme was the same each day from Monday to Friday but Saturday routine aimed at getting all work finished early, this being achieved by having no lessons but replacing them in the morning by Prep. from 8.30 a.m. to 10 : games occupied the time from 10 to 5 p.m. with the exception of a dinner break, and the evening after tea was devoted to dancing. The long period for games on Saturday was necessary on account of the school matches which lasted for two hours from 1.30 to 3.30, played in four " quarters " by twenty stalwarts. It is interesting to note also that in Dr. Rogerson's early days shinty was played from the beginning of the Autumn term to mid-November ; later this was replaced by lacrosse, but as the school developed a reputation for fine rugby this arrangement gave way to one of football from the very start of the term. In addition to the increasing interest in the winter games cricket was taken more seriously and shortly after Dr. Rogerson's arrival a new square for the 1st XI. was laid in a field on the north of the school. At this time also began the function known as the Annual Assault, a gathering at which the High School, Loretto, The Edinburgh Academy, Dreghorn College, the Institution, Canonmills House, Blair Lodge and Merchiston, met in inter-school competitions in fencing, singlestick and gym. Right from the start it must have been a popular entertainment for parents and others, as it needed the Music Rooms in George Street to house both the large number of visitors and the military band which was always brought in for the occasion. Inter-school athletic games were then also on a much larger scale than we know them now, seldom less than four schools competing in any one year and spectators often numbering four to five thousand.

As the school grew in numbers the dining hall was built and more room for the boarders had to be found; some were in Merchiston Bank and others in a flat in Marmion Terrace commonly called "The Lodgings." No proper provision had then been made for sickness but as a precaution against the spread of infection, suspects were sent to the school gardener's cottage in Morningside Road. The only classrooms were those in the Castle itself together with those built on by Mr. Gibson, and a "Chemistry House" converted from the old garden house where previously the weekly washing activities had taken place before the introduction of Mr. Harvey's plunge bath. Round the latter cold pool there were now cubicles, each containing a big square tub which could be filled with hot water from a boiler, any cooling water having to be taken from the plunge bath with a tin dipper: in true schoolboy fashion the last user of the tin invariably dropped it to the bottom of the pool, so before taking a hot bath it was generally necessary first to go to the bottom of the cold plunge to recover the dipper! There seems to have been a perpetual shortage of water at this period for the "Merchistonian" of the time generally had at least one letter per number to the editor asking for the washing rooms to be opened more frequently, the custom being to lock them up except for two periods in the day. Even after matches there were only enough tubs for half the team at a time. There was no way of drying any damp jerseys etc. but, whatever their condition, these garments had to be returned to the linen bags in which they were kept, and hung in a passage till wanted for games the next day when they would be withdrawn still damp and in a very unhygienic state.

By 1878 when Dr. Rogerson had been Headmaster for fifteen years many changes had taken place in the school. On the cultural side, annual musical entertainments had been started before invited audiences and examinations set by outside examiners took place in each Summer term, the examiners being University lecturers or professors, the chief of whom gave his report at the Annual Exhibition, by which name the prize giving was known. On the other hand the morning catechism before breakfast was replaced by a run to the foot of Colinton Road or to the Morningside Toll and in some form or other this pre-breakfast exercise continued right up to the last days in the old Castle when it had become a run round the bowling green within the Castle grounds. As the school grew, so did Edinburgh, and the old Merchiston Tower was no longer a solitary building set among fields: from Tollcross, houses had gradually extended to Churchill and one of the first effects on the school was to deprive it of its playing field, doomed to be laid out as a housing site. Luckily Dr. Rogerson was able to acquire another field a little down Colinton Road on the opposite side to the Castle and great pains were taken to make this suitable for cricket as well as for rugby: the new square was formally brought into use in May of 1878 with an International match between Scottish and English XIs. This field remained in the school's hands until purchased as a site for the present George Watson's College buildings at the time Merchiston moved to Colinton. The season before the opening of the new field had witnessed the very peak of Merchiston rugby, for neither in school nor in club matches had a single point been scored against the XV. and the name of Merchiston was becoming famed throughout the land. Not on land only, for down in the sea at Granton senior boys were being tested in an annual swimming competition while the juniors in their turn were being put through their paces at the baths of the Craiglockhart Hydropathic (now the Convent of The Sacred Heart). Thus in fifteen years Dr. Rogerson had consolidated the school's position to such an extent that from then onwards there was never any suggestion of it being other than a permanent feature of Edinburgh school life. Its continuity was doubly assured by the existence of a flourishing old boys' club which, under the secretaryship of Hugh Gibson, son of the second Headmaster, was now also accepted as a permanent part of the school. Other signs of progress towards an established order of things were to be seen : new buildings began to go up behind the Castle, destined to become the carpenter's shop and art room : not before its time an improved water supply for the baths was laid on : a new wing was added to Castle Bank, fitted with cubicles for the senior boys : and, most important sign that Dr. Rogerson pictured the school going on in the future without interruption, a sanatorium was built in Colinton Road on ground immediately to the west of the Castle property on the site of the old Grange Farm.

During this period we also see the origin of some of our accepted customs : blue blazers which till then had been a privilege of the 1st XI., could now be worn by all boys during the summer, the XI. having a crest on the breast pocket to distinguish them : boys were allowed to bring bicycles to school in the summer term : the sister of the school captain was invited to give away the prizes after the Games : Free and Easies were started. By 1883 in fact, after fifty years of existence, the school had developed certain ways of doing things, hallowed by time so that they were already accepted as traditions.

The remaining years of the century saw continued change and progress with the strong personality of the Headmaster showing through all school activities. He was very ably helped by some outstanding assistant masters among whom must be mentioned Mr. J. R. Burgess, for many years the senior master. Mr. Burgess took charge of swimming and brought up the standard of this activity to a very high level and induced such enthusiasm that bathing before breakfast at the Warrender baths was taken quite as a matter of course : he coached boys for the inter-school Games : he commanded the Cadet Corps for many years and first taught boys to shoot with a service rifle to such good effect that the school team was soon making a name for itself by winning the Scottish Schools' trophies. A sign of the developing corporate spirit was Dr. Rogersons' decision in 1885 to send boys to church once only on Sundays, substituting a school service in the Assembly Hall in the afternoon for the evening church service, so that to the end of the school's days at the Castle, neighbouring churches saw the black coats and top hats or the kilt suits of Merchiston boys only at the morning services on Sundays. On week-days within the school were now to be found societies to interest and instruct boys in their leisure hours: a photographic club for those who dabbled in this new art, and an ambulance class for those with more interest in the body in the flesh than in bromide reproductions of it. The session 1888-89 was a memorable one in that Dr. Rogerson celebrated his 25th year as Headmaster. The boys showed the success of his regime by again going through the season with a XV. against which not a single point was scored by any other school side and producing a shooting team which won the newly instituted Edinburgh Schools' Trophy competition. Masters and boys combined to present to the Headmaster his portrait in oils, the same portrait that looks down on the present generation of masters and boys in the Dining Hall of the new school at Colinton.

JOHN JOHNSTON ROGERSON, LL.D.

During his remaining ten years as Headmaster Dr. Rogerson was not always in the best of health but in spite of this he continued to have new ideas in connection with all school activities. On the material side a new chemistry "house" was erected in the West Gardens together with a block of classrooms which formed with it and the Grant museum a line of buildings running parallel to the Colinton Road and separated from it by the West Garden lawn. In these same gardens a marquee was put up each year for the Annual Assault which was now always held as a school function on the day before the Annual Exhibition, for from the fifties, when it had been a big social event when all schools joined in, it had gradually become of less and less import after the death of Captain Rowland who had been chiefly instrumental in getting it going. In 1884 a Cadet Corps affiliated to the Queen's Edinburgh Rifles had been started and this now played a prominent part in school life. In these days also the museum was called upon to house a few very young boys in addition to its skeleton, its mummy, and its cases of specimens, and these were in fact the first of the Preparatory school, there being in 1892 enough of them to warrant the purchase by Dr. Rogerson of Merchiston Lodge which, after certain alterations and additions, became a separate establishment run by its own headmaster (subject to Dr. Rogerson), with its own staff, and living its own life quite distinct from the main school except that the Prep.'s time table was arranged to allow a common use of the playing fields. As the Prep. flourished, other houses nearby were in turn added to it and this seemed to put the Castle on a really firm footing, as a constant inflow of boys was now assured. However, it must be remembered that the main castle was not Dr. Rogerson's own property but was merely leased by him and he must naturally have begun to wonder in what form the school could be carried on after his time. The day of the big private school was ending and the Headmaster himself was most anxious that the school should be recognised as a Public School. With this end in view he first obtained a long extension of the lease of the Castle and surrounding grounds, not an easy matter as dwelling houses on the north side had come right up to the rear of the school and it looked as if even the little ground left there would be swallowed up by the private builder. Luckily Dr. Rogerson's bid was accepted and knowing that he had now secured his site for many years to come he then proposed that he should transfer his interest in the school to a Company, he himself to be the biggest shareholder and all others to be Merchistonians if possible. This suggestion met with the approval of all concerned and thus in 1896 the school ceased to be privately owned and became an institution with not only a successful past but as far as could be seen, a future assured for all time. By coincidence rather than design, this same year saw the introduction of the school cap with crest, the previous cap having been plain blue without any mark to differentiate it from the many other blue school caps then to be seen in Edinburgh.

His end achieved, Dr. Rogerson decided in 1898 to retire from active teaching, much to the regret of Merchistonians of all ages. His thirty-five years saw the school grow in stature in all ways: from a private school to a Public School: from a little known establishment to one famed even across the Border: from a matter of 80 boys to 180 of whom about 80 were day boys: from a few buildings, namely the Castle and Gym, to a Group of buildings on the north side of Colinton Road consisting of Castle with Assembly Hall and Dining Hall, a block of classrooms including science laboratories and museum round the West Gardens, boarding houses in Castle Bank and Mardale Crescent, a sanatorium, and a Prep. These buildings alone were evidence of the progress of the school under the "Chief" but his more significant achievement was the spirit he had infused: lesser men could have acquired school buildings: his greatness lay in putting a soul into the school.

As a parting gift Dr. Rogerson gave money for the erection of a building to house the school library, while the boys, the staff, and Merchistonians, contributed to a fund to found in his honour two scholarships to be called The Rogerson Scholarships for award to boys about to leave school for a University, and tenable for three years. Dr. Rogerson took up residence near the Castle and during the remaining years of his life continued to take an interest in the boys at school, and also kept in touch with Merchistonians all over the world. He died in 1903 after a short illness and in his will left funds to the school to augment the Rogerson Scholarship moneys and sufficient to enable one scholarship to be awarded every year.

To succeed Dr. Rogerson was no easy task for any man: to the outsider the names Merchiston and Rogerson were synonymous. The Directors invited Mr. George Smith, M.A., to take over from one who had reigned so successfully for thirty-five years and as Dr. Rogerson was Chairman of the Directors Mr. Smith knew that he started with his predecessor's approval: in fact, right from the start, the new Headmaster and Dr. Rogerson worked on very friendly terms, much to the advantage of the school.

Mr. Smith was educated at Ayr Academy, Edinburgh University, and Trinity College, Oxford. After leaving Oxford he taught for a term at the Edinburgh Academy and then went to Rugby where he remained for seven years for some part of which he was a housemaster. Having the "Rogerson tradition" to contend with the new headmaster wisely began by making very little change in the school routine but in the course of his sixteen years at Merchiston he brought about a surprisingly large number of reforms in one way or another, avoiding change for change's sake but always being ready to move with the times : if he considered a change desirable he quietly and tactfully persuaded others of the need for it. He was interested in education in its widest sense and not merely in the somewhat narrow field provided by the Public Schools and he first introduced to Merchiston the idea of a " Civics " course for the VI. form, being particularly fortunate in getting Dr. Harry Miller to visit the boys and talk to them on this subject. His attitude to the boys and his views on their upbringing is illustrated by his successfully persuading one of his School Captains to put an end to the unofficial New Boys' Concert. Reminiscences of this feature vary very much in kind; some years it appears to have been a shocking ordeal, with those who through nerves or musical inability failing to please being cast forth ignominiously, sped on their way by a group of seniors armed with loaded kit-bags; in other years it was comparatively decorous, with Mr. Skinner present to detect singing talent. Initiation ceremonies are dear to all societies, and this particular one died hard; a similar ordeal for those entering the senior house, The Bank, was abolished by Mr. Stagg in 1920.

Hours of work remained little changed, the late dinner at 2 p.m. after exercise being retained, but the pre-breakfast period was cut out. Conditions of work were very much improved during the new headmaster's time for electric light was installed throughout the buildings at the turn of the century and accommodation was further extended by a new study block to enable a bigger number of senior boys to enjoy the privilege of individual studies started by Dr. Rogerson. At the same time even more necessary improvements were made to washing arrangements. The old plunge bath was at last done away with and proper baths with running hot and cold water were installed; these were sufficient to give boys two hot baths a week and though there were no sprays for use after games when washing had to be done at basins, the school was for its time considered as well equipped as any. The addition of the study block, changing rooms, lavatories, armoury, and new classrooms formed a group of buildings in the form of a quadrangle on the north side of the castle. The same two new classrooms were still being called the " new " classrooms twenty years later ! More boarding houses were also found to be necessary and in 1901 a house was purchased in Mardale Crescent just behind the Gym, while in 1903 another house opposite the school in Colinton Road and known as " Castle Gate " was also acquired. Again, in 1906 the gap between the Chemistry House and the Museum was filled with a Physics House and a year later the Assembly Hall was enlarged. Thus the school became at last adequately housed with full provision for all the varied aspects of a boy's life in work, games and hygiene.

In the season following Mr. Smith's appointment, cricket divisions were first introduced in an attempt to make the ordinary boy more interested in the game. This was achieved partly by thus giving the lower games an incentive, partly by bringing masters into the divisions; in fact for years the various divisions were known as " Mr. So-and-So's division." Senior and junior matches were played in each. The days of unbeaten records in Rugger were not yet past: in 1900-1901 the

XV. won all eleven school matches with 341 points to nil and in the next season were champion team for the third year running. Following this there were no especially good years until 1911; cricket continued without any special achievement of note till 1914 when the school produced an unbeaten XI. A new departure in school life came about in 1905 when for the first time in its history a shooting team was entered for the Ashburton Shield and finished eighth out of fifty entrants with a score only six points behind the winners, the same place being gained a few years later.

Merchiston Castle School being now well established in name and in accommodation the suggestion was made that to complete the school and to form a focus for all school activities, the erection of a school chapel was the next step to be considered. This idea was vigorously supported by Mr. Smith and within a very short time subscriptions began to come in to him for the purpose. The idea became even more feasible when in 1913 the Directors were able to purchase the castle and grounds outright in lieu of the long lease acquired by Dr. Rogerson in 1895. The future of the school looked in every way assured. There was however a fairly large body of the opinion that a new assembly hall might in the long run serve the same purpose as a chapel and yet be useful for other functions. The point of this can be seen when it is recalled that the Annual Exhibition or Prize-Giving was still held each year in a marquee erected for the purpose either in the West Gardens or near the bowling green, the old assembly hall being inadequate for such occasions. However the actual decision regarding chapel or hall was necessarily postponed when the First World War broke out in August of 1914 and Mr. Smith's championship of the scheme was also brought to a close when late in the Summer term of the same year he was appointed Master of Dulwich College. Sixteen years under Mr. Smith had thus left the school in a still sounder position even than at the close of Dr. Rogerson's headmastership, at least in the material sense, as the above record shows. On the scholastic side the same is true also and the school retained much of its original spirit under the guidance of Mr. Smith, helped in his task by Mrs. Smith.

VI

CECIL STAGG, 1915 — 1936

As Mr. Smith's appointment to Dulwich was not announced till the last week of the Summer term of 1914 it was decided to delay the appointment of a new Headmaster with the result that the outbreak of war saw the school being run by the two senior masters, Mr. R. B. Webber and Mr. C. E. Edwards. Fortunately the war was little felt in school life for the first few months, the days of large-scale bombing being unknown and rationing a thing undreamt of. The school was thus able to live its normal existence apart from the absence of a headmaster; this defect was remedied in the Spring term of 1915 when Mr. Cecil Stagg, M.A., was appointed. Mr. Stagg was a scholar of Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge, and on leaving the university went as assistant master to Marlborough College, being a housemaster there from 1909 onwards. When he came to Merchiston he was newly married. During the war few changes could be made in the running of the school and although there was not the same potential danger from bombing as in the second world war there was always the chance of a Zeppelin raid over the city, though when it did materialise the school was unharmed. As the food situation in the country got worse, catering naturally became more difficult, but probably the most marked effect on the school was the teaching staff shortage, for to add to the difficulty of getting new masters, several of the permanent staff had volunteered early in the war. The new headmaster, assisted by Mrs. Stagg, brought the school successfully through this period. One hundred and seventy-six boys and masters lost their lives in the war, and on the cessation of hostilities the question of a school war memorial naturally began to be considered: by an almost unanimous vote it was decided to build a Memorial Hall with tablets in it inscribed with the names of the Fallen. The Chapel fund started by Mr. Smith was transferred to the Memorial Fund and by 1919 the amount contributed had reached the sum aimed at. With a further donation of £2,000 for an organ for the Hall, plans began to be made for the building on the assumption that it would be erected in the West Gardens, the only available site left in the immediate surroundings of the Castle.

The school was at this time enjoying the post-war boom and there were 130 boarders, the largest ever known: in addition there were 40 day boys. It was organised in four houses, the Castle, Mardale, the Gate, and the Bank, and boys moved from one to the other of these from year to year, though they were not segregated by age quite so definitely as they are now. For instance, on entry, a boy might go into the Castle, the Headmaster's house, where he would find himself in the third flat with other newcomers. At the end of the year he either moved up to the fourth flat or went to another house since the upper flats of the Castle held fewer boys than the lower in proportion to their distance from ground level. At the end of his second year he would probably be moved out of the Castle, for very few boys could be accommodated in the fifth flat during their third year. Finally, the Captain of the School and the Captain of the Sixth occupied the Napier Room at the top of the building, so it will be seen that the Castle was a very mixed bag as far as ages were concerned. Boys not going to the Castle on arrival went to Mardale, the junior house, but at the end of their first year did not necessarily go up to the Gate which held those next senior to them; instead, if they were promising athletes or scholars, they might join similar types from the Castle and go direct to the Bank, so here again there was a bigger age mixture in one house than we get to-day. Boarding houses were used only as dormitories, and certain classrooms were allotted to the different years as day rooms, the youngest boys being in the "New Classrooms," the next in the "Maths," then the "Middle," and finally the seniors in the "East." Here again the distinction by years was not kept rigidly and a boy of outstanding character or ability could be invited to join the year above him if the School Captain obtained the Headmaster's permission: once among his seniors the newcomer automatically took the same seniority as far as school functions were concerned.

When Mr. Stagg arrived the prefectorial system was well established, Dr. Rogerson having appointed prefects to assist the Captain of the School away back in the eighteen-seventies. During Mr. Smith's regime these were assisted by the members of the "Sixth," boys who were not necessarily members of the VI. form but were outstanding boys from the East, selected to occupy the Sixth as a day room, a sort of half-way house to prefectdom. At first the Sixth occupied an unofficial place in school life, not yet prefects, but by virtue of their seniority able to wield considerable influence. By the fact that the door of their room commanded the boys' entrance into the main Castle block they were well placed to watch the comings and goings and misdemeanours of their juniors. Very occasionally they took upon themselves to mete out unofficial punishment for offences that did not come to the prefects' notice but such punishment was generally deserved. The system was open to criticism in that a weak Captain of the Sixth might well condone, if not actively assist in, a certain amount of bullying. Recognising the Sixth as an accepted institution with virtues as well as faults, their activities had been turned into useful channels by giving them the status of junior prefects, though keeping the name of the Sixth. All through the school there was a keen sense of the responsibilities and privileges which came with seniority: the Maths. saw to it that the New Classrooms did not transgress unwritten school laws; the Maths. had to toe the line in the presence of the Middle; and woe betide any of these if they offended the susceptibilities of the East. Thus the Sixth occupied a position in the school which was quite naturally only a little lower than the prefectorial body itself, and to be selected to become one of the twelve members of the Sixth was as great an honour as to be appointed a junior prefect to-day, the selection being done by the Headmaster and the Captain of the School. The Captain of the Sixth was the most powerful boy in the school with the exception of the Captain of the School and his influence for good or bad was enormous, still being "of the boys" rather than "of the prefects." The Sixth punished boys for minor offences against school customs, and for bad manners, but an offender could always appeal to the Captain of the School if he felt he was being unjustly treated. The standard punishment, called "going round the Sixth," was a beating on the posterior with a gym shoe, one or more blows from each member of the Sixth according to the offence. As an institution the Sixth was valuable or otherwise according to the personality of its Captain, and in the middle 20's, after an accident, the Headmaster changed the corporate beatings of the Sixth to initially minor beatings on the hand with the tawse, by one member of the Sixth in the presence of the boy's Head of House. Unpredictably, this led rapidly to a decline in the sense of responsibility of the Sixth and in general respect for their justice; during the next ten years there was heard far too frequently the cynical comment: "What's the use of appealing? You'll only be had up next day for dirty shoes"—an offence almost impossible to disprove. The deterrent effect of corporate disapproval had not been allowed for, nor had the supervision of housemasters been enlisted in its place.

Prefects and masters punished by tawse, though in all but flagrant cases of indiscipline, masters generally gave a period of punishment drill (P.D.). Twice a week the unfortunates on the P.D. list had to parade with rifles under the Corps Sgt. Instructor, and were put through their paces in no mean fashion for the period of their penance, and most Merchistonians of those years will remember, with mixed feelings, the path round the bowling green, traversed at the double, possibly with "Knees Up" and rifle at arms' length overhead. It sounds brutal by comparison with our present day punishments but appears to have done no physical harm and only in a few cases had any bad psychological effect.

The school day started with early prayers, taken by the master on duty, and immediately after this all boys had to run twice round the bowling green before breakfast. At meal times boys "piled" but janitors set and cleared the tables: beds were made by housemaids. Assembly taken by the Headmaster at 9 a.m. was followed by four periods which ended at 1 p.m. with intervals of five or ten minutes between the periods when boys had to skip or do P.T. The late dinner at 2 p.m. had been abolished and in most of Mr. Stagg's time dinner was taken at 1 o'clock with games afterwards. When games were over there was a basket of dry bread available for any who felt really ravenous, afternoon periods occupying the time from 4.15 to 6 p.m. when tea was served. The day ended with one and a half hours of prep., followed by supper and final assembly. On Wednesdays this programme was altered slightly by cutting the morning periods and breaks a little to allow an hour's Corps parade between 12.30 and 1.30. A second parade was invariably held on Friday afternoons, the whole Contingent marching down to the field, often headed by the Band. Tactical training and drill were carried out on the field and shooting took place on the miniature range situated there. On Saturdays, morning school of three periods ended at 11.30 and exercise was taken between then and dinner. There was no difference in this routine, summer and winter, when Mr. Stagg started, but during his years the present system of summer hours was introduced, consisting of afternoon periods immediately after dinner with a good long afternoon for cricket. On Sunday mornings boys went in groups to one or other of Morningside Parish Church, Barclay United Free, or Christ Church Episcopal, and in the afternoon could go on leave-out till the school service in the Assembly Hall at 4 o'clock. A Sunday Bible class at 6.15 followed tea. Throughout the week the normal dress was a suit except in the Summer term when blazer and shorts were worn. The Rugger season ended, as now, at the end of February and athletics occupied the month of March. Very much more long-distance running was done up to 1930 than is done to-day and frequently in place of games boys had to run merely because of the inadequate number of pitches. The normal training runs were "Morningside," to Morningside Drive; "Short Colinton," to Firrhill; "Long Colinton," through the Dell, or "Fairmilehead." Also as part of the athletic programme there were senior and junior cross-country runs which started at Malleny and went via the hills to Paties Road. Later when trams were brought along Colinton Road past the newly erected Barracks the runs were made to finish in Bonaly Road. In 1921 the Rogerson Games were placed on their present footing and standards were introduced in the school games, medals being given to all boys reaching standard, in place of prizes to winners in each event. The following year saw the reintroduction on a limited scale and against the Academy only, of the Inter-School Games which had lapsed for many years.

1922 also saw the departure of two assistant masters who had been the figureheads in school life for many years. Mr. R. B. Webber, the senior master, had been at Merchiston for 36 years and in addition to teaching Classics and Modern Languages had been largely instrumental in keeping up the standard of cricket in the school and was still playing against the school when over sixty ; he had also been a power in the British Empire Shakespeare Society, and his performances and interest in Free and Easies will be remembered by many generations of Merchistonians. Mr. A. T. Skinner retired after 30 years as the school Music Master and had inspired many boys to appreciate music through his teaching and by recitals given by him frequently throughout the term. These two men had both been appointed by Dr. Rogerson and though others were left who had known the "Chief," their going meant a definite break with the past and they were greatly missed by boys still at school as well as by Merchistonians.

By 1922 the architect for the Memorial Hall, Mr. N. A. Dick, had got so far ahead that provisional approval of the design had been given by the local authorities and contracts for the work had been placed when, most unexpectedly, a serious obstacle to the plan was encountered. The Dean of Guild passed the design of the building itself but at the eleventh hour would not consent to its erection on the site proposed by the school authorities, the reason being that Colinton Road along the Castle frontage was narrow (and still is) and the new building would prevent widening if it were found to be necessary in the future. This came as a bombshell to the school Directors for no possible alternative site was available. Other issues than the building of a Memorial Hall were now seen to be involved ; the school was hemmed in on all sides by houses and there was the possibility that even its frontage on Colinton Road might have to be set back. It appeared certain that the school had reached its limit as far as accommodation was concerned and it might prove difficult even to improve the existing buildings, let alone add to them. In conjunction with the fact that nearly all dormitory accommodation had been intended in the first place only as private dwelling-houses it became evident that the school was likely to fall gradually from public favour as these buildings became older and less in line with modern ideas of school design. The Memorial Hall no longer being feasible, Memorial Tablets with the names of the Fallen were put in the old Assembly Hall as a temporary measure at a Service of Dedication in November 1923. The Directors then called a meeting of Merchistonians and the Memorial Hall Committee and put to them that the best interests of the school would be served by building a modern block on some new site with plenty of room for future expansion. This idea was received with mixed feelings by Merchistonians whose thoughts of the school naturally centered round the old Castle but the energetic chairman of the Directors, Dr. J. W. Dowden, persuaded even those at first most against the scheme to agree to its necessity. Fortunately at this time the estate of Colinton House was about to come into the market and the Directors were able to secure it, the purchase being completed in October 1924. To buy an estate of over 96 acres and to put up the necessary buildings was a very different matter from collecting money for the erection of a Memorial Hall but the Directors had so much confidence in the scheme that they were prepared to borrow the amount required over and above any contributions which might be given towards establishing the school on the new site. They were helped in this matter to some extent by the fact that the Merchant Company of Edinburgh were looking for a site to rebuild George Watson's College and it so happened that the Merchiston playing fields in Colinton Road gave them a position which suited their purpose. As a result the whole of the Merchiston property including the Castle was sold to them.

As it stood the estate at Colinton consisted of the house (now known as Gibson House), stables, and walled garden, together with park land extending from the Dell to the lane where Paties Road now runs but which at that time had not been built up. As a first step the area chosen for the playing fields had to be levelled and resown so as to be ready for use by the time the buildings were complete, or earlier if possible in order that the building of the new George Watson's could be started on the old field. After the levelling process boys were brought out to Colinton from the old school several afternoons a week to clear the biggest stones before grass could be put down. It is estimated that by 1927, over two hundred tons of stones had been lifted by hand : one of them is now mounted and is set up in the Screens as a memorial to the efforts of the generation that laboured so well to give their successors good playing fields. The architect entrusted with the design of the buildings was Mr. W. J. Walker Todd and from the time the first plans appeared on paper to the completion of the removal, Mr. Stagg's life was a very busy one indeed : he alone could say what was essential and what desirable : between him, the Directors, and the architect, the present buildings were evolved. Initially the plan incorporated a Junior School or Preparatory, Colinton House being earmarked for Prep. dormitories etc., and this was to be linked with a new block of Prep. classrooms where the tennis courts now stand, and with the nearest main school house (Chalmers). When the estimated cost of the design was determined it was found to be rather more than the Directors felt they could safely afford with the result that the buildings as a whole had to be replanned on a reduced scale. One of the effects of this was that the Prep. could not be housed with the main school. Efforts were made to find some existing house in Colinton which could be used as a Junior School but nothing satisfactory could be secured and eventually all idea of keeping on the Prep. had to be abandoned. The revised plans for the school envisaged a school of about 250 boys, all of whom were to be boarders as it had been decided that once the move to the new buildings took place the day-boy element should be gradually abolished as existing day-boys left. In 1928 the first sod of the main block was cut by the wife of the Chairman of the Directors, Mrs. J. W. Dowden. The first building to be completed was the groundsman's cottage at the corner of Paties Road so that the clerk of works could live on the spot : thereafter the building of the main block went ahead steadily. In brief the design consisted of a central Memorial Hall with classroom block to the south of it, and study blocks, dining hall, kitchen, and accommodation for the domestic staff on the north. Separate from the main block, flanking it on the east and west, were boarding houses, while the original Colinton House was to be converted to laboratories, library and art rooms, with armoury, store rooms and workshop in the basement. An extension of the old house was to be made towards the west for a Gym. All buildings were scheduled to be ready by October 1931 by which date the Directors had guaranteed to vacate the Castle. In the meantime the 1st XI. square on the new playing fields was brought into use in the summer of 1929 thus enabling the new George Watson's building to be started on the old field.

With the change in site came a change in the constitution of the school. The old Merchiston Castle School Company was wound up and a new one formed in its place limited by guarantee and having no share capital. The management of the new company was to be by a Board of Governors of whom six were "Elected" Governors to be appointed from the members of the Merchistonian club, and five "Nominated" Governors from the following public bodies: The University Court of the University of Edinburgh, The University Court of the University of Glasgow, the Faculty of Advocates, The Society of Writers to His Majesty's Signet, and the Royal College of Surgeons, Edinburgh.

Such good progress was made with the main buildings and the Headmaster's house that it was decided it would be possible to move the school to the new surroundings in readiness for the Autumn term of 1930. The sanatorium, sited in the old walled garden, was started early in that year and on the first of October boys returned to school, no longer to the old Castle but to the new, to boarding houses named Rogerson East and West, and Chalmers East and West in commemoration of two of the school's former Headmasters. Workmen were still busy when term started: the laboratories in the old house (renamed Gibson House) were not complete and some classes had to be conducted in the day-rooms as a temporary measure. By the end of term these, the armoury, the gym, sanatorium and fives courts were all finished and the last workman had departed. The school, now entering its 98th year, started afresh in its new building with renewed vigour. Even the boys looked new and strange, clad in the winter in blazers and shorts, clothing only seen in the summer before. Modern kitchens and up-to-date heating with copious supplies of hot water and baths made life very much easier for staff and boys alike. Boys had room in their day-rooms such as they had never experienced at the old school: studies were more numerous: on the playing fields each game had its own pitch instead of sharing: above all there was room for boys to kick about, play golf, or indulge in their own hobbies without crowding each other out. The existence of day-rooms within each of the four boarding houses meant that junior boys now had a place of refuge remote from their seniors; clandestine bullyings by senior years called "strafes"—a blot on the landscape—ceased to exist and the Sixth were replaced by Junior Prefects, which did not however lead to an immediate increase in their prestige or efficiency. The smallest boys were also separated from their seniors by the formation of a troop of scouts to which they belonged for their first year at school instead of to the Corps. Accommodation for hobbies being so much more generous than at the old Castle, a definite time was set aside each week when boys could devote their energies to their favourite pastimes and from the start the Arts and Crafts room, the workshop, and photographic room were well patronised. Fencing was reintroduced among the many new activities. A few years later in the Memorial Hall a full-size cinema projector enlivened the occasional evening during the course of the term. The school even had its own shop on the premises, a luxury unknown before when the only supply of fruit and sweets was the twice-weekly visits of a grub cart from one of the village shops. It appeared in fact that even the most critical could have wished for only one thing more—a swimming pool.

Above all, dominating the school, was the Memorial Hall, its design such that every boy would carry away memories of its beautiful interior throughout his life. A hall, however, for use and not merely a showpiece, for school services on Sundays were now held in it, both in the morning and evening and boys no longer went to outside churches : this not only brought the school together more as one united body but from the very start these services were well attended by parents and Merchistonians and have thus served to bring about a much closer relationship between the school and those who were interested in it but had previously had little opportunity of showing it except as spectators at matches. The Hall is still used daily for morning and evening assemblies, for preparation, examinations, free-and-easies, concerts, plays and prize-givings, and so popular have the latter proved that even its large seating capacity has been strained on more than one occasion.

It was decided not to have any formal opening ceremony of the new buildings in view of the nearness of the school centenary which would prove a more suitable occasion. The school settled down to its new life in its new surroundings very quickly and within all too short a time there remained fewer and fewer boys to whom Merchiston meant anything but the Colinton school. The staff also suffered its normal changes and, one by one, links with the old castle went. The first and foremost loss was by the departure of Mr. C. E. Edwards, the Senior Master and the last link on the staff with Dr. Rogerson. He had come as a young master in 1891 and thus served seven years under the "Chief" and in all under three headmasters. In addition to his main task of teaching mathematics he had in his time been a Housemaster, Treasurer of the Merchistonian, football coach and Secretary of football : he had run the Games and supervised the library. To him also the school and Merchistonians owe the first three editions of the Register with all the labour that they involved ; and many a new member of the staff remembers with gratitude "Teddy's" companionship in the common-room where he smoothed out those little differences that are bound to occur where a body of bachelors are gathered together. With his departure something of the spirit of the old castle seemed to go, and left a gap which has never been filled. It is not often a school can boast of having one on the staff who has been forty years a resident member of the common-room.

In 1933 the Centenary Celebrations were combined with the Merchistonian week-end and Prize-Giving. The usual cricket match against old boys, and the concert, were held on Saturday, 24th June. On Sunday a service of thanksgiving was conducted in a crowded hall by the school chaplain, the Very Rev. J. Harry Miller, C.B.E., D.D., the sermon being preached by the Moderator of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland. The climax to the proceedings came on Monday when the school was honoured by the presence of Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of York, afterwards Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. The Royal party was awaited by the boys who, in blazers and white shorts, lined the drive, and by the Headmaster, Mrs. Stagg, and the staff, gathered about the main door. As the royal cars came up the drive the boys followed them in a wave of blue, cheering them to a halt before the front door where Their Royal Highnesses were welcomed by Mr. Stagg. The visitors were then conducted to the Memorial Hall where representatives of the Governors, the Merchistonian Club, and the Building Committee also welcomed the distinguished guests to the new Merchiston Castle School. In the meantime the dining hall was filled to capacity with Merchistonians, the teaching staff, and senior prefects, waiting for Their Royal Highnesses who, after inspecting the Memorial Hall, took lunch with the assembled company. After lunch and a brief interval the Royal party proceeded to the platform of the Hall in which nearly seven hundred guests were assembled in readiness for the prize-giving ceremony. The Headmaster gave his report and the Duchess presented prizes to the fortunate winners. Speeches by the President of the Merchistonian Club and His Royal Highness The Duke of York followed. On the conclusion of this function in the Hall Her Royal Highness planted a tree to commemorate the visit and then the royal party watched the usual gym. display on the Gibson House lawn. When the distinguished guests were due to leave they received a send off by the school which left them in no doubt as to the joy of everybody present resulting from their visit. Throughout the day the weather was perfect and the proceedings which had been organised by the Headmaster went off with a very happy feeling of informality, but with a success that was a very suitable climax to the years of effort which he and others had put into the planning and building of the new school. In memory of the visit the Headmaster promised that all succeeding generations of boys should enjoy a whole day holiday once a year, to be called the "Duke of York's holiday."

During the course of the next year or two little change was to be seen in the externals of the school, new hard tennis courts and miniature range excepted, but internally the inevitable passage of time brought resignations from the staff. Dr. J. Harry Miller, the first school chaplain at Colinton, but associated with the school from Mr. Smith's time, decided to retire. He had not been merely a visiting preacher but his sane views and wise talks to the VI. form had made him known to and beloved by many generations of Merchistonians. Mr. E. Fearenside also had to resign on account of failing health: another of the old brigade, he had joined the staff in 1905, his thirty years with the school being broken only by distinguished service in the 1914-18 war. He gave himself generously to the service of the school, coaching the 1st XV., running the games, editing the Merchistonian: he was a housemaster both at the old school and the new, and in all other school activities, notably Free-and-Easies, played an active and interested part.

But everything was not by any means plain sailing. To the outsider the school was proving a great success, in evidence of which the XV. went through the 1935-36 season unbeaten in all their school matches, but to those with inner knowledge the other side of the picture was a large debt on the school buildings and a period of intense anxiety as the depression of the early thirties made itself felt, just when the success of the venture in moving to Colinton depended on a full quota of boys.

It was a very trying time for the Headmaster and for the Governors, the former not always in the best of health, and it was not altogether unexpected when three years after the Centenary in 1936 it became known that Mr. Stagg was resigning office. Thus ended another span of 21 years in the life of the school and Merchiston owes not a little to the headmaster who, arriving at the outbreak of the first world war, steered it through those difficult days to the peace; who in spite of family sorrow and indifferent health worked steadily for the good of the boys in his charge, and saw his hopes brought to fruition in the new school. That school is his memorial.

CECIL HERBERT EVANS, 1936 — 1957

The choice of the Governors for a headmaster to succeed Mr. Stagg fell on Mr. C. H. Evans, M.A., who was at the time a housemaster at Sedbergh. Mr. Evans was a scholar of Brasenose College, Oxford, his university career being postponed by the first world war, during the last two years of which he served in the Rifle Brigade. On going to Oxford, he was awarded a Blue for Rugby football in both his years of residence and also gained international trial caps for England in 1920 and 1921. After leaving the university he was appointed an assistant master at Sedbergh School where, among other activities, he coached the XV. for many years with outstanding success.

Mr. Evans' task on arrival was to consolidate the school's position which had become somewhat precarious on account of the slump. The number of new boys entering each year had not come up to expectation and if the debt on the new buildings was to be paid off a full school was essential. Without making any drastic changes the new headmaster set about his task. The school had everything in the way of old tradition, new buildings, and fine surroundings to recommend it, but parents who were going to entrust their boys to its care for four most important and susceptible years required more than that. First the spirit of the school must be excellent, and second, its scholarship must be above reproach. In both these essentials there had been some falling off and it is entirely to the credit of Mr. Evans that by his influence the happy spirit of Dr. Rogerson's days has been brought back in spite of all the worries and setbacks of the years of the second world war. In his task Mr. Evans has throughout been assisted by Mrs. Evans who has taken a keen and helpful interest in the domestic side of school life, and by her daily presence in the dining hall at dinner and at all school functions, has brought a touch of home life into the boys' existence. One of the first changes made by Mr. Evans was the introduction of the Oxford and Cambridge Higher Certificate as an exam. for the VI. form and as this was of a much higher standard than the Scottish Leaving Certificate, work all through the school had to reach a higher level in consequence. The success of this innovation can be gauged from the fact that whereas the certificates gained on this higher level were only numbered in twos and threes at the outset, ten years later the number of boys entered was in the thirties with a proportionate number of passes. This did not mean that the essential character of the school was being lost, for just as much attention was paid to good coaching in games and athletics as in the past. Boys were, however, encouraged to express their individuality in ways other than games; thus Free-and-Easies ceased to be entertainments by masters for the boys and practically all items were now performed and often written by the boys alone; the Dramatic Society brought its annual performances to a very high level; and the musical side of the boys' life was developed by the introduction of divisional musical competitions where boys could gain points for their division by adequate performance on almost any type of instrument they liked to choose. These changes were gradual but all assisted in restoring the character of the school. The Headmaster's policy may best be expressed by quoting his own words from his 1942 Prize-Giving speech, words that might well have been spoken by Dr. Rogerson — "Our aim here is that we shall turn out boys who are filled with an ideal of service for Church and State, aiming neither at fostering character to the detriment of intelligence nor at athletic prowess to the detriment of academic distinction, but rather at a judicious blend of all qualities which will go to make the future citizen best able to develop his own personality in harmony with and in the service of his fellow men."

But to speak of the 1942 Prize-Giving is to jump ahead too far. Only two years after the arrival of Mr. Evans the shadow of war was falling over the world again and in 1938 shelter trenches were being dug and gas masks issued. In the same year a 'flu epidemic swept the school and yet in spite of setbacks the 1938-39 session was probably the most successful one since the school moved to Colinton: the XI. was undefeated in school matches for the second year running: the Dramatic Society put on a performance of "Tobias and the Angel" which was judged to be the best of their productions to date: the school concert reached a new high level: the school tennis team — a new departure — won victories over several of its rivals. All seemed set fair for the school when war broke out in September 1939, causing masters to return early for the Autumn term to fill sandbags for strengthening the school's shelters, and to black-out windows; and within a few weeks of the start of term a raid brought enemy 'planes over the school. However, apart from this, little effect of the war was noticed to begin with except that boys did farm work on their half-holidays and a forestry camp was held in the next summer holidays; but numbers began to drop immediately as big leaves of senior boys occurred, and when a shelter for sanatorium patients was proving a difficult problem the number of boys in the school was so small that it was possible to vacate Rogerson East entirely and use this as a temporary Sanatorium. The problem of domestic staff became acute when manpower shortage made the replacement of janitors impossible, but this particular difficulty was successfully overcome by appointing a woman as Head Janitor and making boys do all waiting at tables, make their own beds etc., while a number of them who were not very successful cricketers banded themselves together as Pioneers and helped with the general maintenance of the school grounds. In addition there were the normal protective duties which the war forced on the school such as fire-watching, while senior boys of the Corps formed a part of the Home Guard. Within a year of the outbreak of war the staff began to be depleted as the younger members were called up, so that by 1941 the Headmaster had plenty of problems to cope with. The staff difficulty was further increased when the senior master, Mr. T. Gascoigne, had to retire : he had come to Merchiston in 1904 and had hoped to carry on as long as the war continued but ill health compelled him to give up and the school lost another valuable link with the past, one who in his 37 years' of service had taught fathers and sons and was known to hundreds of Merchistonians, and who for over fifteen years had been the untiring editor of the Merchistonian. Shortly afterwards Mr. G. R. Geikie who had been responsible for music in the school for 22 years also retired : a Merchistonian, he had come back as a master in the Prep. for seven years before coming into the Castle to succeed Mr. A. T. Skinner, and many an old boy who is not now afraid to sing or play in public owes this and his appreciation of music to G.R.G. Yet in spite of all difficulties the Headmaster set an example of enthusiasm and hard work which masters and boys alike followed so that by 1942 when the numbers in the school began to go up again the worst of the war was over as far as the school was concerned. Rogerson East was reopened as a boarding house in 1943 and the few Sanatorium patients returned to their lawful abode. From then onwards the school rapidly filled up to capacity and this state of affairs has lasted to the time of writing. The summer of 1945 saw the beginning of the return of the pre-war members of the staff from their various war services and by 1946 they were all back, so releasing Mr. S. H. Lockyer whose turn to retire had also come : one of the few remaining links with the days of the old Castle he will be remembered by hundreds of Merchistonians as a first-class coach of the Rugger XV., one who for years had jointly run the Rogerson games, had commanded the Corps for some years, and had been a housmaster in Mardale and Rogerson : in all these activities he proved himself possessed of endless patience, and to him no amount of work was too much if it produced a good XV., an efficient Corps, or a well-disciplined house.

The last echoes of the war faded with the unveiling in 1948, by the Chairman of the Governors, of the new War Memorial tablets inscribed with the names of the Fallen and placed side by side with those commemorated in the 1914-18 war. Thus the Memorial Hall now stands as a symbol of the sacrifice of two generations of Merchistonians. In the five years that have elapsed since the end of the war in Europe the school has not rested on its laurels. New outlets for abounding energy have been found, and while the XV. goes through season after season with records of few, if any, defeats, the dancers establish a new tradition with a Highland Ball in the Hall, and the choir blossom forth with a new version of the school song : Shakespeare plays follow one another each year with a standard of acting and setting hard to beat, while the school societies number legion, from the old established Debating Society to the newest ones — the Young Farmers' Club and The Angling Club. Thus, just as the scars of war-time ploughing disappear from the school playing fields and new grass gives promise of new life and usefulness, so the new Merchiston promises to add to its 120 years many another of life and achievement.

POSTSCRIPT, 1950 — 62.

I have thought it right to let the late Arnold Beasley's fine History stand practically as he wrote it. Merchistonians of many different generations have praised it for its many merits: the patient research that went into the examination of past records; the integrating insight which reconstructed material from his research into something vivid and living; the steady, deep affection of a fine servant of the school which casts a friendly glow over all that he wrote. Even the last paragraph has been retained, for the quiet confidence in the harmonious progress of the school, which he felt so deeply, has not been misplaced.

Several features to which he alludes in this paragraph deserve the reader's notice. First of all, the Concert, which has changed in character with the passing of time. Under Mr. G. R. Geikie we heard works of a comparatively limited range very well performed, with the pianists as the most memorable feature. Under his successor, Mr. David Griffiths, whose favourite slogan was "my business is to train audiences, not performers", the emphasis was more on the singing of a large number of the great choral classics: the standard of performance did not, perhaps, do the works full justice, but the choir enjoyed themselves to the full; so did all but the most experienced and critical among the audience. Attempts to find a successor to Mr. Griffiths not meeting with success, Mr. Iain Robertson was invited to take temporary charge of the choir, while Mr. Sprinck was responsible for the instrumental side. The choir proceeded to sing far better than ever before, so this diarchy in the school's musical life remained unchanged for more than a dozen years. From Mr. Sprinck's and Miss Barkla's pupils we had some memorable performances, but the most astonishing development was in the competence of vocal solos. Boys of all ages in the school, conquering the acute self-consciousness characteristic of this period in their lives, rose to the challenge of a solo at the School Concert and gave always pleasant, and often inspiring, performances; while one of the choirs of that time was paid the deserved compliment of a broadcast on the Scottish Home Service. There was another matter in which the school came to be indebted to Mr. Robertson. A first choice for the Royal Scottish Country Dance Society's International Team for many years, he started a country dance class on Sunday evenings. This soon became extremely popular, nearly half the school attending. After two years, a Highland Ball was inaugurated in March 1950: so well were the details thought out that practically no change was found necessary in the dozen following it. The best dancers have had almost a monopoly of the Dancing Competition in the C.C.F., though dancing to satisfy military judges requires a somewhat specialised technique.

Two minor games (in that they are practised at odd times in the school day, not as alternatives to the principal games) reached such a pitch of excellence as to bring much honour to the school: Rugby Fives and Fencing. Fives on the old site was usually confined to senior boys; and on the few occasions when we ventured to do battle against other schools, results were disheartening. Two new courts at Colinton were presented to the school by Mrs. James Robertson, and sporadic activity in the game occurred from time to time. But after Mr. Preston had been persuaded to take charge on his return from war service, improvement was rapid. A sound system of coaching of boys from their very first year onwards soon produced formidable teams with strong reserves; during the years 1952-62 we lost only one school match, and our first pair's performances in the Public Schools Rugby Fives Championship has been unique in the history of Scottish schools and even enviable by English schools of double our numbers, bringing the coveted Mappin Cup, after several appearances in the final or semi-final, over the Border for the first time in the competition's history. In 1962, our first pair won the Scottish Men's Fives Championship one week-end, and narrowly lost the final of the Mappin Cup competition the next; in the first of these they emerged victorious over not only the best pairs entered from Scotland, but over several from England as well. Two pairs were entered for the Mappin Cup for many years, and owed much to the hospitality and encouragement of Alastair MacWilliam, the doyen of the Merchistonian colony in London. For the period 1955-62, our first pair has, by general consensus of opinion, been regularly among the best three pairs on view. Fencing was restarted, if one can say that of a game which had lapsed for half a century, by Mr. P. M. S. Gedge, a Lorettonian and Scottish International, in the early thirties; but little progress was made till this sport, too, came under Mr. Preston's dynamic leadership. By the outbreak of war, we had won the leading position among those of the Scottish schools who practised the art; kept it going during the war in spite of equipment difficulties; and for several years afterwards were the only school to do so. In 1961 the Scottish Fencing Union presented the Thistle Shield for inter-school competition, and we promptly annexed it, P. A. C. Macdonald also winning the individual competition; but had it wrenched from our grasp by Dollar Academy the next year. They looked like being formidable rivals in the future.

The School Play is another feature which flourished under Mr. Evans' support. Till 1937, a most primitive stage set-up and prehistoric lighting made the presentation of anything but one-set plays impossible, and productions were confined to farces and thrillers. But in the spring of 1938 the Governors sanctioned the expenditure of a considerable sum of money, with regard to what were then the school's slender resources. A flexible switchboard and a set of battens, spotlights, flies and back-cloth supports were bought; all the woodwork being constructed by Duncan McKenzie the school joiner, who had some stage experience among his many assets. The first production under the new conditions, Tobias and the Angel, was of a much higher standard than anything previously seen, and Glorious Morning, a few years later, was another memorable production, with some superlative acting. After the war, under Mr. H. G. Donald, a biennial production of a Shakespeare play became an almost too well established custom. In spite of the difficulties entailed by clothes rationing and its attendant troubles, a substantial wardrobe of Renaissance costumes was built up by some devoted ladies connected with the school, and the Director was most happy in harnessing to his chariot the gifts of Mr. Iain Robertson for stage decor and of Mr. Sprinck for incidental music. Applications for tickets to witness these productions became as embarrassing as those for the Concert. The performances derived much benefit from the costumes being made on the spot and not hired, and from all the later rehearsals being taken on the stage itself, as anyone with amateur theatrical experience will appreciate. Mr. Donald's tradition was well carried on by his successors, among whom Dr. J. Kincade was the most efficient producer; for his last, he broke new ground with Shaw's Pygmalion.

We said goodbye to Mr. H. R. Charter in 1954 and to Mr. F. A. Rhodes in the following year. These masters were the linch pins of the Science Department in the war years, and we were most fortunate in securing their services. Mr. Rhodes joined us in 1938, when Mr. Beasley went to Cambridge. For a short time in the early war years he had to carry out all the teaching of Physics himself, and came through the ordeal splendidly. A sound cricket coach, he took over the Eleven during Mr. Stone's absence on war service, and commanded the Corps, having a Home Guard commission, when its usual commander was off sick. His quiet Yorkshire humour and sound knowledge of his subject were much appreciated by his pupils. Mr. Charter came to us in 1940 after the disbandment of Leyland Motors' college of apprentices, of which he was warden and tutor, bringing a breeze from the outside world into our confined monastic atmosphere; he had taught Chemistry at Cheltenham some years previously. A good science master and strong disciplinarian, he was a priceless asset in war-time; and when Rogerson East was reopened in 1943, Mr. Evans had no hesitation in asking him to take it on. He was instrumental in founding the Wireless and Chess Clubs, and encouraged the formation of several others by his interest and presence, in this matter aiding Mr. N. F. Colyer, whose services to Merchiston deserve mention. A stormy petrel if there ever was one, and disapproving of our year-system strongly, he has put us in his debt nevertheless for the formation of the Stamp Club, the Play-Reading Society and the Pioneers, as well as several valuable administrative suggestions which were adopted, notably the change of prep. time for half an hour earlier, which has all the simplicity of genius. Obvious in retrospect, never conceived by anyone else before him, it abolished the "Chalmers West Prep." which was such an unmitigated nuisance to the teaching in the Shells and Lower school in the thirties, first-year boys having prepared for 20 minutes only, while the rest had done for half an hour. His invention of the Pioneers—a group of boys who tidied the grounds and kept going a supply of timber fuel from the woods, was not only of great value to a depleted ground staff during the war, but removed to a useful and satisfying occupation a group of boys who found the practice of cricket or athletics a penance, and were to their coaches, a nuisance. He took charge of football and of Chalmers East when Mr. Roberts departed and Rogerson East was closed down; and many a boy at a rebellious and difficult stage, for whom few if any of these in authority had a good word, owes much to Mr. Colyer's sympathy and skill in bringing out the best side of him.

The year 1956–7 was notable in many ways, though closing in tragedy. Results in the Sixth Form showed a marked advance, nearly double as many S-Level passes being obtained than ever before. Two more semi-detached houses were opened for the use of married masters at the start of the session, built in the Paddock alongside a previous pair completed in 1952. Thanks to the generosity of a group of industrial firms, a very substantial grant was received towards the enlargement of the laboratories and the equipment within them: Mr. Beasley had been asked for, and had already prepared, plans for a more modest enlargement some time previously; they needed little alteration, so we "got in on the ground floor." The Merchant of Venice marked the end of a long line of Shakespeare dramas, and the Fifteen bade farewell to Mr. C. G. R. Mair with the profoundest regret. For ten years he had produced fifteens of a wonderfully high standard, not only making the best possible use of good material, but in times of dearth producing, by some inspired changes of position, formidable combinations out of much weaker stuff. He will surely find a place in that select pantheon whose other members are J. R. Burgess, C. L. Donaldson and S. H. Lockyer. The cricket season was also Mr. Stone's last with the Eleven. He had been in charge since 1936, a period only surpassed in length by R. B. Webber's, and probably in quality by no one. His resource was infinite in producing well-balanced sides from material which was, at the start of his time anyway, very indifferent: his quiet firmness put some much-needed determination into sides which had inherited a tradition of over-anxious batting from the early thirties. A first rate spin bowler himself, he passed on some of his skill to a succession of match-winning bowlers, while his capacity to see the humorous side of most situations endeared him to all his elevens, who had the great merit of seeking a decision: no defensive field and sitting on the splice for them!

But in May a few were let into the secret that the Headmaster had but a few months more to live, and his increasing absences from school cast a melancholy shadow over the term. By a supreme effort, he came over to school on the last day to say goodbye to the boys and the staff; after that the end came with merciful speed and he died on the 15th of August. Five years is probably too short a time from which to look back on his achievement in true perspective, but it may be said now that if Cecil Stagg gave the New School its buildings, Cecil Evans gave it its spirit. He was an adept at making a show work: report cards, for instance, an invention of the early thirties, assumed a new importance when the Headmaster sent for a lazy boy and expressed his opinion in no uncertain terms, or informed a somewhat casual master that to give two Betas running showed a lamentable indecision of mind. The prefects were swiftly taken in hand and reminded that their function was to lead rather than drive, and the disastrous experiment of the middle twenties was replaced by a system of collective punishment once more, on the advice of Mr. Lockyer and others. At the same time, though an Oxford Rugger Blue and a famous coach, he at once sought for means of developing other sides of a boy's character than are brought out on the sports field; the formation of societies had his active encouragement; and by the end of his time it could fairly be said that if any boy did not find in Merchiston an outlet for his special gifts, the fault lay rather with himself than with the school. When he arrived, the non-athlete could hardly wait to get out of the place, unless he was quite unusually sociable: his last years were embarrassed by the presence in the school of many decent lads who declined to leave. Though there was no room for them as prefects, they had reached their ceiling in scholarship, and had no particular aptitude for games, they just loved the place and refused to leave even when advised to do so. In crises he was superb: a hot-tempered man, he never decided on a severe punishment without long and anxious thought and, I am certain, prayer: his strong and simple piety illuminated all the important things he did. A family atmosphere developed in the school, and in this he was aided to the full by his wife, who was the perfect companion for him, as generation after generation of boys can testify.

ALAN BUSH, 1958 —

It had been thought at first that Mr. Evans would be able to conduct the school till Christmas; and his early demise brought many problems. The Governors took long and anxious thought over the choice of a successor, and for the next two terms Mr. A. H. Humphries, the Senior Resident Master, fulfilled the testing role of Acting Headmaster with complete success, though combining it with a full teaching programme. He kept discipline, work, examinations and careers under his own control: putting Mr. Beasley in charge of bursar's matters, while Mr. Connell dealt with some public relations activities and Mr. Preston took over Mr. Humphries' Senior Resident's duties. We were fortunate in Mrs. Evans' consenting to continue her supervision of the domestic scene, and a first-rate team of senior boys under the leadership of W. A. M. Crow rose to the crisis admirably.

In December the choice was made, and Mr. Alan Bush, a House-master at Mill Hill, was appointed. He had read history at Oxford, for which he played out-half his last year, and had made his mark at Mill Hill in many capacities, among them coach of the Fifteen, Corps Commander, and Master in charge of the Physical Education Department since its foundation. He had had a fine war record, being awarded the Military Cross at Arnhem as a paratroop officer.

The new headmaster and his attractive family came into residence in April, and for his first two years he seemed to have supernatural powers as a mascot. Except for shooting and the band competition, we swept the board in almost every activity out of school. He took over the Debating Society just when an inter-school competition was established: we won it, the first two years of its institution. In his second year, the Fives Pair, Morton and Maguire, brought home the Mappin Cup for the first time. But it was not only in encouraging existing activities that he made his presence felt. The post-war "bulge" came upon us; he felt it was our duty to the nation to take in more boys, for the time being, at any rate. For years we had been told that the school's numbers could not exceed 260: somehow he contrived, in spite of administrative difficulties of several kinds, to find room for 30 more. He felt that more should be done for senior Sixth Form boys: they were given extended privileges; more studies were found for them by means of various ingenious contrivances; and a Pioneer group was started, even in the hitherto sacred Rugger season. With the easing of financial pressure on profit margins which followed the final extinction of the School's external debt on the new buildings, he started a Southern Tour for the Fifteen at the end of the Michaelmas term: they have yet to be defeated, in spite of the strain of the long string of previous School Matches during the term. He bought yet another house for a married master and his family. He introduced a Sixth Form weekly Current Affairs period, a revival and extension of the Civics Period introduced by Mr. George Smith in the early years of the century; every week, a different expert on some feature of contemporary life in Scotland or elsewhere comes to explain and discuss the topic: the organisation of such a series of visits is no light task. Other alterations in work were made: changes in the Entrance Scholarship syllabus, to make it possible for boys working on the Scottish Education Department syllabus to compete with more prospect of success against boys trained by the prep. schools; the Language Side middle school forms were sub-divided, to give greater flexibility in their curricula; while Science Side forms were "setted" — a somewhat overdue reform welcomed by Science and English masters alike. The institution of two "long leave" week-ends in each winter term was welcomed by parents, particularly those living at a distance.

He supervised the coming into existence of the Evans Memorial Swimming Pool, which after maddening delays due to weather and technical troubles, came into use in June 1961, being opened officially by Mrs. Evans during Merchistonian Week-End that year, before a large concourse of friends. This is not yet fully paid for, and readers who have not heard about its building before, and would like to contribute to a memorial of one who did so much for Merchiston, are asked to do so. It is an asset of first rate importance to the school: a fully enclosed and heated bath of the latest design, the finest for its size in Scotland. It is in constant use, both by the school and a favoured few from outside. There could be no better Memorial to Cecil Evans than this: for from his earliest years as Headmaster he had worked, quietly but persistently, towards the building of a swimming pool, though thwarted by the necessity of paying off the debt on the New Buildings before embarking upon new capital commitments could be considered.

It remains only to chronicle the departure from the school of some good friends. We said goodbye to Dr. J. Kincade in 1961, congratulating him upon his appointment as Headmaster of the Royal School, Dunggannon (in succession to a Merchistonian, A. de G. Gaudin), but sorry to lose him, as he had proved his value in many capacities. In 1962 we lost his stable companion in the VI Form English, Mr. Ian Scotland: a real scholar and a delightful companion, we enjoyed his presence for many years, and were left with the hope that we would see a lot of him still, as he lives so close to the school. A third figure, less well known to the boys but whose work was literally vital to their well-being, left our scene in April 1961: Miss J. C. N. Thomson, the School Housekeeper for forty years. The details of her work are mysterious to the mere male, but it does not need much imagination to realise that there was more than common ability, devotion and flexibility in one who changed from the cramped and ill-lit dungeons in the Castle to an ultra-modern kitchen at Colinton; from 230 boys in 1930 to 119 in 1940 (with rationing to make things worse) and back to 280 in 1960; from the plethora of choice of kitchen-maids during the depression of the thirties to the constant shortage of them in the post-war era. The secret of her success, we have been told by an outside but reliable source, lay in her creation of a spirit of sisterhood and team-work among her subordinates that was so firmly established that it survived all changes in conditions.

The spring of 1961 saw us sadly resigned to the retirement of a very old friend, Mr. Arnold Beasley. His service started with the last two years in the Castle, where he survived imperturbably the shock of finding himself Senior Science Master on arrival owing to an unexpected resignation. He started his long series of valuable services in this capacity by advising on the construction of the new laboratories; this he repeated thirty years later in the recent additions. A most conscientious and efficient Corps Commander and Shooting Coach, he earned the respect and affection not only of the boys who came under his influence, but of a wider circle: few of our Corps Commanders have been better liked by their opposite numbers in other schools. He was one of the first of the older masters to be invited to attend Merchistonian Club dinners as a guest, and it was his delight to avail himself of the privilege: wherever he went on such occasions he was surrounded by a crowd of former pupils eager to renew their acquaintance. His genial and evergreen interest in themselves and their careers made him the ideal Editor of the previous edition of the Register — a most formidable task after a gap of over twenty years.

“MERCHISTON CASTLE”

Words by C. G. R. Mair.

Music by Donald Sprinck.

1. Our castle walls, though lone and bare,
Stand proudly to the skies,
For what she gave her sons of old
Lives where her flag now flies.
And we, who guard our birthright,
Hear still from her grey wall
A trumpet sound across the years
Her ancient rallying call.

2. In danger's hour she sent her sons
To give all men can give:
Quiet they sleep on alien shores
Who died that we might live.
They sleep . . . but in the twilight
There whispers over all
A bugle sounding down the wind
Her ancient rallying call.

3. Her sons are scattered far and wide
Beyond the sunset's glow;
But she holds their hearts with silken cord
Wherever they may go.
And still at dawn and gloaming,
They hear, in hill and hall,
One golden note across the years . . .
Her ancient rallying call.

FOOTBALL.

It is probable that football of a kind was played, amongst themselves, by the boys at Merchiston in the years prior to 1858 ; but in that year, so far as we know, the School XX., under the captaincy of A. P. Van der Byl, for the first time engaged with a foreign foe, playing a drawn game with the Royal High School. The Rugby School game had just been introduced into Merchiston, and when the match in question was played, they " did not fully understand all its rather complex rules."

1858-9.

In the following season, with J. C. Campbell as captain, several matches were played. We drew with Edinburgh Academy on their ground—their being our first meeting with them. A return match, at Merchiston, also ended in a draw, but in this match we had the assistance of two masters, Messrs Almond (afterwards the respected head of Loretto) and E. P. Rouse (afterwards a master at Eton), while the Academy, to balance matters, had two Academicals to help them. A XX., consisting of ten from Merchiston and ten from the Academy, defeated the Academicals by a goal to nothing, and XVIII. of Merchiston, with four masters, drew with XXII. of the Royal High School.

G. E. Coxon captained the team this season, in which we secured our first win over the Academy, beating them on their own ground by 2 goals to nothing. After Christmas they in their turn had the satisfaction of recording their first victory over us, winning at Merchiston by a goal to nothing. These appear to have been the only matches played.

1860-1.

The Academy match, played at Merchiston, ended in a draw, though we claimed to have had the better of the game, in virtue of a try scored by L. G. Mylne (afterwards Bishop of Bombay), but no goal was kicked. In these days, and until 1875, only goals counted. All goals, whether from tries, drops, or marks, were of equal value. These facts must be kept in mind in studying the records of these bye-gone years. A Merchistonian team, consisting of Merchistonians and present pupils, played a couple of matches against the Academicals, also a blend of old and present boys. They won the first by a dropped goal and several tries, while the second was drawn, though a number of tries were gained by our opponents. The intervals between these somewhat infrequent matches with outside teams appear to have been filled by various matches in the School itself, and titanic struggles they must have been. We read of one—the " table match "—which was drawn after three days' play, no goal being kicked.

Football.

Another, the first XV. against the School, with masters, lasted for four days, on two of which there was three hours' play, and finally resulted in a win for the School by 2 goals to nothing. This margin, we learn, would probably have been greater had the School team mustered in full force each day, "but absenteeism was rather too prevalent," and a special rule was devised to put a stop to this shirking, though one cannot help thinking the gallant "XV." must have welcomed, in the course of this long battle, an occasional diminution in the enemy's forces. Experiences such as these explain the complaint made in the report of the Academy match just referred to, that "the result of the match was, as that of one day matches will very often be, unsatisfactory, as no goal was kicked,"—a mere two hours' game must have seemed a trifling affair.

At this stage The Merchiston Chronicle, our authority so far, suspended publication, and for the years from 1861-2 to 1863-4 no details of football are obtainable. Nor is a diligent search in the files of the daily papers of the period of any avail, for football matches were not then deemed worthy of report. In 1865 the first number of The Merchistonian was published, and from it we learn that the Academy match of 1864-5, played at Raeburn Place, was drawn. Our team that season was above the average, as many of the previous year's XX. had returned, but so unfavourable was the weather, that only one other match was played—against the Academicals, at Raeburn Place, which we lost. It is also on record that in the previous season, 1863-4, we played 8 matches and only lost 1, so we must have had a good side that season also.

Under the captaincy of J. M. Anderson we played two close matches with the Academy, who won both—the first by a goal to a try, the second by a goal from a mark and a try to nothing. The first recorded match with Craigmount was played this season, XV. a side, and was won by us by a goal and several tries to nothing.

J. Cameron was captain till Christmas, being then succeeded by W. Cross, a future international player. Craigmount were beaten at Merchiston (XV. a side) by 6 goals (one dropped) and 11 tries to nothing, and, although the score indicates the one-sidedness of the game, we are told that our opponents "exhibited no small amount of pluck; and in 'hacking' they showed themselves equal to us." We drew with the Academy at Raeburn Place, although they scored 2 tries to nothing; but in the return at Merchiston they won by 2 goals and a try to a try—the only defeat we suffered during the season. On Christmas Day 1866, the 2nd XX. journeyed to Polmont, played the 1st XX. of Blairlodge, and won by 2 goals to nothing. The report of this match from The Merchistonian, vol. II., page 100, we give verbatim, as an example of football reporting in these days, and as showing that football matches, even then, were not devoid of occasional amusing features:—"SECOND TWENTY MERCHISTON v. FIRST TWENTY BLAIRLODGE.—At Blairlodge, Polmont, 25th December 1866.—Time—2 hours.—No match could have been played in more unfavourable weather than this, for, from the commencement till the end of the time fixed on, it never ceased to rain, more or less. Indeed, the question was at first raised whether or not it would be advisable to play under the circumstances ; but our team having come so far, being anxious for a ' set to,' and their opponents having no objection, a ' friendly ' match was commenced. Perhaps some of our gentle readers will think they could well dispense with the kind of friendship which ensued. One has only to bear in mind the following facts,—that it had been raining previous to the match, that it rained during the match, that the ground was of itself exceedingly soft, and that forty boys were engaged kicking the ball and each other, and he will be able to form some idea of the scene. Without being blamed for indulging too much in hyperbole, we may assert that some of the boys looked more like masses of mud than human beings, and that it would have been a matter of no great difficulty to have planted potatoes on them. In fact, it would hardly have been possible to have made them dirtier, and yet what boy does not take an absolute delight in coming out of a football match covered over with mud ? The mud is a mark of distinction—an indication (though not always a sure one) that he has nobly fought. It may here be mentioned that we fully commiserated the Blairlodge team, who, unlike us, having no ' togs ' to play in but their School clothes, were in such a miserable plight, that we doubt if even ' Old Clo ' himself would have given anything for them. With regard to the match itself, we have but little to say. As the Blairlodge team knew nothing about ' rugby rules,' we were forced to play theirs. Their rules may be summed up in a sentence,—Play any way you like, provided, in the case of a goal, that the ball be kicked between two upright posts. Nearly an hour elapsed before a goal was obtained, and then it was by Young ' of ours.' We got our second goal just as time was about to be called, Roland cleverly kicking it. Owing to the circumstances we have already mentioned, there was little display of prowess on either side. With regard to the Blairlodge team, our attention was mainly directed to three brothers, all of them very little fellows, who played very spiritedly, and were of immense service to their XX. On our side R. Pringle played with great pluck ; indeed we never saw him play better, his movements during the whole of the game seemed to be ubiquitous." During this season we had four XXs. playing for us.

Football.

Under the captaincy of A. Thew, the season opened auspiciously with a runaway victory over Craigmount on their own ground, our score being 3 goals and a number of tries to nothing. Madras College, then a large School with " from eight to nine hundred pupils," was met for the first time. The match was played at St Andrews, and after a close struggle we just won by a goal to nothing ; but as Masters appear to have played on both sides, this cannot strictly be counted a " School " match. The Academy proved much too strong for us, and won both matches—the first by a goal, a dropped goal, and 2 tries to a goal ; the second by 3 goals and 5 tries to nothing. This season, apparently for the first time, we played Loretto. One master, at least, played on either side, and we won by 3 goals (2 from marks) and 5 tries to a goal, kicked by Mr Almond, " by a very good kick."

1868-9.

The records for this year are incomplete, as The Merchistonian had become somewhat irregular in its publication, but with J. J. Downes as captain, we drew with Craigmount on their own ground, Craigmount scoring 2 tries to nothing ; and beat them in the return match, no particulars being available. The Academy still proved too strong for us, and won at Raeburn Place by 2 goals and 3 tries to nothing.

Football.

To W. H. C. Dickins, who captained the team this season, belongs the credit of stemming the tide of defeats from the Academy, for we beat them at Raeburn Place by a goal and a try—the first win for several years. One sentence from the report of this match deserves to be excerpted, as showing how important a part spectators might play in these days, when the referee was yet undreamt of, and all debatable points were argued out by the respective captains. "Both Schools were well represented outside the flags, some 'Old Merchistonians' having come from a great distance, and we trust they will ever on such occasions make it a point to give us their countenance, which must of necessity (in the event of any dispute arising) save the few from being swamped by the many." With Craigmount we played a scoreless draw at Craigmount—a very tough match in which "the play was most determined throughout and not less so, it must be confessed, was the hacking." The Merchistonian now lapsed for a period of seven years, so there are no "internal" records of School life, but, fortunately, football had by this time become a matter of public interest, and football matches, both school and club, appear to have been regularly reported. The files of The Scotsman furnish what is probably a fairly complete record of matches, and to these we are indebted for such information as we give of the doings from 1870-1 to 1976-7.

1870-1.

E. Thew was captain, and the season opened with a victory over Loretto at Pinkie by a goal and 4 tries to nothing—XV. a side being played. The Academy match, at Raeburn Place, was drawn, the Academy scoring a try to nothing. No other School matches appear to have been played.

1871-2.

W. Ross captained the XX., but the list of School matches is as meagre as the previous season. The Academy were beaten at Merchiston by 2 goals to nothing, the return at Raeburn Place resulting in a scoreless draw. It may be interesting to note, in passing, that on 25th November 1871 the Academy and Loretto met for the first time on level terms—XI. a side being played.

1872-3.

Frost and snow materially interfered with football, but two matches with the Academy were brought off. In the first, at Raeburn Place, we drew, scoring a try to nothing, and in the second, at Merchiston, the Academy suffered a severe defeat, our score being 2 goals and 3 tries to nothing. The Loretto match was frequently postponed owing to the weather, and ultimately fell through. Trinity College, Glenalmond, we played for the first time. The match took place on 8th March on the North Inch, Perth, XV. a side, and we won by 6 goals and 2 tries to nothing but the reporter adds, "it is only fair to state that, owing to a long continuance of snow, Trinity College have had almost no practice since Christmas, besides they are not accustomed to play the Rugby Union Rules." Arthur Kirkland captained the team this season.

Football.

1873-4.

Alfred Kirkland succeeded his brother as captain. Fettes College appeared as our opponents for the first time and drew a match, in which we claim to have had much the better of the game, but we failed to score. The two Academy matches were drawn. In the first, at Raeburn Place, nothing was scored, in the second, at Merchiston, they obtained 2 tries to nothing.

C. J. Kirkpatrick, who captained the School this season, had but few of the previous year's XX. to help him, and the team is described as "light." It was certainly very unsuccessful in School matches as the record shows. Fettes College, by beating us by a goal and 7 tries to nothing, showed that they were a power to be reckoned with in the future. Loretto (XV. a side) were beaten at Merchiston by a goal and a try to nothing, but the Academy proved much too strong for us, winning by 4 goals and 2 tries to nothing. The return match with Loretto at Pinkie (XV. a side again) was lost by a goal.

The history of this season can be given in very brief compass. A severe winter curtailed the opportunities for football, and only two School matches were played. The first against the Academy at Merchiston, was drawn, a try all. The second, against Craigmount, also at Merchiston, was won by a try to nothing, for tries now counted towards the winning of the game. H. Cowe was captain, but in neither report are the names of our team given.

A larger number of matches were played during this season and greater success attended our efforts. A. H. Dickins was captain, the first captain of a XV., for the old XX. became a thing of the past, and XV. a side henceforth the regulation number. The Academy were beaten at Raeburn Place by a try to nothing. We drew with Craigmount at Merchiston, a try each. Fettes beat us by a dropped goal and a try to nothing. We played two matches with the Royal High School, winning at Holyrood by 2 goals (1 dropped) and a try to nothing, and at Merchiston by 4 goals and "many" tries. Craigmount, on their own ground, just won by a try to nothing, but the Academy at Merchiston were easily beaten by a goal and 4 tries to nothing. This latter match marks the turning point in our encounters with the Academy. From this time onwards, till now, we have held the upper hand, and although, in the long series of matches which follow, we have had many a tough fight and not a few defeats, they drop from the position of our chief rivals, and Fettes College take that place, a rôle which, to say the least of it, they have played somewhat effectively ever since.

This season The Merchistonian was revived, and has been regularly published ever since. With A. H. Dickins again captain, and most of the previous year's team back, prospects were bright. That these anticipations were amply fulfilled is proved by the fact that we won six and drew one of the seven School matches played. For the first time our 1st XV. played Blairlodge. The match was played at Polmont, and resulted in a win for us by 5 goals and 5 tries to nothing. Fettes College were beaten at

Football.

Fettes by a try to nothing, after a very hard struggle. We won easily against Craigmount on their own ground, by 5 tries to nothing; and another easy victory, over the Academy, at Merchiston, in which we scored 2 goals and 5 tries to nothing, completed a very satisfactory record for the first half of the season. After Christmas we again beat Craigmount, at Merchiston, this time by 2 goals and a try to nothing. Another hard match with Fettes on our ground resulted in a scoreless draw. This was the last School match on the old ground behind the Castle, for at Easter a move was made to the present ground on Colinton Road. The "fitting," and the fact that this last match on the old ground left us "cock" school for the year, is fittingly recorded in poetry in The Merchistonian, Vol. V., p. 138.

FAREWELL.

No more upon our ancient field
We see the football bound,
No more the smiting bat shall yield
Reverberating sound.
No more a-down the well-known hill
Shall player charge the foe :
Such days are o'er, our field no more
Its wonted games shall know.
The only sound that strikes the ear
Is the thud of the mallet's fall,
And houses rise upon the site
Of many a hard-fought maul ;
But though we grieve our field to leave,
One pleasure still we own
To cheer our saddened hearts again,
And for our loss atone ;
For the last match our field has seen,
Our field will ever see,
Has made us chief of all the schools—
So may we ever be !

J. M. B.

A second win over the Academy, at Raeburn Place, by a goal and 2 tries to nothing, concluded a very successful season, in which we could fairly claim to be the best school team, though our superiority over Fettes College was very slight. J. A. Campbell, who proved a tower of strength to the XV. throughout the season, was chosen to play for Scotland, and was thus the first Merchiston schoolboy international.

1878-9.

With seven of the previous year's victorious team back, a fairly good season might have been expected, but the weather throughout proved most unfavourable, and only three School matches could be played. We won the Academy match at Raeburn Place, by a goal and try to a dropped goal ; lost to Fettes College on their ground, by a goal, dropped by A. R. Don Wauchope, to nothing ; and drew with Craigmount, no scoring. T. A. Begbie captained the team.

1879-80.

E. C. Millar was captain, and with but few of the previous year's team to fall back upon, the XV. proved but moderate. Craigmount beat us at Merchiston by a dropped goal to nothing, and we just managed to get the better of Blairlodge at Merchiston, by a try. The other School matches before Christmas were all off owing to frost. In the second term the Academy won easily at Raeburn Place, by a goal and 3 tries to nothing. The previous defeat by Craigmount was avenged on their ground, for we managed to win by a goal and a try to nothing, but Fettes College proved much too strong for us, winning by 3 goals and 4 tries to nothing, special mention being made of the brilliant play of the Fettes Captain, A. R. Don Wauchope, who thus early showed what a great player he was. We managed, however, to wind up a rather disastrous season by a win over the Royal High School, by 3 goals to 2 tries. Unsuccessful as the XV. was, it was the first to wear a special XV. cap, but it was rather less pretentious than the present silver-braided one.

1880-1.

This season the Loretto match, which had fallen into abeyance for some years, was revived, and the "Schools Championship" became an accepted institution. With H. C. Webster as captain, and a good nucleus from last season, prospects were bright, and were not belied by the performances of the team. We began rather badly by a defeat from Fettes College, at Fettes, after a close match, their score being a try to nothing, but after that all went well. Blairlodge, at Polmont, furnished poor opposition, for we won by 11 goals and 8 tries to nothing. Craigmount were beaten by a try to nothing; Loretto, at Pinkie, by a goal to a try; Academy, at Raeburn Place, by 3 tries to 1. After Christmas we just managed to win against Loretto, on our ground, by a try to nothing, but swamped the Academy, at Merchiston, by 4 goals and 7 tries to nothing, and pulled off the return match with Fettes College by a goal and a try to nothing, thereby winning the School Championship. Of the eight School matches played, seven were won and one lost—17 goals and 21 tries against 3 tries; but the bulk of the scoring was done against Blairlodge and the Academy. Fettes College, Craigmount, Loretto, and ourselves were very evenly matched.

1881-2.

T. Anderson was captain, and five of the previous XV. were back. We began by beating the Academy at Raeburn Place by a goal to nothing, and followed this up by a win over Blairlodge at Merchiston by 3 goals and 2 tries to nothing. Craigmount were easily beaten at Craigmount by 2 goals and 5 tries to nothing, but the match with Fettes College, at Merchiston, ended in a scoreless draw. Loretto at Pinkie beat us rather badly by 3 goals and a try to nothing—a result which is described as "somewhat of a surprise." Craigmount again sustained defeat, our score being 5 goals and 7 tries; and we secured another victory over Blairlodge by 1 goal and 4 tries to nothing. The Fettes College match at Fettes resulted as the previous game had done in a scoreless draw—though our opponents are allowed to have had the better of the game. The Academy were beaten at Merchiston by 2 tries to nothing. Loretto, at Merchiston, again won pretty easily by a dropped goal and 2 tries to nothing. No "surprise" is expressed this time, but complaint is made that our opponents passed the ball before they were held, tactics which we then thought somewhat unworthy, though "baffling." Of ten School matches, six were won, two drawn, and two lost, and we scored 12 goals 20 tries against 4 goals and 3 tries—all scored by Loretto, who were champion team. Our captain, T. Anderson, played for Scotland against Ireland, and had thus the distinction of being the second of our schoolboy internationals.

This was the jubilee year of the School, and it was but fitting that the championship should come to us again. Eight of the previous year's XV. had returned, and G. W. Jones made a most capable captain. A serious epidemic before Christmas led to the postponement of the earlier School matches, but we were able to show our right to the championship by defeating all the schools in turn. The Academy were beaten at Merchiston by 4 goals (one dropped) and 6 tries to nothing. In the match with Loretto at Pinkie, a new formation was tried—six behind the maul instead of five, which had been the usual number hitherto. The extra man was a third quarter-back, but the innovation was not considered a success. We won, however, by two goals to nothing. A victory over Blairlodge at Merchiston was secured by a goal and 2 tries to nothing. In the Fettes College match, also at Merchiston, we again played six backs, this time the extra man was a half, so that we played for the first time with three halves and two quarters, an arrangement which continued till a fourth half (or three-quarter in modern parlance) was added. We won the match by a goal and a try to nothing. All the four School matches were won, and we scored 8 goals and 9 tries to nothing.

J. S. Clark had six "caps" back and the makings of a good side, which quite came up to expectation. The first School match was against Blairlodge, at Polmont, which we won by 2 goals and a try to a try. Our prejudice against "passing" seems to have died pretty rapidly, for the reporter bewails the fact that while our backs dropped and tackled well, they "were sadly deficient in the 'passing' game". Loretto were beaten at Merchiston by a goal, a dropped goal and a try to a try. A very close match with Fettes College, at Merchiston, was won by them by the narrow margin of a goal to a try, and was the only defeat we sustained in School matches. Craigmount were easily beaten on their own ground by 4 goals (one dropped) and 3 tries to nothing; and a win was secured over the Academy on our ground by a goal and a try to nothing. The return with the Academy was a very one-sided affair, our score being 7 goals (2 dropped) and a try to nothing; but Loretto furnished a close match at Pinkie, and we just won by a dropped goal to nothing. Blairlodge and Craigmount both lost at Merchiston, the first named by a goal, a dropped goal and 3 tries to a goal, the latter by 5 goals and 6 tries to nothing. On the result of the final match with Fettes College hung the championship, and we just managed to win the match and the championship by a goal and try to 2 tries—a successful place-kick deciding the issue in both Fettes matches. Ten School matches were played, nine were won, and one lost. We scored in these, 25 goals and 18 tries to 2 goals and 4 tries—a feature of the season being the number of goals dropped.

The season opened with good promise. T. M'Millan, one of the finest forwards we ever had, was captain, and altogether six of last year's team were back. Unfortunately, in most of the matches before Christmas, we had, through various causes, but seldom a full side, and the season's record suffered in consequence. A comparison between the results before and after Christmas will show how much this handicap meant. We began by beating Blairlodge at Merchiston by 2 goals (one dropped) and 3 tries to nothing, but a depleted team lost to Loretto at Pinkie by a goal to nothing, a still further depleted team was thrashed at Fettes by 5 goals and 5 tries to nothing, but we got back some of our own by beating Craigmount at Merchiston by 2 goals and 6 tries to nothing. After Christmas with full sides on the field, we were able to make up much of the lost ground. Craigmount were beaten on their own ground by 3 goals and 11 tries. We won the return with Loretto by a goal and 3 tries to nothing, and a match with George Watson's College, at Merchiston, also resulted in an easy win—a goal and 7 tries to nothing. On a very muddy ground at Polmont we beat Blairlodge by 2 tries to nothing. The season concluded with a fairly easy win over Fettes College, who had beaten us so badly earlier in the season, by 3 tries to nothing. All the matches since Christmas were won without our lines being crossed. Nine School matches were played, seven were won and two lost, and we scored 9 goals and 35 tries to 6 goals and 5 tries. The place-kicking seems to have been curiously ineffective.

Football.

H. P. Inglis captained the team, which was considerably under the average in weight, but met with fair success. The School matches which were lost were lost by narrow margins, and frost and snow interfered materially with the game. We beat Blairlodge at Polmont by 2 goals and 5 tries to nothing, lost the Loretto match, at Merchiston, by a try to nothing, and the match with Fettes College, on their ground, by a goal to nothing. The Academy were easily beaten on our ground by 5 goals (1 dropped) and 2 tries to nothing—a match only remarkable for the fact that A. N. Woodrow scored 5 tries. The return with Fettes College was played on the Wanderers' ground at Raeburn Place, and we succeeded in making a draw of it, by a dropped goal to a goal. All the other School matches were off owing to the weather, including the fixture with Trinity College, Glenalmond, a match sought to be revived this season. Of the five School matches played, two were won, two lost, and one drawn, our score being 8 goals and 7 tries to 2 goals and 1 try.

Eight of the previous year's team were back, and W. A. Hutcheson captained the side. We began badly, but improved as the season went on, and ultimately divided championship honours with Fettes College. The first School match, against Blairlodge, at Merchiston, was won easily by 6 goals and 6 tries to nothing—A. W. J. Livingstone scoring 5 of the tries. The Loretto match, at Pinkie, was lost by 3 tries to nothing—our only defeat in school matches. Fettes College we beat at Merchiston by a goal and a try to a try, but they were not quite at full strength. Frost prevented other matches being played before Christmas—our first fixture with Durham School falling through on that account. After Christmas we beat the Academy by 2 goals and 5 tries to nothing, and Loretto by a goal and a try to nothing, both matches being played at Merchiston. The final match with Fettes College, on their ground, was drawn—no scoring. They had much the better of the game throughout, and only our splendid defence saved the match and gained us the right to share first honours with them. Of six School matches played we won four, lost one, and drew one, scoring 10 goals and 13 tries against 3 tries.

Though handicapped by want of weight the team, under W. J. Reid, had a most successful season, winning all the School matches—a result mainly due to a very fast and keen, if light, pack, and Reid's excellent work behind. Craigmount were easily beaten on their own ground by 2 goals and 3 tries to nothing. Blairlodge lost at Merchiston by a goal and 3 tries, as did Loretto by a goal and 2 tries to a try, this latter being the only score against us in Scottish School matches. We beat Fettes College at Fettes by a goal to nothing—an easier win than the score indicates—and the Academy at Merchiston by 2 goals and 5 tries to nothing. The return with Loretto resulted in a win for us by 3 goals and a try to nothing. The Academy fell even easier victims to us at Raeburn Place than in the first match, for we won by 4 goals and 3 tries to nothing. Durham School were met for the first time and we won at Durham by 4 tries to a try. Frost and snow were responsible for a number of matches being put off. The seven School matches played were all won and we scored 14 goals and 21 tries to 2 tries—gaining the School championship once more. W. J. Reid played for the West in the International trial match, East v. West.

With eight others who had played more or less regularly for the XV. throughout the previous season, G. T. Neilson had plenty of support, and another highly successful season falls to be chronicled. The great strength of the team again lay in the forwards and they did the bulk of the scoring. We began by beating Blairlodge at Polmont by a goal to nothing and followed this up by a somewhat easy win over Loretto at Pinkie, our score being a goal and 4 tries to nothing. A hard match with Fettes College, on our ground, resulted in a bare win for us by a try to nothing. The first visit of Durham School to our ground gave us another victory—3 goals and 2 tries to nothing—while the Academy, at Merchiston, fell very easy victims for we won by no less than 7 goals and 5 tries to nothing. It is a curious fact that while not a single try gained in the first half was converted, 7 goals were kicked from the 7 tries scored in the second. We again managed to get the better of Fettes College, this time by 2 goals to nothing. Our last match, against Blairlodge, at Merchiston, was won by a goal to nothing. The seven School matches played were all won and we scored 14 goals and 13 tries to nothing, so that we again made good our claim to the championship. G. T. Neilson was second reserve for Scotland and narrowly missed his international cap.

R. T. Bell was captain and had six "caps" back, but the team proved only moderate. The first School match against Blairlodge at Merchiston was won by a goal to nothing, and a very close match with Loretto on our ground resulted in a narrow win for us by a try to nothing. Fettes College at Fettes got the better of us by a goal and try to nothing—the first School match we had lost since November 1886. Durham School we beat at Durham by 2 goals 1 try to nothing, as also the Academy at Merchiston by 2 goals to nothing. Loretto won the return match by a goal and try to nothing after having much the better of the game, and the results of the season sum up to four wins against two defeats and 5 goals and 2 tries against 2 goals and 2 tries. The penalty kick made its first appearance this season.

With only five "caps" back our prospects were none too bright, but in W. Neilson we had a captain and player of exceptional merit and the team proved a strong one. We began with a scoreless draw with Blair-lodge at Polmont, but after that things went better for us. We beat Loretto at Newfield by a dropped goal and 2 tries to nothing, and Fettes College at Merchiston by 2 goals and 2 tries to nothing. Our opponents made it a condition in this match that "heeling-out" should be allowed, and to this, under protest, we agreed, but declined ourselves to resort to what is described in the report of the match as tactics "utterly destructive of all school forward play." The victory was the more appreciated in consequence, though alas! we have had to bow, as in the case of "passing," to inevitable changes in the game. The Academy fell easy victims to us at Merchiston by 4 goals (1 dropped) and 5 tries to nothing. For the first time we played Leys School, Cambridge, who were on tour in Scotland, and won by 4 tries to nothing. After Christmas we only met Blairlodge and Loretto, both at Merchiston, and beat the first-named by a goal and try to a try and the latter by 2 tries to nothing. Six School matches were won and one was drawn, and we scored 8 goals and 16 tries against 1 try, securing the School Champion, ship. Our captain played for Scotland against Wales and England—being thus the third of our schoolboy internationals.

W. Paterson succeeded W. Neilson as captain, and had only three besides himself of the previous year's team. The team, in consequence lacked weight and experience and were slow to improve. For the first time in our history we were beaten by Blairlodge, who won at Merchiston by 3 tries to nothing. We fell easy victims to Fettes College at Fettes, losing by no less than 4 goals (1 penalty) and a try to nothing, but just managed to beat the Academy at Raeburn Place, by a goal to a try, although they had by no means a full side. An easy victory over George Watson's College at Merchiston, whom we beat by a goal and 6 tries to nothing, was followed by another substantial defeat, at the hands of Loretto, who won on our ground by 3 tries to nothing. A journey to Cambridge, where we played Leys School, gave us a welcome victory, though only by the narrow margin of a try to nothing. Loretto won the return as easily as the first match, scoring 2 goals and 2 tries to nothing, but we managed to beat the Academy a second time by a try to nothing, and Durham School at Merchiston, by 5 tries to nothing. Of the nine School matches played we won but five, losing the other four, and scoring 2 goals and 13 tries as against 6 goals and 10 tries.

This season was even more disastrous than the last, and we actually lost more School matches than we won. J. A. Macgregor captained the team, which contained five from the previous season. Quite a record was established, as all of the five School matches played before Christmas were lost. The Academy won at Merchiston by a goal to nothing—their first win for many years. Blairlodge at Polmont beat us easily by 2 goals and 4 tries to nothing. George Watson's College, at Myreside, scored the only victory they can yet claim over us,* by 2 goals (1 dropped) to a goal and a try. Fettes College beat us on our ground by 3 tries to nothing, and yet another record was established for Durham School beat us for the first and only time, so far, by a goal to 2 tries (the try at this time counting 2 points to 5 points for a goal). We did a little better after Christmas beating the Academy by 2 tries to nothing, and Trinity College, Glenalmond, at Merchiston, by 2 goals and 3 tries to nothing. We managed to draw with Loretto, no scoring, but sustained another defeat from Blairlodge, this time by a goal and 2 tries, both the latter matches being played on our ground. So ended what is probably the least successful season we ever have had. We won two matches, lost six, and drew one, scoring 3 goals and 8 tries to 7 goals and 9 tries.

To have back eight of the previous team, bad side as it was, gave grounds for hoping for better things, and the team under J. L. M. Neilson was fairly successful. Yet it was a most disappointing year. At times the team played in a style that showed them the equals of our best XV.'s, at other times almost any side could have beaten them. Individually the forwards in weight, pace, and cleverness were much above the average. On the rare occasions when they gave us of their best they were easily superior to anything they had to meet, but too often they were all at sixes and sevens and wonderfully ineffective. The season began badly, for the Academy beat us, at Raeburn Place, by a goal and a try to nothing, and Blairlodge secured a narrow victory at Merchiston by a goal to a try. George Watson's College we beat on our ground by 5 goals (1 dropped and 1 penalty) and 2 tries to nothing, and Fettes College, at Fettes, almost as easily by 3 goals (1 dropped) and a try to nothing. Loretto, at Merchiston, were beaten by 2 tries to nothing, and Durham School, also on our ground, by 5 goals (one mark) and 4 tries to nothing. In the return match we had an easy victory over the Academy scoring 5 tries to nothing, and another close match with Loretto resulted in a win for us by a try to nothing, but Blairlodge again just won, this time by a goal to nothing. George Watson's College and Fettes College we beat by a goal and 2 tries to nothing, and a goal and a try to a try respectively. Eight School matches were won, three were lost, and we scored 15 goals and 19 tries against 3 goals and 2 tries. W. G. Neilson while still at School this year got his International cap against England.

This was a season of much frost and little football—no matches being played after Christmas—G. O. Turnbull captained the team, which included four from the previous season. The start was most unpromising, for the Academy beat us at Merchiston by 2 goals and a try to nothing; but our team was certainly an improving one and might have done fairly well in a full season's football. We beat Blairlodge at Polmont by 2 goals (1 penalty) to nothing, and drew with George Watson's College, on their ground, no scoring. A narrow win over Loretto at Pinkie, by a goal to nothing, was followed by an equally close game with Fettes College, who won in the closing minutes of the game by a goal to nothing. The last match before Christmas and, as it turned out, the last of the season, gave us an easy victory over Durham School at Durham, by 4 goals and a try to nothing. We won three matches, lost two, and drew one, scoring 7 goals and a try to 3 goals and a try.

The season was mainly remarkable for the number of drawn games and, although we again won the Championship, it cannot be said we showed any marked superiority over our nearest rivals. Indeed, the schools all round seem to have been very equal. D. A. Macdonald was captain, and we had in all five from last season. We began with a narrow escape from defeat in the match with Trinity College, who drew with us, at Glenalmond, scoring a try to our penalty goal, the try now counting 3 points. This was followed by a defeat, sustained at Raeburn Place, where the Academy won by a try to nothing, which was the only School match we lost. At Merchiston, we beat Blairlodge by a penalty goal and 3 tries to a try, and George Watson's College by a dropped goal to nothing. Though we won the match with Fettes College at Fettes, by 2 goals (1 penalty 1 mark) and a try to a goal, there was but little between the teams, a remark which also applies to the match with Loretto on our ground which we won by a goal to nothing. Durham School was beaten at Merchiston by 2 penalty goals and 2 tries to nothing. After Christmas we had a lucky draw with Loretto at Pinkie—no scoring—a substantial win over Blairlodge at Polmont, by a goal and 3 tries to a goal, and three scoreless draws—with Fettes College, the Academy, and George Watson's College. Twelve School matches were played, and of these we won six, lost one, and drew five, scoring 9 goals and 9 tries to 2 goals and 3 tries.

Football.

1896-7.

R. M. Robertson captained the team, which contained seven from the previous season—a fact which might have justified anticipations of a much better record than we actually had. The forwards were quite average, but the backs were poor, and of scoring power there was none. We began well enough, beating Trinity College, Glenalmond, on our ground, by 2 goals and 3 tries to nothing, but the Academy beat us easily, also on our ground, by a goal and 2 tries to a goal from a mark. We could only draw with George Watson's College and Fettes College, both being met at Merchiston, and in neither match was there any scoring, the match with Blairlodge at Polmont producing a similar result. For the first and, so far, only time we played St Peter's School, York, at York, another draw, this time a penalty goal each, falling to be recorded. We only played two School matches after Christmas and managed to lose both—Fettes College beating us by 2 goals (1 mark) to nothing and the Academy again by a goal and 2 tries to nothing. One win, three losses, and four draws, 4 goals and 2 tries to 5 goals and 4 tries, make up the record of a very poor season.

We have to thank D. Couper, the captain, and the rest of this season's team for a very different record from the previous year's, for not only did we win the Championship, but did so without a point being scored against us in School matches, three draws alone marring the completeness of the record. Though on the light side the forwards were very clever and splendidly led, while, for once in a way, we had backs who could score as well as defend. We began with an easy win over Trinity College at Glenalmond by 2 goals (1 mark) and 4 tries to nothing. This was the first match in which we played four three-quarters—a formation since retained. Victories were obtained at the expense of Blairlodge and George Watson's College, the former being beaten at Merchiston by a goal and 2 tries to nothing, the latter at Myreside by 2 goals and 4 tries to nothing. Scoreless draws with Loretto at Merchiston and the Academy at Raeburn Place, a narrow win over Fettes College at Fettes * and an easy victory over Durham School at Merchiston, by 6 tries to nothing, completed our programme before Christmas. In the second term we were even more successful for we beat George Watson's College by 2 goals and 2 tries to nothing, the Academy at Merchiston by a try to nothing, and Blairlodge at Polmont by a goal and a try to nothing, but we again drew with Loretto on their ground. We played eleven matches, won eight, and drew three, scoring 8 goals and 21 tries (102 points) to nothing. In all matches the team scored 150 points to 5, being undefeated.

J. Aitchison had six besides himself of the old lot, but the team, though performing creditably, were unable to retain the Championship. Their opening was ominous. Trinity College, Glenalmond, registering their first and, as yet,* only victory against us, by winning at Merchiston by 2 goals to nothing. We did better thereafter, beating Blairlodge (who were very weak) at Polmont by 5 goals (1 dropped) and 3 tries to nothing, and George Watson's College at Merchiston by 2 tries to nothing. Our match with Loretto resulted, as was usual about this time, in a scoreless draw, but we just beat Fettes College at Merchiston by a try to nothing. Against the Academy, on our ground, we won easily, scoring 2 dropped goals and 3 tries to nothing, and the match with Durham School furnished another draw—no scoring. After Christmas the team fell off somewhat, and lost to Fettes College by a goal to a penalty goal, though they won against George Watson's College by a try to nothing and drew once more with the season's champions, Loretto, nothing being scored. Ten School matches were played, five were won, two lost, and three drawn, and we scored 8 goals and 10 tries (65 points) against 3 goals (15 points).

A. W. Duncan captained the team in which there were eight of the previous year's XV. Himself a player much above schoolboy average, he proved a very good captain, and brought his team up to a high pitch of excellence. Both in front and behind the side was considerably better than the ordinary School team, and fully deserved the Championship honours that were won. The first School match was against Trinity College at Glenalmond, and this we won by 3 tries to nothing. Easy victories over Blairlodge and George Watson's College followed. The first named we beat at Merchiston by 3 goals (1 penalty) and 7 tries to nothing, the latter at Myreside by a goal and 5 tries to nothing. Loretto at Merchiston furnished stronger opposition but we beat them by a goal and a try to nothing, and drew with Fettes College, on their ground—no scoring. The Academy were easily beaten twice, first, at Raeburn Place by 2 goals (1 dropped) and 4 tries to nothing, and in the return at Merchiston by 2 goals and a try to nothing. George Watson's College again suffered rather severe defeat, losing by 5 goals and 5 tries, while the score in the first Loretto match was repeated in the return, for we won again by a goal and a try to nothing. With Fettes College we again drew, scoring a penalty goal to a try. In the ten School matches played we scored 16 goals and 27 tries (156 points) against a try (3 points), winning eight matches and drawing two. We were only beaten by Edinburgh University, and in all matches scored 176 points against 6.

Good as the previous season's record was it was quite surpassed this year, and by Christmas we had actually run up a total of 220 points to nothing in School matches. Though only six of the previous XV. had returned J. Gray proved a most efficient captain, and such capable recruits were forthcoming that the team proved in every department one of the best we have had. At the same time, in making comparisons it should be kept in mind that the other schools were probably weaker than usual—some of them markedly so. The high scoring began at once. Trinity College, Glenalmond, were beaten at Merchiston by 3 goals and 6 tries to nothing. Blairlodge, weaker than ever, lost to us at Polmont by 6 goals and 5 tries to nothing, and George Watson's College at Merchiston suffered an equally decisive defeat, for against them we scored 2 goals and 9 tries to nothing. A notable win was secured in the match with Fettes College on our ground by 3 goals and 4 tries to nothing, and another at the expense of the Academy, also at Merchiston, by 2 goals and 3 tries to nothing. Loretto furnished the closest game of the season and we won at Newfield by 2 tries to nil. A very one-sided game at Durham, against Durham School, in which we scored 7 goals and 6 tries to nothing, brought the first term's operations to a close. After Christmas four matches were played and all were won with a good deal to spare. We beat the Academy by 2 goals and 3 tries to nothing, George Watson's College by 2 goals and 7 tries to nothing, Blairlodge by 3 goals and 11 tries to nothing, and Fettes College by 4 goals and a try to nothing. All the eleven School matches were won, and we scored 34 goals and 57 tries (341 points) to nothing. In all matches we scored 383 points to 60, losing three club matches.

For the third season in succession we secured the Championship, and though our victories were fewer and less pronounced than those of last season, no defeat was sustained in School matches. These three years are the most successful we have yet had. With forwards quite up to our usual standard, we had backs who were exceptionally good, and the combination was irresistible. The danger of our successes lay in the possibility that in cultivating a new back game we might lose the tradition of good forward play, which had been our stand-by in past years, and was really the key to the successes in question, and into that error we fell. There is no necessary antagonism between the development of forwards and backs, but we have unfortunately, by some means or other, almost completely lost the art of our old forward play. The folly of sacrificing our greatest asset—"Merchiston forward play"—has been painfully apparent in these latter years, when the exceptional backs were not forthcoming, and we have witnessed a steady deterioration in the style and efficiency of our forwards, and this has necessarily reacted on the back play. To him who will stem the tide and turn our energies into the old channels, without sacrificing any improvement in our back play, our hearty thanks will be due. To return to the history of the season, A. A. Bisset captained the team, in which were seven from last year. We beat Trinity College at Glenalmond by 2 goals and 3 tries to a penalty goal; and Blairlodge at Merchiston by 5 goals and 5 tries to nothing. Watson's were beaten at Myreside by 4 goals and 2 tries to nil. With Loretto, on our ground, we drew—no scoring, but easily beat the Academy at Raeburn Place, by 6 goals and 2 tries to nothing. We played Sedburgh for the first time, winning at Merchiston, by 3 goals and 2 tries to 2 tries, and just beat Fettes College at Fettes by the narrow margin of a try to nothing. After Christmas only two School matches were played, and we won both, beating George Watson's College at Merchiston by a goal and 2 tries to nothing; and Loretto, at Pinkie, by 2 goals and a try to nothing. Loretto were not at full strength, which probably accounted for our unexpectedly easy victory. Nine School matches were played, eight were won and one was drawn. We scored 23 goals and 18 tries (169 points) against 1 goal (penalty) and 2 tries (9 points). In all matches we scored 240 points to 121 (of which 102 were scored by Edinburgh University and the Merchistonians), losing four matches.

H. R. Cook was captain, and only two other members of the last season's team were back—quite an exceptional "leave." The captain certainly made the most of the rather raw material at his command, and is to be congratulated on the fact that only one School match was lost. His effort to revive the tradition of good forward play was a move in the right direction, and to that, more than anything else, we owe the fact that the record at the end of the season was as good as it proved, and in this the "reformer" we have sighed for may find some encouragement. We began with a fairly easy win over Trinity College, Glenalmond, at Merchiston, scoring a goal and 2 tries to nothing; but the match with George Watson's College on our ground produced a hard struggle, and we only just won in the closing minutes of the game by 2 tries to 1. Another close match, this time with Loretto at Pinkie, was drawn—no scoring. In the match with Fettes College on our ground, our defence proved equal to their strong attack, and again a scoreless draw was the result, though they had the better of the game. The remaining two matches before Christmas we won, beating the Academy on our ground by 2 tries to nothing, and Sedbergh, at Sedbergh, by 2 goals (1 penalty) to nothing. Fettes College won the return at Fettes by a goal to nothing, but we were able to repeat the results of the previous matches with Loretto and Academy, drawing the former without a score, and winning the latter, again by 2 tries to nothing. The final match, with George Watson's College, furnished another draw, in which we scored a try against a penalty goal. Of the ten School matches we won five, drew four, and lost one, scoring 3 goals and 9 tries (40 points) against 2 goals and 1 try (11 points). In all matches 57 points were scored against 67, and we were beaten three times.

W. Laidlaw captained the team, which included seven from the previous year. The forwards were weak to begin with, and improved but little as the season went on, though, on rare occasions, they played not so badly. The same may be said of the backs, but their defence was generally good, which compensated to a certain extent for the crudity of their methods in attack. We began with a narrow win over Trinity College at Glenalmond, by a try to nothing, but found easier victims in George Watson's College, whom we beat at Myreside by a dropped goal and 4 tries to nothing. Fettes College beat us on their ground by a goal to nothing, and we allowed Loretto to inflict on us a much more severe defeat than the real difference between the teams warranted, when they won at Merchiston by 4 tries to a goal. A welcome win over Durham School at Durham by 3 goals (1 dropped) and 3 tries to nothing, concluded the first term's matches. After Christmas we played the Academy on our ground and won by a goal and 2 tries to nothing, and the Sedbergh match, also at Merchiston, gave us another win by a penalty goal and a try to nothing. Fettes College again proved their superiority by winning at Merchiston by 2 goals to nothing, but in spite of the fact that they won both matches, it was in these that our team did their best performances of the season, for Fettes College were much the better side. In School matches we won five and lost three, scoring 7 goals and 11 tries (64 points) against 3 goals and 4 tries (27 points). In all matches we scored 93 points to 71, losing five matches.

Football.

Although the final record is better than last year's, we cannot congratulate ourselves on any improvement in the football of the team. The forwards were, perhaps, the worst pack we have ever had, but all our opponents, except Fettes College, were much below average, so that our weakness was not so noticeable. Had the rest of the team followed the example of the captain, J. W. Alexander, who must be ranked amongst the best of our forwards, a very different state of affairs would fall to be recorded. Unfortunately, their admiration for his skill and tireless energy did not take the form of imitation, and they preferred to watch him playing. There were six of last year's team back—three backs and three forwards. Trinity College, Glenalmond, were beaten at Merchiston by 3 goals (1 penalty) and 5 tries to nothing. George Watson's College also fell easy victims and suffered defeat on their ground by 4 goals 5 tries to nothing. The Academy match at Merchiston was lost by sheer bad play, their score being 2 tries to our 1, but we managed to beat Sedbergh, at Sedbergh, by a similar score, 2 tries to 1 try. George Watson's College were beaten again in the return match by 2 goals and a try. We showed better form in the return with the Academy, winning by 2 goals to nothing. The Durham School match at Merchiston was won comparatively easily by a goal and 3 tries to nothing, but we found Fettes College a good bit better than ourselves, and we lost at Fettes by 2 goals (1 penalty) and a try to nothing. We, however, managed to beat Loretto pretty comfortably, by 2 goals (1 penalty) and 3 tries to 2 tries. Seven School matches were won, and two were lost. We scored 14 goals and 20 tries (126 points) against 2 goals and 7 tries (29 points). In all matches we scored 170 points to 86—losing five matches.

D. A. Hutchison was captain, and though he had only three other members of the last season's team, the material was so good that a successful season was anticipated. Illness and disablement, however, had a demoralising effect; as an example, when Sedbergh defeated us, for the first time in the history of this match, we had no less than eight men away; and the team seemed to depend for its success on the presence and fitness of a few individuals. The forwards also were very variable, showing in one or two matches some of the form that one expects of Merchiston forwards, and in others falling completely to pieces. We began with an easy victory, by 2 goals and 5 tries to nothing over Trinity College at Glenalmond, and defeated George Watson's College on their ground by 2 goals and 3 tries to nothing. Then came the Sedbergh match already referred to, which was lost by 1 goal and 1 try to nothing at Merchiston. At Fettes, after a good beginning, we fell away badly and were beaten by 2 goals (1 penalty) 3 tries to 1 goal. This was followed by a pointless draw with the Academy at Raeburn Place; in this match our forwards played badly. Then mustering a full team again, we surprised everyone by beating Loretto, who were as yet undefeated and had drawn with Fettes, by 1 goal and 1 try to nothing, at Merchiston. The Durham School match was easily won at Durham by 7 goals to nothing. These last two matches gave hopes that after Christmas we should do better; but after a not very meritorious win over George Watson's College on our own ground by 2 goals and 1 try to 1 try, we were badly defeated by the Academy at Merchiston by 1 goal and 2 tries to 1 try; our forwards played their most hopeless game of the year; so that our subsequent victory over Fettes College, on our own ground, occasioned great surprise to all; Fettes College had not been defeated for four years, and though they were not a great side this year, we had not expected to win; the score in our favour was, 2 goals (1 penalty) to 1 goal. Our defeat by the Academy, however, had spoilt any chance we had of even sharing the championship. Ten School matches were played, of which six were won, three lost, and one drawn; in these we scored 17 goals 11 tries (116 points) to 5 goals 8 tries (47 points); in all matches we scored 169 points to 119, losing in all six matches.

With no less than eleven of the previous season's team, under J. M. Tennent as captain, we looked for a prosperous season; but though the team was certainly the best since 1901-2, it had not sufficient initiative in attack, and consequently was twice beaten by the Academy, who had a fast and enterprising set of backs, and had an unbeaten record in School matches: perhaps a good leader of forwards would have turned the scale in our favour. We began with an easy victory over Trinity College, Glenalmond, at Merchiston, by 6 goals (1 penalty) and 4 tries to nothing, and defeated George Watson's College on their own ground by 2 goals and 2 tries to nothing. At Sedbergh we met a fine fast pack of forwards, whose knowledge of their own ground proved useful, but we won narrowly by 1 goal and 1 try to 2 tries. A rearrangement of the team had been made in this last match, and at Loretto it proved very effective, as we secured our highest score in this fixture, winning by 3 goals and 2 tries to nothing. Fettes College was next met at Merchiston, on the worst day of the year, and a pointless draw was the result, mainly owing to an excess of caution on our part, in the fear that if we tried to win we might possibly lose. Both sides were undefeated when the Academy met us on our own ground, and this match we should have won, but cramped our attack too much, and our opponents, securing two "snap" scores, won by 1 goal and 1 try to nothing. In the second term football was largely interfered with by frost, and we only played three School matches. In the first we had no difficulty in defeating Durham by 3 goals and 5 tries to 1 try. We then met Fettes College at Fettes, and won by 1 goal 2 tries to 1 penalty goal; this was our easiest match with Fettes for many years, as though our score was not large, they never at any time looked dangerous. Our last match was against the Academy at Raeburn Place, and we found them the better team; they won by 2 goals and 1 try to 1 try. Of School matches we won six, lost two, and drew one, scoring 16 goals 17 tries (129 points) to 4 goals 5 tries (33 points); in all matches we scored 182 points to 58, losing three in all.

A. G. Cameron was captain this year, and had nine of the previous year's team back, of whom six were forwards. The final result of the season's play served to emphasise a point mentioned in last year's record, that a leader is essential if good forward play is to be secured. Our prospects were excellent, and for a time all went well; the backs more than came up to expectations, and in the first half of the season the forwards, whose average weight was 11 st. 7 lbs., played well and gave them many chances; but later they fell off, as an unled pack must, lost all concentration and unanimity of purpose, and in the last two matches were altogether at sea. We were, however, unfortunate in not sharing the championship with Loretto, whom we defeated as decisively as they defeated us. We began with an easy victory over Trinity College at Glenalmond, on a very wet day, by 2 goals and 4 tries to nothing, and followed this up by defeating George Watson's College on their own ground, by 3 goals and 4 tries to nothing. Sedbergh we beat at Merchiston, by 3 goals and 1 try to nothing; in all these matches our forwards wore their opponents down, and the scoring was mostly done in the second half. Loretto, as two years before, came up to Merchiston undefeated, and again were beaten, this time by 2 goals and 1 try to nil, owing to good all-round play; but next week at Fettes we were unfortunate in losing Cameron in the first ten minutes: even so we should have won, but were beaten by a penalty goal to nothing. Cameron's play never recovered from this accident, and our deterioration dates from this match. Durham School we beat easily at Durham, by 2 goals and 4 tries to 1 try, but our forwards were ragged; the Academy were not played before Christmas owing to frost. Next term George Watson's College were beaten at Merchiston on a bad day, by 1 goal and 4 tries to nothing; against the Academy on our own ground we gained a lucky victory by 1 dropped goal and 1 try to 1 try; Fettes were not played again owing to mumps at Merchiston; but we went down to Musselburgh and played Loretto on a field swept by a gale of wind, with pelting rain. They defended finely, and in the first half we could not score; in the second they gave us no quarter, and won by 1 goal and 3 tries to nothing. We played nine School matches, of which seven were won, and two lost; we scored 14 goals and 19 tries (126 points) to 2 goals and 5 tries (23 points); in all matches we scored 201 points to 63, losing altogether four matches.

R. M. Lindsay was captain, and had five other members of the previous season's team; there seemed no reason to anticipate the complete disaster which occurred: for the first time for over ten years our record showed more defeats than victories in School matches. The backs were light, but mostly had some natural abilities: the forwards heavy—they averaged 11½ stone—if rather clumsy: but the lack of hardness and vigour in their play seemed to show that their training was of doubtful quality, and they were not led or made into a pack, but always played as individuals. Two easy victories gave an unwarranted feeling of security: Trinity College, Glenalmond, were beaten by 3 goals and 5 tries to nothing, and George Watson's College by 1 goal and 8 tries to nothing. At Sedbergh we were much more severely tested, and came out of the ordeal badly, being defeated by 3 goals (1 penalty) and 1 try to nothing. At Loretto we started well, but failed to last, and were beaten by 1 goal and 2 tries to nothing. Fettes College came up with a really good side, and beat us by 3 goals and 2 tries to nothing. A close game with a moderate Academy side at Raeburn Place was won by 1 try to nothing. Our visitors from Durham naturally came with greater hopes than usual—they had beaten Sedbergh—but were beaten forward, and we won by 1 goal and 3 tries to 1 goal and 1 try. In the second term we played only two School matches, those with Fettes College and George Watson's College being scratched owing to frost. The Academy beat us by 1 try to nothing, and Loretto beat us by 2 goals and 4 tries to nothing. Of School matches we won four and lost five, scoring 5 goals and 17 tries (76 points) to 10 goals and 11 tries (81 points); in all matches we scored 148 points to 180, winning seven and losing ten.

Five of the last season's team remained, and C. M. Usher, an enthusiastic captain, made the most of his side; the forwards trained on into a fine dashing pack, but the backs were small, and with one exception lacked pace and scoring power: their defence was usually sound. We were not favoured in the matter of accidents, and at the end of December lost three of our best players, who had passed into Woolwich and Sandhurst. Trinity College were beaten at Glenalmond by 6 tries to 1 goal and 2 tries in a close game on a half-frozen pitch. The Merchistonians were beaten on the following Wednesday, for the first time for twelve years, but we lost a promising centre, whose leg was broken. George Watson's College were beaten at Myreside by 2 tries to nothing, after a tough game. The Academy just beat us by 1 goal and 1 try to 2 tries, at Raeburn Place: we led by 2 tries to nothing, but weak tackling gave them the game in the last ten minutes. We did well to draw at Merchiston with Sedbergh, a very heavy side, but had little chance against Fettes College: a heavy and clever side beat us at Fettes, by 4 goals to nothing, on a very wet ground. The Durham match found us at our best, and we won at Durham by 1 goal and 4 tries to nothing against a good side. This finished our matches for the term, as frost had prevented the Loretto match from being played. In the second term, A. H. Wilson captained the XV. Usher and Luke had gone to Sandhurst, and Gourlay, our one scoring three-quarter, to Woolwich. Still, we did quite well: our forwards nearly beat the Academy at Merchiston on a holding ground, the game being drawn with no scoring. Fettes College, easily the best School side of the year, beat us at Merchiston by 2 goals and 3 tries to 1 try, chiefly by the weight and pace of their backs. Our only match this season with Loretto, at Musselburgh, we won by 2 tries to 1 try after a hard fight. Of School matches we played nine, of which we won four, lost three, and drew two; we scored 1 goal and 18 tries (59 points) against 8 goals and 8 tries (64 points); in all matches we scored 16 goals and 38 tries (190 points) against 158, winning eleven matches, losing eight, and drawing two.

A. H. Wilson was again captain, and had six more of the previous season's XV. to help him. There was every prospect of a good season, but the final record was most disappointing, and as in 1908-9, more defeats than victories were recorded in School matches.

The XV. had excellent forwards, and some very fair backs, but lacked cohesion, and did not play well together as a team, and the tactics pursued did not always suit the conditions. We began well, and defeated the Merchistonians; but a severe set-back came in the first School match;

Football.

Trinity College, Glenalmond, came with a great reputation as a scoring side, and won their first victory over us for twelve years. They were fast outside, and played 8 backs ; our forwards gave us many opportunities at the beginning, but these were not taken, and by pace and straight running we were beaten by 2 goals and 3 tries to 1 try. George Watson's College were beaten at Merchiston by 3 goals (1 dropped) and 1 try to 1 try, but our visit to Sedbergh resulted in a defeat by 4 tries to 1 goal. Loretto we beat at Musselburgh by 3 goals to 1 try ; neither side was really good. This remark applies also to the Fettes College match, which we won on a wet ground at Merchiston by 1 goal and 2 tries to 1 try. The Academy had beaten Glenalmond, and ended the season with an unbeaten record ; but we should not have been beaten by 2 goals and 5 tries to nothing, as we were at Raeburn Place. Durham we beat at Merchiston by 1 penalty goal and 3 tries to nothing. So far our record was moderate ; but in the second term all four School matches were lost, by margins small but sufficient. George Watson's College beat us at Myreside by 1 penalty goal and 2 tries to 1 penalty goal and 1 try ; this was their first victory for eighteen years. We played better against the Academy at Merchiston on a treacherous ground, but were beaten by 1 goal and 2 tries to 1 try. Fettes College beat us by 1 dropped goal and 1 try to nothing on a very wet day ; and, finally, Loretto beat us on a quagmire by 2 tries to 1 try : in these last two games we tried to play scientific football under impossible conditions. The final record was : School matches, played 11, won 4, lost 7 ; we scored 10 goals and 10 tries (75 points) against 7 goals and 22 tries (98 points) ; of all matches we won nine and lost seven, scoring 173 points against 119.

With seven of the more promising members of the previous season's team, hopes were again high, and this time they were not disappointed. J. H. B. Roberts was an excellent captain, and succeeded in getting his men to play as a team, with the happy result that we appeared once more at the head of the list, after a lapse of ten years, and, moreover, with an undefeated side. The pack worked hard, and excelled in getting the ball, so that the fast and clever backs had plenty of chances. These they took well. Winning matches gave them confidence, and they varied their attack admirably. Perhaps the most notable point, however, was the sterling defence : in eleven School matches our lines were only crossed five times, twice by Sedbergh. Trinity College were beaten at Glenalmond by 4 goals and 2 tries to nothing, and George Watson's College at Myreside by 1 dropped goal and 7 tries to nothing. A close game with Sedbergh at Merchiston was won in the last ten minutes by 4 tries to 1 goal and 1 try. Loretto were beaten at Merchiston by 3 tries to nothing, and Fettes College at Fettes by 2 tries to 1 try after a hard fight. The Academy were beaten at Merchiston by 1 dropped goal, 1 penalty goal, and 2 tries to 1 goal, and the term ended with a victory at Durham by 10 goals and 7 tries to nothing. In the second term our victories were more easily gained : the Academy were beaten by 3 tries to nothing, Fettes College by 2 goals and 2 tries to nothing, Loretto by 2 goals (1 penalty) and 3 tries to 1 try, and George Watson's College by 4 goals and 2 tries to nothing. So ended a most successful season : all the eleven School matches were won, the score being 25 goals and 37 tries (230 points) against 2 goals and 3 tries (19 points) ; in all matches we scored 315 points against 60, losing only one match, to a strong side of Merchistonians.

The high standard set up by Roberts was continued by his successor, R. Macfarlane, who had six more of the previous year's XV. ; this team was not so well balanced as its predecessor ; for, though the forwards were a fine pack, and the three-quarters, especially the centres, very fast and clever, the halves were ineffective, and were not quick enough to give the men behind them sufficient chances to develop their attack against good defence. Sometimes the XV. could produce a game which, for sheer brilliance, surpassed both their predecessors' and their successors', but they could sink below either. We shared the championship with the Academy. They were defeated by Fettes College in the only match between those Schools, while we defeated Fettes twice, and lost our only match with the Academy. All three Schools were above the average. Our pace was again a great asset, and we were only scored against seven times in ten School matches. Trinity College, Glensalmond, were beaten at Merchiston by 6 goals (1 penalty) and 3 tries to nothing. George Watson's College, also at Merchiston, somewhat luckily, by 1 goal to nothing. Our visit to Sedburgh resulted in a victory by 1 goal and 3 tries to 1 try. Loretto were beaten in the last few minutes, at Musselburgh, by 1 penalty goal and 2 tries to 2 tries ; and Fettes College at Merchiston by 1 goal and 1 try to 1 try : in this game the team was at its best. The Academy were not played this term owing to frost. Durham we beat at Merchiston by 5 goals and 4 tries to nothing. In the second term we beat George Watson's College by 3 tries to 1 try ; then came our defeat by the Academy by 1 goal to nothing : they scored in the first few minutes, and being as fast as we were, kept our centres well in check for the rest of the game. Fettes College we beat by 2 goals (1 penalty) and 1 try to 1 goal ; and Loretto by 3 tries to nothing. Of School matches we played 10, won 9, and lost 1, scoring 17 goals and 20 tries (139 points) against 2 goals and 5 tries (25 points). In all matches we scored 227 points against 63, winning 13 matches, losing 1, and drawing 2.

This season's XV. proved a worthy successor to the two preceding teams, and with an unbeaten record won the championship for the third year in succession. Six of last year's side remained, but one of these was crooked before School matches began, another could not play in the first term, and a third could not play in the second term ; but D. H. Hutchison, the captain, succeeded admirably with his material, and formed a team which, for compactness and balance, compared more than favourably with either of its predecessors. The forwards, not a great pack, were adequate, and the backs uniformly good. Any one of them was capable of initiating a dangerous attack, so that the opposing backs could not afford to concentrate in defence ; the halves were the best for many years, and Considine at centre excelled both in attack and defence. Trinity College were beaten at Glensalmond by 4 tries to 1 goal, and George Watson's College at Myreside by 5 goals to nothing : in this match the team showed great possibilities. Sedburgh were defeated at Merchiston by 2 goals (1 penalty) and 2 tries to 1 dropped goal ; Loretto at Merchiston by 3 goals (1 dropped) 3 tries to nothing : the form shown on a rainy and windy day was brilliant. Fettes College were beaten at Fettes by 3 goals and 2 tries to 5 tries ; we seemed to have this game well won, but Fettes wore down our forwards, and scored thrice in the last ten minutes. The Academy we beat on a windy day at Merchiston by 1 goal and 2 tries to nothing ; and our visit to Durham resulted in a victory by 5 goals and 11 tries to nothing. In the second term we beat George Watson's College by 1 goal and 3 tries to nothing; the Academy by 2 goals and 1 try to 1 try; and Loretto by 2 goals (1 penalty) and 3 tries to 1 goal and 1 try, after they had led at half-time by 8 points to 5. Fettes College were not played this term owing to an epidemic at Fettes. All ten School matches played were won: we scored 24 goals and 31 tries (208 points) against 3 goals and 7 tries (35 points); of all matches played we won 16 and lost 2, scoring 322 points to 96.

This season was a very difficult one. Of the previous season's successful XV. only three members were back:—H. M'William, who captained, together with J. E. Aitken and J. G. Dickson. Owing to the extreme hardness of the ground during the first fortnight, no play was possible, and further, the Glenalmond match had to be scratched. The first game, played against Mr Strathairn's XV., was lost (3—8), but the next, against the Edinburgh University O.T.C., was won (12—3). The first School match was that versus Watson's on 7th November. This took place in bad weather, and was lost (0—8); our opponents, possessing a much heavier pack, successfully adopted "kick and rush" tactics. The next encounter was against a side captained by Mr G. E. R. Young, and was lost by a very narrow margin (13—14). On 28th November we met Fettes at Merchiston, and we were soundly beaten by a speedier and heavier side (0—20). On the following Saturday we lost to Edinburgh Academy (0—18). In this game our forwards, though good individually, never got together, and among the backs, M'William played an invaluable game. Against Durham School, on 12th December (which proved to be our last meeting), in spite of the efforts of M'William, H. Mitchell, and Gourlay, we were badly beaten (3—17). The postponed Loretto game took place at the end of the term; we were again well beaten (5—20), and had it not been for the stout defence of M'William, the two Aitkens, and Gourlay, the score would have been even higher.

There is very little to record with regard to events in the Easter term. M'William, the captain, and three others had left us at Christmas, and J. E. Aitken became captain. Only one match, however, took place; this was on 30th January, against Watson's, who again defeated us by 24 points to nil. The remainder of the fixtures had to be scratched owing to the prevalence of influenza and also owing to the extreme youth of the XV. Out of the first three teams of 1914 no less than thirty-one were at this time already on war service; this perhaps will best explain the "youth of the XV."

For this season R. R. Campbell was captain, and he and H. Mitchell were awarded their caps at the beginning of the season, as no previous "cap" had returned. The season opened with a win over the Grange (8—0), but a week later we were badly beaten by Glenalmond up at Glenalmond (4—36) on what might be described as a typical Glenalmond day. On the following Saturday we lost to Watson's (0—16). This was a curious game; for the whole of the first half and for four-fifths of the second it was a ding-dong affair, but then we crumpled up completely. Against the Academy on 8th December, at Merchiston, we lost (0—13), but there was distinct improvement in the standard of our play—we lost only because we were out-paced. On 15th December we played a Naval side "somewhere on the Forth," and won (13—6). Our return match with the Grange took place on 18th December, but on this occasion we only drew (3—3).

In the Easter term we played three Club and four School matches. Of the Club games we won two—v. 2/1 Lowland Brigade R.F.A. (12—3); v. a Naval XV. (28—3), but we lost against the 2/1 City of Edinburgh Lowland R.F.A. by a single point (5—6). The first School match was, as usual, against Watson's on 29th January, which we lost (5—9), and the main feature of this game was our sound defence. On 12th February we met Edinburgh Academy at Raeburn Place, and were well beaten by 20 points to 5 points. Our next game was that v. Fettes, at home, and we won a closely contested struggle by 11 points to 9 points. This was essentially a contest between our backs and their forwards, and our backs were sufficiently good to turn the scale. Against Loretto, however, down at Musselburgh, we were very badly beaten (0—27) by a much superior side.

Thus this season we played seven School matches and succeeded in winning but one. Points for, 25; points against, 130. Of all matches played the figures read:—Played 13, won 5, lost 7, drawn 1; points for, 94; points against, 151.

R. R. Campbell was again captain, and no less than eight of the previous XV. were back, so there was every prospect of a successful season, but relatively the results were poorer than those of the previous season. In the first term four Club and four School matches were played. The first Club game, against Edinburgh University O.T.C., had to be abandoned unfinished owing to a torrential downpour of rain and hail. We beat the R.F.A. very easily (30—0), the Grange (13—6), and the Edinburgh University O.T.C. (27—0). We met Glenalmond at home, and managed to win by 8 points to nil, but it was evident that the standard of play would have to be raised to ensure success in the remaining School matches. In the Watson's match, played at Colinton Road, the captain was an absentee, and the result a defeat (0—8) was not unexpected; the forwards were never together, and our defence was weak. The Fettes match, played at home on Tuesday, 28th November, after postponement, was drawn (8—8); it was a good struggle, but the play on both sides was mediocre, and Campbell's services were again much missed. The Academy game, played at Raeburn Place on 2nd December, took place under most depressing conditions, and resulted in a win for them by 1 try to nil. The more vigorous side won; we appeared not to have shaken off the effects of the previous Tuesday.

Owing to bad weather the first game of the Easter term was not played until 24th February; this was against a Royal Fusiliers XV., when we won easily (22—3). We met Fettes on 3rd March and won a very good game by 18 points to 9. Throughout this, a very fast game, our forwards' excellence made victory certain; some effective "wing and centre play" and H. S. McDonald's "hooking" were noticeable features. For our return match with Watson's at Myreside, we were very confident, but were beaten by one point (8—9); our forwards heeled badly and never got together, while our backs failed completely. There were but two more matches this term, both against H.M.S. "Princess Royal," the first of which was drawn (3—3) and the second lost (0—6).

Thus of the six School matches played we won 2, drew 1, and lost 3. Of the total matches we won 7, lost 4, and drew 2—a very disappointing season.

Football.

We started the term with six members of the previous season's XV., and J. M. Simpson captained the side until the end of February, when D. M. Stewart took charge. In the Christmas term the main weakness of the XV. was defence, but this had been overcome by the Easter term, but, unfortunately, only two School matches were then played. The one pleasing feature was the standard of forward play. Throughout the season it was very good and worthy of comparison with any pre-war standard. Though our halves were good, our back play did not develop much, and this was entirely due to faulty handling. The season's results were, on the whole, disappointing.

In the Christmas term only two Club matches were played, versus Craigard (16—8) and the Forth Defences (5—16). In the School matches we beat a very weak Glenalmond team (41—5), lost to a good Watson's side (0—15), lost to Loretto (0—6), lost to Fettes (3—12), and beat the Academy (8—0). In the following term we started operations with a return match against the Forth Defences, which we again lost (5—13), and of the two other Club games, both against Service teams, we beat an O.C.B. (12—10), and lost to H.M.S. "Princess Royal" at Queensferry (6—11). Unfortunately, only two School matches came off, those against the Academy and Fettes. In the former, played at Raeburn Place, we won (8—0); our forwards were mainly responsible for our success. We met Fettes at Colinton Road and by making the game as much a forward one as we could, we won rather comfortably by 10 points to 3 points. Both of the return games against Watson's and Loretto were cancelled, so that we had no chance of avenging the defeats of the preceding term.

W. D. C. Considine was captain, and as he had six of the previous XV. to help him, our prospects were good. It proved, however, to be a most unlucky season, and no captain could have had to contend with greater difficulties. From our first game with Loretto, when we lost the services of a previous season's "cap," we experienced a long succession of casualties, and so badly did we fare that at the end of the season, when we played the return game with Watson's, we were without five of our revised team, which, with the three already hors de combat in the Christmas term, brought up the total number of casualties to eight.

In the Christmas term we played the following Club matches:—an O.C.B. (Gailles), won (15—3); R.A.F. (Montrose), won (21—0); Edinburgh University Services XV., lost (3—41). In the School match series, we beat Glenalmond at home (27—0); we lost to Loretto (0—5); we beat Fettes at home after one of the most exciting struggles ever seen—at half-time the score was 21—8 in our favour, and the final result was 21—19; we beat the Academy at Raeburn Place (15—3), and we lost to Watson's at home (3—8).

In the following term we beat Craigard (17—3), Loretto (6—5), Academy (14—0), and lost to Watson's (3—16).

Thus out of the eight School matches played we won 5 and lost 3. The return match against Fettes did not take place.

For the season 1919-20 C. C. Mann was captain, and with him there were back three of the previous XV. Good material was available in that quite a number of the previous season's good 2nd XV. had returned. The captain's chief anxiety was whether a rather light pack of forwards could train on sufficiently to give adequate chances to a promising lot of backs. He was lucky to find in Maxwell a good leader, and the result was that we experienced our most successful season since pre-war days. The forwards, though not a great pack, did their work well, the halves were excellent, we had two first-rate centres, and in the captain a wing who was both powerful and fast; the full back, too, though little tested, was very sound.

In the Christmas term the results of the Club matches were as follows:—v. Edinburgh Wanderers 1st XV., lost (5—18); v. Craigard, won (18—4); v. Trinity, drawn (3—3); v. Edinburgh University "A," won (28—5); v. the Merchistonians, lost (9—14).

In the School match series we beat Watson's at Myreside (9—0); we drew with Fettes at Fettes (3—3), our only poor game in the School matches; we beat the Academy at home (19—11), and Glenalmond at Glenalmond (23—0), a game in which our backs proved that accurate handling is possible under seemingly impossible conditions.

In the following term we played two Club matches:—v. Mr A. C. Brown's XV., we won (22—5), and against a strong Glasgow Academicals 2nd we lost (8—9). In School matches we beat Watson's at home on a really bad day by 11 points to 3; the Academy at Raeburn Place (16—3), Fettes at Merchiston (21—3), and finally Loretto at Musselburgh (6—0).

Thus eight School matches were played in all, of which we won 7 and drew 1. Points for, 108; points against, 23. Of the total matches played we won 9, lost 3, and drew 2. Points for, 179; points against, 76.

There were four old players left, of whom J. J. Mann was captain. The season opened with a game against the Edinburgh Wanderers 1st XV., which was lost (0—24). Then we met Glasgow Academicals 2nd, and with a weakened team won a close game (10—9). Stewart's College F.P. "A" were our next opponents, and we drew (8—8). We met Glenalmond on Saturday, 30th October, at home, and won very easily (26—0). The following week, at Colinton Road, we met and lost to Watson's (0—20). We were badly beaten by a good side; even so the play of our pack was splendid. We then met Craigard and lost (3—6). The Loretto match had to be cancelled owing to illness at Loretto. We met Fettes at home on 27th November, and by making the game almost entirely a forward one and relying on the kicking abilities of our out-half we somewhat unexpectedly beat a strong Fettes side by 15 points to 8. In this game our forward play reached a very high standard, and their footwork was such as is rarely seen in School football. Unfortunately, this was our last game during the term; a serious influenza epidemic had broken out, and the term came to a premature end on 2nd December.

Much handicapped as a result of this epidemic, we started the Easter term with a victory against the Merchistonians (12—10). We drew with Edinburgh Wanderers "A" (0—0), and then met Watson's at Myreside. We again lost (0—12), but fine forward play prevented a worse defeat. We beat the Royal (Dick) Veterinary College (14—6), but were easily beaten by Edinburgh University Agricultural XV.

Football.

(6—25). We met Edinburgh Academy at home on 12th February, and won fairly easily (15—0); in this game the whole XV. played really well, and it was hard to believe that they were the same players who had gone under so easily to Watson's a fortnight previously. The following Saturday we played Fettes at Fettes, but perhaps disheartened by the absence of the usual School support (owing to mumps at Fettes the School were not present), we failed to do ourselves justice and lost an exciting match by a single point (8—9). The Loretto match was again cancelled, and a defeat by Mr R. C. Craig's XV. (10—23) brought an unfortunate season to an end. Of the six School matches played we won 3 and lost 3.

1921-2.

Three backs and three forwards were available for season 1921-2. J. H. M'Keown, the only "cap," was captain. This turned out to be a very poor season. The back play somewhat unexpectedly was fair, but the standard of forward play fell very considerably. In the Easter term, too, owing to a combination of epidemics and frost not a single 1st XV. match was played. The details of the season's matches are:—v. Edinburgh Wanderers "A," won (16—8); v. Stewart's College F.P. "A," won (3—0); v. Lismore, won (45—0); v. Glenalmond at Glenalmond, in very good weather, won (29—0); v. Craigard, lost (8—9); v. Loretto at Colinton Road, lost (0—16)—they were too big and fast for us; v. Fettes at Fettes, lost (5—14), apart from the first quarter of an hour, when our defence was badly at fault, the game was quite an even one; v. the Academy at home, drawn (8—8); and what proved to be the last match of the season, took place at Myreside on 10th December, when we lost (3—8). Our forwards played a much improved game, but the captain—our one scoring back—was completely starved. Thus only five School matches took place, and of these we lost 3, won 1, and drew 1.

J. H. M'Keown was again captain, and he had four of the previous XV. to help him. The season opened disastrously, as within the first fortnight all the 1st XV. three-quarters and two forwards were off with various injuries. Thus handicapped we met Glenalmond at home, but the side rose to the occasion and we just managed to win (11—8). We lost to Loretto, away (8—19), and deservedly so, our defence was bad. Fettes beat us (5—19) on our own ground; they were too good for us, but the team played pluckily, and right up to the last seven minutes the score was 5—8. We managed to beat the Academy at Raeburn Place (9—8), but the football was poor. For the Watson's match we were without the captain, "crooked" in the previous match, and we lost (5—11); the forwards played well, but the backs were poor.

In the Easter term, however, matters began to improve, our defence became sound, and after again losing to Watson's (11—14) at Myreside, simply because we failed to make use of our chances, we beat the Academy at home (24—0) by playing really good football. We beat Fettes at Fettes (12—6), a fine achievement, as they were a good side and were previously unbeaten, and finally Loretto at home by 22 points to 3, in which match the whole XV. played well, and the captain brilliantly.

For the first time for many seasons all our School matches were played, but we won only 5 and lost 4. In all, we played 18 matches, of which we succeeded in winning only 7.

Football.

Five old players returned, of whom four were "caps," and R. L. Leith was captain. We possessed a very fine pack of forwards—our best pack since the war—splendidly led by the captain, but our backs were poor, specially in defence, and there was no compensating power in attack. We lost three out of the seven School matches played. We beat Glenalmond (19—6) at Glenalmond. Loretto, whom we played at home, beat us somewhat easily (17—3) in spite of a fine exhibition of forward play; our defence behind the scrum was very weak. The Academy we beat at Colinton Road (22—3); the forwards were good and the backs a little better in attack, but again there were weak spots in the defence. We secured a narrow win over Watson's (12—11), again due, in the main, to our forward play, though there was definite improvement in back play. In the return game in the Easter term we were beaten at home (7—12), entirely owing to weak back play; the pack were splendid throughout. We again won against the Academy at Raeburn Place (16—10), mainly through superb forward play. We lost to Fettes at home (9—13); in the first half our pack was splendid, but they faded away in the second half; the backs quite failed to seize their opportunities. The return Loretto match had to be cancelled owing to illness at Loretto. In all we played fourteen matches, of which we won 8 and lost 6.

R. L. Leith was again captain, and as he had no less than six of the previous XV. to help him there was every chance of having a really good side. We started off in promising fashion by beating Glenalmond at home (29—3) on the first Saturday in November, but then influenza intervened to such a degree of severity that the School had to be closed down for a period. When we met Loretto away we were beaten (8—13), but several members of the XV. were, more or less, already in its grip. Then we lost our captain through injury, and after the Loretto match only one more game was played in the Christmas term, v. the Merchistonians. At the end of this term our "second captain" left.

In the Easter term things improved to some extent in that we were able to fulfil all our engagements save one (the Academy match, for which the weather was responsible), and so the team had a chance of making a fresh start, and we managed to win at Myreside against Watson's (8—5); we then lost the services of our "third captain," and the fourth senior "cap" took command. When we met Fettes at Fettes we were at full strength behind the scrum, but at forward we differed in no less than five instances from the normal pack. We were completely outclassed by a good and physically superior side (0—24). The last match of the season, v. Loretto at home (they were the only unbeaten School side), we lost by the narrow margin of 3 points after a grim struggle. Of the five School matches played we won 2 and lost 3.

Five old players returned, and H. J. Sinclair was captain. Again we were most unfortunate. Scarlet fever broke out early in November, and no football was played in the Christmas term after the Glenalmond match, which we won up at Glenalmond (14—5).

Football.

In the Easter term only two School matches took place. This was due to various diseases at various schools. Watson's beat us easily (3—19), and we beat the Academy (20—3) at Raeburn Place. The team played surprisingly well, and the backs handled a greasy ball very well.

1926-7.

J. W. Morton was captain, and three other old players were back. This was another unfortunate season. Though a goodly number of Club matches came off, the School-match programme was considerably curtailed through either illness or weather. "Mumps" at Glenalmond prevented our playing them, and the Fettes and Loretto matches both fell through. Our first inter-School game was not played till the beginning of December, when we lost to the Academy at Raeburn Place (6—10); the forwards were good, but our backs failed to cope with their speedier opponents. The only other School match in the first term was against Watson's on our ground. This we won somewhat easily (23—0). The play of the whole team reached a very high standard, and the handling of the forwards was a feature of the game.

In the Easter term again but two School matches took place:—v. Loretto at home (8—14), which we deserved to lose, as our defence was "patchy"; and v. Watson's at Myreside, under unpleasant conditions, we won (9—0), mainly because our defence was sound. Of the eleven matches played we won 9, lost 2; of the School matches played we won 2 and lost 2.

Prospects were gloomy at the beginning of this season. The material available consisted of two halves and one forward of the previous XV., and from the previous 2nd XV. four forwards and two backs (one of whom was "crocked" throughout the Christmas term). W. R. Logan—a half-back much above the ordinary—was captain, and he was lucky to find in H. Aitchison an enthusiastic leader of the pack. Although the XV. was a young side, they "came on" well, and when allowance is made for their youth and inexperience, the results must be considered very satisfactory. We beat Glenalmond (14—5) at Glenalmond. The first Loretto game took place at home, and we won a splendid victory (13—3), for which we had to thank the forwards, who played magnificently, and the captain, who was ubiquitous. We met Fettes at Fettes and managed a draw (5—5), after a game that was full of "thrills." We beat the Academy (13—6) on our own ground, the team playing very finely against bigger and faster opponents. In the last School match of this term we lost to Watson's (0—6) at Myreside, a defeat almost entirely due to bad "possession" on the part of the forwards.

In the Easter term we again lost to Watson's (0—6), but were lucky to escape a worse defeat, as the powerful Watson's pack dominated the game. The Academy beat us at Raeburn Place (9—12), a game that was thrown away by bad defence during the first quarter of an hour. The Fettes match was cancelled, and the season ended with a win over Loretto at Newfield (14—7). Of the eight School matches played we won 4, lost 3, and drew 1.

We were unusually fortunate in having at our disposal far more material than we have ever had during the post-war period, namely, no fewer than twelve who had played for the previous season's XV., and further, we were specially fortunate in again having W. R. Logan as captain. After our usual Club games, all of which we won, we met Glenalmond at home. This match we won easily (21—0), but the forwards were far from sound. We played Loretto at Newfield, and unfortunately there were some last moment changes in the pack, and for the first twenty minutes our forwards were badly beaten; they recovered gradually, and finished so well that we were able to win by 16 points to 5. The back play was again good, and the captain, as usual, brilliant. Against Fettes, on our own ground, we won narrowly by 3 points. It was a stirring struggle, and the defence on both sides could hardly be surpassed. At Raeburn Place we beat the Academy (16—3) in a match in which the whole team played most attractive football. The Watson's match on our ground had, owing to bad weather, to be played on a Monday, and the result was a pointless draw (0—0). Our opponents possessed a magnificent pack, but our forwards gave nothing away; the back play was disappointing, and the essential to success, straight-running, was missing. The Christmas term programme ended with an easy victory over the Merchistonians (14—0).

In the Easter term, owing to influenza and a long period of hard frost, only two Club and two School matches took place. Against the Academy, on our own ground, we met with our only defeat during the season (14—16); for the first time our defence was unsound, and this, in addition to wrong tactics during the second half, caused our defeat. For our last match at Myreside we were without our "hooker" and two other forwards; and they, too, were not at full strength. After a grim struggle we managed to win by 1 try to nil. It was their only defeat throughout the season. The main features of this most exciting match were the dash and skill of the Watson's forwards in the first half, the superiority of our pack in the second half, the sound defence of our backs throughout the game, and Logan's brilliance in attack and defence.

Of the seven School matches played we won 5, drew 1, and lost 1. Points for, 73; points against, 24. Of the total fourteen matches played we won 12, drew 1, and lost 1. Points for, 217; points against, 35. This was our most successful season since 1919-20. Had we possessed really fast wings we should have had a really great XV.

Seven of the previous season's XV. were available, and T. S. Aitchison was captain. After the usual Club games, only one of which we lost (v. the Edinburgh Borderers, whose football was far above the usual Club standard), we met Glenalmond up at Glenalmond, and lost by 1 try to nil. The day was so bad that ordinary football was impossible, and our opponents, by adapting themselves to the conditions, succeeded in beating us for the first time for many years. Our game with the Edinburgh Academicals "A" was scratched owing to frost, and we met Loretto at Colinton—the first School match on the new ground. It was a good hard struggle, but the result was a pointless draw. The following Saturday we met Fettes at Fettes. The game was played in pouring rain, and although we led at half-time by 3 points to nil, we lost by 13 points to 3, mainly owing to bad blunders on the part of our backs. We played the Academy at Colinton, and though without our captain and our "hooker," we won by 12 points to nil; in this game our forwards played magnificently and the defence of our backs was almost perfect. We met Watson's at Myreside and won a close game by 6 points to 3.

The Easter term programme began with the Merchistonian match, which we played without any practice; owing to a longer holiday we had returned only the previous night. The first half was evenly contested, but we fell off in the second half—possibly owing to defective training—and we lost by 21 points to nil. We next played a rather weak United Colleges XV., and won easily, but the football was poor. Unfortunately, hard frost prevented our playing the Glasgow Academicals 2nd XV., and we met the Academy at Raeburn Place, whom we again beat by 9 points to 5. The return Fettes match had to be cancelled owing to illness at Fettes, and the return Loretto game had to be abandoned owing to frost. Our remaining School match, v. Watson's, took place at Colinton on 1st March, and we won a most uninteresting game by 5 points to 3; both teams were obviously suffering from lack of practice due to a long period of frost. Thus of the seven School matches played we lost 2, drew 1, and won 4.

Eight old players returned, and we were lucky to have T. S. Aitchison, an inspiring leader, back again as captain. We had a fine pack of forwards who worked splendidly together, the backs were sound, and the defence excellent—the line was crossed only three times in eight School matches—but we lacked penetration in the centre and the attack proved disappointing. With a little more thrust in midfield and, perhaps, a little more luck, a good season might have been a great one. We began by beating Glenalmond (9—0) at Colinton, but fell to Loretto in a match which was ruined by a blizzard which raged across Newfield throughout the game. We were slightly on top for most of the time, but their forwards wore us down and we were beaten by a penalty goal in the closing minutes. A strong Fettes side was beaten (6—0) at Colinton, thanks to good forward play supported by backs who took their chances, and we finished the term with two narrow wins (each 3—0) over the Academy and Watson's. In both games the team played well, but our lack of scoring power was evident.

After Christmas we lost to Fettes (0—6) on their ground. The forwards were splendid but the backs, with one of the regular centres off, were markedly inferior to their opponents. The return with the Academy was cancelled because of frost, and owing to snow the Loretto game almost suffered the same fate. However, the pitch was cleared in time, and a hard even struggle, notable for the excellent defence of both sides, resulted in a pointless draw. The season finished with another narrow win over Watson's (7—5) at Myreside, this time our superiority behind turning the scale in an exciting game. Thus 5 School matches were won, 2 lost, and 1 drawn. We scored 28 points against 14.

Only four old players returned, and H. S. Ritch was captain. The forwards were light and inexperienced, but there was plenty of talent behind, and our prospects seemed quite bright. It proved, however, a disappointing season. We were unlucky with injuries, but the root of our troubles lay in the abandonment of the older virtues in favour of "shadow defence" theories. The tackling, falling, and covering were far below standard, and as our light pack was regularly beaten for possession the result was disastrous. In the later games there was a welcome return to first principles, and a corresponding improvement in results. The season opened ominously, for Ritch was crocked in practice and did not play until the Fettes match. We beat Glenalmond away (11—3) in heavy rain, but the defence showed obvious holes, which were fully exposed by Loretto, who beat us 20—0 at Colinton. We were under strength for the game at Fettes, and any chance we had against a very good side disappeared when we lost a forward in the opening minutes and our full-back too before half-time. Our thirteen men put up a good fight in the first half, but later they tired, and Fettes, playing splendidly, went on to amass 40 points. Poor tackling cost us the Academy match at Colinton (3—14), but though we also lost to Watson's at Myreside (3—7) there were signs of better things. After Christmas the recovery started in earnest, and with the defence at last sound the side showed much more confidence and began to play as a team. The return with Fettes was cancelled owing to an epidemic at Fettes, but we beat the Academy 8—6 and Loretto at Newfield 6—5. Our play in these games was strikingly different from our sorry performances in the first term, though it must be said that in the Loretto match our opponents had the misfortune to lose a man in the first half. In our last game, against Watson's at Myreside, we were outclassed forward, but the defence was good and their scoring was limited to a single try. Of the eight School matches played, we won 3 and lost 5, scoring 31 points against 98.

Football.

Six of the previous side were available, and with a fine lead from the captain, J. B. Black, the forwards soon developed into a very good pack indeed by any standards. The backs, however, were weak; the attack lacked pace, skill, and initiative, and the defence, though usually sound, was at times unreliable under pressure. Moreover three of the best outsidest left by Christmas and there were no adequate reserves. As a result the season's record was dismal in the extreme, and one could only sympathise with the forwards who saw so much of their good work wasted. We began well by beating Glenalmond at Colinton (17—0) and Loretto at Newfield (11—5), the latter game being played in a thick mist which hid the players almost completely from view for the first forty minutes. Against Fettes at Colinton the pack did splendidly, though badly outweighed, but the genius of the Fettes scrum-half, aided by cracks which appeared in our defence, turned the scale and we were beaten 10—15. The Academy beat us (8—16) at Raeburn Place, in spite of a fine display by our forwards—the backs, reorganised because of injuries, were completely outclassed—and the term ended with a defeat from Watson's on our own ground (0—4), our opponents deservedly winning a game notable for the excellent defence of both sides, because they found a way to score and we could not.

Frost seriously interfered with football in the second term and only two School matches were played. Against the Academy at Colinton the whole side made a great effort and very nearly won. The forwards controlled matters throughout, but lack of finishing power behind cost us the game (3—5). In the return with Loretto, played at Newfield because Colinton was frozen, our attack plumbed the depths of ineptitude and we were beaten 0—8. Thus two School matches were won and 5 lost. We scored 49 points against 53.

C. F. Innes was captain and with eight old players available our prospects were good. In the event, however, the record was even poorer than that of the previous year. The forwards were up to standard and usually played well, but the outsides, though they showed possibilities, were unreliable and had a habit of making costly mistakes. We were greatly handicapped by injuries, but the main trouble was that the side never developed into a team and so lacked the confidence and determination to turn the scale in a close match. We began badly, for after losing our three opening Club games we were beaten (7—12) at Glenalmond, mainly owing to erratic tackling. Loretto beat us (0—5) at Colinton because they adapted themselves better to the conditions, and we suffered yet another reverse (6—15) at Fettes, where the forwards did well but the backs, with the regular centres off, were not good enough. The backs were still under strength for the Academy match at Colinton, but the forwards, though a man short in the second half, fought back to earn an unexpected draw (11—11) after the game had seemed lost. The Watson's match was played at New Myreside for the first time, and in spite of a good display by the pack we were again defeated (0—6). The Easter term started more promisingly for we beat Fettes (14—8) at Colinton, mainly thanks to the forwards though the backs too did their part, but after the Academy match had been cancelled owing to frost, we fell again to Loretto (9—11) at Newfield. In this game we recovered from a bad start to gain a single point's lead, only to throw the match away again in the closing minutes. A most disappointing season ended with a narrow defeat from Watson's (4—6), so that of the eight School matches played we won 1, drew 1, and lost 6, scoring 51 points against 74.

W. W. Yellowlees was captain and he had with him three other backs and one forward from the previous side. This was another unsuccessful year, but the record showed improvement on its immediate predecessors and the season in general contained some encouraging signs. In particular the majority of the members of the first two teams were comparatively young, and in many instances there were several candidates for a position with little between them in ability. The side was not a bad one: the forwards were good except for a tendency to tire in the last ten minutes, and the outsides were sound. There was, however, a sad lack of penetration, and it was this that proved our undoing. We started with a win over Glenalmond at Colinton (11—0), the backs showing a thrust which they unfortunately did not reveal in the later games, but we lost to Loretto at Newfield (6—9), in a hard, even game which was won by the opportunism of their wings. Against Fettes at Colinton we began well, but the forwards seemed to lose heart when we could not score and we were well beaten (0—11). The Academy had a very good side this year and beat us comfortably (5—16), but we finished the term on a brighter note with a narrow win over Watson's at Colinton (4—3), though we fielded a depleted side. After Christmas we lost to the better side at Fettes (0—9), but then very nearly gave the powerful Academy team its first defeat. A reorganised back division played very well, but we lost a hard game 4—7. Continuing to show improved form, we beat Loretto (9—3) on a muddy pitch at Colinton, but against Watson's we played but moderately and could do no better than a pointless draw. All the School matches were played, and we won 3, drew 1, and lost 5, scoring 39 points against 58.

With ten members of the previous team and several others with 1st XV. experience available, we started the season with great expectations, and this time we were not disappointed. W. W. Yellowlees was again captain, and it was fitting that he should have the satisfaction not merely of stopping the rot but of leading the first unbeaten side since 1919-20. The team was fully worthy of its fine record. We had a splendid pack which excelled in the loose and backs who, if not brilliant attackers, were extremely competent in every way. Moreover there were plenty of good reserves so that we were not materially weakened by the inevitable injuries. The outstanding feature was undoubtedly the defence. The line was crossed only once in seven School matches, an achievement due to first-class tackling by forwards and backs alike and to magnificent covering by one of the best back-rows we have ever had. The attack, handicapped by poor conditions in nearly every match, was less consistent but it could be very dangerous. Finally the teamwork was of the highest order, and under the leadership of Yellowlees and I. C. Stephen, who led the pack, all the old spirit and determination was recaptured.

The Club matches showed the team's possibilities, but we were off form at Glenalmond and in winning 9—0 could score only one try. A much better display gave us a convincing win over Loretto (13—3), and Fettes were beaten on their own ground in dreadful weather more comfortably than the score (6—3) might suggest. Frost prevented us from meeting the Academy at all this season, and the Watson's game at Myreside, the first half of which was played in a snowstorm, rightly ended in a pointless draw. After Christmas we beat Fettes at Colinton (3—0), once more in wet weather, and then, after conceding a try to Loretto in the first few minutes—the only time the line was crossed in a School match—recovered to play our best football of the season and win easily at Newfield (16—5). Finally, Watson's were beaten 12—3 at Colinton to wind up a most successful year. Of the seven School matches played, we won 6 and drew 1, scoring 59 points against 14.

Five old players returned and R. B. Paul was captain. The season started poorly, but the side did well in School matches, for which much of the credit must go to Paul. A complete footballer, he played forward or back as the situation demanded, and he was nearly always the outstanding personality on the field and frequently the match-winner. Once settled, the forwards came on well and were little below the standard of their predecessors except perhaps in tackling, too much of which was left to a few individuals. The backs were young and inexperienced, but they improved steadily, though it was only when Paul was in the centre that they showed thrust. The defence on the whole was very sound.

The opening Club games were lost by margins which showed that drastic changes were necessary and the pack was reconstructed, three outsides being converted to form a new back-row. This proved most successful, and after a good display against the Borderers we drew with a strong Glenalmond side (3—3) at Colinton in wet weather. The Loretto game at Newfield was a struggle between our forwards and their backs and we lost an exciting match 6—9. Fettes we beat at home (3—0) in spite of losing a centre before half-time when we held a lucky lead, thanks to a long-range penalty goal kicked by Paul. In the second half, however, our seven forwards played superbly and Paul, now in the centre, inspired the backs so that we were worthy of our narrow win. Good forward play and sound defence accounted for the Academy at Raeburn Place (6—3), but a dull game with Watson's at Colinton was drawn, neither side appearing likely to score. In the second term we lost at Fettes (0—3) on a very muddy pitch, deservedly because they held their vital passes and we dropped ours, but we finished well for, after another win over the Academy (13—6), we beat Loretto (9—0) at Colinton in a game in which their backs threw away their early chances, and latterly our pack took complete command. Watson's were not played owing to snow, so that we won 4 School matches, lost 2, and drew 2, scoring 40 points against 24.

J. M. Weir captained the side which contained three forwards and four outsides from the previous year. For once the main problem was the pack, and it was not until weight was sacrificed for mobility in the second term that the forward play was up to standard. The backs, potentially strong, were handicapped at first by the weakness in front and later by weather conditions, and though they often looked dangerous they did not score many points. The defence, however, was first class, and only five tries were conceded in seven School matches, although our opponents usually had a generous share of the ball.

We began well by winning 16—3 at Glenalmond, but then fell to Loretto (3—5) at Colinton; our forwards were penned in their own ground for long periods and the backs were too orthodox to make headway. At Fettes, where we lost by the same score, we were badly outweighed and outplayed for most of the game, but splendid defence and a great closing rally almost saved the day. Improved form was shown against the Academy at Colinton, but we were beaten 5—9 by a better side, and then snow and ice brought the term's activities to an end. After Christmas the reconstructed pack, though very light, held its own in the tight and played with great dash in the open, but a gale, which raged almost throughout the term, seriously hampered back-play. With the forwards showing much more life we drew the return with Fettes (0—0) and beat Loretto (3—0) at Newfield. Then came the high-light of the season. Watson's had a splendid side and were unbeaten, but, facing a gale in the first half, we held them to a seven points lead at half-time and went on to win a great victory in a thrilling game by 13 points to 7. The strength of the wind may be gauged from the fact that a defensive punt from behind our line bounced at half-way and rolled on to strike the corner flag at the other end. Illness at the Academy prevented us from playing the return with them, so that the School match record was 3 wins, 3 defeats, and 1 draw. We scored 43 points against 29.

Seven old players returned and W. F. Cormack was captain. The forwards played well throughout and sometimes brilliantly, but the attack depended almost entirely on two players, MacNaughtan and Yellowlees, and when they were closely marked we were easily held. The defence once again was excellent; only three tries were conceded in nine School matches, and for the fourth season in succession no School scored double figures against us. On the other hand, in attack many of the forwards tended to tackle high, so that often three men were required to deal with one defender and promising opportunities were wasted.

Glenalmond beat us at Colinton by a penalty goal, mainly owing to magnificent defence aided by poor handling on our part, but the whole team played well to win 9—3 at Newfield in a game notable for a blizzard of sleet in the second half and a fine closing rally by Loretto. A pointless draw with Fettes was followed by an unexpected defeat from the Academy (5—8) at Newfield where we threw our chances away, but we finished the term with a win over Watson's (8—3) at Myreside. There was again no scoring in the return with Fettes on their ground, and then, as the Academy were in quarantine, we played the Royal High School instead, our first meeting with them since 1880. Their big forwards mastered our pack, but superior back-play took us safely through (6—3). Against Loretto at home the team gave easily its best display of the season, magnificent forward play, supported by straight running and clean handling, resulting in an easy win (19—0), but these virtues were lacking a week later at Myreside, where Watson's won on their merits by the only try of the game. Thus we won 4 School matches, lost 3, and drew 2, scoring 47 points against 23.

M. MacNaughtan was captain, and, though only three others remained from the previous year, this might well have been a very good side indeed. But it proved a most unlucky season. Throughout the first term we were dogged by injuries to key players, and then after Christmas, when we had a full side, frost intervened and only one School match could be played. At full strength the attack was exceptionally strong. In MacNaughtan we had our best three-quarter for many years, and in D. D. Mackenzie another fast and dangerous player. But MacNaughtan was fated to play in three School matches only, Mackenzie in but one, and without them the back-division was only a shadow of itself. The forwards could be very good, but the covering was below standard, and this, with a weakness at full-back, meant that the defence was weaker than for some years.

Our misfortunes started at once, for illness prevented Mackenzie from playing at all before Christmas. We beat Glenalmond away (9—3) in appalling weather, but MacNaughtan was injured and did not play again until the Watson's match. However the team rose to the occasion against Loretto and played splendidly to win by 19 points to nil. We were further depleted for the game with Fettes, who had a fine side this year, and were beaten 3—14 on their ground. We could not master their pack, and behind we were outpaced and outclassed, except at scrum-half and left wing. Against the Academy at Colinton we fielded six reserves and were soundly defeated by a better and faster side (8—16), and a listless display against Watson's at Myreside led to another defeat (0—11). Owing to frost there was no further football until nearly the end of February and the season was extended into March. Most of the Schools had stopped playing, but we fixed up several Club games in which the team, at full strength, showed what might have been. The only School match was against Watson's on 16th March, and a brilliant second-half display gave us a win by 19 points to 5. Thus three School matches were won and three lost. We scored 58 points against 51.

Only four old players returned and I. D. M. Considine was captain. With no great wealth of material available, this could not have been a strong team, but there seemed no reason to anticipate the dismal record which ensued. We were again unfortunate with injuries, but it must be said that some of our worst displays were when we were at full strength. The forwards played very well at times and the backs had some good days, but for the most part there was an absence of the qualities essential to sound football. The falling and tackling—with a few exceptions, notably Cameron—were deplorable; there was often a lack of spirit and determination; retrieving of mistakes and covering in general were poor; and the whole side lacked confidence and cohesion and seldom played as a team.

We began well by beating Glenalmond at Colinton in a storm of wind and rain, thanks mainly to good forward play, though the backs too did their part; but against a very good Loretto side we went to pieces at Newfield and were badly beaten 3—24, although Loretto were without one of their best backs for nearly all the second half. We played much better against Fettes, also a strong side, but faulty tackling and the failure of the backs to save the forwards by kicking cost us the game (6—14). The same faults were in evidence against the Academy (drawn 11—11) at Newfield and Watson's (drawn 8—8) at Myreside, but much of the forward play was again very good, and with the backs also showing improvement we were encouraged to hope for better things after Christmas. But we hoped in vain. Fettes beat us 17—0 on their own ground, and in the return with Loretto, though we had as much of the game as our opponents, our weak defence gave us no chance and we lost again (3—18). A half-hearted display against the Academy brought another heavy defeat (0—26), and finally we lost to Watson's (0—6) at Myreside to bring a depressing season to an end. Of the nine School matches played, we won 1, drew 2, and lost 6, scoring 48 points against 111.

Five outsides and three forwards were available from the previous side, and G. D. Gordon was captain. This year we were strong behind the scrum. In Andrews and Reid we had a pair of very fast and clever halves who with Gordon, a strong-running centre, made a dangerous triangle. The other positions were competently filled, and the backs usually played bright and constructive football. The forwards, however, lacked weight and in some degree skill, and though they played hard we did not see much of the ball. The defence showed a big improvement on that of the previous year, though the covering of the pack still left much to be desired.

Our first School match was against the Ley's School, who were evacuated to Perthshire, an interesting renewal of a fixture last played in 1891. Possibly they were short of match-practice, for we won very easily (28—3), the whole side playing very well. At Glenalmond, however, we had an off-day and were lucky to draw (6—6), but we beat Loretto at home 9—6; the backs took their chances and the forwards gave their best display of the term, particularly in repelling some desperate attacks in the closing stages. Wild passing and faulty defence in the first ten minutes cost us the game at Fettes; we improved in the second half when a man short, but were well beaten 5—17. The Academy match at Colinton was notable for a great duel between two fine out-halves, and we won 14—9, mainly thanks to the backs and especially the brilliance of Reid. We were outplayed by the Watson's forwards and they won comfortably by 12 points to 3. Owing to snow there was no football at all after Christmas, so that the School match record was 3 wins, 2 defeats, and 1 draw. We scored 65 points against 53.

Prospects were bright this season when J. I. Scott was captain. Nine old players returned, and, though one of these was off for most of the first term, there was plenty of talent available. The backs were above average and we had again a splendid pair of halves in H. C. Honeyman and D. R. M. Reid, the outstanding player of his time. The forwards were the heaviest for some years, and, with an excellent example from Scott, their backing-up in attack was a notable feature. But the results were extremely disappointing. The side could play brilliant football, but some of the attributes of soundness were lacking and against strong opposition they were markedly unsuccessful.

The Glenalmond game was cancelled, and we opened the School match series against Heriot's, whom we were meeting for the first time. We were soundly beaten forward and lost on our own ground to a competent side (3—12). Fettes were weaker than usual, but we played badly and were again defeated (7—8). We beat the Academy (13—6) at Newfield, without being entirely convincing, but lost again to Watson's (9—11), in a game in which we were a forward short in the second half. They succeeded in bottling up our halves and our three-quarters lacked penetration. Our best display of the term was against Loretto at Newfield where we drew a very exciting game 11—11, Reid scoring a memorable try. After Christmas we checked the run of defeats from Fettes by winning 17—8 on their ground. Our opponents had the bad luck to lose their full-back shortly after the start, but we were the better side. The Academy were weakened by call-up and injuries, and against them the team played really brilliant rugby to win by 55 points to nil, but the forwards failed in the return with Loretto and we were beaten 5—13. A draw with Watson's (5—5) at Myreside finished a disappointing season. Of the School matches we won 3, lost 4, and drew 2, scoring 125 points against 74.

Eight old players were available and J. L. Leckie was captain. The season opened very promisingly, but a succession of injuries disrupted the side and we won only two of our last seven matches. Our most serious casualty was our scrum-half, H. C. Honeyman, easily our most dangerous attacker, who was unable to play again after the Glenalmond game, but there were many others. In general, during the first term, the forwards, though comparatively heavy, were disappointing and the backs were the better part of the side. After Christmas, a much lighter pack played very well, but by then we had lost what little scoring power we had behind.

We began by beating Fettes away, 9—8. We had the better of the game, though the winning try was scored when our opponents had two men off the field. Against the Academy at Newfield we were beaten forward but gained a narrow win (3—0), thanks to sound defence and a great individual try by Honeyman, and we beat Loretto 6—0 in a hard game at Colinton. At this point, however, injuries began to take their toll, and we were outplayed at Glenalmond (lost, 3—15), and decisively beaten at Goldenacre by Heriot's (0—14). A good win (14—8) over Watson's ended the term.

Leckie left at Christmas, and as the new captain, Honeyman, was out of the game, J. Dun took over the captaincy. The return with Fettes was lost narrowly (7—8), but we again beat the Academy (5—3), only to fall heavily to Loretto at Newfield (11—21), mainly owing to poor defence in the centre. For the last match, against Watson's at Myreside, the back division was entirely reconstructed and, though we only drew (3—3), the team gave perhaps its best display of the term. The Royal High School and Stewart's College were added to the fixture list this season, but unfortunately both games had to be cancelled owing to frost. In all, 5 School matches were won, 4 lost, and 1 drawn. We scored 61 points against 80.

Only four old players returned and the captain, R. Young, was the sole surviving Cap. There were available, however, six others who had played on one or more occasions for the XV. and the team finished with a creditable record, the best of the war years. The forwards were exceptionally light, but they were mobile and trained on into a very good pack, and the outsiders too were competent. Our weakness lay in the standard of falling and tackling, which varied greatly, and in our inability to produce a sustained effort throughout a game. In particular, a habit of starting badly cost us dear.

We began with a defeat from Fettes (8—10), but this was one of our best performances for they had a really strong side, and in a great finish we only just failed to save the day. Another closing rally was required to beat the Academy (11—5), but we left it too late at Newfield and lost to Loretto (8—9). The result depended on the last kick of the game which just failed. Glenalmond we beat easily (24—0), and a fine recovery gave us a good win over Heriot's (10—6), but we played disappointingly at Myreside where Watson's won by eight points to nil. Against the Royal High School we started well for once and finished the term with an easy win (20—3), the whole side playing very well in the first half. After Christmas we beat the Academy

Football.

(11—6) at Newfield, but both sides were short of practice and the football was poor. A much better display gave us a win (11—8) in the return with Loretto, and we drew a scrappy game with Watson's (3—3). However, slack defence in the first half lost us our game with Stewart's at Inverleith. We recovered after half-time, but could not make up the leeway and were beaten 8—13. Fettes were not played this term owing to snow, so that the School match record was: won 6, lost 4, drawn 1. We scored 114 points against 71.

Nine of the previous XV. returned and, under the captaincy of J. S. Ure, the team showed promise of being really strong. We began with two excellent wins away from home over Fettes (14—3) and the Academy (22—0), but from this point onwards a mounting casualty list played havoc with our hopes. The first victim was R. G. Baird, the mainspring of the back division, who was off for the rest of the term, and he was quickly followed by two other fine players, G. R. Donaldson (who did not play again until the last match of the season) and R. G. Wilson (who did not play again at all). By the Royal High School game we were no less than seven short. The backs in particular were badly hit, and it was a tribute to Ure's fine leadership and the splendid work of the pack that the side did not go to pieces.

Without Baird we could not hold Loretto, who played attractive football to win 11—6, at Colinton. We beat Glenalmond 14—3 away, but with five reserves could do no better than a pointless draw at Goldenacre with Heriot's, who were much below their usual standard. Watson's beat us 17—3, but in this match our depleted side played very stoutly against a strong team, and we finished the term with a win (11—3) over the Royal High School at Colinton. Ure and two others left at Christmas and Baird took over the captaincy. His return revitalised the outsidies, but wet grounds and poor handling told against them. The forwards missed Ure's leadership, and though still good were not up to the previous term's standard. The return with Fettes was won 5—3, thanks to Baird's opportunism and stout defence, a trifle luckily perhaps on play, but, as we were still five short, this was a very good performance. Baird was again the match-winner against Stewart's, whom we beat 8—5 at Colinton, and the Academy were defeated again comfortably by 18 points to 3. We were practically at full strength for our last game against Watson's—the team of the year—at Myreside, but after a good first half we were soundly beaten (0—20), our opponents giving a splendid display of combined rugby. The return with Loretto had to be scratched. In spite of our difficulties the School match record was the best since 1935-36, viz.: 7 wins, 3 defeats, and 1 draw. We scored 101 points against 68.

This was the most successful season for many years, and, though it was unfortunately cut short by the weather, the team, which contained seven old players and was splendidly led by the captain. N. G. R. Mair (a hooker of unusual merit), had the satisfaction of defeating all its strongest opponents and finishing with an unbeaten record. We had a first-class pack of forwards, who gave us a good supply of the ball and excelled in the open, their outstanding feature being their magnificent tackling. The outsides were less consistent, but their defence was excellent, and, with good wings and a penetrative stand-off in J. E. Aitchison, the attack could be very dangerous. The teamwork was of a high order, and the side often played brilliant rugby; but not the least factor in their success was their splendid determination, which enabled them to win through on days when things were going wrong.

This quality was never seen to greater effect than in the opening School match. We were generally on top but lacked penetration, and when Fettes, though short-handed, snatched the lead close on time, it seemed that we must lose; but in a desperate last-minute we scored a shove-over try to win 10—6. A dull game with the Academy was won 11—0, not too convincingly, but the team then produced brilliant form at Newfield to beat Loretto 16—0. The Glenalmond match was won 17—3, after a fine display against a gale in the first half, and then on a very wet pitch at Colinton the side was at its best to beat Heriot's, a very good team and previously unbeaten, by 8 points to nil. In the closing weeks of the term some signs of staleness began to appear; we beat Watson's (3—0) at Old Myreside, but we owed our win on a partially frozen pitch mainly to sheer determination, and against the Royal High School at Jock's Lodge we played below form and had to be content with a draw (3—3). After Christmas we beat Fettes again (6—0) on their ground. Fettes played seven forwards and an extra outside, a formation which succeeded in blunting our attack, but we won convincingly although it should be said that our opponents had the misfortune to lose their full-back before half-time. Snow then brought the season to a premature close. Eight School matches were played, and we won 7 and drew 1, scoring 74 points against 12.

Seven of the previous year's XV. returned and J. W. Donaldson was captain. This was again a good side and this might well have been another outstanding season. The forwards—especially in the first term—were little short of the standard of their predecessors, the backs were competent, and the defence for the most part very good. But we lacked pace and penetration in midfield, and this, together with missed chances, was mainly responsible for the three narrow defeats which marred the record.

Illness led to the cancellation of all our fixtures for three weeks in October and the first School match was against Loretto. In this we gained an encouraging win over a strong side (9—5), and we then beat Glenalmond 12—3 on their ground. A week later, however, we lost on our merits to Heriot's—probably the best team of the season—at Goldenacre by a try, but we finished the term with two good wins at Colinton against Watson's (6—0) and the Royal High School (11—3). At Christmas we lost Fotheringham and Marshall, two of our best forwards, and thereafter the pack, though still good, was not quite the force it had been. Fettes, who had won all their matches, beat us by a penalty goal and a try to a try in a storm of wind and rain at Colinton. We were a forward short for three-quarters of the game, but even so with better finishing we should have won. A good second half gave us an easy win over the Academy (19—0), but we fell to Loretto (5—6) in the dying seconds of a thrilling game at Newfield.

Football.

In our last match, against Watson's at Myreside, the backs gave their best display of the season and we won a fast and entertaining game by 11 points to 7. The Stewart's match was cancelled, and thus 6 School matches were won and 3 lost. We scored 76 points against 33.

1948-49.

Only four old players returned and J. W. Donaldson, who again led the side, was the only remaining Cap, but this was a remarkably successful year and the more notable as the standard among the Schools was unusually high. The forwards were generally outweighed, but, inspired by Donaldson's splendid example, they gained a reasonable share of the ball and frequently outplayed their opponents in the open, where their covering was invaluable and their fast following up and deadly tackling repeatedly gave us the initiative. But our main strength lay behind. The outsides were well above average, and for once we had a real thrust in midfield with two brilliant attacking players in G. F. Clark and K. S. D. Wilmshurst. The defence was very sound, and we had a first-class full-back in M. B. Aitchison, and a further asset in the goal-kicking of I. S. Taylor. In fact the kicking in general was of a high standard and a potent factor in the side's success. Even so, there was little between ourselves and several of our rivals and great credit was due to the team for the determination which enabled it to rise to the occasion again and again in a long and hard series of School matches.

We began by making a great recovery to win a most exciting game with Fettes (8—6), in spite of being outclassed in the tight. The Academy were beaten 12—3, our forwards showing a great improvement in the scrums and mastering a very large pack, and we then gave our best display of the term in beating a strong Loretto side 9—3 at Newfield. A hard game with Glenalmond in atrocious weather at Colinton was just won (11—8), and we gained another win over Heriot's (3—0), though we played below form. Watson's were beaten 6—3 in a very fast game at Myreside—a good performance for we lost a centre in the first half—and a 14—3 victory over the Royal High School at Jock's Lodge saw us safely through the first term. The scrum-half and a forward left at Christmas, but in the return with Fettes the whole side played very well indeed and won convincingly, though the margin (9—3) was not large. A brilliant second half display enabled us to beat Stewart's, who were having their "best ever" season, in a splendid game at Inverleith (14—6), and we gained our tenth win against the Academy at Newfield (8—0), the forwards being mainly responsible. We fell at last, however, in the return with Loretto, who played fine rugby to win deservedly (9—14). We were beaten forward, the defence for the only time in the season was unsound, and our recovery came too late. We finished by beating Watson's more comfortably than the score 8—5 would suggest. All 12 School matches were played, and we won 11 and lost 1, scoring 111 points against 54.

Eight of the previous side returned, and, under the captaincy of W. S. Glen (a splendid back-row forward), this was again a most successful season. The forwards, while possessing the highest qualities of fire and dash in the open, were heavier than usual and they developed into a really great pack in every respect. The backs lacked the brilliance of their predecessors, but in the first term they were extremely competent, resourceful, expert at tactical kicking, and quick to take their chances. The defence once again was very good—only five tries were conceded in eleven School matches.

Our best performance was in the first School match at Fettes. Our opponents had earned for themselves a reputation as a quite exceptional side, but in a very fast game the team rose brilliantly to the occasion and, in winning 19—11, scored 5 tries against 1. After that it was disappointing to be held by the Academy at Raeburn Place, but they defended stoutly and we could do no better than a try against a penalty goal. We beat Loretto (10—0) in pouring rain, and Glenalmond away (13—0), and then came safely through our second big test by beating Heriot's, who were previously unbeaten, at Goldenacre. It was a fine game in spite of appalling weather, and our greater speed on the ball won the day (6—0). A victory over Watson's (12—3) completed the term as the Royal High School match was cancelled owing to snow.

At Christmas we lost four players, including our two most dangerous backs, Martin and Aitchison, and thereafter the outsides were weak in attack. The defence remained very good, but dropped passes, and ineffective kicking threw a heavy extra strain on the forwards. Fortunately the latter went from strength to strength, and mainly thanks to their efforts we continued to do well. Frost intervened in January, and the return with Fettes had to be twice postponed and finally transferred to their ground. Meanwhile we had beaten Stewart's (12—5), our forwards dominating the game and keeping the ball away from our opponents' dangerous backs. Three days later, however, we were beaten by Fettes by a goal to nothing. They were far superior behind the scrum, but we might have saved the game but for an injury which weakened the pack in the second half. After that all went well. We beat the Academy 3—0 on a carpet of snow at Colinton, Loretto 12—6 at Newfield, and finally Watson's 13—0 at Myreside. Eleven School matches were played, of which we won 9, drew 1, and lost 1, scoring 103 points against 33.

This season, for the first time for some years, there was a real dearth of talent and particularly of pace and skill behind. Only four players returned, one of whom—J. C. Mackenzie—was out of action for virtually all the first term School matches, and C. S. Cunningham, the new captain, faced a difficult task which was made no easier by an inordinate number of injuries. No more than four of the team were available for all the School matches and never once did we field a full side. In the event, though we lost four School matches and for the first time since February 1946 were beaten by more than a single score, the team achieved a fairly respectable record. This was due mainly to the forwards who, with an inspiring example from Cunningham and Mann, developed well; to the defence of the backs, which after a shaky start eventually became extremely sound; and to the fine play of C. B. Bewsher at full-back. Our attack, especially in midfield, was weak throughout.

Our misgivings were confirmed by the Club matches, all of which were lost, and any chance we had of holding Fettes disappeared when first Cunningham was added to the casualty list on the Friday and then Mackenzie fractured his hip in the opening minutes. In the circumstances we did quite well to restrict an extremely good side to two tries in each half (0—19). A wet day helped us to beat the Academy (8—0), and in spite of erratic defence we won a most exciting affair with Loretto rather luckily 16—15. A much sounder display gave us a win over Glenalmond (6—0), but we were well beaten by Heriot's at Colinton (0—10). The Watson's match was cancelled because of snow and we finished the term by winning an entertaining game with the Royal High School 15—9 at Jock's Lodge.

After Christmas we beat Stewart's 12—0 at Inverleith, and then in the return at Fettes, though we were without both Cunningham and Mann, a great effort by the whole side just failed to produce the surprise of the season (0—5). Laird, injured in the first half of this game, was unable to play again and our attack became weaker than ever. We scrambled through 6—3 in the return with the Academy but our inability to score cost us the Loretto match at Colinton (0—3). However, we finished by beating Watson's, one of the three best sides of the year, 6—0, so that in all seven School matches were won and four lost. We scored 69 points against 64.

Four backs and two forwards returned, and under the captaincy of G. Chalmers this was a good season and the beginning of another period of success. From our defeat by Heriot's in November we went for nearly five years without losing to any school except Fettes. This achievement was, however, quite overshadowed by that of Fettes, who except for one defeat in England were unbeaten in School matches from December 1949 to October 1956—a truly remarkable performance.

To return to this season, the forwards played very well at times but lacking a natural leader they were inconsistent except in their speed about the field. The outsides, once they settled, became a very good back division indeed with a match-winning left wing in Laird and Chalmers, but their handling was erratic in the early matches and this together with a weakness at full-back, until McMyn was promoted, cost us our two defeats.

The Club games were uneventful except that Chalmers was injured and for the third time in succession we faced Fettes without our captain and lost 3—6 to the sounder side on the day. We beat the Academy 3—0 and Loretto 11—3 and then scored a good win at Glenalmond over a strong side in a game made memorable by C. V. Donaldson's great winning try. Against a good Heriot's team we became rattled by our own mistakes and our rally came too late to shake a confident defence (3—8). Fortunately the lessons were learnt and from now on there was a marked improvement in positioning and handling. Good wins followed over Watson's (32—5) and the Royal High (16—5), and we finished the term by beating a strong Merchistonian XV 9—5. After Christmas no rugger was possible until 20th February when we won 13—0 at Newfield although Loretto beat us for possession. Three days later the forwards took a hammering from a much improved Watson's pack but the backs, despite the absence of Ritchie, pulled us through 11—8. The last game was against Fettes on 5th March. We were without Laird but Fettes also lacked their best centre and a draw was a fair result to a magnificent game (6—6). Thus we won seven School matches, lost two, and drew one, scoring 101 points against 41.

Three forwards and two backs returned and under the inspiring leadership of J.D. King no School match was lost though the record was marred by four draws. The forwards, with a particularly fast and enterprising back row, quickly settled down into a splendid pack. Their speed about the field both in attack and defence was the main factor in our success but, despite some lack of weight, they developed too a devastating shove which made them very dangerous near the line. Behind, we were less strong and much less consistent. There was a lack of real pace and at times the attack was easily held, the halves in particular being erratic. But on their good days the backs played very well and they deserve too the highest praise for their defence. Making full allowance for the covering of the pack, it was a splendid feat to concede only two tries—and one of these a freak score—in ten School matches.

The Club games showed that the side had promise and this was confirmed against Fettes though a blunder in the closing minutes deprived us of victory (3—3). A good win against the Academy followed (12—5), but at Newfield in wet weather our handling was poor and we had a hard struggle to beat Loretto (6—3). Against Glenalmond the whole side played very well (25—0) and a superb forward display in a gale of wind accounted for Watson's (25—6) before the term finished with a 6—0 win over the Royal High in dismal conditions at Jock's Lodge.

In the second term the return with Fettes on their ground was ruined by the great storm which swept the country. After a fine display against it we had every chance to win for Fettes had the misfortune to lose a forward just before half-time but our attack could not break down a plucky defence (0—0). At this point the backs had lost confidence and we played very moderately to draw with Stewart's at Inverleith (6—6) and with Loretto at Colinton (0—0). Fortunately we had a chance to redeem ourselves for Watson's had run up a big score against Loretto and had held Fettes to a single try but against them the whole side recaptured its best form and won well (20—3). The Heriot's game this season was cancelled owing to frost and the return with the Academy owing to illness at the Academy so that we won six School matches and drew four, scoring 103 points against 26. We scored 23 tries against 2.

Five old players were available and W. R. Ferguson led another successful side. Once more we were splendidly served by the forwards, but the outstanding feature of this season was the genius of I. H. P. Laughland, a player of quite exceptional ability, at stand-off. He was well supported by the other backs who made up for lack of weight and pace by, for once, really excellent handling and the combination between forwards and backs produced some brilliant rugby though weather conditions were too often unfavourable. The defence again was first class and as in the previous year only two tries were scored against us in School matches and only once, in the opening minutes of the first match, was the defence beaten, for the other score was the result of a failure to touch down properly.

In the first School match, at Fettes, we made a disastrous start and never really looked like saving the day (3—14). A hard game with the Academy was won 6—0, and then we beat Loretto 8—0 in a great match at Colinton and overcame a wilderness of mud to gain another victory at Glenalmond (6—0). At Goldenacre conditions for once were perfect and with Laughland in scintillating form the side gave a superb display of combined rugby to win 22—0. In deplorable weather we just beat Watson's, who had a fine pack and a strong defence, 3—0, and we finished the term with a 19—6 win over the Royal High School who scored the second try recorded against us.

In the second term the return with Fettes was cancelled because of frost. The Stewart's game, played on a minor pitch at Colinton as the main pitch was frozen, was won 26—0, and we beat the Academy, also at Colinton, 6—0 in vile conditions, and Loretto 3—0 at Newfield, but the final game against Watson's on a very heavy pitch at Myreside ended in a draw (3—3). Thus, of the School matches we won nine, lost one, and drew one, scoring 105 points against 23. As in the previous season we scored 23 tries against 2.

Again three forwards and two backs returned and again in School matches we lost only to Fettes, a good achievement in a year when the general standard was high. It was disappointing to lose both Fettes games by penalty goals but two of our victories came by the same medium. As so often our main strength lay in the forwards who with a great example from C. R. M. Bannerman, the captain, played splendidly throughout. They were badly beaten for possession in the first Fettes match, but thereafter they invariably held their own and frequently outplayed their opponents and their ability to score shove-over tries became a match-winning factor. Behind, we had a very good centre in J. W. Fraser and we were well served on the wings, but in general the outsides were usually up against faster and cleverer players. However, the defence, especially in the centre, was excellent, and in Bain we had the outstanding full-back of the season.

In the opening School match at Colinton Fettes were clearly the better side, but sound defence, aided by wet conditions, kept our line intact and in the second half, in spite of the loss of Bannerman with concussion, the fire and fury of the pack almost turned the scale (0—6). We played well to beat the Academy by two tries, but against a good Loretto side at Newfield only a great second half rally against a gale saved the day (3—3). We beat Glenalmond 6—0 in a dull game at Colinton, but then produced our best form against Heriot's, possibly the best and certainly the most attractive side of the year. They started in devastating fashion, but our forwards wore them down and enabled us to inflict upon them their only defeat of the season (9—3). The whole side played very well, but the abiding memory of the game will be the brilliance of K. J. F. Scotland, the Heriot's stand-off. A sound win over Watson's (6—0) concluded the first term as the Royal High game was cancelled.

After Christmas the weather again intervened and only three matches could be played. In the return with Fettes we lost a very good even game 3—6; we beat Stewart's 22—0; and against the Academy on a partially frozen pitch at New Field we were glad enough to win by a late penalty goal after Bain had been injured in the first half. The final record was: Won 6; Lost 2; Drawn 1. For 58; Against 18.

We had back three forwards and five outsides, our best "return" for many years. The forwards, though light, were again first class and the backs well above average. Unfortunately, however, H. H. Bain was unable to play at all in the first term. His place was capably filled by J. M. Boyle, but this loss not only deprived us of our captain and best player but also, in a season when we were short of adequate reserves, made it difficult to remedy our one real weakness—lack of punch in the centre. Moreover this season Fettes reached the climax of their long run of success and produced one of their greatest XV's. Still we did well, and apart from its good record in School games the side showed its quality by convincingly beating the Merchistonians and an exceptionally strong Wayfarers team.

The opening Club matches were all won but at Fettes, in perfect conditions, after a great fight in the first half, we were well beaten in the end 8—18. We beat the Academy 16—3 at New Field but the score flattered us for we never really subdued their pack, and further wins followed over Loretto 5—0 at home and Glenalmond 6—0 away. In both games we played competently but showed some lack of resource against sound defences. An entertaining game with Heriot's at Goldenacre was drawn 8—8, and then a fine performance by the whole side enabled us to defeat Watson's, who had an immensely powerful pack and were previously unbeaten, 9—0 at Colinton. The Royal High School game, played in a blinding snowstorm, was also won 9—0 at home.

After Christmas frost and snow almost wiped out rugger altogether but miraculously, thanks to enthusiastic clearing of pitches on various grounds, all the School matches were played. In the return with Fettes we were helped by the soft ground and very nearly pulled it off but went down to a penalty conceded in the first minute. Thereafter we beat Stewart's at home 19—0, the Academy 8—3 after a very hard struggle, Loretto 8—0, and finally Watson's, who had drawn with Fettes the previous week, 13—0 at Myreside in what was probably our best display of the season. Thus of the School matches we won 9, lost 2, and drew 1, scoring 109 points against 35.

Only four old players returned and little other talent was available. Matters were made more difficult by a number of casualties and particularly by the loss of one of our main pillars, D. W. M. Fraser, who owing to illness played in only the first two School matches. Without him, our attack depended almost entirely on our left-wing pair, McMyn and Macgregor, and the backs, especially at half, were generally up against it. For once, too, the forwards, though good in some respects, lacked the essential speed on ball and man. Yet thanks to the dogged resolution of the side as a whole and particularly the example set by the old hands, W. A. M. Crow, J. M. Boyle, and especially J. A. McMyn, an excellent captain, our worst defeat was by no more than five points and some notable victories were gained.

The Club games fully confirmed our initial fears, and it was therefore all the more exciting when the side rose brilliantly to the occasion to break, at long last, the Fettes record (6—5). We did well, too, to hold a powerful Academy team, also at home, to a scoreless draw, but then came the casualties and a very good Loretto side beat us at Newfield more comfortably than the score would suggest (3—5). Glenalmond also looked the better side but somehow we managed to win 6—3, and then, in spite of the loss of a centre for the whole of the second half, we gained a surprise victory over a fast and dangerous Heriot's team by a penalty goal to nothing. At Myreside, however, we missed our early chances and were beaten 0—3, and at Jock's Lodge errors in the closing stages cost us the game against the Royal High, possibly the best side of the year (3—6).

After Christmas we lost 3—6 at Fettes, as in the first game a penalty deciding the issue. A 12—0 win over Stewart's at Inverleith stopped the rot, but then the Academy deservedly beat us for the first time since 1941, mainly owing to the superiority of their halves (6—11). But we finished well. The forwards outplayed the strong Loretto pack at Colinton and we were rather unlucky only to draw (0—0), and the improvement was confirmed by a decisive win, 15—3, against Watson's. Thus we won 5, lost 5, and drew 2 of the School matches, scoring 57 points against 42.

Before the season started C. G. R. Mair retired from coaching the XV. after ten highly successful years. Six of the previous XV. returned and the team was captained by W. A. M. Crow, an outstanding forward. This proved to be a difficult year. The pack, though powerful, was immobile and there were vital weaknesses behind the scrum—at half-back and full back. It was a season of exceptionally close matches and, if the record was slightly disappointing, the team showed commendable determination in fighting back from losing positions.

Fettes defeated us owing to their superiority behind the scrum (0—8). A desperately exciting match with the Academy ended with a draw (12—12) and though we scored three tries to one we were fortunate to save the game. At Glenalmond we lost (0—6) and drew with Loretto in a photo-finish, both tries being scored in the last five minutes (3—3). We defeated Heriot's narrowly in a poor match at Goldenacre (5—3). The side played well with a rearranged back division against Watson's and was unfortunate to lose (5—6). A win against the Royal High School, owing to a brilliant try in injury time, completed the first term (6—5).

After Christmas, the improvement in the back play was maintained. The Fettes match was cancelled, but the side played well against Stewart's and scored three fine tries (16—0). The return match with Loretto at Newfield was disastrous. Two injuries, one at the beginning of each half, disrupted the defence and Loretto, leading by a goal at half time, overran us in the second half (19—0). The season ended with a pointless draw against Watson's at Myreside. Ten School matches were played: we won 3, lost 4 and drew 3. Though the record was the poorest since 1941, four very young players gained useful experience for the future.

For the first time since 1914 the XV. won all its School matches. A highly efficient side with an outstanding back row and no weaknesses in any position was splendidly led by E. K. Collins. The same team which turned out as the probable XV. in the first practice game of the season played together right through the year. Except against Fettes at Colinton they were never behind in a School match and always looked a winning side.

The first match against Fettes was a desperately close thing. Lamb scored the only try of the game but it was a penalty goal by G. L. Maguire that won the game in the closing minutes (8—6). The Centenary Match against the Academy the following Saturday produced rugger to suit the occasion. The Merchiston halves and back row combined brilliantly and were largely responsible for the 17—3 win. Two good wing tries were the only score against a sound Loretto defence at Newfield (9—3). Glenalmond, who at this point were also undefeated, lost at Colinton in a game ruined by mist (8—0). Though we won 11—0 against Heriot's the side played below form until late in the second half. The match against the Royal High School was probably the most interesting of all. The High School, unbeaten at home for over two years, had a reputation for back play, but we beat them forward. A dropped goal and forward try settled the game (8—0). The seventh win of the season, against the Haileybury and I.S.C. touring side, provided an enjoyable conclusion to the first term.

The return Fettes match was postponed and the Stewart's match cancelled. The second Academy match, which we won 13—3, was a much harder game than the score would suggest. In the rearranged Fettes match the pack was outstanding and Collins himself scored 11 of our 17 points (17—3). The final School match against Loretto was won 13—0 and ended with a most spectacular try.

This season's pack deserved to be ranked with the best Merchiston packs of the past. They had the essential blend between mobility and power and in P. A. Tweedie and E. K. Collins, two brilliant wing forwards. The backs, though young and inexperienced, had considerable pace and power and were essentially a well-balanced division. Played 10, won 10. Points for 110, against 18. A memorable season.

For the second year in succession the XV. was undefeated, a record which was last accomplished between 1899 and 1901. With nine of the previous team back in September prospects were good, but only three forwards returned and it was soon evident that the pack would be the weaker part of the side. Powerful in the set pieces but lethargic in the open, they seldom dominated matches as they had done in the previous season. The backs were exceptionally talented. The midfield triangle of Lamb, Maguire and Tweedie was outstanding in Scottish Schools.

The opening match down at Fettes was a triumph for our opponents' defence. We failed to vary our tactics and it required a dropped goal by Mowat in the closing minutes to draw the game (3—3). Our backs, particularly Lamb and Maguire, were in scintillating form against Academy and we won by four tries to a penalty goal (14—3). Loretto, with their powerful pack, were favoured by the cold, wet conditions at Colinton. They should have won, but an inspired try by D. Bain saved the match (6—6). We defeated Heriot's in a fine open game at Goldenacre and then overcame a very strong Watson's team at Myreside (9—0). Our six points against the Royal High School came from a shove-over try and a penalty goal (6—0).

At the end of term the XV. went on the first of the London tours. In a great game against Haileybury and I.S.C. we won by the only score, a try made by the whole side and scored by G. D. Tweedie (5—0). The following day the team defeated Mill Hill 18—3.

The outstanding game of the season was the return Fettes match at Colinton played in a vicious flurry of sleet and snow. Against the storm in the first half we scored two remarkable tries and won the match with the conditions after half time (18—8). The eleventh and last School match against Stewart's the following Saturday was a slight anticlimax. We won 12—0 but scored only one try. In School matches we played 11, won 9, drew 2 and lost 0.

With only four back from the previous XV., prospects were less good, but R. H. Lamb was again captain, and with G. D. Tweedie and D. Bain in the centre the midfield triangle was exceptionally strong. McKinlay was the only forward back and the pack, which contained five of the previous season's Under 15½, was weak in possession, particularly in the loose. In spite of a shortage of useful possession the side improved throughout the first term and reached Christmas undefeated. After Christmas we lost to Fettes, the end of a run of 29 School matches without defeat. Lamb, for the second year captain of the London Scottish Schoolboys' XV., was injured in the Richmond match and prevented from playing again during the season. He was greatly missed after Christmas.

Football.

The first match against Fettes was a pointless draw played in appalling conditions and ruined by innumerable penalties. The following Saturday we defeated Academy by two penalty goals (6—0). We were well beaten forward by an immense Loretto pack, but won 8—0 largely owing to the brilliance of Lamb. From this point till the end of term there was a transformation in the forward play. Behind a winning pack the backs were superb and in the next three matches we scored 49 points (v. Glenalmond—won 8—0; v. Heriot's—won 25—0; v. Watson's—won 16—6). The match of the season was played against the Royal High School who had scored almost 200 points in winning all their matches. In a great game played at terrific pace we were fortunate to win 9—0.

The Easter term was ruined by Lamb's absence. We lost to Fettes (6—9) owing to the tactical failure of our rearranged back division. We just defeated Stewart's 8—6 but played better in the return match against Edinburgh Academy to win 6—0. An exciting match against Loretto ended with one try each. In the last match of the season we lost 3—6 to a very fine team from Campbell College. Twelve School matches were played; won 8, drawn 2, lost 2.

The exceptional number of tries and the brilliant, attacking rugby played by the XV. throughout the year made this a memorable season. The wings scored 30 tries and the total of 191 points in School matches was the highest since 1914.

D. C. Morton was captain and he had eight of the previous XV. back with him in September. From the start the back division showed a fine understanding and flair for attack. R. D. Gray, the vice-captain, was the outstanding full back in Scottish Schools; D. C. Morton and A. G. Wilkinson were an exceptionally fine pair of attacking centres and outside them S. H. Reid and J. H. W. Walker were prolific try scorers. The swift service from two natural ball-players at half back, K. A. R. Brown and A. L. Mole, was the foundation of the open game. The forwards deserved no less praise. With only two old colours they exceeded expectations and developed into a first class pack excelling in possession from the loose and constructive line-out play.

With ten tries against Watsonian Juniors and eight against Lismore the team showed great form before the opening School match, a new fixture against Kelvinside Academy. This we won by six tries to nil (24—0). An unusually comfortable win against Fettes (19—6) was followed by a hair-raising match with Edinburgh Academy. We scored four tries to their two but were fortunate to draw (12—12). In a dull match against Loretto we won by two penalty goals (6—0). With four brilliant tries the side deserved their win over a successful Glenalmond team (16—0). The following Saturday we fell to Heriot's owing to the superiority of their pack and fine cover defence (0—5). Another open match against Watson's was won 9—5.

On the second London Tour the side played scintillating rugby, scoring six tries against Tonbridge (24—3) and five against Haileybury and I.S.C. (18—0). The Easter Term began with a notable victory over Fettes by six tries to nil (26—0). We won by seven tries to nil against Stewart's in appalling conditions (23—0). The return Academy match, a fine forward battle, ended in a pointless draw. Loretto defeated us by two penalty goals to a goal owing to a spirited display by their pack (5—6). In the final match against the Royal High School our backs recovered their best form and we won 9—3. Fourteen School matches were played. We won 10, drew 2, and lost 2. Points for 191; against 43. In all matches we scored 292 points to 63.

CRICKET.

It was the custom in the forties to preserve the cricket records in a tin box belonging to the Debating Society. There was also a custom of drawing lots for the scoring book, along with the rest of the club property, at the end of the year. Tin box and scoring books disappeared, leaving a regrettable blank in the history of primitive Merchiston cricket.

The few numbers of The Merchiston Magazine of 1842 which have survived give no assistance, for they make no mention of games of any kind, and we do not even know when cricket was first introduced into the School. It was already an established game, we are told, in 1845, but it is not till 1849 that we light upon the names of any players. In this year there were two brothers Fisher of Dunkeld, who were the first to attempt the round-arm style of bowling which had recently come into vogue in English cricket.

The Merchiston Chronicle of 1859 deploras the loss of the records of earlier years, and can only rescue from oblivion the names of office-bearers between 1850 and 1859. There is some uncertainty as to the correctness of the names in the first half of this decade, but the names of the latter five years are well authenticated.

The only other cricketing name that we can discover in these days is that of Robert Cowan (1855). He appears to have revived the round-arm bowling which had disappeared with the brothers Fisher. G. Gordon, T. C. Nesham, W. Rutherford, J. W. Simson, in the course of the next two years carried the new art a stage further.

The year 1856 is memorable as the year of an unfortunate schism, happily of short duration, in Merchiston cricket. A section of the 1st and 2nd XIs. mutinied for some reason unexplained, and organised a club of their own, calling it the Alma C.C. The club was limited to the eleven playing members and had no captain, but was managed by Gordon, Nesham, and Daw, a triumvirate whose word was law. Happily, the seceders soon recognised that such divisions would weaken the school, and the Alma Club was dissolved. Mr Harvey, the head-master, now provided the school, at his own expense, with a professional, Batchelor, who remained three years, and the club found itself strong enough to challenge such clubs as Musselburgh and Dalkeith. Hitherto only the schools had been played. Other matches had been provided by house and class contests, but the home game that excited the keenest interest of all was the annual match in July between the "Two Tables." In the following year, 1857, long known as "Gordon and Nesham's year," we played Edinburgh Academy for the first time, but did not meet with any success. In 1858 Adrian Van der Byl was captain of the XI., and he and Forbes were our successful bowlers against the High School in a two-innings match which we won by 62 and 59 against 45 and 27. Extras in our innings topped the score with 32 and 30! The Academy again defeated us fairly easily, but we won our match on the Musselburgh Links against Loretto House, Van der Byl making 91 out of our 199. This was probably the first match played between Merchiston and Loretto.

We also played against Musselburgh and though we led by one run in the first innings, the final draw was in Musselburgh's favour. Extras again helped us a great deal, amounting to 56 and 27 out of 108 and 82.

Late in the season Van der Byl kept wicket, G. Mitchell and W. Ewing assisting Forbes in bowling, though the latter apparently kept up an end all through a match without the extravagant number of wides common in these early days of round-arm bowling.

For the next few years The Chronicle supplies us with a continuous, if sometimes fragmentary, record of the school cricket. The captain this season was a master, Mr H. H. Almond, an enthusiastic cricketer, and afterwards the famous headmaster of Loretto. The professional for the early part of the season was Bentley of Torquay and, later, Sewell. The season began in March, but allusion is made to even earlier practice. There is no question about the ardour for the game at this time, for one contributor to The Chronicle, possibly the enthusiastic captain himself, recommends aspiring bowlers to practice at a single stump every possible day in January, February, and March, and to take every opportunity of Bentley's soft ball winter coaching in the playroom.

Twelve matches altogether were played, and of these seven were won. In our school matches we were twice defeated by the Academy, but we beat the High School in an innings (Hector Tennent 53, Hugh Tennent 20), and Glenalmond (Hector Tennent 28) by 104. Richard Brown and M'Lean were the successful bowlers in these matches. Two matches were played with the Grange, the first being lost by ten wickets, and the return, with the assistance of the professional Sewell, won comfortably. Mr Almond was top-scorer in the latter match with 21 and 12. In three matches with the Academicals we divided the honours. In the first match the Tennents distinguished themselves, Hector by what is described as a beautiful 20, and W. Tennent, "the smallest boy ever in the XI.," by his long-stopping, no bye being allowed to pass, a most unusual feat in these days of erratic bowling. In the second the Academicals won by 57 runs, while in the third match the 34 wides given by our round-arm bowlers contributed largely to another defeat. Success attended the XI. also against Edinburgh University, though the students can hardly have been very good cricketers to give us 57 byes and 14 wides in a total of 113!

The eleven players who were picked at the beginning of this season, with one exception, kept their places to the end. Fourteen matches were played, and of these six were won, four lost, and four drawn. The season therefore was fairly successful. The averages, however, indicate a weak batting side, for Hector Tennent's average of 10 was the highest! Ewing, with forty-eight wickets at a cost of 6, was the most effective bowler, but H. Tennent took thirty-eight wickets, Mr Almond fourteen, at even less cost, though both bowled underhand. Barclay's lightning expresses were more expensive. The first two matches against the Academicals and the Grange were lost, Bentley's bowling not compensating for our weakness in batting. In the next match, v. the University, Ewing made his mark as a bowler and we won easily, assisted by 25 wides (!) and 22 byes allowed us by the students. The University longstop, says the reporter of the match, on the rough ground had a lively notion of what Tom Sayer's condition must have been in the second hour of the fight. The recent fight between Jack Heenan and Tom Sayers was then the topic of the day. The High School were beaten in an innings, but scoring was very low in this and subsequent matches, the highest score of the season, in fact, being 41 by Hector Tennent in the return with Glenalmond, and Coxon's 57 not out against the Academy. The latter score, coming in the home fixture, enabled us to beat the Academy, but in the return at Raeburn Place our opponents won by 87 runs on the first innings. In an attempt to finish this match on a two-innings basis we got 135 (byes 20, wides 27) but the Academy had only made 23 for 2 wickets when play stopped. We appear only to have played the Academicals once this season, losing by 69 runs in a two-innings match.

There is little on record of this season's play except for the matches against the Academy and the Academicals. On our own ground the Academy beat us by 60 runs early in the term, but two months later our team had so much improved that we were able to win by an innings and 24 runs even though playing on the enemy's ground. W. Tennent was easily our best bat and made 65 out of our total of 166. Henderson took 5 wickets in the first Academy innings. The Academicals fixture was also very early in the season and our 75 was countered by 137 from our opponents. We fared better against Glenalmond with a win by an innings and 56 runs. J. Tennent, a younger brother of W. Tennent and also a member of the XI, made the best score for a Merchistonian side playing at Belfast against a North of Ireland club on an occasion when four Tennent brothers were playing, and helped to give the Merchistonians a win by 3 runs.

Records of the season are few and far between, but we know that W. Tennent was again our only successful batsman. In a match against Dalkeith, which we narrowly lost by scoring 70 to our opponents' 74, Tennent scored 23 and also took seven wickets, proving himself our most outstanding player with ball as well as bat. The Academy won both their matches against us by very comfortable margins, while the only match against the Academicals, played at Raeburn Place, gave our opponents a win by 39 runs, our total score only reaching 69.

1863.

Once more we are mainly indebted to Academy score books for the only information of our team this season. In the first game against the Academy we drew, playing at home, our highest scorer being Salmond with 35, the next highest being "wides" 27! At Raeburn

Cricket.

Place we met with disaster, being only able to make 34 and 48 for 6 wickets, against the phenomenal score of 329 by the Academy. G. C. H. Dunlop captained the Academy team and made a magnificent 145 not out; the total Academy score of 329 was the highest ever recorded in any game in Scotland at that time. Though not in any way belittling the batting efforts of our opponents, our bowling must have been lamentably weak for even with the help of King, our professional, we failed to get out the Academicals in our match against them before they had made 183 and in return were all out for 61 in the first innings, and scored 21 for 2 wickets in the second. Against the High School we proved successful with a modest 77 and 71 against 52 and 35.

The only reference to the team's activities this season comes from Academy score books again. In our first game, played at home, we suffered what must have been considered our "usual" defeat, the score being 211 against 69. In the return match the verdict of a draw flattered us; the Academy made 349 but failed to leave themselves time to get us out, our score being 66 for 5 at the close of play. No other school matches are recorded and the only scores known, to throw a light on the standard of the team, are those in a match between the first XI. and the next XXII., with King, the new professional, helping the latter. The next XXII. reached 151 mainly by King's exertions (102), for nobody else reached double figures. The first XI. scored 5 for one wicket and then apparently the match was abandoned. Taken in conjunction with the low scores against the Academy, this appears to suggest that cricket was not a popular pastime this season.

In this year the School Magazine was first issued under its present title, and the record of cricket is henceforward, if not always continuous, at any rate less fragmentary. Under the captaincy of F. A. Bond, who had been captain also in 1864, the XI. had a satisfactory season, winning five of their matches and losing four. The great School match was still that with Edinburgh Academy, and this was lost by 33 runs. The defeat was attributed to bad fielding, and the drastic remedy was applied of setting apart two evenings a week for penal practice. The XI. were badly beaten at Glenalmond, but Loretto, still known as Loretto House School, were defeated by 53. There were two matches with a school that has long since disappeared, Dregghorn College, the first match being won and the return lost. The most important club matches, and in which the XI. were assisted by the professional, Percival King, and Mr Whittington, were with the West of Scotland and the Caledonian, in those days a strong Edinburgh club. The School lost by 20 runs to the West of Scotland, and defeated the Caledonian. Mr Whittington held the highest batting average (25) for all matches, at the end of the season.

This year the XI. had a busier season and a really good record, winning fourteen matches out of the eighteen played. We read of no more complaints of the fielding, the method of correction employed in the previous year having apparently been effective. Missed catches, however, seem to have been the cause of another defeat by the Academy, this time a very severe beating by an innings and 150 runs. With Cricketer.

Glenalmond it was another story, and the defeat of the year before was amply avenged, Merchiston winning by more than 200 runs, W. Roland scoring 80, a phenomenal score in those days, and Mr Whittington 53 not out. (In some of the School matches it was still the custom to play masters.) In spite of another fine innings of 60 by Roland, we suffered a single innings defeat at the hands of Loretto, quite an unexpected humiliation as it was then deemed. For successes against clubs King's bowling was largely accountable.

Cricket is meagrely reported in the School Magazine of this year, being apparently crowded out by the voluminous articles on logarithms! The result of the first match with the Academy is described as a draw in favour of Merchiston, but we question if this was admitted by our opponents, who had six wickets to fall in the second innings and only 22 runs to make. Moreover, we altogether failed to justify our "moral victory" in the return, being soundly defeated by nine wickets. Against Loretto we did well, defeating them on both occasions, in the first match by ten wickets, and in the return by 82 runs. In club matches the School (with the usual assistance) defeated Carlton (twice), West of Scotland, and Edinburgh University; and lost to Kelso and Northumberland County. Scoring ran low all through the season, for the captain, C. E. Bell, W. Cross, and Mr Whittington were at the head of the batting list with averages of only 15 each. T. Whittington was by far the most successful bowler.

Again the pressure of more serious matter in the Magazine leaves cricket reports exceedingly fragmentary; and yet there were successes in this year that were memorable, notably the double victory over the Academy, our first success in this match for seven years. The first match was won by 50, the return by 13 runs, and in both victories W. Roland had a large part, as he played innings of 43, 31, 15, and 51. Earlier in the season the same batsman had also contributed largely to our two victories over Loretto, against whom he scored 52, 43, and 42. The XI., however, seems to have been rather a one-man batting side, and when Roland failed in the Glenalmond match, we were badly beaten, Wedderburn scoring 84 against us. The averages are not given, but W. Roland scored so consistently that he must have had good figures at the end of the season.

This was a disastrous season, as all the school matches were lost. We suffered two defeats from the Academy, two from Loretto, and one from Glenalmond. In club matches results were better, but batting averages which range from 12 to 1 clearly point to a very weak batting side. Spears seems to have been an effective, but very erratic bowler, taking seventy-six wickets but bowling 50 wides!

1870.

Under the captaincy of W. H. Dickens the XI. showed little improvement on last year's form. Of 17 matches played only 5 were won. In school matches we won against Loretto at Pinkie by 25 runs, Thew being the chief scorer with a 37 not out, but in the return match at home we were just beaten. At Raeburn Place against the Academy we failed badly, losing by an innings and 39 runs, and though we fared better against them on their own ground we were still not good enough to win. An away match against Glenalmond brought us another narrow defeat.

1871.

E. Thew captained the XI., and the record of the season reads slightly better than the last. We won half our matches against club sides, but only got the better of our school opponents twice in five encounters. At Pinkie we won easily by 87 runs, but lost the home match later in the season. Playing at home against the Academy we won by an innings and one run, but had the tables turned when we went to Raeburn Place, where the Academy had their revenge by defeating us by an innings and twelve runs. In the Glenalmond match we started a series of wins which continued for several years whether we played them at home or away.

This was a good season, the first of two under G. Drysdale's leadership. Five out of the six school matches were won, our only defeat being at the hands of Loretto on our own ground. The most exciting match of the season was that against the Academy at Raeburn Place: the Academy batted first and made 67 to which we replied by making 137: in their second innings the Academy avoided the disgrace of an innings defeat by getting 111, leaving us 42 to win. This seemed an easy task judged by our first innings score, but Blyth, bowling for the Academy, suddenly found his form and dismissed six of our batsmen for 11 and we had still not reached 42 when our last man went in. In spite of the strain of the occasion the last pair achieved what was required and we ended one run ahead of our opponents.

During this season we played the newly founded Fettes College, our 2nd XI. taking on their 1st. Batting first, Fettes made 197 and our 2nd replied with 111 for five wickets before stumps were drawn.

Under G. Drysdale this was again a good season, though not so spectacular as the last, only three of six school matches being won. Loretto had the best school record and we had the distinction of being the only school opponent to inflict defeat on them; this occurred at Pinkie, where we made 166 in our first innings and Loretto were dismissed for 44 and 67. We are told that the Merchiston victory was made possible by the effective "underhand" bowling of a new master, Mr Garner, and it was many years before a school team took the field without the assistance of at least one of the staff. In the return, Loretto beat us in a one-inning's match by a single run. We lost both of the Academy games, but the Glenalmond results were easy victories for us in both home and away matches. We again tried our 2nd XI. against Fettes' 1st, but were beaten by an innings and 11 runs, so a return match was arranged between the two first elevens. Fettes showed that they were now a power in the land by making 135 and dismissing us for 49.

Cricket.

Although our successes were due in a large measure to Mr Garner's bowling, our batsmen were above the average of the last few seasons : Drysdale made 105 in one match, though no record remains to say which it was.

1874.

The record of cricket for this year is once more very incomplete, the only results known being those of the Fettes and Academy matches. From these we can guess that our XI. was a very weak one, even allowing for the great strides made by Fettes in the few years since they started. In the away game against Fettes we had the miserable score of 57 against their 329 for 9 wickets : though we drew at home it was very much in Fettes' favour who made 303, while we could only reply with 78 for 5 before stumps were drawn. At Raeburn Place we were defeated by 24 runs, but in the return match at Merchiston we scored 151 against the Academy's 139. H. Roland was our most successful bat during the season.

Sixteen matches were played and we won seven, lost eight, and drew one. However our wins were mainly against clubs, as the school match record only credits us with one victory out of six games with other schools. The solitary win was against Loretto in a one-inning's match in which we scored 148 against 102. In all the other school matches we failed to reach 100 runs on any occasion, being in fact more often in the fifties, whereas our opponents did not seem to find our bowling difficult and easily topped the 100 mark.

We appeared to have a better XI. this season, but school matches were reduced in number. As far as can be discovered we played no matches against Loretto either this year or in the ones following up till 1881. Only one match is recorded as being played against the Academy, and in this, when the Academy score stood at 113, rain stopped play. Fettes proved too good for us in our first encounter, but in the return match on their ground we put up 122 runs against their 81, the elevens being both first teams. We had a very easy win over Glenalmond, and this year we also played against Craigmount and Blairlodge, winning both matches.

A. H. Dickins captained the side but without much change in our fortunes, only one school match being won. This was against Fettes on our own ground when we dismissed them for 53 and proceeded to make 128 ourselves. This gave us an easy victory on the single innings but, continuing the game, Fettes proved themselves better than their first innings score suggested by making 80 for one wicket. Both the Academy matches were drawn, and we do not appear to have played Loretto or Glenalmond. Another fixture against Craigmount resulted in a draw, while a game arranged against the Royal High School witnessed our defeat by 52 runs.

A. H. Dickins, an able and energetic cricketer, was captain in 1878, and stood head and shoulders (figuratively speaking only, for he was a small man) above the rest of the team. This is shown in the list of averages, in which Dickins stands first with 32, and the rest are nowhere, not another double figure appearing. The year is memorable chiefly for the opening of the new field in Colinton Road, and for the international match, England v. Scotland, which was played there. Dickins had the honour of being chosen for Scotland, but he met with no success. His best performances were in the return match with the Academy, in which he made 141 without giving a chance, and in the matches with Selkirk, in which he scored 98 and 45. The first match against the Academy was, after very low scoring on both sides, lost by ten wickets; but Dickins' great score gave us a handsome win in the return. Craigmount School were beaten by 57 (T. Begbie 35). With Loretto there does not appear to have been any match. Wright was the professional this year, and in the first match v. Selkirk made 169 not out, his stand with Dickins being long remembered by the Border Club. The bowling of the XI. was of very uncertain quality, and Dickins was more successful with his slow underhands than any of the round-arm bowlers.

This season, under the captaincy of T. A. Begbie, is described as "the most unsuccessful in the annals of the School." The first match against the Academy was the solitary win of the year, and the range of the batting averages (11 to 2) tell their own tale. The highest individual innings played by a boy was 25 by Adie v. Lasswade, and 24 by Tom Anderson v. Craigmount.

Tom Anderson was captain, and the XI. were fairly successful, winning seven and losing four out of the sixteen matches played, whilst four of the five drawn matches are stated to have ended in our favour. The best averages among the boys were those of E. T. Roland 25, and Tom Anderson 18. Bancroft, the professional of the year, Mr Sleight, and Mr Garner rendered very useful assistance in the club matches. The first School match was v. Craigmount, who scored 244 to our 60 for one wicket, but the result is put down as "greatly in our favour." Our first match with the Academy had a most exciting finish, and we won by 1 run. Roland and Anderson were our chief scorers with 37 and 34, and our fielding appears to have been quite brilliant. Against Blairlodge, who played a professional and Masters, we lost by 4 runs. In the return with the Academy we were defeated by 63, and we lost also to Fettes by 46. George Jones was the best School wicket-keeper of the year, but did very little in batting.

1881.

Twenty matches were played this year, the School team taking part in eleven, winning eight, and losing three. Of the other matches six were won, two drawn, and one lost. The season was therefore very successful. Tom Anderson was again captain, and this year heads the average list with 30, E. T. Roland dropping to 16. The rest were nowhere. Roland, however, though less successful in batting than the year before, was a most effective bowler, and his eighty-two wickets at an average cost of 5 runs must have contributed very largely to the good record of the XI. The "Championship"—which we now hear of for the first time—was won by Loretto; Merchiston were second. The Academy were beaten in the first match by 68; in the second they beat us by 55. Blairlodge were beaten by 32 (T. Anderson not out, 60); Craigmount by 25; and Fettes by 104 (Roland, 74 not out); but Loretto, for whom Usher made 64, defeated us easily. In club matches the XI. had the same assistance as last year.

1882.

This was the memorable diphtheria year, when the School moved to St Andrews for half the October term. There was no sickness, however, in the summer, and, under Tom Anderson's third year of leadership, the XI. had another successful season, out of eighteen matches thirteen being won, three lost, and one drawn. That Anderson was the largest contributor to this successful record, his average of 40 (with nothing nearer to him than 13) is proof enough. We were again successful against all the schools except Loretto, who caught us at our worst, and defeated us by more than 200 runs, A. S. Blair and Lindsay making 87 and 59 respectively. Thanks to a 102 not out from the captain, we easily had the better of Craigmount; whilst fine bowling by Jack Clark, with a 59 from George Jones, gave us a single innings victory over the Academy. Clark took fifteen wickets for 39 in the two innings. George Jones came off again in the Fettes match, which was won by 72 runs. George Jones also kept wicket admirably throughout the season, but except in the two School matches just mentioned did not show his powers as a batsman. In club matches, assisted by Wheat (professional), Mr Garner, and Mr Slight, we defeated Lasswade (twice) and Dalkeith. In the first match with Lasswade Anderson made 103 not out. In the home and home engagements with Selkirk, Hawick, and Berwick, honours were divided.

George Jones' XI. in this year won the coveted honour of being premier school, and this success lent additional enthusiasm to the Jubilee celebrations. We defeated Blairlodge by 25; the Academy by 114; George Jones scoring 96 not out. An even draw was the result with Fettes, who played a scratch team owing to an outbreak of diphtheria there. Clark took five wickets for 43, and G. Jones made 36 in this match. Another good innings by Jones and excellent bowling by D. L. Grant (six for 34) and Clark (four for 31), gave us the narrowest of victories over Loretto by 1 run. Against clubs we were less successful, our best performance being a victory over the Grange. We also defeated Selkirk twice, and Carlton once; but were defeated twice by Lasswade; Shacklock, the Notts fast bowler, taking all our ten wickets in the return match. George Jones headed the batting average with 29, but the others were very small. The professional, Wheat, assisted regularly in club matches, and played no small part in those we won. Twenty-two matches in all were played, of which twelve were won, seven lost, and three drawn; hardly so good a record, in spite of the Championship, as the previous two years.

A Merchistonian Cricket Club was started in this year, but it was on no occasion properly represented, and sometimes as many as six masters had to be requisitioned. West was the only consistent scorer, and Mr Garner practically the only bowler; and it was due mainly to the efforts of these two players, with occasional assistance from John Cross and J. R. Burns, that seven matches were won out of the thirteen played. West's two best scores were 55 and 45, both not out.

Under the captaincy of J. Stewart Clark, and thanks largely to his effective left-hand bowling, we won four of our six School matches, going down only to Fettes and Blairlodge. In club matches we were less successful, but this was partly due to the innovation (attempted in the early part of the season, and then abandoned as impracticable) of playing the School XI. unassisted in all matches. Nineteen matches in all were played, and of these eight were won, nine lost, and two drawn. The batting averages were low, Chearnley Smith 17, M'Clure 13, and Clark 13 heading the list. It was a weak XI. in fact, happily blessed with an effective pair of bowlers, Clark and Alexander, who did practically all the bowling. Jack Clark, who was at his best this season, took one hundred and three wickets at a cost of 10; Alexander's sixty-two wickets averaged 12 runs apiece. These two bowlers were pillars of strength in the School matches. Clark's best performances were six for 35 v. Fettes, and six for 15 v. Craigmount. Alexander also did two performances that could rank with Clark's—seven for 29 v. Academy, and six for 15 v. Loretto. Fettes defeated us by ninety-nine, and the defeat would have been much more severe but for Clark's bowling, and his innings of 27 not out. In the match with Blairlodge we were nowhere, and H. L. Fleming played a memorable innings of 114. In the Loretto match scoring was low, and Alexander's bowling, with a 39 from Chearnley Smith, gave us an easy victory. The other three schools defeated were the High School, the Academy, and Craigmount. Against Craigmount, now a declining institution, Chearnley Smith made 88, and Clark did the fine bowling performance already mentioned. The most notable successes with clubs were victories over Selkirk (twice), Hawick, and Berwick. In some of the club matches we were assisted by the professional, Tom Blaikie.

The Merchistonian C.C. met with fair success, and was better supported than in the previous year. The usual players were W. L. Calderwood, West, A. Black, Bowhill, Symington, G. Wilson, E. Freeman, J. M. Black, the Rowlands, with Mr Garner, and the professional, Dalrymple. Five matches were won, and six lost. The best scores were 60 not out by Calderwood, and 49 not out by C. Craig.

Though we had only three of last year's team back, this was a successful year, for we lost only to Fettes in our School matches. H. P. Inglis was captain, and Blaikie was again the professional. The bowling was weak, but J. P. Smith, who took sixty-three wickets at an average cost of 9, did several good performances, and he had a good supporter in J. W. Dowden. Goodhue, the hitter of the team, was at the head of the batting averages with 20: the only other double figures were J. P. Smith 13, and Inglis 12, so it cannot have been a very strong batting side, in spite of its success with schools. Inglis was a good captain, but felt his responsibilities and seldom did himself justice. His best innings was a 59 v. Loretto, and it was his batting and Smith's bowling (five for 24) which won us the match, with something to spare. In the Academy match the heroes were Goodhue and Bankier, for Goodhue, aided by luck, scored 87 not out, and Bankier distinguished himself with the ball, taking five for 13. Our form against clubs was very variable. Good performances were the victories over Selkirk (twice), Gala, and Paisley Kelburne (Goodhue 94), but our weakness in batting was painfully apparent in the matches with Carlton, Greenock, and Lasswade, who dismissed us in turn for 20, 41, and 37. Altogether nine matches were won, six lost, and three drawn.

Cricket.

The Merchistonian C.C. began the season badly, losing three out of the first four matches. The later matches are not reported. R. W. West, W. L. Calderwood, G. Wilson, H. M'Clure, E. Roland, J. M. Black, D. Symington, were the only regular players.

The XI. this year had some disappointments, and results were not so good as were hoped for. In School matches they did fairly well, for though they lost to both Fettes and Loretto, they beat the four other schools, the most creditable of these victories being that gained over Blairlodge. Four good batsmen, including the captain, H. P. Inglis, were left from last year. Only two of these, Fred Jones and Inglis, did themselves any justice, but the failure of the others was compensated by Gray's success with the ball. Gray was an exceptionally good school bowler, some think the best we have ever had: his record this year, one hundred and one wickets at a cost of 8, was certainly remarkable. With another bowler half as good to support him the season's record would have been better. As it was, out of twenty-five matches played, eight were won, ten lost, and seven drawn. In club matches, in spite of assistance from Mr Sharman, and either Blaikie or W. Thompson (the Brunswick bowler employed as second professional) the results were disappointing. In the return match with Gala we were all out for 26, Burrows, the club professional, taking eight wickets for no runs! This XI. does not seem to have a good character for fielding (though honourable exception must be made of Inglis, who was a brilliant point), and this may have had something to do with disappointments. Fred Jones was at the head of the batting averages with 22, the other double figures being Inglis 16, Greenlees 12, and Loney 11. Greenlees played one fine innings of 67 not out v. the Grange, Jones made 128 against the High School, and the hollow victory that we gained, following our previous easy victories year after year, led to this School match dropping out of our programme. Gray's best performances with the ball were seven for 20 v. Blairlodge, six for 15 v. Glenalmond, six for 26 v. Gala, and six for 45 v. Fettes. The match with Loretto at Pinkie was the most exciting of the year, and the finish must have been one of the most exciting moments in Gray's life. He went in to bat last when 3 were wanted to win, put up a catch, and we lost by 2.

An effort was made in this year to put the Merchistonian C.C. upon a more satisfactory footing. J. P. Smith was an energetic secretary, and much more representative teams took the field. The batting was strengthened by Mr A. H. Sharman, and the bowling by W. Thompson, the School second professional. Other prominent players were J. M. Black, Calderwood, E. F. Roland, G. Wilson, J. W. Dowden, Walter and Hugh Neilson. Four matches were won, two lost, and three drawn. George Wilson's 50 against the Academicals was the highest individual score.

In the choice of the captain for this year, authority and influence in the School were considered before skill in the game, and W. A. Hutcheson, the popular School and football captain, was elected. With all his energy, however, he possessed hardly the necessary knowledge of the game to make a good captain. Twenty-three matches were played, of which seven were won, nine lost, and seven drawn. With more than half of last year's XI. back we had hopes of a more successful season. Against the schools, it is true, we did well, defeating the Academy, Craigmount, and Blairlodge, losing to Fettes by only 11, and to Loretto by the still narrower minority of 2 runs. Seven of the defeats were from clubs, but we played, it must be remembered, unassisted in all these matches. The highest scorers during the year were Greenlees 115 not out against Craigmount, and 81 v. Paisley Kelburne, 55 not out v. Hawick; Fred Jones 89 v. Blairlodge, 56 v. Hawick (ret.); W. J. Reid's 73 v. Lasswade, and 64 v. Major Dickens' XI. Gray was quite as good a bowler as last year and he took one hundred and eight wickets at a cost of 8 apiece. He was well supported by Duffus, but the want of a good change bowler was often apparent. Against the Academy, Gray and Duffus divided the bowling honours, and put our opponents out for the small score of 27, but generally Gray was far the more effective bowler, seldom sending down a really bad ball. In the Fettes match the bowlers had the better of the batsmen on both sides and the scoring was low. Jones, the best batsman of last year, except in the Blairlodge match, disappointing in School matches. More, too, was expected of Dunlop, who was one of the most promising batsmen in the team. Greenlees, who was a stylish player, ultimately headed the average list with 23, followed by Jones and Reid 15, Dunlop 13, and Hutcheson 11. The fielding of the team was generally smart, Jones and Dunlop in particular excelling in the outfield.

The Merchistonian C.C. was this year under the captaincy of Chearnley Smith, but great difficulty was experienced in raising teams, and results were not good, only one match being won, three lost, and six drawn. The highest scores made were by Mr Webber 84, and J. P. Smith 76 not out. Symington and J. P. Smith bore the brunt of the bowling.

The number of matches was this year reduced, some of the unattractive club matches being dropped and home games substituted. The season was fairly successful, seven matches being won, six lost, and three drawn. Cricket throughout the School profited by the extension of net coaching to lower grades, and H. M. W. Gray was an excellent captain. Dunlop, a riotous hitter in his day, was at the head of the batting averages with 20, his best scores being 81 v. the Cameron Highlanders and 54 not out v. the Academy; but on the whole it was not a very good batting side. In School matches we lost to Fettes and Loretto, but defeated the Academy and Blairlodge. The Academy were no longer the formidable foe they had been in the past, and our old rival, Craigmount, which for some years had been declining, had ceased to exist. Under the old single day arrangement we should have defeated Loretto, but this year the present two-day fixture was instituted, and after leading by 16 on the 1st innings, we lost the match by missing catches and batting feebly to Dun's lobbs. The XI. depended too much upon four batsmen and two bowlers, the same two bowlers as last year. Gray's bowling had lost some of its sting, but his figures were much the same as in the past two years. Duffus showed marked improvement, and ran him close for the best analysis. The double figures among the batting averages were Dunlop 20, Gray 15, G. T. Neilson 11, W. Neilson and T. O. Mathieson 10. W. Neilson was expected to do much better, as it was his second year in the XI. and his batting was full of promise. Better days, however, were in store for him.

This year saw the last of the Merchistonian Club. The results of matches were better than those of the year before, but it was realised that, with so few players actively supporting the club, its continuance was impossible. The most regular players were Chearnley Smith (captain), J. P. Smith, Symington, J. W. Dowden, G. Wilson,

Cricket.

T. M. Scott, with Mr Webber, Mr Lyde, and Gee, professional. The club defeated the Australasians, Rockville, and Moffat, and lost to the School, Selkirk, and the Academicals.

1889.

An unsuccessful season, six matches being won, thirteen lost, and two drawn. G. T. Neilson was not a strong captain, and he had a weak XI. under him. No less than twenty-two players were tried in the course of the season. There were seven double figure averages, but Gow's 15 was the highest, and this in spite of a memorable 104 v. Loretto. J. Lamb was the most successful bowler, with an average of 10 for sixty-one wickets. In School matches, the Academy and Craigmount were defeated, but we lost to Fettes, Loretto, and Blairlodge. In the Fettes match we lost four wickets for 1 run, but George Neilson hit up 49 and saved an intolerable situation. Our total score was only 89, but had one of our team not missed Normand badly at short leg, we might have won even with this. Against Loretto, after being in a minority of 189 on the 1st innings, there was a memorable stand between Gow and Livingstone when the game seemed all over. Between them they added 161, and averted at any rate a single innings defeat. Gow's 104 was the first century on record v. Loretto, and his plucky effort well deserved the bat with which he was generously presented by the Head of Loretto. Against Blairlodge we were all out for 17, the lowest score on record in our School matches. Their crack bowler M'Laren was too much for us, and he took six wickets for 7. It was a sorrowful day.

Results were again poor this season, though in W. Neilson the School had the best captain it had had since Tom Anderson. Though not doing himself justice in the earlier part of the season, he ended well with an aggregate of 500 runs and an average of 23. He was poorly supported in batting, for the next average was that of J. D. Guise 9, with a total of only 165. Mr Webber and Mr H. Smith assisted in a few of the club matches, and in one match, v. the Australasians, took all ten wickets between them. The same School matches were won and lost as last year. W. Paterson and Gulland were the chief bowlers, Paterson meeting with marked success in the latter part of the season. G. T. Campbell scored 113 not out against us in the Fettes match. In the match with Loretto, on a very soft Pinkie wicket, Gedge's 50 in the 1st innings had much to do with the result, this being the only score that reached 20 on either side. Paterson bowled with great effect, taking twelve wickets for 65. We defeated the Academy easily, W. Neilson playing a fine innings of 109, while Paterson made 49, and took eight wickets for 6 runs. Blairlodge were again much too strong for us, and we suffered a severe defeat.

In W. Neilson's second year of captaincy, better results were obtained, eight matches being won, seven lost, and five drawn. Neilson raised his own average to 25, while C. S. Jackson and Gulland had averages of 18 and 15 respectively. Gulland and Paterson were a successful pair of bowlers, and between them did nearly all the work, Gulland taking sixty-four, and Paterson sixty wickets. The Academy and Blairlodge were beaten, but we lost to Fettes, Loretto, and, unexpectedly, to Glenalmond. The match with the Academy had an exciting finish, as, after leading by 73 on the 1st innings, we only managed to win by one wicket. Against Fettes, our bowlers failed us, and we were badly beaten, E. P. Thomson scoring 130. Against Loretto we were all out for 39 in the 1st innings (Pearson seven for 12), but making 114 at our second attempt, we ultimately lost by only four wickets. Our match with Blairlodge on our ground produced the surprise of the season. We were not considered to have the remotest chance against the powerful Blairlodge XI., but C. M'Intyre's hitting and Guise's bowling won the match for us by 17 runs and gave Loretto the championship for the year. The last School match of the year was on our ground v. Glenalmond, and, holding our opponents too cheaply, we were deservedly beaten by 43 runs. This was the first time for many years that the Perthshire school had visited us.

Cricket.

This was quite one of our most successful years. Twenty-five matches were played, a long programme, and of these ten were won and four lost, the rest being drawn. The heroes of the year were undoubtedly J. D. Guise, who, with an aggregate of 618, could show a batting average of 30, and O. F. Lumsden, the best bowler we had had since Gray, whose fifty-nine wickets cost him 8 runs apiece. Nor was the batting or the bowling all the work of this couple. Guise's batting average of 30 was followed by eight other averages of double figures: while in bowling Lumsden was often ably assisted by Guise, C. S. Jackson, and W. Paterson (Capt.), though the last-named, owing to a strain, was no longer the bowler he had been. The Academy and Watson's College were beaten easily; Loretto and Glenalmond, after exciting finishes, by very narrow majorities. Fettes were not played for some reason, and the match with Blairlodge, owing to bad weather, was drawn. We were, therefore, the champion School of the year.

Won seven, lost six, drawn five. A less successful season than the year before, but memorable for the first victory over Fettes for thirteen years. The batting skill was well distributed, though there was no outstanding batsman like J. D. Guise. The chief averages were G. O. Turnbull, 18; Mann, 16; B. G. Forman, 15; J. A. Guise, 13; and F. H. Fasson, 11. Lumsden, who was captain, beat his previous bowling performances by taking seventy-nine wickets at an average cost of 7. Forman and Mann were also at times effective, especially in the Fettes match, where the dismissal of our opponents for a small score was due to them entirely. We passed their score with only five wickets down, but Pritchard then did the hat trick and we won by only 10 runs. On each side there were five cyphers. We defeated the Academy and Glenalmond but lost the Loretto match by two wickets. In the 1st innings we made 157 (Fasson 53) against their 182 (H. A. Brown 89), but in our 2nd innings we went down for 50, and could not hope to pull through. In the matches with clubs we did not meet with much success, and we were badly defeated by the Masters, Mr Webber making 82 not out, and Mr Rush taking six wickets for 22.

Cricket was much interrupted during this summer by bad weather, and out of nineteen matches on the card only thirteen were played. Of these five were won, four lost, and four drawn. G. O. Turnbull, who was captain, though failing signally in school matches, headed the averages with 24, followed by J. A. Guise, 22, and Grimond, 14, but there were no other double figures. In bowling we were weaker than we had been for many years. In three of our School matches we were very severely defeated. The Academy beat us in an innings, Fettes by 100, and Blairlodge by 184 runs; but the season ended more cheerfully with victories over Loretto and Glenalmond. The match with Loretto was, at their request, only a one-innings contest, and, thanks largely to J. A. Guise's seven wickets for 49, we won by 7 runs.

This was a year of misfortunes, and results were poorer than we had had for some years. The only School match won was against Glenalmond; and we were beaten by Watson's College for the only time on record. We had good batsmen in Turnbull and Fasson, but the attack was very weak. The match with Watson's College was lost by bad generalship and by our missing the man who scored; also generally by over-confidence, though it was known that Watson's had a dangerous bowler in Cappie, as was proved by his taking seven for 27. We were beaten by Fettes only by 36, J. M. B. Duncan bowling well on this occasion and taking seven for 43. Against Loretto we were 37 ahead on the 1st innings, but missed catches ultimately lost us the match by two wickets. Blairlodge were a better side and beat us by 45. Honours were divided in the drawn match with the Academy. Turnbull made 68 and 29 in this match, but both he and Fasson rather disappointed expectation in School matches. Turnbull's best effort of the year was a fine 88 not out v. Forfarshire.

With a good captain in F. H. Fasson, the XI. had a satisfactory season, six matches being won, seven lost, and six drawn. We were successful in our School matches, except v. Blairlodge, who beat us, and v. Loretto, with whom, however, we had the best of the draw. There were nine double figures among the averages, and the captain, very properly, headed the list, his aggregate being 337 and his average 21. J. M. B. Duncan and E. R. Jones were the chief bowlers of the year; they took sixty and fifty-two wickets respectively, with little difference in cost. The best performance of the year was the victory over Fettes. Time made the finish very exciting, for we had only five minutes to spare, but we beat them by 38, Knox making 67, and Jones taking eight for 32, a bowling performance that we do not think has been equalled in this match. The worst performance of the season was against the Carlton, who put us all out for 28. The Blairlodge match was lost by 31. In the unfinished match with Loretto we were left with 39 to get and five wickets to fall, and though scoring ran low all through the match, we would gladly have played to a finish. The Academy were defeated in an innings, W. D. Hardisty making 60, and A. S. Drybrough 52. Two promising young players this year were A. W. Duncan, who made several good scores, and W. Rutherford, who, though not ultimately getting his place, took eighteen wickets. The match with the Masters was lost for the third year in succession, Mr Dunlop being chiefly responsible for our defeat.

Matches played eighteen—won nine, lost six, drawn three. Weakness in attack alone prevented the XI. of this year achieving complete success. They were a hard hitting, quick-scoring team, and had a good cricketer in their captain, J. M. B. Duncan, who was full of energy and enthusiasm. His bowling, unfortunately, had deteriorated, and we were left with practically only one straight bowler, W. Rutherford, for R. M. Robertson had not much control of the ball, and was only occasionally successful. Rutherford's fifty-two wickets were obtained at an average cost of 12. The batting strength is shown by the averages, the captain heading the list with 28, closely followed by that promising cricketer, his younger brother, with 26; and each had a century to his credit. Next came Knox 19, J. R. Simson 17, Rutherford 11, Freer and W. H. Welsh 10. The lack of effective bowlers was very apparent in the school matches. We defeated, as usual, the weaker schools, like Watson's College and Glenalmond; but lost to Fettes and Loretto, and had two very lucky draws with Blairlodge and the Academy. The Fettes match was lost, it is true, by only 12, and if the fielder had taken the chance that John Campbell gave him at mid-off, we should probably have won. In the Loretto match the captain (41) was the only batsman who could do anything with the Loretto bowlers, Harper Orr and Kerr, who bowled unchanged, but our attack was very weak at one end, Rutherford, who took seven for 41, alone bowling well. Against Blairlodge a memorable stand by the captain and Knox, who made 51 and 55 not out respectively, alone saved us from a defeat that looked inevitable. Blairlodge had a fine cricketer in Elborough, and he scored 111 not out. The highest individual innings of the season were the captain's 130 not out v. Watson's, A. W.'s 103 not out v. The Stewartonians, J. R. Simson's 81 v. Dollar, and Knox's 72 v. Watson's. One of the best performances against clubs was the match with the University, whose colours were saved only by the call of time. The lion's share of the credit fell to the Duncan brothers, for A. W. scored 52, and the captain did his best bowling performance of the season, taking six for 37. A. Attewell superseded John Smith as professional in this year.

Matches played twenty-seven—won seven, lost eight, drawn five. The captain was J. Knox, a capable and energetic cricketer. The results of our School matches were disappointing, for our only wins were against Watson's and Glenalmond. Against Fettes, who were expected to be much too strong for us, we did better than we hoped, and lost only by 16, and had we taken our catches, the result might have been reversed. Couper, 35 not out, was the chief contributor to a small total. The Loretto match was a day of disaster, and we had never been so swiftly and decisively beaten by them before. Kerr and Henderson dismissed us for 37 and 21, and won a single innings victory with a score of 84! All was over by five o'clock on the first day! With the Academy we effected a creditable draw, for after being nearly 100 behind on the first innings, we made 206 for seven (Knox 72 not out) at our second attempt, and saved the match. The batting was not so strong as the year before; Knox's average ran to 20, and this was the best. Alec Duncan dropped to 18, failing signally in School matches, but he had developed into a cunning bowler and was of great assistance, taking fifty-two to Rutherford's seventy two wickets. One of the best club victories, that over the Brunswick Club, was entirely due to his feat of taking eight wickets for 31. A very bad club performance was our match with the Heriotonians, who put us all out for 18, and then scored more than 100 for one wicket. Against the Grange we did well, making 186 for eight

Cricket.

(J. R. Simson 69, Duncan 36, and Couper 28 not out), against the Grange score of 143 for seven, and if the two catches given in the outfield by Boyd had been taken, we might have won. Rutherford bowled well in this match, and also in the next, v. Glenalmond, seven of whose wickets he took for 31. The victory over Watson's was also largely due to his good bowling.

This was quite one of our best years. The XI. was stronger all round than the year before, and had an exceptionally good cricketer in the new captain, A. W. Duncan. Out of sixteen matches played, seven were won, only three lost, and seven drawn. This improved record was largely due to the greater strength in bowling, for in addition to the two regular bowlers, Duncan and Rutherford, we had very useful changes in de Villiers and Forsyth. The captain made great advance in batting, his average rising to 32, but J. M. Brown was a very good second with 31, while Forsyth, 15, E. D. Simson, 12, Moore and Whitaker, 12, and de Villiers, 10, on several occasions did good service. In School matches we were unbeaten, defeating Watson's, Blairlodge, and the Academy, and drawing with the others. Two memorable centuries were made in the School matches, a wonderful 175 not out by Duncan against Loretto, and 130 not out by J. M. Brown v. Blairlodge. Our batting in our first School match v. Watson's was anything but promising, for we were all out for 90, but Duncan was in great form with the ball, and took nine wickets for 10, the whole Watson's team being dismissed for 31. Against Fettes we made an unusually large score (Forsyth 63 and Brown 55), but our bowling was not good enough to get our opponents out. Glenalmond also saved their match by good defence, in spite of good bowling by Rutherford and Duncan. Play on the second day of the memorable Loretto match had to be abandoned owing to heavy rain. Duncan's record score of 175 not out was largely responsible for our total of 322, and he gave no chance till he had made 160. Loretto lost two wickets for 2 runs, and this was the end, for play was quite impossible on the second day. The Blairlodge match was won by Forsyth's bowling (six for 18), and Brown's grand innings of 130 not out, a performance in no way inferior to Duncan's against Loretto. The Academy match was won, after an exciting finish, by 20 runs. Our best batsmen, with the exception of the captain, who made 36 in the 2nd innings, did not do much. Plucky batting by E. D. Simson and Rutherford at the crisis of each innings had much to do with the result.

No better side probably ever represented Merchiston than the XI. of this year. A. W. Duncan was again captain, and he was undoubtedly the best cricketer we had had since Tom Anderson. The record was unusually good, nine matches being won, three lost, and seven drawn. In the School matches we lost to Blairlodge by 11 runs, and could only draw with the Academy, but we beat Fettes, Loretto, Glenalmond, and Watson's. The captain's aggregate of 867 runs, with an average of 51 per innings, is a record that will not soon be lowered. There was no other batsman in the same class, but de Villiers, 17, Forsyth, 16, Pringle, 15, E. D. Simson and Roberts, 14, Rutherford, 13, and Lamb, 12, could on most occasions be depended upon. Rutherford and Duncan, who each took sixty-four wickets at low cost, practically did all the bowling work, and were a very good pair, but de Villiers, Forsyth, Roberts, and E. D. Simson, were all very useful change bowlers, when required. Rutherford's six for 42, and a 47 from the captain's bat, gave us a narrow victory over Fettes by one wicket. It was a finish full of excitement, with 2 runs to win and five minutes to go. The captain was also very prominent in the Glenalmond match, as he took nine wickets for 23 and scored 73, following this up by scoring 132 not out against the Stewartonians in the very next match. Duncan also played the largest part in the Loretto match, scoring 25 and 41, and taking eight wickets in the two innings at small cost. Rutherford bowled equally well: in fact, it was our good bowling that enabled us to win comfortably. Other fine scores by Duncan were 85 v. the Grange, 80 not out v. Dunfermline, and 71 v. Lasswade. A two-day match was played in July with a strong team of the Oxford Authentics, but we were badly beaten. Rutherford bowled very steadily, but our other bowlers were outclassed. We had to follow on 143 in arrears, but brisk batting by the tail of the XI. in the 2nd innings saved the single innings defeat. Against Blairlodge both Rutherford and Duncan bowled extremely well, but so did Thorburn on the other side, and it was his bowling that defeated us.

Under the excellent captaincy of E. D. Simson, we had another good batting side, mostly quick scorers, but the bowling was not up to the same standard. There were several bowlers who would do well on occasions, but no one bowler was consistently effective. Roberts, de Villiers, and Fraser were the most successful, while Ballantyne and E. D. Simson were often useful. Ten double figures, quite an unusual number, appear in the batting averages. W. L. Fraser headed the list with 27, followed by de Villiers, 24, Pringle and J. T. Simson, 19, E. D. Simson, 18, Roberts, 15, Meikle, 14, Ainslie, 12, Scott-Douglas, 11, and T. H. Ballantyne, 10. Twenty matches were played, seven being won, five lost, and eight drawn. The Blairlodge match was again the only one lost. Fettes were not played. De Villiers was the hero of the first school match v. Watson's, as he made 55 and took six for 26. The credit of the very easy victory over Loretto was shared by several, Fraser, de Villiers, and Pringle scoring well in both innings, the bowling honours being divided between Fraser, Roberts, and Simson. Good batting all round, assisted by effective bowling by Roberts, who took six for 26, also won the Academy match. Our best club performance was the defeat of Lasswade, on their own ground, by 120, a result to which Roberts' excellent analysis of eight for 28 contributed quite as much as our good all-round batting. Against the Grange we put up the large score of 237 for nine (Roberts 55 not out and E. D. Simson 51), and certainly had the best of the day's fun, but our bowling was not equal to getting our opponents out. Our batting broke down to Attewell's bowling in the match with the Masters, and we had a sorry leather-hunt in the concluding match of the season against the Merchistonians, Alec Duncan scoring 142 and Dunlop 101 not out.

Under the popular captaincy of J. T. Simson the XI. had a prosperous season, in school matches losing only to Fettes. The most capable cricketer in the team was W. L. Fraser, and his figures, both in batting and bowling, were the best, his batting average being 26 and his bowling record 64 for eleven. Ainslie and the captain also did well in batting and attained the dignity of a 20 average, Scott-Douglas, 13, and H. Tennent, 12, being the other double figures. The batting all through fell short of the standard of the year before and Fraser had no bowler of his own class to support him. Bisset, who took thirty-eight wickets, was the next best, but he was very variable. The largest individual scores of the year were Ainslie's 132 v. the Academy, Fraser's 101 not out v. Watson's and 81 v. Brunswick, and J. T. Simson's 75 not out v. Lasswade. In the Fettes match A. K. Tennent, at this time rather a midget, made 41 out of the 69 we scored, the others being quite unable to play Lyle. The postponement of the Coronation holidays owing to the King's illness led to a second meeting with Fettes, with no better result for us. The most exciting match of the season was with Glenalmond, and we won by one wicket. Bisset bowled well in this match and took six for 39. The highest score on our side was a very good 54 by the captain. Scarcely less exciting was the finish in the Loretto match, which, though played to a finish, we won by two wickets. Scott Douglas was the hero of the day, making 23 and 40 in a match where scoring ran low. The season ended with a hollow victory over the Academy by an innings and 188 runs. Ainslie made the century already mentioned, and there was some very rapid run-getting by J. M. Rutherford and Spencer, who added 90 in thirty-five minutes. Most of the wickets fell to Fraser and Bisset.

The XI. this year was a weaker team than had been seen for some years past, both batting and bowling being below the average standard. Results were correspondingly poor, only four matches being won and nine lost. H. R. Cook was an energetic captain and a good manager, but only a moderate cricketer. In School matches we beat Watson's College and the Academy, lost to Loretto and Glenalmond, and made a lucky draw with Fettes. J. Hamilton, a hard-hitting left-hander, was at the top of the averages with 24, followed by Milne, 15, Walter 15, and Sanderson, 13. A. K. and J. M. Tennent, 11, J. G. Stewart, 10, were also in double figures. A. K. Tennent and Walter, both promising cricketers, disappointed expectations. The bowling was very weak. J. G. Stewart did the bulk of the work, but was ineffective and expensive, his forty wickets costing 19 runs apiece. A. K. Tennent's thirty-one wickets were obtained at less expense, but it was only at the end of the season that he met with any marked success. Fettes made 228 for three wickets (Johnstone, 103 not out) against us, but they were too late in applying the closure, and we just managed to hold out till time was called. Against the Glenalmond, Hamilton 59, and Walter 43, batted well for us, but our bowling was at its worst, and cost us the match. Against Loretto, Walter 29 and 21, Stewart 32 and 14, were our most successful batsmen, Ellis our most effective bowler. After being 84 behind on the 1st innings, we put them out for 74, but 159 was too much for us against the good bowling of Kerr and Godby. The Academy match was won for us by the wonderful bowling of A. K. Tennent, who took four for 8 in the 1st innings, and all ten for 29 in the 2nd. Our batting was not remarkable. G. S. Milne with 50, being our top scorer. One feat this XI. performed which stronger XI.s had failed year after year to accomplish. They defeated the Heriotonians, the heroes of the day being Sanderson, 33, and Stewart, five for 29.

Won six, lost four, drawn ten. A successful season, the only School match lost being v. Fettes, with whom we shared the honours. A. K. Tennent was a strenuous captain, as well as a cricketer born, and he contributed largely to the success of the team. There was unusually keen competition, both among batsmen and bowlers, for the place of honour, and there was little to choose, if figures are a criterion, between the merits of the first four batsmen, Sanderson, 22·7, the captain, 22, Milne, 20·6, and Walter, 20·4, or those of the three bowlers, Ellis, Macdonald, and the captain, though in aggregate of runs made and wickets taken the captain stood easily first. Walter began the season brilliantly with 104 not out and 53 for his two first attempts, but then had a long spell of ill luck, and did not recover his true form again till late in the season. The first School match, v. Watson's College, was drawn. The captain played a dashing 85, which gave us a good total in spite of a very bad start, but our bowlers, though straight enough, met with resistance unusual in this match, and we failed to put the whole side out. Of seventy-three overs, thirty-six were maidens! We had hopes of beating Fettes, as their bowling was reported weak, but it proved strong enough for us, and but for a timely stand between A. K. Tennent, 36, and Martin, 27, we should have done very badly. Glenalmond, Blairlodge, Loretto, and the Academy, were all defeated without any difficulty. Against Glenalmond Milne made 54, and A. K. Tennent had the fine bowling figures of six for 19. Blairlodge, a mere shadow of what they were, were an easy prey, and we won by 246, our chief scorers being J. Tennent, 59, Walter, 58, A. K. Tennent, 57, and Milne, 46. The honours of the Loretto victory were shared both by batsmen and bowlers, Martin making 41, Walter 34, J. Tennent 27, while Macdonald, Ellis, and the captain divided the bowling spoils. In the 2nd innings of the Academy match, the captain went near to repeating his wonderful bowling feat of the year before, capturing nine wickets for 16 runs. Our batting was rather disappointing, Macdonald with a lucky 45 not out in the 1st innings, and Martin with a very merry 30 in the 2nd, being the highest scorers.

Matches played, twenty-two—won eleven, lost seven, drawn four. A more successful season even than the last, though we again had to be content with sharing the honours, this time with Loretto. It was a stronger XI. in batting, the great advance made by the three best batsmen, Walter, J. M. Tennent, and Martin, amply compensating for the loss of last year's able captain. Walter took over his command, and was an admirable successor. His success with the bat was remarkable. In the middle of July he had scored 859, and, with three matches still to go, it looked as if he were about to establish a new record, and reach his 1000 runs. This feat, however, he failed to accomplish, his last three innings realising only 21, and his average sinking to 41·90. Tennent and Martin, the former especially, were also very successful with the bat. Their aggregates were respectively 634 and 531, their averages 33 and 22, and they undoubtedly formed with Walter as good a trio in one year as we have ever had. Martin also showed great improvement in bowling, but the attack on the whole was not so effective as last year. Martin did a great performance in the first School match, taking seven wickets for 4 runs v. Watson's. As usual on our own ground, we did badly against Fettes, making only 114, and losing by three wickets. We were somewhat handicapped, however, by the absence of Ellis, who was unable to play owing to an injury. The match with Glenalmond we won comfortably, but did not do well against Loretto, and it was only J. D. Brown's great effort in the second innings that saved us. The Academy were defeated, after a match remarkable for unusually large scoring, by nine wickets. Tennent scored 99, and J. R. S. Mackay 78 in the first innings; Martin a brilliantly hit 49 in the second. The highest individual scores of the year were Tennent's 101 not out v. Clarendon, and Walter's 100, also not out, v. the University "A" team; but a better performance than any one century was Walter's 78, 78, and 75 in three successive innings, v. the Grange, the Merchistonians, and the Clarendon.

We were this year a much weaker side. Of the effective trio of 1905 the leader had now gone, and the two left were less successful than before. J. M. Tennent succeeded to the captaincy, and his energy and enthusiasm deserved to have met with better fortune. Only six matches were won, seven were lost, and seven were drawn. For the first time for eleven years we lost to Watson's College, but against this reverse may be set the hard-won victory over Fettes (Fettes 66, Merchiston 72). For this success we had largely to thank Martin, who took six wickets for 23. Unfortunately in the Watson's match he strained himself, and this accident seriously weakened our attack. But it was not only our bowlers who failed us: our batting also broke down badly. Glenalmond we defeated without difficulty, Tennent making 54 and R. Fraser taking five wickets for 28. The result of the Loretto match played at Newfield was very disappointing. Our first innings of 193 (Tennent 78, Miller 39) gave us a lead of 60, but after luncheon on the second day Godby and Campbell bowled so well that we actually lost seven wickets for 22. Miller and R. Fraser added 53, but we were all out for 82. Our bowling was unsteady, and Loretto won with four wickets to spare. The Sedburgh match was lost, after an exciting game, by 8 runs. Our best batsmen failed, and the bulk of the runs were made by F. S. Thomson (60) and J. D. Fulton (37), neither of whom had performed so well before. Against the Masters we did poorly, making 128 for eight against 172 for four (Mr S. V. Williams 59, A. G. Cameron 37, J. D. Fulton 29 not out). The concluding match of the season, against the Academy, was drawn. A violent gale blew on the first day, and the scoring was small (Academy 101, Merchiston 77). The Academy, however, knocked up so many in their second innings that we were 232 in arrears. We replied well, making 146 for three, a long stand between Myles and Fulton producing the best cricket of the match. Fulton also did well in bowling, taking five wickets in each innings. The averages were—Tennent 23. Fulton 22, Martin 19, Myles, Miller, and Thomson 15, J. D. Brown 12, Cameron and D. A. Hutchison 11, A. N. Forman 7, R. Fraser 6. Fulton had the best bowling figures, but Tennent, Martin, and Fraser all had more wickets, and bore the brunt of the work. Fulton was one of the successes of the season. He gained his place only at half term, and made marked advance thereafter. Miller and Myles, next to him, showed the most improvement. More was expected from Brown, but he never acquired any back play defence. Tennent, though falling short of his aggregate of the year before, really strengthened his batting considerably. He was also the most effective bowler and the most dexterous in the field.

In spite of many good individual performances, results were very disappointing this year, only two matches being won, six lost, and as many as nine left unfinished. This poor record was due solely to weakness in attack, for the batting was quite exceptionally good. J. M. Tennent (who was again captain) and R. Fraser made great advance as batsmen, but unhappily their bowling deteriorated. The other bowling we had was of too simple quality. A. Fraser was a promising young trundler, and did well for his first season. Cameron worked hard and was often useful, but the other bowlers were too uncertain of length and direction. The opening club matches showed clearly where our weakness lay. Against the Merchistonians (Fasson 51 not out) we lost to quite a moderate side by nearly 100 runs. Against Mr Webber's XI. both batting and bowling failed, and we were all out for 84, losing by 68.

Cricket.

Three days later we were again fairly and squarely beaten by Watson's. It was a curious coincidence that the same batsman and the same bowler came off against us as last year. Watson's made 226 for eight (Stuart 78), and we made 142 all out (Miller 47). The very next Wednesday, in our match with the Grange, found us in top form in batting and fielding. R. Fraser and Tennent each made 59, the former being not out. Our bowling suffered severely at the hands of M. R. Dickson, who made 99. Then came our first victory, over the Leith Franklin club, with a good not out 63 from Cameron. Very heavy rains, like last year, preceded the Fettes match, and their ground was barely playable. Bowling on both sides was weak, and only six wickets fell in the course of the game. Fettes made 192 for five, Ward contributing 106; we put up 170 for one, Tennent 85, Myles 67, both not out, but both were twice missed. Against Glenalmond we had to be content with a moral victory, scoring 145 (Lindsay 48, R. Fraser 43) against Glenalmond's 63 for nine. The Loretto match was spoiled by bad weather on the second day. On the first day, which was fine, we made 204 (Miller 63, Tennent 46), and dismissed Loretto for 31 less. When rain finally stopped play we were 81 on with eight wickets to fall. The next match, with University "A," gave us our second win, R. Fraser making 98 and Cameron 58 not out. We returned from Sedbergh badly beaten, having scored only 71 to their 137, their bowling being very superior to ours. The rest of the matches were all drawn, except with the Melrose club, which we defeated. In the concluding match with the Academy we scored 251 (R. Fraser 62, Miller 59), and secured a lead of 68. The Academy ultimately were set to make 229, and lost four wickets for 77. The averages were J. M. Tennent 31, R. Fraser 29, R. G. Miller 21 (these three formed almost as good a trio as we had in 1905), J. F. Myles, A. G. Cameron, and C. L. Marburg 16, J. W. Simpson 13, Lindsay 12, A. N. Forman and Cumming 9, A. Fraser 6. The fielding of the team was generally excellent, and the credit of this was very largely due to the captain, who gradually raised the standard by his own example and by the regular practice he demanded.

A quite successful season. In fact, a few red-letter years excepted, one that will bear favourable comparison with any recorded. Of six School matches, we won five, losing only to Loretto; of twelve club matches we won five and lost two, five being left unfinished. This improvement was largely due to a marked strengthening of our attack. We had only three effective bowlers, but each had his day. In the earlier part of the season, the younger Fraser seemed likely to hold the bowling honours undisputed; later, as the wickets hardened, he was less successful, and his brother had his turn; finally, in the last fortnight of term, M'Lellan, seldom tried till then, came to the front and did the best bowling of the season, excelling himself in the final match against the Academy. The captain, R. Fraser, did not score so largely as last year, but his runs were often made when they were of most value. His best bowling performance was in the first innings of the Loretto match, when he took eight wickets for 28. Myles, Lindsay, Cameron, and A. Fraser all made advance in batting, and shared with the captain the chief honours. J. Lawson was also a valuable member of the team, not only for his indomitable patience as a batsman, but for his activity and clean handling in the field. Dunlop was not a great wicket-keeper, but he had the great merit of being able to keep down byes. The fielding of the team attained quite a good standard, and bad mistakes in the field were rare. Looking back, we cannot recall a season in which there were fewer dropped catches to lament. M'Lellan, who finished the season so strongly, won the prize for the best bowling figures, but Alan Fraser was the mainstay of the attack throughout the season, and took twice as many wickets, though his average was slightly higher.

1909.

Judged by results—18 matches played, four won, nine lost, and five drawn—the eleven this year were only mediocre, they were really, in spite of figures, rather above the average, and in Alan Fraser, who was captain, we had the best cricketer among the Scottish schools. His memorable innings of 121 against Loretto—made in forty-five minutes without a mis-hit, was a quite remarkable exhibition of powerful driving. It was altogether a great day for him, for he also took eight wickets for 43. Of our other School matches we lost to Fettes by 41 runs, the Academy by seven wickets, and Sedbergh, the last by 1 run, and we had rather a lucky draw with Watson's College, as they had three wickets to fall and only 13 runs to make. In most of our club matches we did poorly, but managed to win handsomely against the Brunswick and Clarendon clubs thanks largely to centuries by G. Roberts and Fraser, 106 and 117, both not out. Time, too, only robbed us of the rare honour of defeating the Grange, for we scored 193 to their 81 for nine wickets. (Mackay 45 not out. Fraser 34 and four wickets.) The leading averages were:—A. Fraser 36, A. S. Mackay 25, C. M. Usher 24, G. Roberts 21, R. Forman 16, C. L. Marburg 14, K. I. Gourlay 12, J. L. Hamilton 10. Fraser and McWhirter bore the brunt of the bowling, our change bowlers being worth very little, but both had rather high figures. The fielding was generally very good, but dropped catches were not unknown, and certainly lost us our matches with Sedbergh and Watson's College.

We had hoped to be more successful this year, but results hardly came up to expectations. Alan Fraser was a tower of strength, but one good batsman does not make a good batting side, and it was in batting more than anything else, that we fell short. Bowling was steadier, and fielding was excellent, improvements largely due to the example and precept of the captain. Of our School matches, three were won, two lost, and one drawn. We beat Watson's College and Sedbergh comfortably. Fraser was in great form against Sedbergh, sharing the batting honours with McWhirter and Mollison, and scoring 50 and 49 not out. J. H. B. Roberts also contributed 50 to the first innings score. Against Glenalmond Fraser failed, and for this victory we had for once to thank others, G. D. Simpson (53 not out) playing through the innings, and Baxter coming to the rescue with 49, when we looked a beaten side. Weakness against fast bowling was the main cause of our defeat by Fettes and Loretto. We should have made a better fight with Loretto, had not Fraser twice been l.b.w. when well set. The match with the Academy was interrupted by rain, but left drawn in our favour. It was memorable for the grand innings of 128, with which Fraser crowned his two years' captaincy. Of our ten club matches we won only two, lost five, and drew three. We defeated the Merchistonians easily, but the merit of this victory was discounted by the mediocrity of the bowling. Fraser made 68 not out, D. H. Hutchison and Lyle 48 each, Hutchison being not out, and showing much promise. In the Grange match we failed badly, and but for some resolute hitting by J. H. B. Roberts, who knocked up 53, we should have made a very minute score.

The poor results of this season were due solely to weakness in attack. It was pretty evident in the opening club matches that our bowling, even when straight, would be simple. It was good enough to win the Watson's match, but the other four School matches played we lost. In club matches we did better, two being won, three lost, and nine left unfinished. In batting, we had no batsman capable, like last season's captain, of sensational performances; but the average standard was higher, and the fielding everywhere fully as good. There were four batting averages over twenty, and no less than six higher than the record of last year. The bowling tells a very different tale: but it must be remembered that wickets and weather were this year all in favour of the batsman. We were soundly beaten by Fettes both in batting and bowling; also by Loretto, though only a small margin separated us on the first innings. Lay made a promising first appearance as a slow bowler, and took seven wickets for 76 in the first, but failed in the second innings. Smeeth, a left hand slow bowler, was the chief agent in our downfall, and he took twelve wickets for 96 in the course of the match. He bowled well, but was much assisted by our timidity in playing him. Lyle and R. Forman, now captain, alone reached the thirties. At Sedbergh we suffered the humiliation of a single innings defeat, Sedbergh making 354, to which we could respond with only 283 in two attempts. Our bowling was bad, and our fielding, usually very good, was worse. Against the Academy we fared little better, and our bowling was again roughly handled. Lay took six wickets, but was erratic and expensive. Lyle and Duke batted well for 59 and 33 in the second innings. In the second innings of the Academy our bowling was so much better that we captured half their wickets before they made the 46 runs required. In our club matches our best performances were against the Merchistonians, the Carlton, and the Grange. For the Old Boys Alan Fraser played another fine innings of 158, but a patient innings of 64 by W. A. Macgregor, with smaller scores from D. Hutchison and Lay, enabled us to save the game. Against the Carlton, R. Forman made 68 not out, and Duke 51; against the Grange, Lyle 67 and D. Hutchison 52; good batting in each case saving us from defeat. We also scored well against a weak West of Scotland team on the School ground, J. H. B. Roberts making 72, Lay 54. Our two worst performances were against Mr Webber's XI., where we collapsed before the bowling of Mr Kenworthy and our second professional Gladwyn; and against the Clarendon Club, whom we are usually strong enough to defeat. The bowling throughout the season was of very poor quality, but with better management more might have been made of it.

1912.

Continued dearth in bowling resulted in another very lean season. We could make runs ourselves, but time and again, change our bowling as we might, we failed to get the other side out. Of 21 matches played, as many as fourteen were drawn, six were lost, and only one (and that the Loretto match!) was won. Truly a sorry record. The fielding, however, was good, and the batting quite above our average standard. There were thirteen individual scores over 50 (including centuries by Lyle and Duke), and five batsmen, Lyle, Duke, Forman, R. Macfarlane, and D. Hutchison, had averages exceeding twenty. Though one of the worst match-winning sides we have ever had, we were harder to defeat than many. More perhaps might have been made of the attack with better captaincy. Forman, energetic and able cricketer as he was, was often wanting in judgment. Of School matches, that with Watson's College was drawn, but with prompter closing might have been won. The Fettes match was spoiled by rain. Against Loretto we scored an unexpected triumph, getting them out for 43, and making 141 ourselves. D. Robertson, our experimental lob bowler, took seven for 38, and Forman three for 5. There were floods of rain on the first day, and the captains agreed to single day conditions. The Glenalmond match was drawn, with the chances against us. At Sedbergh we should have won on the first innings; but Sedbergh took advantage of our mistakes, forced the pace, and won a double innings match by six wickets. Heavy scoring on both sides in the Academy match led to another drawn game. The Academy made 232, to which we responded with 307, Duke being the hero of the innings with a patient 118 not out: J. H. B. Roberts (64) and Lyle (57) also contributed substantially to our success. Duke's innings won him the Van der Byl Cup, but Lyle's record for all matches was much better, and he was easily the best batsman of the year.

A very disappointing season, in spite of a slight improvement in results. Nineteen matches were played, of which four were won, six lost, and nine drawn. We had hoped to do much better than this, and indeed began the season well enough, but there was again weakness in bowling, and the ability to make runs was not so well distributed as last season. We depended too much on one or two batsmen. The chief causes of our poor record, however, were the unexpected failure of Lyle, the captain, to make runs in School matches, and the fatal frequency with which we dropped catches in the field. Those who would show the surest of hands in practice tests, failed unaccountably to hold the ball in matches. Lyle was the best all-round cricketer. Smart was the most consistent batsman, and D. Robertson (lobs) the most successful bowler (fifty-one wickets, average 13). Smart excelled in School matches, and twice accomplished the feat of playing through an innings. Gourlay was the best School wicket-keeper of the year, and probably the best we have ever had here, where good wicket-keepers have been rare. Of our five School matches two were disastrous for us, Loretto and the Academy, both defeating us in a single innings. We beat Watson's College, but against Glenalmond and Fettes the chances of the draw were against us. Our best club performances were against the Academicals "A" and the Merchistonians, both of whom we defeated handsomely. Much stronger elevens have failed to defeat the Old Boys. The best batting averages were Lyle 34, Smart 28, P. H. Wilson 16, J. E. Aitken 14, G. C. Robertson, Trechmann, and Hutchison 13.

The blot on the season was undoubtedly the fielding, not the ground fielding, which was quite up to average, but the dropping of catches. If chances had been taken, the Fettes, Grange, and Carlton matches might have been won, and our defeats at the hands of Loretto and the Academy would, at least, have been less severe.

This year ranks as one of the best in the history of Merchiston cricket. Of our six School matches we defeated Fettes, Loretto, Watson's, and Sedbergh handsomely, the Glenalmond game was spoiled by rain, and the Academy match was drawn in our favour. In none of these matches did we ever look like suffering defeat, and with rather better catching in their second innings we should probably have beaten the Academy with whom we shared the honours, both sides being undefeated in School matches. Against Clubs we also did very well, though three games were lost. The Carlton match was won for the first time in many years; they had a strong side, and we won a great victory in a low-scoring game. A good draw with the Grange also brought us credit.

The strong point of the side was undoubtedly its batting; our lowest score in a School match was 212 for six wickets against Fettes; and the other scores of 294 v. Watson's, 282 v. Sedbergh, 291 for eight v. Loretto, and 368 for seven v. the Academy, speak for themselves. For these Lyle deserves the greatest credit; only once did he fail, against Fettes, and his other scores include two brilliant centuries, against Loretto and the Academy, a half-century v. Watson's, and 86 v. Sedbergh; his average of 91 runs per innings in School matches, unaided by "not-outs," is a remarkable record. Fairweather, Smart, and Hutchison all had very creditable figures. J. E. Aitken occasionally batted well, and Wilson improved as the season advanced; these six were the mainstay of the side, and it seldom happened that more than one of them failed.

The bowling, without being brilliant, was usually good enough to get the other side out. Moreover, it was very well managed by Lyle. Garson had the best average, and usually bowled very straight and quite a good length, and on some wickets came fast off the pitch; in the two Loretto innings he took eight wickets for 33. J. E. Aitken took Robertson's position as a lob bowler, and was very effective, taking more wickets than any one else.

The fielding, without being brilliant, was adequate; Hutchison was quite above the average as a wicket-keeper, and Wilson developed into the best fieldsman on the side.

With but two of the previous year's successful XI. back we did tolerably well, although we did not win many matches. Of the eleven games played we won 3, lost 4, and drew 4.

But for Smart and Aitken, however, we should have fared badly, for both were consistent scorers. We opened with an easy victory against Watson's, thanks to some fine bowling by Aitken (seven wickets for 8 runs). This was followed by a narrow defeat at the hands of Fettes (150—181). This game might have been won but for bad catching.

The Loretto match was drawn, as a result of bad weather. Against Glenalmond we utterly collapsed, our total being 40 against our opponents' 234 for nine wickets. We finished the season with a draw against the Academy in a high-scoring game. In our first innings Smart and Aitken each reached the half-century. These two averaged 44 and 31 respectively for the season. Corstorphine and Aitken were our most successful bowlers. The fielding was very uncertain in spite of the captain's assiduous drill.

Gourlay, with seven of the previous year's XI. back, captained the team. Results, however, were most disappointing.

The insistence of the rain during the term was exasperating. Cricket was not only grievously interrupted, but at times absolutely at a standstill. Our field, one of the quickest to dry, for days on end could not be mown or rolled, and to the last day of term, except for the actual playing areas, remained in a half-shorn and half-sodden state.

Cricket.

Such foul conditions had much to do with the poor results of our cricket, but they do not account for them altogether. Mackinnon alone showed any marked improvement, and he became the most useful member of the team. The rest were disappointing and failed to adapt their methods to the slow wickets. M'George finished the season well against the Academy, and played a large part in this our one School victory, but his batting generally fell short of expectation. Gourlay and Corstorphine, though occasionally giving glimpses of their true form, did not prove their worth.

The bowling was good. Mackinnon with 57 wickets had an average of just over 9 runs per wicket, and Corstorphine, who was next in order, bowled very steadily all season.

In every match Mackinnon, with his slows, troubled the batsmen, but in some games, notably that against Loretto, when catching was very much at fault, he had hard luck. The fielding of the team, generally, never reached a high standard.

In School matches we defeated Academy decisively, drew with Loretto, and lost easily to Fettes, Watson's, and Glenalmond.

Cricket was much interrupted this year by an outbreak of measles. The daily round of game or net practice went on, and there were quite a number of matches with soldier teams, but three School matches—those with Fettes, Loretto, and Glenalmond—fell through in succession.

Faced by a shortage of bowling we could not count on many wins from this year's XI., but we confidently expected a much larger aggregate of runs on wickets which favoured the batsman. Against Watson's we could only score 65 in answer to their total of 186 for nine wickets.

We suffered a severe defeat at the hands of the Academy, but our best cricket was shown in our second venture when a spirited effort was made to save defeat by an innings.

Gourlay, in this his last match, returned to his form of other days. This strong finish placed him at the head of the average, an honour which would otherwise have been Stewart's, one of the few batsmen in the team to show any marked development.

The brunt of the bowling was borne by Corstorphine, who never failed to get wickets. A second bowler of his standard of usefulness and we should not have been so often in difficulties.

Under the excellent captaincy of D. F. Mackintosh we did better this season than we had dared hope. It was not the bowling that was at fault this year. Both bowling and fielding were above the normal. It was our weakness in batting, and with even a little more batting defence we should have defeated both Loretto and Fettes. The former match was one of changing fortunes. On the first day Loretto established a strong position, lost it the next day by a double collapse, and then so well did we recover that we wanted only 90 to win with nine wickets to go. We broke down, however, and lost by 27 runs. Mackinnon scored 66 in our second innings, and Barrie took nine wickets for 93 over the two innings. Against Fettes we could only raise 98 after dismissing our opponents for 114. Barrie again bowled well in this match, taking six for 38. Watson's we defeated by six wickets, and Glenalmond by 29 runs, while the Academy game was spoilt by rain after they had scored 95 to our 77 in the first innings.

Mackintosh, Mackinnon, and Duke were our most successful batsmen, and Mackintosh (who bowled lobs), Barrie, and Cook our best bowlers.

Mackintosh was again captain this year, but the results were disappointing, to say the least of it. It was too much, perhaps, to expect an undefeated record in School matches. But more than one victory should have been won, less than three defeats sustained. That there was cricket in the team was obvious enough at times. Our play against such clubs as the Grange and the Carlton was evidence of that. Yet, with the exception of two or possibly three members of the team, our batting displays against the other Schools were lamentable in the extreme. By the end of the season, Donaldson, who had by no means started well, was the only batsman whose strength of arm did not seem paralysed by the wiles of comparatively simple school bowlers.

Loretto—a very strong side—overwhelmed us by an innings and 165 runs. A fine match with Fettes was drawn. Watson's defeated us by 7 runs. Thanks to a fine innings of 89 by Donaldson, we defeated Glenalmond, but finished the season with a severe defeat at the hands of the Academy—by an innings and 127 runs.

Donaldson had a School match average of 24·5 and Mackintosh one of 22·5. There was no outstanding bowler.

C. C. Mann succeeded Mackintosh as captain, but this season was no more successful than the last. The nervousness in batting of the previous year was again apparent. We lost four of our five School matches, our only success being against Watson's. C. C. Mann headed the batting average in all matches with 19·5, closely followed by J. J. Mann and J. R. Donaldson, with averages of 17·7 and 17·1 respectively. In School matches J. J. Mann was easily best, with an average of 37·2 and two not-out half centuries to his credit. T. Ogilvie was by far our most successful bowler, with his sixty wickets at an average cost of 12·9. The fielding generally was unreliable.

Our one successful School match—that against Watson's—produced a remarkable game. Thanks to some splendid bowling by Ogilvie—he took eight wickets for 14 and hit the stumps on each occasion—we dismissed our opponents for 25. Going in ourselves, we lost six wickets for 20, but our total eventually reached 156, of which C. C. Mann made 51 and Ogilvie 48 not out.

The sun shone upon us steadily this summer, and hard wickets were the order of the day. Donaldson, with five of the previous year's XI., had a successful season. After beginning not too convincingly in our Club fixtures, we won a fine victory over Fettes (198 for five against 92). This was our first victory on their ground for over twenty years. O'Neale was top scorer in this match, with 69 not out, while Lyon and K. Logan shared the wickets.

Lapses in the field cost us the Watson's match (189—215), in spite of a fine innings of 85 by Donaldson.

Loretto defeated us by ten wickets. Our batting and fielding were disappointing in this match.

Against Glenalmond we started badly, and seemed set for another collapse until A. K. Mann (77) and J. A. Connel (40 not out) altered matters. We won eventually by 82 runs, thanks to good bowling by K. Logan (six for 17) and splendid fielding by the whole team.

We finished the season well by defeating the Academy, who up till then had not lost a match. Our victory was due to brilliant fielding and steady bowling.

This year, under M. M. Logan's captaincy, twenty-one matches were played, of which 4 were won, 8 lost, and 9 drawn. Of our five School matches 1 was won, 2 lost, and 2 drawn.

Stordy headed the averages for all matches (20.67), while P. Wilson was most successful in School games, with an average of 21. W. L. Milligan (63 wickets) was our most successful bowler, and next in order came K. Logan (43 wickets).

As the above statistics show, this was not a very successful season. It had its bright patches, however, notably a fine victory over the Academy and a good performance against the Grange in a drawn game (Stordy 71 not out).

Fettes defeated us in our opening School match by eight wickets, and by reason of dropped catches the Watson's match was also lost. Rain spoilt the Loretto game after we had obtained a small first innings lead, and the weather was also unkind against Glenalmond, when play was stopped after we had scored 75 for one wicket in reply to our opponents' 97. The Academy match produced a thrilling struggle, full of changing fortunes. Set with 117 to win in the last innings, we lost six wickets for 24, when the two Logans made a splendid stand; but with eight wickets down we still required 36 runs to win. Connel and M'Keown, however, hit these off.

The fielding on both sides reached a high standard in this match; and the coolness and determination of the players who stopped the rot and won the match were the finest features of a most interesting and sporting game.

A. K. Mann, who captained the XI., had six of the previous year's team with him. Of our five School matches—1 was won, 3 drawn, and 1 lost. In these games Carr had an average of 33.8, and after him came Dickson (29.5) and Sinclair (29.2). Others who did well with the bat, on occasions, were Pullar (who headed the average for all matches), Milligan, and Wilson.

Our most successful bowlers were W. L. Milligan (52 wickets) and W. F. Mackenzie (39 wickets). It was fine bowling by these two that was responsible for our one School victory—against Watson's.

Our only defeat by another School we suffered at the hands of the Academy, after a thrilling struggle. Both sides scored 104 in the first innings. Thanks to a fine century by Tod, who was aided not a little by bad fielding on our part, our opponents' second innings realised 190. In reply we were all out for 175, and so lost a fine match by 15 runs.

It was in fielding that the weakness of the side lay at the beginning and end of the season. Except Carr, J. Cruickshank, and Dickson, there was no fielder who was regularly reliable. Some of the senior members of the team seemed not to realise their responsibility for setting an example of energy and being on their toes.

Under W. L. Milligan's captaincy the team enjoyed a successful season, being unbeaten in School matches. The bowling was easily the strongest department, and it is a rare thing for a School to have two such bowlers as Milligan and W. F. Mackenzie. Their effectiveness was increased by the contrast they presented to the batsmen. Mackenzie was a fast right-hander, who brought the ball down from a great height and could make it "swing" in addition. Milligan, on the other hand, was a slow left-hander, who could "turn" the ball both ways and keep a fine length at the same time.

Mackenzie took 45 wickets at an average cost of 7·5, while Milligan's 44 wickets cost him 10·5 runs apiece.

Our batting, on the other hand, was not nearly so good. Our scoring was nearly always restricted to three batsmen—Milligan, Sinclair, and Wilson; although Ogilvie sometimes played a useful innings, and was, in addition, a good all-rounder.

In School matches Wilson headed the list with an average of 32·4, closely followed by Sinclair with one of 29·6, while in all matches Milligan came first (20·25).

A low-scoring game against Fettes resulted in a draw, our opponents requiring 22 runs to win with one wicket to fall (Mackenzie, five for 20). A similar state of affairs occurred against Watson's, when our opponents were 42 runs behind with their last man in. In this match Milligan took seven wickets for 37 runs.

We played our third successive drawn match against Loretto. In this match we recovered well after a first innings collapse.

Glenalmond were beaten, thanks largely to a good innings of 52 by Milligan.

The Academy we defeated by seven wickets in a low-scoring but exciting match. The outstanding feature of this game was the brilliant bowling of W. F. Mackenzie, who in the two innings took ten wickets for 33 runs.

With Milligan, Sinclair, Wilson, and W. F. Mackenzie back, this was another highly successful season, and we were again undefeated in School matches, winning 3 and drawing 2. As was to be expected the attack was once more the strongest feature of the team, and Milligan and Mackenzie again proved very deadly. Moreover, the batting, especially in School matches, was very much better than it had been the previous year. Sinclair headed the averages in School matches with an average of 43·8, closely followed by Milligan with 42. Duke (36·5), Grieve (34·7), and Wilson (20) also did well. In all matches Milligan fittingly headed the list (27·2).

Mackenzie and Milligan took 53 and 48 wickets respectively, at an average cost of just over 12 runs per wicket.

Very bad catching deprived us of a win against Fettes, and we had to be content with a draw.

Watson's were defeated by seven wickets and Loretto by ten wickets. In this match we batted first, and scored 219 (Milligan 89 and Sinclair 67). Brilliant bowling by Mackenzie and Milligan dismissed Loretto for 35 in the first innings, and 189 in the second.

We won the Glenalmond match, thanks to good bowling by Mackenzie and a fine innings of 64 by Sinclair.

Cricket.

The Academy game, in which fortune fluctuated in the most amazing way, provided the most interesting cricket of the season. Following on, 102 runs behind on the first innings, we lost five wickets for 41. Grieve now joined Milligan, who had been in since the beginning, and these two had a magnificent partnership, taking the score to 255. Finally, we were able to declare at 300 for eight wickets, Grieve carrying out his bat for an amazing innings of 151. Special mention must be made of Milligan's great effort. He played a real captain's innings, batting from before lunch until after five for a patient and invaluable 66. It was a fitting climax to his two years of splendid captaincy, during which no School match was lost. With 200 to get, the Academy had scored 148 for five when stumps were drawn. It was indeed a great match.

For Sinclair's season as captain the prospects were that there would be plenty of batting, little bowling, and moderate fielding.

Against Fettes, from the moment when their good opening batsman was caught off a long hop to leg, little went right for our guests, and the game went in our favour till the end, when we won by six wickets.

Against Watson's, S. A. Milligan's taking of eight wickets for 9 runs was decisive.

The wicket was very fast for the Loretto match, and Loretto dominated us in the field. With not one of our batsmen striking his best form, the game went steadily against us, and we finally lost by six wickets. Our bowling and fielding in the Loretto second innings reached a high standard.

The Glenalmond match was not played owing to an outbreak of influenza at Glenalmond.

The Academy defeated us by three wickets after a fine struggle. Missed chances in our opponents' first innings cost us this match, the feature of which was the batting of the two captains, Sinclair scoring 65 for us, and Tod 56 not out for the Academy.

Sinclair was easily our best bat, having an average of 53 for School matches, and one of 34 for all matches. S. A. Milligan took 56 wickets at an average cost of 10 runs per wicket.

With the captain there left the School the last of four match-winning cricketers—W. L. Milligan, W. F. Mackenzie, P. Wilson, and H. J. Sinclair.

Logan was faced this year with a shortage of bowling. Our batting, on the whole, was above the average, especially for the first half of the season, when we scored freely in Club matches. Against the Grange, Forfarshire, and Dunfermline, three of our strongest opponents, we scored 208 for six, 207, and 183 for five. Our difficulty was to get the other side out under 200.

The Fettes match ended in a tie—both sides scoring 218. At one time we seemed in a hopeless position, eight wickets being down for 145. Logan (90 not out), however, batted brilliantly, and he and Ainsworth added 73 for the ninth wicket.

Against Watson's we made a disastrous start when facing our opponents' total of 153, losing three of our best bats in the first over for no runs. The "tail," however, rose gallantly to the occasion, and we won by two wickets.

Loretto defeated us by 62 runs and Glenalmond by 124.

Cricket.

As usual, the Academy match produced some of the most interesting cricket of the season. Thanks to a fine display by Tod, their captain, who scored 145, the Academy gained a first innings lead of 72. Logan played a magnificent "knock" of 152 in our second innings, and the Academy were left with 215 to win. When stumps were drawn they had lost eight wickets for 84 (Ainsworth, six for 41).

The best averages for all matches were—W. R. Logan's 40, J. Connel's 27, and Morison's 21. Logan averaged 53 in School matches. The wickets were evenly divided.

Matches played, 14—won 5, lost 4, drawn 5. The captain was again W. R. Logan. The results of our School matches were not so good as we had hoped. The Fettes match was not played owing to wet weather. We defeated Watson's comfortably, but lost to Loretto, after apparently having the game in our hands. Glenalmond defeated us heavily, and even though they had the better of the weather conditions, we should have done better.

We have come to regard the Academy match as one of tense excitement and sensation, and this year proved no exception, even although the excitement was crammed into the last hour, and the preliminary play had been unusually dull. Set with 152 to win in one hour, our opponents lost seven wickets for 30, thanks to some remarkable bowling by Peterkin (six for 8). In this match Logan scored 70 and 50.

This season we suffered from a long "tail." We had four good batsmen—Logan, J. Connel, Morison, and R. M. Connell. In the Watson's match, as regards batting, we owed our victory entirely to Morison and R. M. Connell. Against Loretto, 226 of the 296 runs scored by us were obtained by three of the four players mentioned. Against Glenalmond, these failed us for once, and we were all out for 82. In the Academy match Logan and J. Connel scored most of the runs.

Logan had an average of 36 in School matches and 29 in all matches. Peterkin took 49 wickets at an average cost of 13.

The new field at Colinton was used for the first time this year.

This, Logan's third season as captain, was a somewhat disappointing one as far as School matches were concerned. Of the five played, we won 2 and lost 3. In our first match, against Fettes, we were up against a side superior in batting and bowling, but we should not have been dismissed so cheaply. Here was the same old lack of restraint against the slow bowler, and when the reliable Morison for once failed, the others could not make the extra effort.

We derived encouragement from the Watson's match, which was won handsomely, and in which steady bowling, good fielding, and a fine innings by Morison were the outstanding points.

Against a strong Merchistonian XI. the team reached the top of their form, scoring 313. This was followed up by good bowling and fielding, which all but brought an easy victory.

However, from this point the form of the XI. went back, and the Loretto match was lost by eight wickets. In this game Waters, of Loretto, played a fine innings of 124 in just over an hour. Lack of anticipation in the field gave away many runs. One redeeming feature, however, was our good fight in the second innings, when, after losing our first four men for 5 runs we scored over 200. Here the "tail" responded to a great effort on the part of the captain (84).

We defeated Glenalmond, but this was not a convincing win, the fielding again being shaky.

Against the Academy we scored 285 in the first innings (Morison 86 and Low 74). Our opponents replied with 274, and having dismissed us for 120, eventually won by five wickets. In the Academy first innings our fielding and bowling were wild and unintelligent, but in their second innings the captain's individual brilliance behind the wicket won a response from the team who gave nothing away in the field.

Morison's batting was the feature of this beautiful summer of hard wickets. He scored 876 runs in all matches, averaging 49. His scores are worth recording to show his great steadiness:—26, 10, 92, 78, 33, 47, 46, 43, 80, 0, 33, 56, 75, 62 not out, 0, 68, 18, 86, 23.

In Logan we had one of the best wicket-keepers we have had.

D. R. S. Milne captained a young and keen side; he himself was the most consistent batsman, but there were several who were capable of making runs attractively—four had an average of over 20. Of the bowlers the most effective, especially in school matches, was the slow left-hander, D. Ballantyne. The team fielded well throughout.

After doing quite well in the early club matches, the team were rather disappointing when it came to school matches; only one out of the four school matches played was won. The Fettes match was a most exciting affair; needing over 40 runs with one wicket to fall, Fettes contrived to pull the match out of the fire. In the Loretto match both sides scored plenty of runs, and consequently there was never much prospect of a finish. Watson's were beaten with time to spare. At Glenalmond the Merchiston batting collapsed, and although the bowlers made a good start, they were mastered by H. D. B. Lorraine, who went in number six and knocked up a quick 86. The Academy match was cancelled owing to illness. A. Attewell, who had been with us as professional since 1897, retired at the end of this season and was replaced by S. C. A. Jennings (Wiltshire) who had joined us in 1924.

With all six of the previous year's full colours, and a couple of half-colours, it was expected that D. R. S. Milne's 1931 side would do well. In the early matches there was some inconsistency, but the defeat of quite a strong Forfarshire XI. seemed to augur well for the coming school matches. But as things turned out, although the batting never really failed, advantage was seldom taken of a good start (twice in school matches the opening pair put on over a hundred runs). Though there were some excellent fielders in the team, chances were missed, particularly in the Glenalmond match, and it sometimes appeared that more effective use might have been made of the slow bowlers.

The Fettes match was virtually a triumph for the Fettes opening batsmen, one of whom, J. W. Anson, went on to complete his century after the match was over. Although Merchiston had rather the better of a very exciting draw with Loretto, they failed to press home the advantage of a substantial first-innings lead. The Academy match, which was played in miserably wet conditions, also provided an exciting finish, but this time it was the Merchiston tail which had to play out time. Again this year the Watson's match was the only school match won.

Against a M.C.C. XI., captained by Mr P. F. Warner, the School batting was disappointing, but very favourable comment was passed on the wicket-keeping of I. M. Robertson and the steady bowling of D. Ballantyne.

The captain, D. Ballantyne, had only one other member of the previous year's team to help him, and, though he did the best he could with the material available, the record of the side in matches is poor. They failed badly against Fettes and the Academy, but made a good game of it after a bad start against Loretto. The Watson's match, which had an exciting finish, was drawn. There was another very good finish in the Glenalmond match, which was won by Merchiston.

The best feature of the side was the bowling, which was usually steady and was seldom collared. The fielding, which was not very good in the early matches, improved as the term went on. The chief weakness was in batting; impatience and inexperience led to the loss of many unnecessary wickets.

No full colours remained at School from the previous year, but the captain, J. B. Black, succeeded in instilling an excellent spirit of keenness into a young side. This was particularly noticeable in the fielding, which was very good in all school matches. F. P. Harper was a most promising young wicket-keeper. The batting showed considerable talent at times, but was rather inconsistent; the bowling was undistinguished.

Rain interfered with several matches, and prevented any hope of a finish in the Fettes match. The Loretto match, which was reduced to one day, was won by Merchiston, largely by good fielding. The Glenalmond match had to be abandoned when it was in a most interesting and level position. Against Watson's the School batting collapsed after a fairly good start, and the match was lost by seven wickets. After a very poor batting display in the first innings against the Academy, a good score in the second innings, including a century by M. G. Gummer, just saved the disgrace of an innings defeat, but could not save the match.

This was a disappointing season, for, although there were four full colours left from the previous year, only one school match was won and four were lost, three of them by very wide margins. The captain, M. G. Gummer, was the only consistent bat; too often he could not find anyone to stay with him and too much responsibility fell on his shoulders; he also had to do a good deal of bowling, particularly when J. S. Drummond, the fast bowler, was away much of the term owing to an injury. The fielding was usually good, with A. C. Mathers at cover, and F. P. Harper behind the wicket, outstanding.

Cricket.

In the Fettes, Loretto, and Academy matches the School was very thoroughly beaten by superior sides. The Glenalmond match was lost in the last few minutes after an interesting day's play, and the Watson's match, which was won, also provided a very exciting finish 1935.

This was a well-balanced side, captained by F. P. Harper, and, although only one school match was won, this was generally considered to be a better side than Merchiston had had for some years. There were several batsmen capable of making runs, the bowling was steady, but the fielding, which was at times excellent, lapsed badly on some important occasions and certainly compared unfavourably with that of Watson's. The Fettes match was abandoned too early for either side to gain any marked advantage; the Loretto match result was a disappointment, for at the end of the first day Merchiston were in a strong position. Although Merchiston had the worst of a drawn game with the Academy, they at least had the satisfaction of being the only school side which was not beaten by them.

This side, captained by T. B. Herd, was the most successful for some years, for, although they lost two school matches, they succeeded in winning three. Herd himself was the most experienced bowler, and he used the orthodox slow-medium left-hander's technique. The batting was rather too dependent on one or two individuals—W. W. Yellowlees, who had a sound style and a determined attitude, exceeded five hundred runs for the second season in succession. The fielding was not always as good as it should have been.

The Glenalmond, Loretto, and Academy matches were all very interesting games, which Merchiston won with little time to spare. The Fettes match might well have been won too if the School fielding had been better. Watson's again showed how very effective steady bowling can be when backed by really aggressive fielding—the Merchiston attack appeared lifeless by contrast.

The weather this summer term was very unkind to cricket. W. Q. Ballantyne's side beat Loretto in a most exciting game, lost to Fettes, who were much superior in batting, and drew rather shakily with Watson's and the Academy; each of these last two matches had to be abandoned owing to rain, after play had gone on in very bad light, which may have accounted for Merchiston's low scoring. The Glenalmond match was never started, owing to rain.

There was a fair amount of batting promise in the side, but on the whole, the School batting was very slow; only the captain was capable of forcing the pace by anything approaching sound methods. The bowling, apart from K. T. Gruer, a promising fast bowler, was very mediocre. W. F. M. Webster was a good wicket-keeper.

For the first time since 1925 the XI, were unbeaten in school matches. Glenalmond and Watson's were beaten fairly comfortably, and the matches with Loretto and the Academy were creditably drawn. The strongest School opposition might have come from Fettes, but this match, after being postponed owing to the weather, was rearranged, but had to be abandoned owing to rain before a ball was bowled. Rain interfered to some extent with several other matches during the term. In club matches the School lost only to Forfarshire and to the Merchistonians.

This creditable record was due largely to the leadership of D. Yellowlees, who was also a most successful opening bat; he scored 554 runs during the term, and averaged nearly 70 in school matches. Though there was no other outstanding batsman in the side, there was more solidity than usual about the batting and the tail was comparatively short. K. T. Gruer again bowled well, but the most successful bowler was the slow left-hander, J. L. Blackwood, who took 51 wickets.

D. Yellowlees again captained a side which was unbeaten in school matches. He himself made two centuries in club matches and scored a total of 660 in the season; in school matches he was not quite so successful as the previous year, but his unbounded enthusiasm and sound tactical sense were often match-winning factors in themselves. J. L. Blackwood was again a very useful stock-bowler, but it was I. D. M. Considine who took the most wickets; the latter also made a hundred in seventy-five minutes against Loretto.

Fine weather early in the term gave the side a good start, and only one match had to be scratched on account of the weather.

In the first school match Glenalmond were beaten by five wickets. The Fettes match was drawn; the final score suggests that the game finished in Fettes' favour, but it was by no means one-sided; both sides missed opportunities, and Merchiston lost a number of wickets in an attempt to hurry for runs. The Loretto match also ended in a draw with honours fairly even. Watson's were comfortably beaten with plenty of time and 50 runs to spare, and the Academy match—reduced to one day owing to exams.—was won by nine wickets.

D. Yellowlees was chosen to captain a Scottish Schoolboys team which played the M.C.C. at Raeburn Place; M. MacNaughtan and J. L. Blackwood also played in this match.

M. MacNaughtan's side began their school matches with a win over Glenalmond; this was largely a personal triumph for I. D. M. Considine, who, after the team had made a bad start, knocked up 60 runs in under 40 minutes, and then took five wickets. Helped by rain, which delayed the start of play on the second day, Merchiston managed to make a draw of the Loretto match, after bad batting had put them in an almost hopeless position on the first day. In the Academy match, on the other hand, Merchiston did very well up to lunch time on the Saturday, but they failed to keep a grip on the game, and eventually lost it through inaccurate bowling, slack fielding at a critical time, and poor batting in the second innings. The Merchistonian match was changed to one day owing to war conditions, but by way of compensation during the war years a two-day match was played against Fettes. This season there was not much to choose between the Merchiston and Fettes XIs.; at the end of the first innings the scores of the two sides were almost level, and neither of them was able to bowl well enough on the slow wicket to force a win. The Watson's match was abandoned after only a few minutes owing to rain.

There were no particularly outstanding performances by School players in the other matches, of which one was won and six were drawn.

Owing to war conditions there were some changes in the usual programme. Cricket was only played on four days a week, including match days; consequently there was less time than usual available for coaching, and divisions were abandoned after only one round had been played. An interesting new fixture was the match with the Leys School, who had evacuated to Scotland; unfortunately this match had to be abandoned owing to rain when it was in a very interesting state. Of the usual school matches, those against Loretto and Watson's were won and the other three were lost; the Loretto and Fettes matches provided most entertaining finishes.

The fielding of the Merchiston XI. was usually good, with N. I. D. Macgregor at cover and J. I. Scott behind the wicket outstanding. The bowling in a dry summer was adequate, with most of the work falling on I. D. M. Considine, the captain, and J. G. March. The chief defect of the side was the failure to find a satisfactory opening pair of batsmen; the tail did well at times, but too often Considine, who could be a devastating hitter, had to go in with few runs on the board.

J. I. Scott's side this year was rather stronger in batting; although there were no stars, four players scored over 250 runs at an average of over 20. The bowling, on the other hand, was unimpressive, except for R. L. B. Mavor, who took over 50 wickets with slow leg-breaks.

The Glenalmond match was won by two wickets, thanks to a fighting innings by the captain, after a very shaky start. In the other school matches the batting did quite well, except for a bad collapse on a difficult wicket against the Loretto spin-bowlers. This was the first school match which was lost this year. The Fettes match was won with a dozen runs and ten minutes to spare. The Academy match was rather a dull draw, with Merchiston always rather on top, but unable to force a win. The Watson's match was lost easily but a half-day match was played against the Royal High School and was won without much difficulty.

S. M. Duff's XI. were not able to win any of the usual school matches, although they beat the Royal High School fairly easily. The Loretto match was abandoned at 6 o'clock on the first day, after Merchiston had made 228, which was their best score of the season. In a low-scoring match at Glenalmond, chances of victory were thrown away. The other three school matches were all good games, but Merchiston were not quite good enough to win ; several times they failed to reach a hundred runs, for the batting was apt to collapse at critical times. During the season R. D. Merson scored over 500 runs, but he only once reached fifty in a school match, which was disappointing for such a stylish batsman.

The bowling, which was rather moderate, might have been more effective if it had been supported better in the field, but in school matches too many chances were missed.

A match with the Royal High School again gave Merchiston their only victory over a school team. The best batting performance was in the Academy match, when in the first innings Merchiston made 206 in reply to the Academy's 229. This match was drawn, without either side having a clear advantage. The Watson's match was also drawn, but in this case the hours of play were seriously curtailed by the weather. The Loretto match was a disappointment, for, after being only nine runs behind on the first innings, Merchiston batting collapsed badly in the second innings, and Loretto were left with an easy task. The Glenalmond match, played away for the second year in succession, was most exciting and enjoyable, Glenalmond winning by one wicket. The Fettes match was also lost owing to weak batting.

There were three or four batsmen of some promise in the team, but there was no match-winner, and, on the whole, the batting in school matches was indifferent. D. A. Osborne, fast right-arm, had to do most of the bowling, and he took 70 wickets during the season at an average of 8.5. In school matches the captain, H. C. Honeyman, and I. G. McWilliam were also effective at times.

This season's XI., captained by J. S. Ure, had some extraordinary ups and downs, especially in school matches. After being dismissed for very low scores, twice by Loretto and again by Glenalmond, they proceeded to make over two hundred in the first innings of the Fettes match, and yet contrived to lose again in spite of a useful lead. After beating the Royal High School, they went on to make 236 for 6 against Watson's, which was enough to win comfortably. Another score of over two hundred ought to have made the Academy match safe, but Academy gained a small first innings lead, and, after Merchiston had collapsed in the second innings, Academy went on to win by seven wickets with a little time to spare. This match was remarkable for the fact that centuries were scored by N. G. R. Mair for Merchiston and by W. R. Allan for the Academy. Other good scores in school matches were made by I. G. McWilliam, D. M. S. Simpson and J. T. Nisbet.

On the whole the older members of the side were rather disappointing, but it was a youngish side and there was good promise for the future. The bowling was not very impressive, but H. F. O. Bewsher was a discovery who took 22 wickets in school matches. The fielding was usually of a high standard.

Merchiston were fortunate to start this season with ten players who had had some 1st XI. experience the previous year, and several of them fulfilled their early promise. N. G. R. Mair, the patient left-hander, could usually be relied on to give the innings a good start, and J. T. Nisbet developed into a sound forceful bat, with good shots on the off, as well as being a good wicket-keeper. These two both averaged over thirty, and though the rest of the batting was unreliable, someone usually produced runs when they were wanted. H. F. O. Bewsher bowled steadily and quite fast throughout the season, and in J. W. Stewart was discovered a slow leg-spinner of more than usual accuracy, who also had the gift of pace off the pitch. The fielding, except in the slips, was usually of a high standard and the throwing was particularly good. If the captain, G. R. Donaldson, was sometimes disappointed with his own personal performances, he can nevertheless take much of the credit for his team's success, for they owed much to his leadership and tactical sense.

Five school matches were won and none was lost. The Loretto match was not completed, as rain seriously curtailed the hours of play, but on the first innings Merchiston had a comfortable lead. The Fettes match, which, following the war-time custom, was still of two days, was won by eight wickets, thanks chiefly to two good innings by Nisbet. The Royal High School and Watson's were easily disposed of (against the latter Nisbet made a century), but in the Academy and Glenalmond matches the School batting was less convincing, and there were some tense moments before the unbeaten season was completed.

This year Merchiston were again unbeaten in school matches, and for this much credit must be given to the good sense and tactics of the captain, N. G. R. Mair, who had also had the distinction of leading a rugby side which won all its matches, except one which was drawn. It was a wet summer, and this perhaps accounts for the fact that neither Mair nor J. T. Nisbet, the outstanding batsmen of 1946, did quite so well this year. Fortunately the batting in the middle of the team was rather sounder than the previous year, and several players distinguished themselves at critical times. The fielding was again very good, except in the slips; J. E. Aitchison, I. G. Forman, and G. Young were outstandingly good out-fielders, and Nisbet again kept wicket very well until he began to have trouble with injuries to his fingers. The bowling this year was somewhat lacking in variety; A. J. Simpson bowled very steadily at a fastish medium pace, and most of the work fell on his shoulders, but there was no good spin-bowler to provide a contrast.

The school match season began with two draws: in the Glenalmond match Merchiston batted first and scored rather slowly on a wet wicket; at the end of the day they were in a strong position, but had not time to force a win. The Loretto match was no ordinary draw, for, after two days of fluctuating fortunes the situation was so even that the last Merchiston batsman found himself playing the last ball of the match, needing two runs to win, or one to tie. The matches against Watson's and the Royal High School were won with comparative ease. This year the Fettes match reverted to a one-day game, as it had been before the war; it was an interesting day's cricket; after a bad start Merchiston's later batsmen did well, and some admirably steady bowling by Simpson did the rest. The Academy match, which Merchiston won by some thirty runs, also provided some most entertaining cricket.

I. G. Forman, the captain, began the season with only one old colour and two half-colours to help him. During the early part of the term, the team gave some very sketchy performances; but they improved vastly as the term progressed, and were quite a competent side by the end, though there were no stars. The batting was rather weak throughout, though the captain was capable of making runs very quickly when things went well for him. J. A. H. Aitken turned into a very good stumper, and the fielding was sometimes very good, though not entirely reliable. A. B. Taylor was the steadiest of the bowlers, and in the match against the Royal High School he had the astonishing analysis of seven wickets for no runs in five overs.

The first school match, which took place in May, was against Fettes, and was drawn, without any great excitement. Against a Loretto XI. which had a good reputation, Merchiston found themselves wanting only 110 to win, but they failed lamentably to make them. Weak batting also led to the loss of the Glenalmond match. The Royal High School and Watson's were beaten very easily, the latter by an innings. For the Academy match Merchiston batting had improved sufficiently to make a draw, though it was overshadowed by the Academy batting, for whom J. M. Allan made a century and I. A. H. Syme 87.

The weather this summer was quite exceptionally fine for cricket. The 1st XI., captained quietly but competently by A. B. Taylor, was on the whole a successful rather than a good team. The captain, with his in-swingers, was the steadiest bowler who has been at Merchiston for many years, and he was most effective in the earlier school matches before he suffered from a strain. There were no stars among the batting, though I. S. Taylor ran into excellent form right at the end of the season; but there were several stout-hearted performers in the middle of the side who refused to admit defeat and who frequently succeeded in retrieving the most desperate-looking situations. The average age of the team was higher than in recent years, and perhaps for this reason the fielding often reached a very high standard. Performances in club matches were sometimes poor, and it seemed to need the tenseness of school matches to bring the best out of this side.

Of the usual school matches, three were won, one was drawn, and one lost. After beating Fettes very soundly on their own ground, Merchiston very nearly lost to Glenalmond at home, and only just managed to stave off defeat. Loretto were made to follow-on, and were beaten by ten wickets; against Watson's on the other hand, the early batting collapsed very badly, and only a good 72 from K. S. D. Wilmshurst averted an ignominious defeat. Edinburgh Academy were probably the strongest school side of the year, and, although Merchiston were within striking distance of them on the first innings, the Academy spin-bowling proved to be too good in the second innings. The Royal High School were beaten by five wickets. Towards the end of term a visiting team from Campbell College, Belfast, found Merchiston in their best form, and were convincingly defeated.

The XI. this year was, on the whole, younger than usual, and, perhaps for this reason, was not very successful in its matches. Two school matches were lost (to Watson's and the Academy), two were drawn, rather unconvincingly (against Fettes and Glenalmond), and none was won. The match against Loretto had to be abandoned at the end of the first day, before either side had established any clear superiority.

There was considerable variety of bowling available, though much of it was inaccurate, and the fielding was not sufficiently good to make up for this lack of accuracy. Two batsmen made over 500 runs, I. S. Taylor, the captain, and P. G. Smith, who also kept wicket very well. Taylor, while batting, looked one of the best and most powerful batsmen whom we had had for many years, but he was not as successful in school matches as we had hoped. Smith, on the other hand, was by no means elegant, but he saved the side from collapse on several occasions by his doggedness and concentration. The rest of the batting was inexperienced and ineffective.

This was a rather immature side, captained by J. C. Mackenzie, the fast bowler. He had at his disposal quite a variety of change bowlers, none of them very penetrative, and it happened several times that the opening bowlers made a quick break-through, but the side were not able to keep a grip on the game. A. C. Glen came on very well as a stumper. The batting generally was weak and unreliable, though several of the younger players showed some promise.

For the second year in succession no school matches were won; we were soundly beaten by Fettes, Loretto and Edinburgh Academy, and were very near to being beaten by Glenalmond and Watson's.

This year the XI., captained by A. C. Glen, began the season in great style, but they did not do so well later in the term. There were available three full-colours from the previous year, as well as four half-colours, of whom W. B. M. Laird, with his high, lively action, turned out to be a fine opening bowler. I. G. Chisholm, a left-hander, was another useful opener; there were in addition two leg-spinners, but not much else, and so it was a somewhat unbalanced attack. The whole team were capable of fielding and throwing well, and also of making runs on occasions; they would have done much better if there had been a reliable pair of opening batsmen to give the others a good start.

After some promising performances in the early club matches the XI. surprised and thoroughly beat a strong Fettes side on a windy day at Colinton. Glenalmond too were quite convincingly defeated—and that, rather strangely, was the last match that we won. The Loretto match was spoilt by rain. Watson's won at Myreside after a very good game of cricket, in which the winners made the better use of their opportunities. The Academy match was notable for a last-wicket stand of seventy-five minutes between J. S. Braid and M. Walker, which turned an almost certain innings defeat into a draw.

Under E. M. Kirkwood, a quiet, but competent captain, who was always willing to take a chance in order to keep a game alive, we had an enjoyable and more successful season. The captain himself made over 650 runs during the term, going in first with I. H. P. Laughland, who was a sound and much improved player. These two nearly always gave the side a good brisk start. After them the batting was unreliable, but I. G. Chisholm, a left-handed hitter, played some devastating innings; there were also some young players who showed promise on the fast wickets which we had in May and June, but whose shortcomings were sadly revealed when the weather turned wet in July. The bowling was usually tidy, without being particularly hostile.

The Fettes match provided moments of triumph and despair: facing a total of 200, Merchiston scored 140 for 1 wicket in quick time, and fifty minutes later were all out for 170. The Glenalmond match was drawn—a rather dull affair except for the fifty minutes in which Chisholm hit 73 runs. In the next match the Loretto batting was painfully slow in both innings and the result was another dull draw. Watson's were beaten easily, and for the first time for six years we beat the Academy, in a single-innings match after the first day had been completely washed out by rain.

The bare figures of 2 wins, 2 draws and 1 defeat in school matches hardly do justice to this year's side of which I. H. P. Laughland was captain. They were certainly right on top of Fettes and Watson's in the two drawn matches. Against Glenalmond our batting for once failed, and although the side fought back well in the field they were unable to prevent Glenalmond from getting the runs with 3 wickets in hand. The Loretto match provided two very entertaining days' cricket with both sides trying to win: a century by A. M. Zuill turned the scale in our favour. Rain on the Friday again reduced the Academy game to a one-day match, which we won by 10 wickets.

There was certainly more talent available this year than in some recent years. Laughland made 682 runs during the term, while both Zuill and A. M. B. Sym averaged more than 50 in school matches. At the age of fourteen J. M. Boyle showed great promise as a leg-break bowler.

A. M. Zuill began the season with four other old colours, of whom H. H. Bain was unfortunately kept out of the side for much of the season through injury. This loss was less serious than it would have been in most years, for a pair of really hostile opening bowlers was quickly found: I. H. Morris and the left-handed I. Leddie bowled much too fast and too accurately for many of the batsmen who had to face them in the fine dry conditions which prevailed for much of the term. J. M. Boyle turned into a competent all-rounder and N. O. Kilpatrick made himself into a useful wicket-keeper, a department in which we had been rather weak for a year or two. The fielding and throwing were usually good, and with one more reliable batsman this would have been a very good side indeed. Zuill's captaincy, like his batting, was characterised by a dogged determination to win, or at any rate not to be beaten: to him must go much of the credit for the fact that we were, for the first time since 1947, unbeaten in school matches.

The Fettes match was drawn—fairly evenly; a more adventurous policy might have won it—or lost it. Our batting failed again this year against the Glenalmond bowlers, and rain saved us from probable defeat. The Loretto match was most remarkable: after just saving the follow-on, Merchiston bowled Loretto out in their second innings for 70 (this was a personal triumph for Morris), and proceeded to win by 3 wickets with a few minutes to spare. Morris was again the match-winner against Watson's. In the Academy match we were on top for most of the game, but were not quite able to bowl them out a second time on an easy-paced wicket.

This year Merchiston were unbeaten, not only in school matches, but in all matches. There were 8 drawn games, in nearly all of which the School clearly had the advantage, and never was it necessary to fight a desperate rearguard action to stave off defeat. This record reflects the competence and determination of the captain, J. M. Boyle. There were times when he appeared to be over-cautious in his declarations and in his general policy; but certainly he had a considerable responsibility to carry early in the season with a doubtful batting side, and he must take great credit for the consistency of his own performances as an opening bat. In the middle of the term I. McLauchlan, a brilliant and accomplished stroke-player, ran into tremendous form: he scored three centuries in his total of 799 runs for the term; in addition he was the most penetrative bowler in the side, and after H. H. Bain, the most hard worked. With L. W. M. Dewar, a fast in-swinger, and R. D. Morton, a promising off-spinner, also available this was a very well balanced bowling side, and the fielding was usually first class.

The Fettes match was drawn—rather a dull affair, as was the Loretto match. Glenalmond and Watson's were beaten without much difficulty and the Academy match was completely spoilt by rain.

One difficulty which had been gradually becoming apparent for some years was the deterioration in quality of the opposition provided in many of the early matches, in some cases by clubs with whom matches have been played for many years. As a result it happened that certain members of the team had not had a single innings before the Fettes match.

This year J. M. Boyle was again captain, but he had only one other full colour, I. McLauchlan. Boyle was again a most consistent opening bat, but McLauchlan, while still looking a fine player, was not nearly so successful this season, either as a batsman or as a bowler, as he had been in the previous year. Besides these two outstanding players the most useful, and certainly the most improved all-rounder was R. D. Morton. Some difficulty was found in settling on the last two or three places in the side, and although they had their successful days, this never looked a very solid eleven.

The Fettes match was lost after a sad breakdown in our batting. Against Loretto the batting was better; the bowlers, however, were unable to bowl out a stubborn opposition in the fine weather conditions which prevailed, and the last couple of hours of play were dull and pointless. Watson's and Glenalmond were again beaten by comfortable margins. This year the Academy match was played at Raeburn Place instead of at New Field, as this was the centenary year of the fixture; the weather, which had been dry for much of the term, again put a premature end to this game, at a time when we appeared to be in a fairly strong position.

This was a very wet season; many days' practice were lost and hardly a game was played on a fast wicket. Not surprisingly, scores tended to be low, but the whole team looked capable of making runs. The prize for the best batting average was won by W. M. Crow, a hitter; in more favourable conditions many more runs would probably have been made by the captain, R. D. Morton, an elegant, but not particularly forceful bat, and by a promising young player, D. R. C. Morton (no relation of the captain). The main strength of the side lay in the well-balanced variety of the bowling. After the openers had done their share the captain would bowl his off-spinners very effectively, and he could also call on a leg-spinner and a left-hander.

During the term nine matches were won and only one was lost; in school matches we were unbeaten, although only two matches were won, those against Watson's and Glenalmond, and both of them quite decisively. The Fettes match was notable chiefly for an astonishing innings by a Fettes opening-bat, C. G. Hamilton, who hit 68 out of 76 in the first half-hour of the game; this was the only time that our bowling was really mastered. The Loretto match, which was reduced to one day owing to rain on the Friday, provided an interesting finish in which we were not quite able to make the runs in time. Against Edinburgh Academy we were in a commanding position at the end of the first day's play, but for the third year in succession this match was spoilt by rain.

This year there were long spells of warm, sunny weather; wickets were usually fast and true, sometimes even fiery, as in the Loretto match, which was the only game which we lost. All the other school matches were won and some entertaining cricket was seen in each one of them. It was the bowlers who won the Fettes match by putting them out for 78 on their own ground. Our batting failed to cope with A. R. Reid of Loretto, who bowled fast and well for very long spells in conditions which suited him admirably. In all other matches the scoring was high. Watson's were beaten by 3 wickets after they had made over two hundred. Glenalmond were bowled out with a few minutes to spare, and the Academy were soundly beaten.

D. R. C. Morton, the captain, had at his disposal seven of the previous year's side. J. W. Ness was a hostile and untiring fast bowler who found the wickets much more to his liking than in the wet summer of 1958; he and Morton were an effective pair of bowlers, but there was not as much variety available as in the previous year. The batting, however, was much sounder. G. A. Lindsay and D. W. G. Mitchell were a useful pair of openers, the captain was very solid, and J. P. Jackson was a most fluent and powerful stroke-player who averaged over 50 in school matches.

Cricket.

D. R. C. Morton again captained the side, which had several old colours of talent. The batting was strong and the runs were scored quickly and attractively. J. P. Jackson was outstanding, and played many attractive innings, to finish with an average of 43. He was ably supported by R. H. Lamb, who improved beyond all recognition and scored quickly when runs were most needed. He scored one century in a club game and had an average of 46 for the term. The captain was the outstanding all-rounder and showed an excellent example in the field. The bowling too was above average. J. W. Ness again bowled with considerable pace and hostility to take 45 wickets. Of the newcomers, C. J. Storey also bowled with sustained pace and accuracy: during the course of the Academy game he took 12 for 35 in 40 overs.

In the school matches Morton played a fine innings against the clock to give us victory against Strathallan, but the side unaccountably collapsed against Fettes for the only defeat of the season. The Loretto match was drawn with honours even—a rather unenterprising game. Watson's were overcome by our bowling strength, although our batting made heavy weather of reaching a moderate total. The Glenalmond match was abandoned owing to rain. Finally the Academy were soundly beaten in a match which was a personal triumph for Storey and for the close fielders, who had been outstanding all the term.

R. H. Lamb captained this XI., which was rather younger than in recent years. Despite an inglorious final match against the Academy this was a successful season. In the club games in May performances were encouraging and several fine wins were recorded. The chief strength lay in our attack, which was rather lacking in variety, but was hostile and penetrating. C. J. Storey fulfilled the promise of the previous year and bowled magnificently to take 58 wickets at an average of 9.9. He was ably supported by J. C. Swan, who took 42 wickets in his first season. The batting was less convincing, and showed a lack of grit and determination in the tense atmosphere of school matches; valuable contributions were made however by Lamb, R. H. Webster, A. G. Wilkinson and R. H. Baxter. The ground fielding was good, but the fast bowlers suffered from bad close-to-the-wicket catching.

The first school match against Strathallan was played very early in May, before we had had time to settle down, and was lost. This was followed by good wins against Stockport Grammar School and Lancaster Royal Grammar School, who were touring Scotland. In both cases our fast bowlers dismissed the opposition for low scores and the batsmen had no difficulty in knocking off the runs. A feature of the good win over Fettes was a fine spell of bowling by Storey, followed by an aggressive 50 from Lamb. Rain and a magnificent recovery by Loretto's middle batsmen snatched victory away from us when it seemed within our grasp, but convincing wins were scored over Watson's and Glenalmond. Storey was injured for the Academy game, which seriously weakened our attack, but our batting collapsed in both innings and we were decisively beaten.

The School XI, captained by A. G. Wilkinson proved to be one of the most attractive we have had in recent years, although the results were not particularly outstanding. Two school matches were lost. The first, against Strathallan, was lost in the last over after the school batsmen had made a commendable effort to chase a target of 198 runs. The second, against Loretto, was our heaviest defeat and was a tale of misfortune from start to finish. However, decisive victories were recorded against Watson's and Glenalmond, and a draw against Fettes was very much in Merchiston's favour. Set to score 160 runs in just under two hours, the school batsmen played beautiful attacking cricket. One run was required to win off the last ball of the day, but the batsman was magnificently caught and so the match ended in an exciting draw. The game against the Academy was drawn. A win seemed likely, but the Academy last wicket batsmen held out in an exciting finish. The game was a personal triumph for A. G. Wilkinson and R. H. Webster, who put on 163 for the first wicket.

The batting was strong. A. G. Wilkinson was a most attractive and accomplished batsman and scored over 500 runs, for an average of 46 in school games. C. J. Storey improved considerably and displayed powerful and fluent shots all round the wicket. R. H. Webster also showed good form. The bowling lacked variety, but had one outstanding performer in Storey, whose hostile fast bowling brought him over 50 wickets. The fielding was particularly good, with Wilkinson, J. H. W. Walker, S. H. Reid and Storey outstanding. Wilkinson was an excellent captain and inspired his XI. with confidence and enthusiasm. It was a most enjoyable year's cricket. The XI. strove to win by playing attractive cricket in all circumstances, and when fortune was against them, they lost gracefully. The fielding, forceful batting and sportsmanship of the side will be our outstanding memories of the season.

ATHLETICS.

UP to 1920 the Games were entirely a matter of individual prowess, and a sufficient record is to be found in the list of winners of principal athletic events; in that year, certain changes were introduced experimentally by Mr S. H. Lockyer, and in 1921 he and Mr E. Fearenside, who took over the direction of Athletics, evolved a system which has lasted in its main essentials for twenty years. The chief features were:—

Instead of the first two performers in any event receiving rather costly trophies as a reward, however good or bad their performances might have been, standard medals (silver for Open Events, bronze for Junior Events) were awarded to all who reached certain standards of performance, fixed by the Committee after considering conditions of wind, track and temperature at the actual moment of performance, when it was decided whether Good, Moderate or Bad Standard should prevail for that event. A list of standards ruling at the time of writing will be found on page 486.

Finals were to take place on two days (afterwards altered to three days) instead of one, to avoid undue strain and to encourage more all-round performances.

A Junior Games Cup for those Under 16 was added, aspirants for each Cup receiving points for winning or being second in each event, with additional points for attaining or beating standard, or for equalling or beating the previous record. These points were revised in 1950, in view of the constant toughening up of standards which has since taken place, and in view of the difficulty in beating records at the high level at which most of them now stand:—

Points awarded if:	First Place.	Second Place.	Other Places.
Standard is attained or beaten	7	4	2
Standard is not attained	4	1	0

Colours were also introduced: First String, for the winners of Open Events achieving Standard, or those who win an Event in a School Match; Second String, for those who are selected as part of the team versus Edinburgh Academy. This Match was started in 1922 and is a team match, points being awarded for places, so that the winning team is the one that scores least points; in this way a Second String can do as much or more for his side as a First String. Up to 1950 we have won 17 matches and the Academy 8. In 1950, a similar match, necessarily run off earlier, was started v. Glenalmond.

The system has worked wonders in improving the general standard of performances; every Record now dates from 1923 or later. The Rogerson Cup Competition for Inter-Divisional Athletics was also started in 1920. It is held as a training event early in March, with points for places as in the Academy Match, and does much to teach young athletes the value of hard finishing and to reveal to many an unsuspected capacity for Athletics.

1921.—No School match could be arranged for this year, but Colours were awarded; the Seniors did nothing remarkable, though D. C. M. Rutherford did the second best time in the history of the Cross-Country; the Juniors, however, showed their improvement in training by breaking four records.

1922.—The chief feature of this year was our first School match against the Edinburgh Academy at Raeburn Place, which we won by 38½ points to 56½. M. M. Logan, the captain, a very attractive runner, won the Half-Mile comfortably, and did well in two other events. A. K. Mann and A. L. Knipe each won two events, and most of the team were successful in avoiding the last place—which is necessary for victory. G. Taylor, a Junior, won the High Jump, with 5 ft. 0¾ in., and L. H. Weatherill ran very well in the Mile. In our own Games three Senior and four Junior records were broken, the most notable being Rutherford's Cross-Country and A. K. Mann's Long Jump.

1923.—A notable year. In our own Games five Senior records and one Junior were broken. The long distance races were particularly good; Rutherford beat his last year's record in the Cross-Country by 1 min. 19½ secs.—an extraordinary performance; the first three in the Mile finished within 1½ yards in record time; and Weatherill beat the Half-Mile record. J. H. McKeown did 20 ft. 9 in. in the Long Jump. We beat the Academy at Merchiston by 34 points to 61, winning every event except the Half-Mile, which J. B. L. Munro won in 2 min. 8½ secs.; A. K. Mann, the captain, won three events—a record which cannot be beaten—and Putted the Weight 36 ft. 1 in. J. Hamilton again beat Rutherford by inches in the Mile in very good time.

1924.—There was no match against the Academy this year. In our own Games L. H. Weatherill achieved the notable feat of breaking the Mile and the Half-Mile records in one day—the latter in the Handicap, when he must have run fully 10 yards more than if he had had a clear track. G. Taylor, the captain, won the Hurdles in 17½ secs., and followed this up by winning this event at the Public Schools Sports at Stamford Bridge. J. Scott jumped 20 ft. 10 in., and four Junior records were also broken.

1925.—Again there was no match with the Academy—several inches of snow fell on the day before it was to take place. No Senior records were broken—the feat is becoming difficult—but good performances were done; I. O. Connell's Cross-Country time is the second best in the history of the race. The Juniors broke four records.

1926.—The Academy beat us this year for the first time, at Merchiston, by 40 points to 45; we had great hopes of the Mile, but our 1st string "crooked" and could not finish. The best event of the day was H. B. Sym's Hurdles, won by a yard from B. R. Tod, in 17½ secs., and R. A. L. Loudon put in a most courageous finish to win by inches in the Half; but the Academy were, on the day, just the better team. In our own Games the weather was poor, and only one (Junior) record was broken; but the standard was quite good in most events.

1927.—In some respects this was one of the most interesting years we have had. We beat the Academy, at Raeburn Place, by 36 points to 49, and at last produced a real sprinter in J. C. Davies, who beat T. B. Laird by a yard in the very fast time of 10½ secs., displacing a School record that had stood since 1878. Laird, however, turned the tables in the Quarter, beating Davies by 4 yards in the excellent time of

Athletics.

53½ secs. We won the match by getting the first three places in the Mile. The weather for our own Games was bad, and no Senior records were broken, but the long distance runners did very well; the Juniors broke two records.

1928.—We beat the Academy at Merchiston by 38 points to 47; a point of interest was that though they won five events out of eight, we had not a single last place, and so scored on the balance. The weather had been consistently bad, and a fresh track had to be measured out; it is not surprising that, as in our own Games, no outstanding performances were done. J. H. Donald and C. M. Wells did good Long Jumps, and won the Quarter and Half respectively, while two Juniors, D. R. S. Milne (second in High Jump) and J. C. Stothard (under 15—dead heat for second in Quarter) did as well as any. The bad weather spoilt most of our practice days, and prevented any outstanding performances in our own Games; we had a good day for the Cross-Country, and the number of medals gained showed that there was no decadence.

1929.—The Academy gained their second win, at Raeburn Place, by 37 points to 48, and in doing so showed all-round superiority; they won seven events out of the eight, and only some stout finishing kept the margin of defeat so low. J. R. S. Watson, an accomplished runner, won the Quarter in 54½ secs. and the Mile in 4 min. 50½ secs.; F. M. Matheson won the Hundred in 10½ secs., and K. M. C. Gray the Half, in which J. C. Stothard (still a Junior) was only beaten by 7 yards in 2 min. 11½ secs. Our one win was a good High Jump by D. R. S. Milne, 5 ft. 3 in. Our own Games produced a fine all-round athlete in C. M. Wells, who won the Games Cup for the second year in succession, but had no outstanding single performance, and three very good Juniors, two of whom, Stothard and J. P. Dunlop, beat three records; both ran against the Academy.

1930.—We beat the Academy, at Colinton, by 41½ points to 43½ in the most exciting contest that there has been. The scores were level before the last race, the Relay, and in this our four runners all did themselves full justice, with the result that we won by 4 yards in the very fast time of 1 min. 36½ secs. D. R. S. Milne had two wins in the High Jump and Long Jump, while J. C. Stothard won the Half-Mile easily in 2 min. 10 secs. Exceptional times were recorded in the events won by the Academy—J. R. S. Watson winning the Quarter in 54½ secs. and the Mile in 4 min. 55½ secs.; C. S. Russell the 100 Yards in 10 secs.; and J. M. Smith the Hurdles in 16½ secs.

Our own Games produced very fast times on the new ground at Colinton, no fewer than seven records being broken or equalled. The outstanding athletes were—J. C. Stothard in the Quarter, Half, and Mile; J. P. Dunlop in the 100 yards; and D. R. S. Milne, who jumped 5 ft. 6 in. in the High Jump.

1931.—Very bad weather affected performances this year, and it is all the more creditable to D. R. S. Milne that he broke two records: the High Jump and the Hurdles. J. C. Stothard, handicapped not only by the weather but by illness, nevertheless succeeded in breaking the Mile record. We beat the Academy by 31 points to 43, Milne, Stothard and Dunlop each winning two events and being well supported. This team was probably the best we had so far produced. Two changes were made in the match: points for the third strings in the Mile, though they still ran, were abandoned at the request of the Academy; and a Junior Match was introduced. Experience showed that the junior events rather detracted from the excitement of the main match, and that it was unwise to prolong such a spectacle on a cold March afternoon.

Achilles Club were to have paid us a visit, but their tour was abandoned owing to snow. The track on the new ground was re-orientated and has remained substantially the same to the time of writing (1950): the Hundred and Hurdles still look slightly downhill to the east, but as records have been broken on them running westwards, the slope must be very slight. Conditions on the new ground are, on the whole, slightly faster than on the old, except in the Long Jump, where the run is now level instead of decidedly downhill. Though more exposed to strong westerly winds, less of the track traverses recently used Rugger pitches, and the soil is lighter.

1932.—We beat the Academy by the same margin as the previous year, 31 points to 43, neither side having quite so good a team. J. C. Stothard and J. P. Dunlop won two events each for us and were also in the winning Relay team. There was some good supporting material. Though the Standards set were bad for the Quarter and moderate for the Half and Mile, Stothard broke his own records for all three distances—wonderful performances. Dunlop suffered from a strained leg and G. M. Stothard had to be rested till the Academy match. The junior distance performances are recorded as being satisfactory, but first-year seniors, rather ominously, get little praise.

1933.—Only one of the previous year's team, J. S. A. Forsyth, had returned—and he was a first-year Senior. So it was not surprising that we lost to the Academy by 33 points to 41, creditably though our team performed. In the Rogerson Games, a Four Furlong Relay was introduced as an experiment, but abandoned after the first round when one entrant showed signs of strain. Good weather assisted some fine performances in our own Games, J. M. Barkla equalling the Hundred record and doing a fine Quarter. The Games Cup was won by J. D. J. Cameron, a most versatile runner, Forsyth being second. T. B. Herd established three records to win the Junior Games Cup, and performances in all classes were very encouraging. The organising of the games season was most ably performed by J. B. Black, the School captain, Forsyth being still too junior to be a Prefect.

1934.—J. S. A. Forsyth proved a most enthusiastic captain; and it was a great disappointment to the strong team he had trained when the Academy match had to be cancelled owing to epidemics. The weather was fairly kind during the season, and performances, especially in the middle distances, were very good, leading to an unusually large crop of medals. Forsyth proved himself to be the best Hurdler we have so far produced, equalling the record several times in practice and beating it in the final, running westwards. He shared the Games Cup with I. C. G. Scott, a fine track athlete. The record for the Under 16 Half-mile, an event introduced in 1931, was again broken, by V. Savi, and P. C. Donald had the distinction of beating a Stothard record—the Under 16 Cross-Country. Another Junior who distinguished himself was W. G. Biggart, who gained a medal in every one of his events except the Cross-Country.

1935.—We beat the Academy at Raeburn Place on a very cold day by 35½ points to 39½ points, performances being high in every event, our second strings in particular distinguishing themselves. The third strings in the Mile were abandoned, and the points awarded for the Relay were changed to 1 and 4, both changes being at the request of the Academy. We scored heavily in the Quarter, Half, and Long Jump, and halved the Mile, which we might well have won if it had been thought expedient to run the youthful T. D. Forster in a second middle distance race.

The weather was good for most of the games season, but inimical during Games Week itself. The Games Cup was won by T. D. Forster, a most promising middle distance runner; the runner-up was T. B. Herd with firsts in the Hundred, Long Jump and Quarter; he was near record in the first two events.

Achilles Club visited us, headed by our own J. C. Stothard, then President of the C.U.A.C. Their demonstrations were spoilt by the weather, but we imbibed much wisdom from their lectures. This year Summer Term Classes in jumping were started; they have proved of considerable benefit, particularly to second strings.

1936.—The weather in Herd's second season as Games Captain was unpleasant: the third round of the Rogerson Competition had to be cancelled, and conditions were moderate, at best, during Games Week. We beat the Academy at Colinton by 36 points to 39, suffering from strains and staleness; they were a good side, but we had promised to be an exceptional one. T. D. Forster tore a muscle at the top of a thigh during hurdle practice, and, apart from winning the Mile in 4 min. 52 secs. as a try-out, took no further part except in the Academy match, when he won the Mile and Half by large margins but in considerable pain. Though he set up a new 100 Yards record in the Academy match, Herd seemed rather stale, losing the Long Jump and Quarter unexpectedly to W. G. Biggart, who deservedly received the Games Cup, winning 3 events and 6 medals in all—he is one of the best all-rounders we have produced.

A new set of hurdles had been constructed by D. McKenzie, the School joiner, this year, and alterations were made in the placing of them: for the Open, ten flights 9 yards apart at a height of 3 ft. 3 in., with an approach of 15 yards and a finish of 24. This conformed with the conditions of the L.A.C. Public Schools Meeting. The Under 16 Hurdles had the same spacing, but a height of 2 ft. 6 in. The Under 15 Hundred Yards—an ancient anomaly—was abolished, and in its stead was substituted an Under 14½ Hurdle race of 96 yards, hurdles 8 yards apart and two feet high. The new hurdles were light, strong and rapidly adjustable to all these heights and to 3 ft. 6 in. as well, so that our Team hurdlers could have some practice at the height the Academy still used. They have been in continuous use up till the time of writing (1950) and are a lasting monument to the skill of a great School servant.

1937.—The Academy match had to be cancelled this year. Very bad weather affected performances and led to the abandonment of the Rogerson Cup Competition. A welcome innovation was the extension of the Divisional Competition to the Cross-Country Race: points were awarded to each division for their performances, and Mrs H. T. Paul (mother of the School captain) kindly presented a cup, to be competed for annually. There was no outstanding athlete in the Open events, but L. H. Gruer did very well in the Under 16.

1938.—The Academy beat us, at New Field for the first time, in poor conditions, by 34 points to 41, gaining 4 points in the Hundred and 3 points in the Relay—entirely by out-sprinting us, in fact. In the Athletics.

Rogerson Games, several innovations appeared, but were abandoned after a couple of years: the abolition of the Mile, the substitution of a single Hurdles Relay for the two Hurdle races, with two seniors and two juniors running for each division, and the introduction of a Sprint Relay. The points system was also reversed, but was found to hinder the speedy recording of results. The Games Cup was won by L. H. Gruer, a year after he had won the Junior Games Cup—a rare sequence. Good weather resulted in good performances in most events in our own Games, in which D. C. Hale performed admirably in the Under 14½ Hurdles, his time being counted as a record.

1939.—The Academy beat us by 36 points to 39; scores were level at the Relay, for though we were weak in the middle distances, our opponents were no better except in the Quarter, in which event, as in the Long Jump, they took maximum points, while we had much the better hurdlers. Very cold and unpleasant conditions affected performances in our own Games, where G. B. Wilson was easily the outstanding athlete: a good hurdler and high jumper, he put up also some sound times on the track, owing to his courage.

1940.—Very bad weather in the first two months of the term led to the cutting down of the athletics season to a fortnight: standards were abandoned and the Games turned into a Rogerson Competition. The Academy match was won by the narrow margin of 37-38; performances were good considering the day and the contestants' lack of practice. It is worth mentioning that in this team was D. D. Mackenzie, who never did himself full justice at School owing to recurrent illness, but afterwards ran for Great Britain as a member of the four quarter-mile Relay Team in the Olympic Games of 1948.

The summer term jumping classes were temporarily abandoned.

1941.—After the unusual conditions of the previous year, we turned with relief to a more normal programme. The Cross-Country was abandoned, as most of the course was over an Army Training Area. In the Rogersons, the Mile was reintroduced as a Senior event, and had an almost immediate effect in improving the older boys' middle distance running. The original Senior and Junior Hurdle races were restored, and the Furlong Relay was dropped from the programme after a boy strained himself. The competition itself was spoilt by the unevenness which had developed in the Divisions, due to new boys being picked en masse instead of by age-groups: steps were taken to remedy this in future years. The Academy had a strong side and overwhelmed us by 29½ points to 45½, we being weakened by the absence of Sillars and Andrews and injuries to two others.

A "friendly" match with Watson's was run off—early in the season, so as to neutralise as far as possible our advantage in training, for our opponents were still playing Rugger, and many of their team were wrestling with the Leaving Certificate. We won with flattering ease. A new event, the Under 14½ 550 Yards, was started for the youngest middle-distance runners.

1942.—We beat the Academy at New Field very handsomely by 31 points to 44. Neither side was a good one, A. F. Gardiner of the Academy being the only outstanding athlete. Academy were suffering very much at this time from the effects of war-time evacuation, and we had only one last place in the whole contest. G. D. Gordon was an excellent captain and got the best out of moderate material. Training was affected by bad weather, but some encouraging performances were put up in the Games, particularly by G. G. Wilson, who beat Herd's fine Under 16 Long Jump record.

Watson's visited us for another match early in the season and again we won rather easily.

1943.—We lost an exciting match against the Academy by 33 points to 32, the Hurdles, one of our strongest events, being abandoned at the request of our opponents, who had had little opportunity for practice. Our jumping was very weak, and this summer the Jumping Classes were revived. We again won our "friendly" against Watson's. The weather deteriorated in Games Week, but H. M. Dove and the middle-distance men did well in Open events.

1944.—We beat the Academy by 35 points to 40 at New Field, everything depending on the Relay, so excitement was prolonged to the end. To offset the effect of the call-up to the armed forces of senior boys, all Open Standards were lowered, but still none were gained in Mile or Half-Mile in conditions no worse than moderate. The Watson's match had to be abandoned as no mutually suitable date could be found. D. A. Osborne, the captain, was the outstanding athlete; but H. S. Honeyman and G. I. Slater showed considerable promise on the track, and D. A. Wishart broke the Under 16 100 Yards record.

1945.—We beat the Academy at home by 35 to 40 points; again all depended on the Relay. We owed our success mainly to our sprinters, an unusual state of affairs. A really good season saw a notable revival in middle-distance running, particularly in the junior classes, but there is a lament about jumping. The captain, G. U. Biggart, though not achieving such good results personally as had been expected, set a very good example in middle-distance training, and R. G. Baird gave him first-rate support. We had two exceptionally good sprinters in R. Turnbull and D. A. Wishart, the former equalling the 100 Yards record.

1946.—After a bad start the weather improved very much, and it was really warm on the day we beat the Academy at New Field, again on the result of the Relay, by 35-40 points. The teams were considerably stronger than they had been for some time: our own R. G. Baird found a worthy compeer in G. W. Burnet, the opposing captain, who won both the Mile and Half-Mile with ease. Our next best athlete to Baird was R. G. Wilson, who, but for the effects of a Rugger injury, might have come near record in the High Jump, and won the Mile. G. F. Clark broke the Under 16 Long Jump record with a leap of 18 ft. 11½ in.—an amazing performance for his age.

1947.—The track being under snow throughout March, there was no Games season. The Academy sent us a challenge in the summer term: we arranged to meet them towards the end of their own Games season, which since 1935 had been in July instead of March. Though our training was fraught with difficulties, eased as far as possible by the ready co-operation of the Cricket Committee, we produced in the end the strongest team since 1936, all our men, except in the Long Jump, Hurdles and Mile, being of first string standard. Nevertheless, we lost two points in the Half-Mile, where all runners finished within four yards of each other in 2 min. 9.6 secs.—the finest race the Match has ever seen. We had four sprinters who could do approximately 10½ seconds in the fine summer weather, so we put up an extremely fast Relay time (1 min. 36.4 secs.) and won the match by 32½-42½ points. Much of the success of the team was due to the enthusiasm of J. E.

Athletics.

Aitchison, the captain, who was also the School fast bowler, and had to take great care not to become stale either for bowling or for quarter-miling.

1948.—Good though last year's side had been, it was put into the shade by I. G. Forman's team of this year, the strongest we have ever had. The Academy were beaten by 28 points to 47; this margin would have been substantially reduced had their captain, J. D. Grant, the victor of the brilliant 1947 Half-Mile, been able to run. With the exception of the Mile, every performer was up to first string standard, and even in the Mile four entrants in our own Games beat good standard. Though no records, except the Under 16 Half-Mile (R. M. Riddell), were broken, performances in all classes were very promising, and the number of standards gained in some Open events were exceptional: Long and High Jump, 5; 100 Yards, 7; Quarter-Mile, 6.

1949.—Had G. F. Clark's side been fully fit, it might well have been a better side even than Forman's, but it took the field against the Academy who were beaten 31-34, with both quarter-milers convalescent from 'flu and with our third and fourth choices running in the Mile, which was the race of the day. P. M. Ferguson, our second string, set off as if he were an A.A.A. champion, to the opposing captain's surprise and concern: he moderated his pace in the third lap and summoned the energy to beat off his opponent's challenge to win by inches in 4 min. 50 secs., a time the like of which had not been seen since 1936. J. C. Allison, our first string, beat their second string comfortably. K. S. D. Wilmshurst won the Games Cup, beating the 1924 Long Jump record, equalling the Hurdle record, and winning the High Jump.

1950.—This year saw the inauguration of a match against Glenalmond on the same lines as the Academy match: owing to programme difficulties it will have to occur at least a week before Games Week, so that neither side will be fully trained. We won by 30 points to 35: at this time we still had R. M. Riddell and G. N. B. Gow, who were called up for Military Service immediately after the match, and whose loss was fatal to the side's chances against the Academy. They, now back to a March Games Season, beat us by 36 points to 39, our advantage in the middle distances not being sufficient to compensate for some poor jumping. J. D. A. Robb, an excellent Captain of Games, won the Games Cup, doing some most promising middle-distance times, but the feature of the Games was the high standard of the Hurdling: I. S. Taylor was 1/10 sec. outside Open Record; C. F. Murphy beat the Under 16 record; and M. T. Wilson equalled the Under 14½ record.

Open Standards were restored to their pre-war level, and Games Cup points were altered from the values which have stood since 1921 to give more advantage to all-rounders and to those who beat or equal records, which are now at so high a level that to beat one is something of a feat.

1951.—Weather made athletics particularly difficult, and the Captain, J. A. Bendall, was off sick for most of the season. No outstanding athletes existed in the seniors although the two hurdlers were both near the record time. Under 16 events contained a new Hurdles record and two promising athletes in A. N. H. Leith and E. A. Osborne. The Glenalmond match was lost, German measles intervening to weaken the team; likewise the Academy match, with their team a strong one. The Games Cup was won by B. K. Mann.

Athletics.

1952.—A visit from the Achilles Club was a great help this year and made up for the loss of a week at the start thanks to early bad weather. The two school matches were won and the Robb family presented a cup, the Robb Cup, to replace the old Games Cup. G. Chalmers and C. F. Murphy shared this. The Hurdles record was broken by Murphy who also did a fine Quarter. Leith was a very good first-year senior in the Half-Mile and sprints. E. A. Osborne stood out in the juniors all round and there were some big, promising young runners. Mr. E. O. Connell handed over the Athletics to Mr. M. S. Preston at the end of the season.

1953.—Perfect weather and a win at Glenalmond made this a good year. The Academy match was lost—we were not strong enough at first string. Murphy was outstanding both in Hurdles and Quarter, breaking both records, and won these and the Hundred and Half-Mile—and the Robb Cup. The rest of the seniors were strong. Morris and McBain shared all the junior events, the latter breaking the High Jump record. The old Cross-Country Cup (Paul Cup) now became the Junior Games Cup, and was shared by the two.

1954.—This year of bad weather saw one strong senior athlete in A. G. McBain but nothing very strong elsewhere. We just lost the Glenalmond match but beat the Academy. Laughland came in to win some senior events, but the team's strength lay in second strings. The junior vintage was first class, particularly Gibbon, and the Under 14½ High Jump record was broken. The season was notable for the large number of entrants and their enthusiasm. Laughland won the Robb Cup and Gibbon, the Paul.

1955.—Rain, sleet, snow, ice—no Final Day; but some fine performances none the less. J. R. Brown won the Mile and Half-Mile; I. H. Morris trained to fit the team; McBain continued to jump superbly and he captained well. D. G. S. Reid won the Robb Cup. The Academy match, in which A. B. Gourlay won the Mile in under 4.50, was lost narrowly, but the team was one of our strongest. The juniors had a strong athlete in P. W. H. Maule who won the Paul Cup, and a promising one in D. C. Lamb. All times were ruined by the weather.

For the first time an Under 16 match was inaugurated on a different day, and was won by the Academy by 5½ events to 1½. The events were relays—4 × 110, 4 × 330, 3 × 880 yards (4 places to count); Long Jump and High Jump (two competitors, on aggregate lengths and heights).

1956.—A good dry season saw a high standard of results under the captaincy of J. R. Brown, with a strong team for the Academy match which was won with very good performances. Second strings were strong and the juniors keen and promising. The Robb Cup was won by E. R. Gibbon, who won the sprint events, with I. H. Morris to make the third really class athlete. The Paul Cup was won by E. S. Maguire. D. R. C. Morton broke the Under 14½ High Jump record. The Glenalmond match was comfortably won, and so was the Under 16 Academy match.

1957.—Another good season with only one bad day. We were visited by St. Catharine's College, Cambridge, who helped considerably with training. J. A. McMyn won the Robb Cup with a very high number of points, winning four events. D. C. Lamb was prominent in Jumps and Hurdles. The Paul Cup was won by E. S. Maguire, the fastest sprinter in the school. The Junior Long Jump record was outstanding, and the rest of the Under 16 vintage was very good indeed. The Under 14½ athletes contained a very traditional set of Merchistonian names.

Athletics.

The training standards were stepped up to a very high rate of achievement and the all-the-year-round training paid handsome dividends. The Academy and Glenalmond matches were won, as was the Under 16 match, with a clean sweep.

1958.—This was the worst year for weather for many years—cold, frost, sleet, snow, wind. Mr. Preston was ill for most of the season and Mr. J. W. Donaldson had to do the coaching, although the intensive system of training produced the results by sheer determination. E. S. Maguire stood out as an athlete; Slimon made a first-class Miler; D. C. Lamb captained with distinction. Maguire won the Robb Cup. The junior class was dominated by R. Graham and M. N. Lockhart, and they were otherwise a weak vintage. The Glenalmond match was not run thanks to the weather, but the Academy match was won by a record margin of 23 points, and the Under 16 match by six events to one. A cup was presented by Mrs. D. L. Lamb for Hurdling.

1959.—This was the most powerful senior year to date. Weather was good, the Achilles Club visited, three more records were broken and the Academy match was again won by a record margin of 27 points. Only two third places were obtained—otherwise a “possible” came in each event. E. S. Maguire stood out as Captain and performer and broke the Hundred and Quarter records. M. N. Lockhart, under 17, won the Half-Mile and dead-heated in the Mile in the best two times for years. The rest of the seniors were very, very good; and although the Juniors lost their match with the Academy, they were capable of improvement later on. D. C. Morton, under 14½, looked a very powerful athlete indeed. The Glenalmond match was discontinued. E. S. Maguire won the Robb Cup and S. H. Reid, a fine sprinter, the Paul Cup. There were 95 standards this year.

1960.—Another fine year, with one superb senior athlete and a very strong junior vintage. Four more records went: M. N. Lockhart broke both J. C. Stothard's middle distance records; S. H. Reid equalled E. S. Maguire's Under 16 Long Jump record; and A. E. Corstorphine broke the 550 yards record. Lockhart was no beauty as a runner, but he was very strong and very fast for a middle-distance runner; he won in his career the Scottish Youth's Championship at 880 yards. D. R. C. Morton might have broken the High Jump record, but for the wind. The juniors were universally strong with S. H. Reid the rightful Paul Cup winner, as was Lockhart the Robb Cup winner. Hurdling was returning to its former glory with C. J. Storey and A. G. Milligan coming up the school, and W. B. G. Gubbins, under 14½, looked a real star for the future. The Under 16 and the main match were easily won against the Academy; and there were the record number of 118 standards this year. Mr. Preston handed over the Athletics to Mr. J. Rainy Brown, the Captain of 1956.

1961.—This year the senior's strength lay in the Hurdles, Long Jump and sprints, but it was the high standards of the second strings that was the winning factor against the Academy at both levels. C. J. Storey broke Murphy's 1952 Hurdles record and W. P. C. Milne won the Robb Cup. The Under 16 was very strong, especially: F. N. Buck who broke the half-mile record and won the Paul Cup; W. D. Wright who produced a new Hurdles record for the shortened distance; and W. B. G. Gubbins, who is potentially a fine sprinter. The Under 14½ were quite good without being outstanding: G. L. Desson equalled the 550 yards record. There was a record number of 132 standards.

Athletics.

1962.—A terrible month for weather might well have ruined results but performances were on the whole good. S. H. Reid was Captain and winner of the Robb Cup; he was within 0.1 secs. of the Hundred record and produced a fine new Long Jump record of 21 ft. 5 in. R. G. Wilson won the Half-Mile and Mile and last year's Under 16's did very well as first-year seniors. In the Under 16 events, Gubbins equalled Herd's 300 Yards record and ran in the School relay team. Turnbull was outstanding in the Under 14½ group and broke the Hundred record by 0.5 secs.; another promising athlete was M. A. S. Brown who broke the 550 Yards record. Wins at both levels were recorded against the Academy.

HISTORY.

It is in December 1884 that we first hear of a movement being set on foot to form a Cadet Corps in connection with the principal Edinburgh Schools. The originator of the movement was Colonel Macdonald, now Brigadier-General Sir J. H. A. Macdonald. The scheme is not yet complete, but meantime the School is divided into three companies for purposes of drill which takes place every Friday. T. M'Millan is captain, W. Neilson is lieutenant, and in the following term rifles arrive but only for the first section. "They look like relics of Waterloo, but we are assured that they are of more recent date," writes a scoffer in The Merchistonian.

The first inspection of the Corps took place in the summer term of 1885 and is thus described: "This Corps, which at present consists entirely of pupils attending Merchiston Castle School and George Watson's College, was inspected yesterday at Merchiston by Major Macrae of the Q.E.R.V.B. The Merchiston contingent consisted of two sergeants and twenty-six rank and file, while that from Watson's College numbered two sergeants, forty-six rank and file, and eleven recruits. The two companies, under the command of Lieutenant Mackersy went through the manual and firing exercises in a highly creditable manner, the Merchiston boys showing up particularly well as they were all dressed uniformly in the school cricket colours. The bayonet exercise . . . was executed in excellent time and with good effect." Then follows an account of the Battle of Myreside, which, fiercely fought with fixed bayonets, swayed between Currer's and the Flag-staff Hill.

We notice, too, that "a wild enthusiasm, stimulated partly by the offer of prizes, was developed among the juniors for polishing rifles and bayonets." Mr Burgess seems to have been the moving spirit even from the very outset.

The Corps, though yet without proper uniforms, and not fully armed, does not lack its Tyrtæus. In the August number of The Merchistonian "The Volunteers' Chorus" by Mr Waddy appears.

1885-6.—In the following session Captain Dickson of the Queen's Edinburgh kindly gave his assistance in tutoring the prefects in the art of war, and became honorary captain of the Corps, which post he held until 1888.

The great question to be decided was now what uniform to adopt, and though the Debating Society "showed great animosity to any other uniform than the 'kilt,'" there seems to have been some difficulty in obtaining the sanction of the authorities.

There is also a proposal that a pipe band should be formed.

In the summer term the Corps is inspected by Captain Money but as yet they have no uniforms and no rifles.

1886-7.—After much consultation and extensive correspondence between the senior officers of the Q.E.R.V., the war office, and the School officials, the Cadet Corps has at last been fully organised and equipped. The Corps now numbers two lieutenants, five sergeants, five corporals, three pipers, two drummers, and above eighty rank and file. The uniform has been decided on and will shortly be supplied to the force. It will consist of Norfolk jacket and nickerbockers (sic) of dark material with stockings to match, and black patent leather waist-belt. The glengarry bonnet, also, will be worn with the School badge. The pipers will wear a kilt of Grant tartan. Snider cavalry carbines have been supplied by the War Office, and it is expected that in the course of time a number of

Cadet Corps.

Martini-Henry rifles will be provided for shooting practice for the seniors. The Corps is drilled twice a week—the off days at football—in strict military fashion by a thoroughly efficient sergeant, and the band have made considerable progress in the national martial music.

The official sanction for the establishment of the Corps dates from 3rd December 1886. The Gazette of that date has "Cadet Corps attached to the 1st Edinburgh Rifle Volunteer Corps. Captain David Dickson to be honorary captain" Mr J. R. Burgess is lieutenant-commanding.

On 19th March the Corps in full uniform has its first march-out, when along with about 1500 of the Q.E.R.V. it marched through the principal streets and out into the country towards Trinity. The average height was two inches above that of any other company in the regiment. It was inspected in Queen's Park in May and took part in the Review held on 17th June in honour of the Queen's Jubilee.

1887-8.—The uniform is changed and the adoption of a Highland dress approved of. Captain Dickson resigns and his place is taken by Mr Burgess. Shooting with the Morris tube is begun, targets are fitted up in the gymnasium, and a competition is held in which Lean is the winner.

1888-9.—The Corps now numbers 100, and the editor of The Merchistonian at this date must have come from over the border, for he says: "from painful experience we should say that the pipers are by far the most energetic part of it." The Martini-Henry rifles promised two years before now arrive, and section I. are armed with them, the remaining sections still having the old Snider carbines. Shooting is begun again at Hunter's Bog under Mr Davidson's excellent guidance and a team of five is entered for the Edinburgh Schools Trophy, the first shooting team we know of since 1870, and the trophy is once again brought back to Merchiston, and great credit is due to the energy with which they met their difficulties, for they had to get up at five o'clock every morning in order to practise. The conditions were five men a-side with seven shots at 200 yards and seven at 500. We are told also of an intention to make a first appearance at Bisley,—a promise not fulfilled until 1905.

1889-90.—The work of the Corps included a sham fight on the Pentlands, a march to Penicuik, and a parade to receive Lieutenant Stairs who had just returned from Africa. The School inspection was held on the games' day in May, and "among the novelties introduced was volley firing." There was no inspecting officer. The shooting team again won the Schools Trophy.

1890-1.—This year seems to have been one of great activity. There was an inspection by Major Guild at North Berwick in the Abbey School field kindly lent by Mr Waddy. Later, on 28th March, the Corps took train to Galashiels and Abbotsford Ferry and then marched to Selkirk where they were welcomed by Provost and Mrs Craig-Brown; they paraded in Market Square and were inspected by Captain Hope, the adjutant of the Borderers, and after took part in some manoeuvres. The home inspection on 14th April was again during the games, and the inspecting officer was Lieutenant-Colonel Sutherland. The band has now added a number of buglers. The change is said to be "very comforting."

On 18th June the competition for the Schools Trophy was held at Blackford Hill ranges in connection with the City of Edinburgh and Midlothian Rifle Meeting. There were six schools competing, but Merchiston only got third place in spite of a fine score of 61 by A. Fraser who takes the school shooting prize for the year.

1891-2.—Mr W. J. Mabbott becomes 1st Lieutenant. Only one foreign expedition is made—to Dunblane. The Corps took train to

Cadet Corps.

Bridge of Allan then marched to Dunblane, and were there inspected by Colonel Stirling of Kippen Ross. In the Schools Trophy the team took second place in spite of the fact that they seem to have had more regular practice. "For the first fortnight eight of us drove out to Currie and shot during the evening (6.30-8), but this arrangement interfered too much with our work as we did not get back until about nine o'clock and consequently had little or no time for preparation. Now six of us drive to Queen's Park at 2.30 and return at 5.30." Whether this took place every day history does not relate.

1892-3.—The numbers have gone up to 120, and the season is described as in many respects the most successful which the Corps has experienced. An expedition was made to Dunfermline, when Sir Arthur Halkett inspected; and our regular inspection on the School field took place on 11th April, before Lieutenant-General Lyon-Freemantle. A detachment numbering about forty-four went into camp at Barry for the first time, and the shooting team again won the Schools Trophy, which narrowly escaped injury in the fire of 1894, the shade and glass being partially destroyed.

1893-4.—But after this, we hear no more of the Schools Trophy, presumably it was lost this year, and not competed for again. But the usual out-matches and inspections take place, one being at Innerleithen by Colonel Macadam of Leith. The Corps then marched to Peebles. "The march was considerably enlivened by the presence of John Hutcheson, who performed with the utmost impartiality on all the instruments of the band in turn. His endeavours, both with the big drum and the bugle, to get up a reel at one halting-place, were heroic, but unsuccessful." A bagpipe competition was won by T. Welsh.

1894-5.—A grant from Government of £38 is earned; "this is for the season before last." The annual inspection at Queen's Park on Saturday, 1st June, is chiefly remarkable for the route taken. They first marched to Craiglockhart and entrained for Waverley, and from there marched to the Park. There is an inter-sectional competition between I. and IV. sections resulting in favour of the former, while Colour-Sergeant A. Morton takes the prize for the best individual score.

1895-6.—There is a field day at Haddington on 31st March, and this year the home inspection takes place on the day before the games—not in the middle of the games as previously. General Rowlands is the inspecting officer. At the Annual Queen's Inspection we form as usual No. 10 Company of the first battalion. An attempt was made to go into camp at Barry, but the camp was flooded out, and "the gallant army was compelled to retreat to Merchiston the same night."

1896-7.—This is the greatest year in the history of the Corps. On 5th December they were inspected by Lord Wolseley, who remarked that "the cadets were more like men than boys." There was the usual inspection in June, and they were present at the Public Schools Review, held by Her Majesty Queen Victoria, in Windsor Park, to the number of seventy-nine, under Captain Burgess and Lieutenant J. Maudsley, who succeeded Mr Mabbott. On Monday, 28th June, the Corps left Edinburgh and camped the two following nights on Romney island, kindly lent by the Provost of Eton College. The inspection took place on Tuesday, and the return journey was made on Wednesday. A slight change was made in the uniform this year. White braid was added to the collar and shoulder straps, and the bronze cap badge was replaced by a silver one, previously only worn by the band, and the whole Corps had cock feathers.

Cadet Corps.

1897-8.—Two field days were held this year. In the first on 10th May we were engaged with the Blairlodge Cadets and the 1st Royal Scots under Colonel Morgan Payler in manœuvres round Arthur's Seat; in the second on 25th May the Corps entrenched a position on the Braid Hills, and were attacked at night by the Queen's Edinburgh under Colonel Macrae. General Chapman was our inspecting officer this year.

1898-9.—There is little to chronicle this year except a field day with the University company at Dalkeith and our inspection by Colonel Trotter. In the shooting competition R. A. Blake was successful. Lieutenant Maudsley now leaves.

1899-1900.—On the Queen's birthday the Corps helped to line the streets, and a feu-de-joie was fired from the Castle battlements. The afternoon of the same day was given up to a sham fight at Malleny. General Chapman was again our inspecting officer, and at the end of term twenty-four boys went into camp at Lochcote.

1900-1.—Mr G. L. Thomas joined the Corps as first lieutenant—the vacancy had been filled since 1899 by the appointment of two cadet lieutenants. Our inspection by General Chapman was not so great a success as usual. During the manœuvres the General suddenly changed the point of attack, and “as we had practised that particular attack for several weeks, the result was a general confusion.” Thirty cadets went into camp at Barry. “Bedmaking was also a daily duty that took up no little time in the morning. Some fellows voted it such a nuisance that they never took their beds down, but slept in rugs instead.”

1901-2.—Our own inspection was put off until the summer term to allow the newly formed detachment of scouts, cyclists, and ambulance, to become more efficient. The effect of these innovations was to include the whole School in the Corps, instead of limiting it as previously to boys of a certain height. But here comes a sad break in the continuity of the history of the Corps. Mr Burgess's death deprived it of one who had been the most active among its originators and its moving spirit throughout. He was succeeded by Mr G. L. Thomas. On 14th June the Corps was inspected with the Queen's by Colonel Broadwood, and on 24th July by Colonel Hunter, and thirty-five went into camp at Barry.

1902-3.—Mr Thomas only held the captaincy one term, and on his retirement Mr F. D. Evans became captain, and Mr G. P. Blake first lieutenant. A new armoury had been built and was fitted this year. The old bicycle shed in the cloisters was turned into a Morris tube range, with safety targets, and some shooting was done at Hunter's Bog. General Sir Archibald Hunter inspected the Corps in July, and a detachment of forty-seven went to the new volunteer camping ground at Stobs.

1903-4.—With the new Morris tube range, shooting now becomes obligatory for the whole Corps, that is the whole School, and every boy receives instruction and has to fire a certain number of rounds during the two winter terms. During the summer term advantage is taken of the Government issue of free ammunition to cadets, and all but the very smallest fired the cadet course at Hunter's Bog. A shooting team is also instituted, and to prevent any clashing with the cricket, the conditions laid down were that the team should consist of boys who were not or would not in future years be required for the 1st XI. They had regular practice three times a week at Malleny, and sent in a team for the Brock Shield competition at Darnley in June, gaining third place. In other respects the Corps kept its usual course of field days and inspections, and twenty-four boys went into camp at Stobs and were attached to the University company for field work. Owing to the difficulty of getting a suitable date for the officer commanding the Forces in Scotland, no private inspection was held.

1904-5.—Lieutenant Blake resigned his commission at Christmas and was succeeded by Mr R. E. Roberts. The inspection was held at the end of the Easter term by Colonel Broadwood. The shooting VIII. had a successful season, winning the Brock Shield and making its first appearance at Bisley, where it took 8th place with a score of 467; Harrow was first with 473.

The Burgess Memorial Shooting Competition was started this year in memory of the late Captain of the Corps.

The School took 26th place in the Schools of the Empire Competition.

1905-6.—The usual field days were held. Great activity was shown by the signalling detachment, who were examined by Major Dunn of the Queen's. The usual inspection at King's Park was attended, and forty-five went into camp at Stobs. The shooting was marked by the revival of the Edinburgh Schools Trophy, which had not been shot for since 1893. But to make a good competition all Scotch schools were allowed to enter. Merchiston were the winners. The VIII. again won the Brock Shield, and were 8th in the Ashburton and 11th in the Schools of the Empire Competition.

1906-7.—There were three field days in March: in one of these we defended the Torduff Hills against the 1st Battalion of the Queen's. The Sergeants' examination was slightly changed, to include a written paper, and the certificates gained were issued under strict Volunteer regulations. A signalling examination also took place. The Corps was inspected in April by General Godfrey.

In shooting, the Schools Trophy and the Brock Shield were won, and we were again 8th in the Ashburton. In the Schools of the Empire Competition the Corps obtained 5th place. A sub-target rifle was added to our equipment.

1907-8.—A great change took place this year. The Territorial Force took the place of the old Volunteers in the country; and as part of the new order of things the Cadet Corps of the schools changed their name to Officers' Training Corps, and had allotted to them the definite task of supplying officers to the newly-formed Special Reserve and Territorial Force. An examination, partly written and partly practical, was instituted, known as Certificate A. Any cadet who succeeds in passing this examination is exempted from part of the probationary training for a commission in the Special Reserve; and further, in the event of a successful candidate taking a commission in any of the auxiliary forces, a grant of £10 is given to the corps he was serving in at the time of his examination. A successful candidate is also eligible to be promoted to the rank of Lieutenant in the Special Reserve or Territorial Force without further examination, and 200 marks are allotted to candidates for entrance to Woolwich and Sandhurst. The scheme is further developed at the universities where the examination for Certificate B gives further exemptions and advantages. Under this scheme cadets are no longer liable for service, and the "swearing-in" of cadets over 17 was consequently abolished this year.

A combined field day for all the Scottish schools was held at Sheriffmuir, and the Corps had three field days in addition.

On 19th May the Corps lined the streets for the Lord High Commissioner's procession, and on 21st May the whole Corps attended a lecture by the Right Honble. R. B. Haldane on the new scheme of training for officers.

Cadet Corps.

In shooting we won the Brock Shield, were 3rd in the Schools Trophy, 6th in the Schools of the Empire, and 23rd in the Ashburton.

The annual camp was held at Barry under Major Fetherstonhaugh and was attended by 80 cadets.

1908-9.—The Corps took part in two field days—a local one in conjunction with Watson's, and the Scottish Schools Field Day. The latter was held at Dumyat Hill, near Bridge of Allan. Some 900 cadets took part, and we had the honour of being deprived of Captain Evans, who was appointed to the command of the Red Force. An interesting, though indecisive action took place.

The first examination for Certificate A took place in May. Twenty candidates were entered, and twelve of these passed. The Corps was inspected on 28th June by Captain Clive, Seaforth Highlanders, who made a very favourable report. A pipe competition was held in July, and was won by Calderwood.

In shooting we won the Brock Shield for the 5th time in succession, and were 8th in the Ashburton. Camp was held at Barry under Major Thomson.

This year marks the first appearance of Fettes and Edinburgh Academy. In the following year a corps was raised at Loretto. Watson's College had already been in the field for three years.

1909-10.—Two changes took place this year. In accordance with War Office regulations the Corps was re-organised into two companies, the maximum strength of a company being limited to 100 cadets. Two cadet lieutenants were appointed. The other change was in uniform. We were compelled to give up the old black tunic and plaid and clothe ourselves in khaki service jackets. A glengarry with a red and white diced border was adopted and the blackcock feather was abolished. Spats became khaki instead of white. The new uniform is considerably less smart than the old, but is undoubtedly more serviceable. The old uniform survives in the band. For the two years while the change was being brought about, the Corps had a piebald existence, with one khaki and one black company.

Fifteen candidates were successful in the two examinations for Certificate A.

The Scottish Schools Field Day was held at Rumbling Bridge, where the only noteworthy thing we did was to ford a river. We had a useful field day of our own on the ground between Clubbiedean and Malleny.

Shooting for the Brock Shield we made the fine score of 509, but Watson's did even better and won with a score of 513. In the Schools Trophy we had a tie with Glenalmond, and won on the strength of our larger score at 500. In the Ashburton we were as high as 3rd at the first range, but dropped to 24th after a succession of accidents at 500.

The annual camp was held at Blair Atholl, and was memorable for the enormous amount of rain that fell in a week. Glenalmond went home in three days and Fettes in four. We more than once decided to go, but eventually stayed out the full time, with Edinburgh Academy to keep us company.

1910-11.—Captain Evans left us this year, and was succeeded in the command by Lieutenant, later Captain, R. E. Roberts. Mr C. L. Macdonald, who had joined the Corps the year before, now became first lieutenant. The great event of the year was the second visit of the Corps to Windsor, this time to be inspected by King George V. Two officers and eighty cadets made the journey and were present at the great review of 20,000 cadets in Windsor Park on 3rd June. This was not the only sight we had of the King this year, for on 17th July he came to Edinburgh, and we helped to line the streets when he arrived. Two days later Captain Roberts was presented to His Majesty at Holyrood.

A change was made in arms, and half the Corps was armed with newly-barrelled charger-loading rifles. The immediate result was a marked improvement in shooting. The armoury was also improved by the addition of doors to all the kit lockers.

Six candidates were successful in the Certificate A examination.

In shooting we were 5th in the Schools Trophy, 5th in the Brock Shield, and 43rd in the Ashburton. Seventy-four cadets attended camp at Barry. Captain Dryburgh, Royal Scots, was in command of both this and the previous camp.

1911-12.—An uneventful year. The Corps attended the church parade (now an annual institution) of all Edinburgh Officers' Training Corps, at St Giles, on 11th February. On 9th March we had a good field day near Dalkeith with the 9th Company of the Queen's Edinburgh, and on 21st May we lined the streets for the Lord High Commissioner. Four candidates passed Certificate A. In shooting we were 3rd, both in the Schools Trophy and the Brock Shield, but we took a low place in the Ashburton. A very good camp was held at Barry under Captain Drummond of the Black Watch. We were particularly pleased with the last day's work, when our Company was opposed to the rest of the battalion, and Captain Roberts cleverly out-manœuvred the enemy and gained a decisive victory. We learnt more about night operations during this than during any previous camp.

1912-13.—This year Captain Roberts left us, and was succeeded by Lieutenant, later Captain, C. L. Macdonald. Mr J. G. Madden joined the Corps as lieutenant. Several important changes are to be recorded. For the first time a sergeant-instructor, whose whole duty was to look after the Corps, was appointed. This change was bound to lead to a great increase in efficiency. Hitherto we had only had a share of the services of one of the instructors attached to the Queen's Edinburgh or the University O.T.C. Colour-Sergeant Shrigley, H.L.I., was the first man appointed to the post. The old building at the east gate was cleaned up and made into an orderly room. The miniature range was built in the field, and the musketry course was fired in it instead of on the open range at Hunter's Bog. The old miniature range outside the gymnasium was demolished, and the arches were again thrown open.

We were very successful in the March examination for Certificate A, and headed the list of all the schools of the country with nineteen successful candidates. Two more passed in the November examination.

We had a field day by ourselves at Malleny, which proved useful for examination purposes, and another, which we arranged at Dalkeith in conjunction with the University, had to be cancelled on account of snow. On 23rd May we took part in the Scottish Schools Field Day in the neighbourhood of Rumbling Bridge. On 12th June we were inspected by Major Merrick, D.S.O., of the War Office, and in his report he described us as one of the best contingents he had seen, and commented very favourably on the excellence of the N.C.Os.

In shooting we won the Brock Shield. The range was so foggy that we had to fire twice at 200 yards. We were 24th in the Ashburton. In the Spencer Cup at Bisley, H. J. Underwood tied for first place with a possible, but on shooting off the tie he dropped to fourth. A successful landscape target competition was held on the new miniature, and was won by No. 4 Section of B Company.

Camp was at Barry, under Major Nicholson of the Cameron Highlanders. We had good weather and more ground than usual, but not enough work.

OFFICERS' TRAINING CORPS.

1913-14.—Lieut. J. G. Madden took over command in the summer term during Capt. Macdonald's absence on leave in India.

Sergt.-Instructor Shrigley left us, and his place was taken by Sergt.-Major A. Scott, late of the 1st Royal Scots.

The miniature Range became a hive of activity during the winter terms. Practice, however, did not produce a great improvement in the shooting of the VIII. in the summer—4th in the Schools Trophy, 4th in the Brock Shield, and 25th in the Ashburton—which was remarkable only for the feat of a recruit, I. D. Cameron, who scored 62 at Bisley.

Two field days occurred in the course of the year, one near Millerhill in February, and another, on a much larger scale, in the summer term. The latter, near Crowstone, provided much enjoyment and perhaps a little instruction. Glenalmond, Loretto, Fettes, and ourselves, under Major A. H. Buchanan-Dunlop, launched an attack on Edinburgh Academy and George Watson's, who were defending Binn's Tower and tea. A section and a half from our No. 1 Platoon, whose ingenuity deserved a better reward, had joined the Major in anticipation of a swift arrival at tea, but we were disappointed in that the Major himself could not find it for some time.

Twelve Cadets obtained Certificate A.

The annual inspection was carried out by Capt. A. T. Paley (Rifle Brigade), General Staff, War Office, who expressed "pleasure and surprise" at the manner in which the Corps drilled.

Camp was again held at Barry. Discipline was of a much stricter character, and the camp was very little of a holiday. On the 2nd of August great excitement prevailed when the news of the outbreak of the European war was announced.

1914-15.—The war note strengthens. In the course of the year, in addition to the Corps masters, Capt. Macdonald and Lieut. Madden, eight Masters "joined up," including five from the Preparatory. Five boys left for the same purpose during the winter.

Capt. E. A. Gaussen assumed command, and Mr W. S. Oaten was granted the rank of 2nd Lieutenant.

The Miniature Range was in commission day and night by the 5th Royal Scots and the Edinburgh Military Training Association.

Much more time was devoted to the work of the Corps. Training in the field increased and tactical exercises of all kinds, in which N.C.O.s were taught to use their own initiative. This, in spite of the fact that the War Office called in, at first, 90 per cent. of the serviceable rifles, and later all D.P. weapons.

The Udný Yule Competition was staged for the first time, and was won by No. 2 Section (Cpl. F. M. Elliott).

No. 7 Section (Cpl. M. M'Lellan) won the Landscape Target Competition.

Major C. H. Stisted inspected the Contingent on the 15th of June. He expressed entire satisfaction with the excellence of the Corps and warmly congratulated the Officers and N.C.O.s on the results obtained.

No annual camp was held.

Officers' Training Corps.

1915-16.—Mr J. M. Bell became 2nd Lieutenant in place of 2nd Lieut. W. S. Oaten, who had joined the R.F.A. Boys joined the Army at the end of every term.

The University O.T.C. returned fifty-five D.P. rifles, and the Masters became very expert at tailoring the larger uniforms to meet the needs of smaller recruits. The Corps, therefore, retained some smartness in appearance.

Extra drill and more intensive training much improved the efficiency and discipline of the N.C.O.s.

The miniature range was still very busy. All 68 recruits passed the recruits' test, and 99 out of 136 passed the more difficult classification test. The VIII. secured 11th place in the "Country Life."

Signalling was added to the curriculum and aroused a great deal of keenness among the cadets.

No. 4 Section (Cpl. R. S. Findlay) obtained 1st place in the "Udny Yule," and the Band (Pipe-Major W. A. Wighton) won the Landscape Target Competition.

A field day was held over Mortonhall Golf Course, where the bunkers provided good cover.

Lieut.-Col. Ogilvie presented a prize for the most improved cadet during the year, which was awarded to C.S.M. M. M'Gregor.

The annual inspection was conducted by Capt. A. H. Wootton, of the 10th Officer Cadet Batt. His report stated that "the contingent had reached a high state of efficiency."

1916-17.—Mr S. H. Lockyer joined the Corps with the rank of 2nd Lieutenant.

An additional supply of seventy-five rifles and bayonets enabled the whole contingent to be armed, but bad weather in the October term greatly reduced the number of drills. Arrears were partly wiped out by a highly successful and instructive field day on a cold but clear day in late December.

Lieut.-Col. C. L. Macdonald and Capt. W. S. Oaten were visitors during the year, each delivering an interesting lecture. Lieut.-Col. Macdonald's subject was "The New Form of Attack," and Capt. Oaten spoke on "The Co-operation of Artillery and Infantry."

A big outpost scheme and field day in the summer term denoted no slackening of activities. The N.C.O.s emerged with flying colours on both occasions.

The VIII. was 5th in the "Country Life," and the Band again carried off the Landscape Competition.

A successful annual inspection was followed at the end of the term by a long camp at Murthly. Even unpleasant weather in the last fortnight did not deprive the outing of its pleasure or damp our enthusiasm. The fact that we were entirely by ourselves increased the enjoyment of the whole proceeding.

1917-18.—On Capt. Gaussen's departure, Lieut. S. H. Lockyer took over command. Mr B. Colgrave joined as 2nd Lieutenant.

A notable increase in the size of the Corps is shown by the numbers, 163 of all ranks. A busy October term was concluded by a very successful field day in December.

In the Easter term bayonet-fighting was introduced, a very welcome innovation, which aroused even more keenness than signalling had done. Towards the end of the term the Edinburgh schools assembled near Gullane for a field day, which was followed by a criticism of the morning's events by Brig.-Gen. Crofton-Atkins.

Officers' Training Corps.

"Spanish influenza" interfered greatly with the programme of the summer term, but the "Udny Yule" was carried through to a protracted conclusion, the Band again emerging easy winners.

Lieut.-Col. W. J. B. Tweedie, C.M.G., inspected the contingent on 15th June, and reported very favourably on the discipline, turn-out, and general efficiency of the Corps.

1918-19.—2nd Lieut. Colgrave ceased to act with the contingent. R.S.M. Lever (late Royal Scots Fusiliers) joined as instructor, and was of great assistance.

The numbers increased to 170, all ranks.

The O.C. and eighteen senior Cadet N.C.O.s, with Lieut. Gilkes, R.S.F. (attached M.C.O.T.C.), attended the Usher Hall ceremony, when His Majesty the King was presented with a Gold Casket by the Lord Provost.

A letter from the Army Council in March expressed warm appreciation of the efficient soldiers turned out by the contingents of the Junior Division, as had been proved in all despatches.

In the summer term a whole day was devoted at Currie to Tactical Exercises. These were conducted by Cadet Officers, under the C.O.'s instructions, and afforded valuable lessons in how to conduct an Advanced Guard and an Attack, whose value was enhanced by the final criticisms of Major Preston, D.S.O., Adjutant, E.U.O.T.C.

No. 4 Section (L.-Cpl. M'Lellan) was first in the "Udny Yule."

The Burgess Memorial Competition was inaugurated. The Silver Cup was won by Cpl. D. D. B. Cook, and the Bronze Cup (open to those not in the VIII.) by Cadet W. M. Brown.

Cadet Officer N. A. Logan was awarded the Col. Ogilivie Prize.

The annual inspection was made by Lt.-Col. C. L. Macdonald, D.S.O. (O.M.), who, while praising the efficiency of the Corps in general, commented specially on the good word of command of the junior N.C.O.s.

For the first time since 1914 the annual camp was again held, this time at Hedderwick. Those who had previously been to Murthly found a great difference between the free and easy discipline there and the strict military routine of Hedderwick, but the camp was voted generally a great success.

1919-20.—Lieut. E. Ll. Lloyd was granted a commission and appointed Second-in-Command of the contingent.

The Certificate A. Examination was revived. Five out of six candidates obtained certificates.

In March an Edinburgh Schools Field Day in the country, between Drem and East Linton, afforded much enjoyment. Mackie spent the day in the General's car, talking to the General's chauffeuse and eating the General's lunch. (There were many applications to take up bugling after that day.)

No. 9 Section (Cpl. Crawford) was at the head of the list in the Udny Yule Competition. Cadet Chapel won the Burgess Memorial Silver Cup. The Col. Ogilvie Prize was awarded to Cadet-Officer A. O. Wishart.

The summer term saw the revival of firing on the open range.

On 29th June Lieut.-Col. I. Mackenzie, C.M.G., D.S.O., O.C. the Royal Scots Infantry Brigade, inspected the contingent and submitted a very good report to the War Office.

Barry was again the site of the annual camp. Pipe-Major T. Ogilvie and his Band did very well in winning the Band Competition.

1920-21.—Capt. Lockyer resigned command of the contingent, which devolved upon Capt. Lloyd. R.S.M. Pridmore ("Q.P.") filled the place vacated by R.S.M. Lever.

Officers' Training Corps.

Five candidates were successful in the November and six in the March examinations for Certificate A.

The 11th of March was the date of the customary Easter Term Field Day, when the Corps were taken to Juniper Green by motor bus, "to bring out the lesson that troops should be made as comfortable as possible under the circumstances."

The Dreghorn Open Range was the scene of many a shooting match in the summer, but they were all lost, handsomely. So much progress, however, was made by the VIII. in the course of the term that their petition to be sent to Bisley was acceded to. They did badly, obtaining the 47th place, but gained valuable experience.

No. 1 Section (L.-Cpl. K. Logan) were successful in the Udney Yule Competition, which was carried through in spite of an outbreak of measles. The work of the term was seriously interfered with and the Corps was unable to attend the annual camp.

1921-22.—Major C. I. Watts, late of the Devonshire Regiment, assumed temporary command of the contingent.

The O.T.C. was reorganised as a complete company, the recruits constituting No. 4 Platoon.

A D.P. Lewis Gun was obtained to assist in the training of the cadets. The hope that we would eventually get eight guns has proved a vain one.

Preparation for the Certificate A. Examination was the chief item in the programme for the Easter term, which was remarkable in that for the first time for many years the Corps didn't have the enjoyment of a whole day in the field.

Col. Lesslie, C.B., C.M.G., G.O.C., Royal Scots Brigade (T.F.), to which we were affiliated, paid us a visit and spoke to us on the subject of our raison d'être. Major Watts resigned at the end of the term. Capt. Lloyd resumed command, and was assisted by Mr S. W. Harris as 2nd Lieutenant.

Ten candidates were successful in the Certificate A. examination, and we had an improved year in shooting, being 5th in the Brock and 29th out of fifty-eight schools in the Ashburton. J. Roberts, with a splendid "possible" at 500 Yards, won the Spencer Cup—a great performance.

No. 3 Section (Cpl. Proudfoot) won the Udney Yule Shield.

A very good report was obtained as the result of the annual inspection on 4th July.

Camp at Barry proved unpleasantly rainy, but some Cadets were not sorry because, the tents being too wet to strike, the number of tent fatigues was reduced.

1922-23.—A busy October term was marked by five passes in the November Certificate A. Examination. In the March examination no less than nineteen were successful.

A field day was held on 16th November at Glencorse, where much "blank" was expended, to no useful purpose but to everybody's great delight. An enthusiastic officer was alleged to have got into difficulties with a thorn-bush, but the rumour was never substantiated.

Early in the summer term another day was spent in the field at Slamannan. The N.C.O.s nobly captured objective after objective, while the rest of the company proceeded slowly along with intervals for sleep by the roadside.

More shooting matches than usual were won on the open range, but the record of the VIII. in open competitions was not very good—4th in the Brock, 20th in the "Country Life," and 46th at Bisley.

The Burgess Silver Cup was secured by C. McCall and the Bronze by G. Pendle.

Officers' Training Corps.

No. 4 Section (Cpl. P. Wilson) won the Udney Yule Competition.

Wireless telegraphy was commenced in October, and was offered for the first-class signal test in Camp. Camp at Stobs was dull and very wet. The only bright spot was J. Hunter's success in the Bugling Competition.

The Inspecting Officer's report concluded, "A very efficient unit with a good pipe band. The training is on sound lines."

1923-24.—The number of successful candidates in the Certificate A. Examinations was remarkable—seventeen in November and seventeen in March—and provides a fair indication of the work covered in the winter terms.

A field day on the 4th of June was barren of humorous incidents, but furnished an instance of even closer contact with the enemy than in the trenches. "No. 1 Platoon, having found a convenient wall, fired merrily over it, in the meantime exchanging pleasantries with the enemy who were lining the other side of the wall."

No. 4 Section (L.-Cpl. Ramage) were first in the Udney Yule Competition.

The unremitting perseverance of the Shooting VIII. was rewarded by a clear lead of 4 points in the Brock Shield Competition, but Bisley conditions again triumphed over our warriors.

The Inspecting Officer reported favourably on the efficiency and smart appearance of the unit, but commented on the lack of suitable ground for tactical work.

Our inability to attend camp was much deplored. It deprived the Band and buglers of an opportunity of gaining glory and distinction.

1924-25.—Mr Harris left us, and his place was filled by Mr C. B. Shepperd.

Fourteen candidates obtained Certificate A., a goodly number in view of the successes of the previous year.

Field day, 10th June. The heat of the day, combined with the highly spirited nature of the opening operations, in which No. 7 Section surrounded and overpowered a prisoner, induced great thirst and drowsiness about lunch-time. The conditions were too much for two unfortunates, who got sunstroke. They were taken home in a car, to the envy of the weary remainder, who were faced with a long march.

Much credit is due to the Pipers (Pipe-Major H. R. Gray) for their success in the Udney Yule Competition.

The Burgess Silver Cup was won by H. J. Sinclair and the Bronze by A. J. Wright.

Indifferent shooting by the VIII. at Bisley was partially redeemed by Russell's 31 at 500 yards in the Spencer Cup. It earned him a bronze medal.

The annual inspection report again sounded the note of lack of opportunities for tactical work.

The sands of Montrose provided a much pleasanter site for camp than the mud of Stobs. The canteen arrangements were disappointing, and we had only one success in the various competitions, that of J. G. Thornton in bugling, but it was, on the whole, an enjoyable week.

1925-26.—Captain Lloyd resigned the command of the contingent, which was taken over by Capt. Shepperd. Mr O. G. Miller joined as 2nd Lieutenant.

The October term was almost a blank one as far as parades were concerned. The majority of the boys decided that they would best justify their existence by radiating sunshine in the melancholy wards of the City Hospital. It must be granted that they succeeded.

Officers' Training Corps.

Special credit is due to the nine candidates who obtained Certificate A. in these trying times.

For the first time for many years not a single field day was arranged, and none has been arranged since. Unfortunately, there is little likelihood of a revival of these useful and enjoyable functions. They were unquestionably of great value to Certificate A. candidates, even if the juniors looked upon them only as holidays.

The Burgess Silver Cup was awarded to D. W. Lucke and the Bronze to W. Steven.

A week of perfect weather and very much improved feeding rendered the camp at Blair Atholl wholly delightful. The training was strict and proved very helpful. Leburn won the Bugling Competition, so that Merchiston housed the Silver Bugle for the third time in four years.

1926-27.—The abolition of field days not only deprives the O.T.C. of valuable instruction but renders the task of the recorder of its activities less easy. A full programme of work was carried through in all branches. Competitions, such as the "Country Life" and "Strathcona"—the latter open to cadets under seventeen—maintained interest in shooting in the winter terms. Three days a week in the summer, the VIII., with a numerous retinue of markers and flag-bearers, cycle out to the open range at Dreghorn. Our shooting in the "Brock" at Dechmont was good, but would have been better if every one had fired on his own target. At Bisley a very good start at the 200 yards range was ruined by the last two, Lamb and Steven, having to shoot in a torrential downpour.

Lieut.-Col. C. M. Hore-Ruthven, C.M.G., D.S.O., of the War Office, carried out the annual inspection and expressed special appreciation of the capabilities of the Cadet Officers and N.C.O.s.

The camp at Blair Atholl "must go down to posterity as one of the best of recent years," in spite of a plethora of such commands as: "The parade will fall out. Pull kits into tents and fall in again, wearing ground sheets." A light but plucky tug-of-war team reached the final, and gave promise of development, which was borne out by their success at Elie two years later.

1927-28.—Mr E. O. Connell joined the Corps with the rank of 2nd Lieut.

Few years in the life of the School Corps have witnessed such activity and keenness among the boys as this. Glenalmond had provided the Demonstration Platoon at camp in July, and had evoked our admiration by the high standard of their work. We were to furnish the Demonstration Platoon at the next camp, and were determined to put up as good a show as Glenalmond had done. Regular Army N.C.O.s, from the Royal Scots Depot, who were detailed to help us, reported good progress and much enthusiasm. It was gratifying to see the eagerness on the part of all eligible cadets to be included in the platoon. When, in the summer term, it was known that there was to be no camp, everybody was greatly disappointed. We were to a great extent consoled, however, by the thought of having a second year of the same training.

The Shooting programme was fuller than ever. An interesting match was that against Loretto in March, when we had the honour of being the first team to compete against them on their new range. We got third place in the "Brock" and improved on our previous efforts in the Ashburton by scoring 441—our highest score of the season—and being placed 32nd, as compared with 45th the previous year.

1928-29.—Capt. Shepperd left us: consequently the command of the unit devolved on Mr Miller. Mr A. L. Beasley joined the Corps, and took over the Shooting; and Mr Connell, charge of the recruits of No. 4 Platoon.

The Demonstration Platoon was early formed and entered on its programme of training at once. One disadvantage of providing the Demonstration Platoon was that it entailed the disbanding of the Signallers.

Much activity at the miniature and open ranges produced some improvement in the Shooting. We were 3rd in the Edinburgh Public Schools Trophy and in the "Brock" with scores of 436 and 453. A score of 442 under rather trying conditions raised us to 20th place in the Ashburton.

The Burgess Silver Cup was won by J. D. A. Anderson. The Bronze Cup had to be given up as the money given before the war is not sufficient to buy two cups of pre-war value.

Seventeen Cadets obtained Certificate A in the course of the year.

The annual inspection was carried out under difficulties among the excavations on the playing fields, but a good report was obtained on the work of the Corps.

Camp at Elie was distinctly a success. Rain robbed the competitions of much of their interest, but the diminutive Hendry was 2nd in bugling, we were 2nd in the Guard Mounting Competition, and won the Tug-of-War fairly easily. R.S.M. Pridmore ("Q.P."), who joined us in 1920. retired this year and his place as Sgt. Instructor was taken by Sgt. W. Scott (The Royal Scots).

1929-30.—In the winter terms the weather was unkind on parade days and an excessive number of classroom parades had to be included in the programme. In the summer term, training was carried out on the new estate at Colinton where the varied terrain proved an immense boon for tactical work. Owing to an outbreak of illness and the consequent early closing of school in July, the Contingent did not go to camp. The annual inspection was carried out at Colinton by Lt.-General Sir Percy de B. Ratcliffe, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., D.S.O., resulting in a good report.

Nineteen boys passed Certificate A during the year.

The miniature range was in constant use and the standard of shooting showed a general improvement. The first competition for the newly presented I. D. Campbell shield took place.

On the open range, scores did not come up to expectations and the VIII. took third and fourth places in the Edinburgh Schools' Competition and Brock respectively. The senior members of the VIII. shot well at Bisley but the tail collapsed and the school took a low place in the Ashburton.

1930-31.—Mr R. G. Aitken joined the Corps as Lieutenant, and Mr T. E. Rodd as 2nd Lieutenant.

Training facilities at the new school were much appreciated, and the new armoury and store rooms were a great improvement on those of the old school. The gym and cloisters proved a useful asset for arms drill, etc., during periods of snow and rain. A signalling squad was restarted during the year. The annual inspection was carried out by Major G. C. Bucknall of the War Office, who gave the Contingent an excellent report. Annual camp was cancelled as part of the national economy drive.

Miniature range shooting was handicapped by the absence of a range at the new school, but our difficulties were eased by the friendly co-operation of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders who allowed us the use of the Redford Barracks range. The VIII. was second in the Schools' Trophy competition and third in the Brock, but did not enter for the Ashburton.

Officers' Training Corps.

1931-32.—2nd Lieutenant E. O. Connell resigned his commission.

Normal work was carried out this session and thirty-three cadets gained Certificate A. A good report came from the inspecting officer, Col. J. H. Mackenzie, C.M.G., D.S.O. (Merchistonian), who carried out his duties in heavy rain. The miniature range at Redford was again used, but the amount of practice fell short of that possible with a range on the spot. Possibly as a consequence the VIII. only finished fourth in both the Schools' Trophy and the Brock, and also came well down the list in the Ashburton.

1932-33.—Captain A. L. Beasley took over command of the Contingent on the resignation of Capt. O. G. Miller, and continued to be assisted by Lieut. R. G. Aitken and 2nd Lieut. T. E. Rodd. Twenty-three cadets passed Certificate A. The G.O.C. in C. Scottish Command, Lt.-General Sir Archibald R. Cameron, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., inspected the Corps and gave it a good report. Owing to infection the Contingent was unable to go to camp for the fourth successive year.

The miniature range at Redford was again in use every Friday. Once more the VIII. fared badly in the Schools' Competition and in the Brock, and though Cadet W. L. Innes tied for the Ranken Cup he was beaten in the shoot-off. No team was entered for the Ashburton.

1933-34.—Lieut. R. G. Aitken and 2nd Lieut. T. E. Rodd ceased to serve with the Contingent on leaving the school. Candidates for Certificate A were all entered for the March exam., instead of some then and some in November. This enabled the work of the Contingent to be carried out with less interruption. Twenty candidates passed. Demonstrations and route marches were introduced in an attempt to make up for absence from camp the previous year. Fortunately, nothing prevented the Contingent from going to Elie this year, and, in spite of the fact that only one member of the Corps had been under canvas before, a very enjoyable and successful week was the verdict at the end.

Col. J. C. E. Hay, M.C., T.D., commanding the 156 Infantry Brigade, inspected the Contingent during the summer term and reported a very high standard of efficiency.

During the session cadets laboured to excavate a site for a miniature range behind Gibson House, and it was nearly complete by the end of the summer term. Encouraged by this the VIII. won the Edinburgh Schools' Trophy and, going from strength to strength, carried off the Brock Shield a week later. They did not fare so well at Bisley for, after being 8th on the morning shoot in the Ashburton, a collapse at 500 yards in the afternoon brought them down to 24th.

1934-35.—Mr E. O. Connell rejoined the Contingent with the rank of Lieutenant.

Normal training was carried out and 22 Certificates A were gained. A War Office inspection took place in the summer term, the inspecting officer being Col. H. J. Simpson, and his final summing up was: "The Contingent has reached a high standard of efficiency and is possessed of an excellent spirit. It has fully maintained its past high standard." Camp was held at Elie, and the tactical work of the Contingent benefited very considerably from an excellent week's training.

Much more shooting was done on the miniature range, both in and outside parade times. Open range shooting, which should have benefited from the extra time spent on the short range, was disappointing, the VIII. taking fifth place in the Schools' Trophy and the Brock. With the same score in the Ashburton as last year, only 32nd place was achieved.

Officers' Training Corps.

1935-36.—Lieut. E. O. Connell resigned his commission on account of other school activities.

Thirty-two candidates passed the Certificate A exam.

The annual inspection was carried out by a Merchistonian, Col. Bruce Turnbull, commanding 155th Inf. Bde., and he reported the Corps' efficiency as average. Camp was again held at Elie and, as a prelude to hard work, the Contingent marched to the Waverley. The first three days were wet, but just not sufficiently bad to make life under canvas unbearable. A break in the clouds cheered up campers and visitors alike at the week end, and, though the remaining four days were not all that they might have been, the Contingent put in a lot of good work and returned home undaunted. Camp report confirmed that the standard of training was above the average of other schools. Cadet D. W. Hendry won the Silver Bugle.

Miniature range shooting showed much better results, the VIII. being 10th in the Country Life Competition, and a junior team 14th in the Strathcona. These results were not repeated on the open range, where the school took third place in the Schools' Trophy competition and went right down in the Brock. It was decided not to enter for the Ashburton this year.

1936-37.—Mr T. E. W. Durrans and Mr D. C. V. Roberts joined the Contingent as 2nd Lieutenants.

Post Certificate A training was introduced for cadets who had passed the exam. but were not able to get a command. The number of boys holding the Certificate (34) was nearly a record, in spite of the Contingent strength being almost the lowest ever known at 108. A field day was held in conjunction with the 1st Bn. The Gordon Highlanders and Daniel Stewart's O.T.C., and the Contingent saw some of the newly issued equipment which was to become the standard throughout the army. The Udney Yule section competition was held as usual just before camp, which again took place at Elie under fine weather conditions. The Silver Bugle was won for the second year running by Cadet D. W. Hendry.

The Contingent was inspected by Lt.-General Sir Charles Grant, K.C.B., K.C.V.O., D.S.O., G.O.C. Scottish Command, and he reported that he was most impressed by the work he saw.

Miniature range shooting facilities were greatly extended by the installation of lighting over the targets so that practice for all boys could be managed between tea and prep. each evening. In the Schools' Trophy the VIII. was 4th and in the Brock 6th, neither placings very promising for the Ashburton, and in fact the VIII. took the lowest place (72nd) they have held at Bisley for many years.

To encourage junior shooters on the open range a new trophy was presented by H. A. Thompson, Esq., and was shot for during the summer term for the first time.

1937-38.—Mr M. S. Preston joined the Contingent as a 2nd Lieutenant.

Post Certificate A courses were again held this year, consisting mainly of lectures and demonstrations by army personnel. T.E.W.Ts. varied the monotony. A field day was held on the Pentlands in the Woodhouselee area, and this was witnessed by Brig. C. A. G. O. Murray, D.S.O., commanding 153rd Inf. Bde., who later carried out the annual inspection. With both he appeared very pleased, considering the Contingent keen and alert and with a very good spirit and "feel" about it.

Ninety-three cadets went to camp at Elie and, in spite of knowing the area almost too well, N.C.Os. and cadets showed that their tactical knowledge had been much improved by the series of lectures and T.E.W.Ts. during the winter. Hendry won the Silver Bugle for the third year running, a feat never before accomplished, and the band very nearly carried off the coveted competition trophy, losing narrowly to the Edinburgh Academy.

The VIII. was 4th and 5th in the Schools' Trophy and Brock competitions. At Bisley the team shot well on the days before the Ashburton, but, like so many of their Merchiston predecessors, suffered so severely from nerves on the actual day that the final place of 69th was little better than last year's disastrous result.

1938-39.—The command devolved on Capt. M. S. Preston on Major Beasley's departure from the school, Lieut. T. E. W. Durrans and 2nd Lieut. G. de G. Sells assisting. 2nd Lieut. D. C. V. Roberts resigned. The Contingent was reorganised to conform to the new drill and began marching in threes instead of in fours. Company drill ceased to be wanted and the emphasis was transferred to platoon and section work. A field day was held in conjunction with the Royal Scots Fusiliers and Fettes, an honourable draw being the result of the battle.

Twenty-four cadets gained Certificate A.

This was the turn for a War Office inspection, and it was duly carried out by Major T. G. Rennie, General Staff, the report showing little change in the standard of efficiency. Owing to army commitments in other spheres, annual camp was cancelled.

Shooting was definitely on the upgrade this year, and the VIII. won the Schools' Trophy, though succumbing to Glenalmond and the Edinburgh Academy in the Brock. No team went to Bisley.

1939-40.—Weekly parades in uniform had to be abandoned in case of an air raid, otherwise work on the new section tactics went on unhindered except for a platoon of senior boys who were enlisted in the Home Guard under University S.T.C. command. These members of the Contingent were trained in the defence of Edinburgh and were at all times in a state of readiness.

Nineteen cadets gained Certificate A.

Shortage of ammunition reduced activities on the miniature range, but the VIII. took 12th place in the Country Life competition. Open range activities were on a much smaller scale also, and there was no Brock competition either this year or any of the following war years. Shooting for the Edinburgh Schools' Trophy took place, but the VIII. only managed to achieve 4th place.

JUNIOR TRAINING CORPS.

1940-41.—For mainly political reasons, the term Officers' Training Corps was changed to Senior Training Corps for University units and Junior Training Corps for School ones. A new Cert. A exam., more thorough in practical work but without any written papers at all, replaced the old one: a corporal's exam rather than a subaltern's. Capt. M. S. Preston left for an O.T.U. in December, and Mr E. O. Connell rejoined as Lieutenant to command, introducing a system of training based on that of Capt. S. H. Lockyer, the best O.C. of his own schooldays. As some of its features have been retained for over 20 years, they should perhaps be given in some detail:—

1. Instruction of cadets was carried out entirely by Cadet N.C.Os., prepared for the task by the O.C. and P.S.I., and in Command Courses.

Junior Training Corps.

Platoon Commanders were responsible for Drill and Tactics; Platoon Sergeants and Section Commanders for Weapon Training and Map Reading—the four Cert. A subjects.

2. There was instituted a weekly Corps Conference, when the O.C. and platoon commanders discussed policy, past and future parades, and promotions, which were awarded as each N.C.O. in his new command showed his quality—not rigidly at the beginning of each term, as formerly.

3. All Post Cert. A cadets were drafted into a Demonstration Platoon, commanded by a Cadet N.C.O. who has passed a P.T. and Leadership Course at Redford or Aldershot. An Assault Course was constructed in the Dell for their use. The commander's task was to develop self-confidence and leadership in his cadets, so that a supply of competent section commanders should always be available. Again, good work was rewarded at once by a Lance-Corporal's stripe. Carefully prepared demonstrations were also given to junior platoons, run entirely by the platoon commander and his subordinates, adults merely advising with the mounting, in the early stages.

4. As usual, the summer term was devoted to tactics, but platoon commanders were made realise that one of their main tasks was to prepare the best of the younger section-commanders for more responsible posts next year. Preparation for the Annual Inspection was cut to a minimum (scandalising some inspecting officers) as it was felt that in war-time, training time was too valuable to be spent on practising set-pieces or a march past, and criticism of a normal day's parade would be of more value.

Formation of an A.T.C. Unit.—An Air Training Flight was formed in January; 20 boys joined, membership being open to all those who had passed Cert. A (afterwards merely Cert. A Part I). Those who intended to serve in the Royal Navy or Royal Air Force usually joined, to benefit from the instruction in navigation and aircraft recognition so efficiently provided. No. 524 Flight, A.T.C., under F/O. A. H. Humphries, was a most successful unit: indeed, in 1944 it suffered a surprise inspection from Headquarters, to find out if the brilliantly high proportion of Advanced Training Certificates (see below) had been legitimately earned. After interrogating the candidates, the officers readily admitted they were all up to standard, but were still mystified as to how it had been done!

Shooting.—The Cavalry Cup (presented to the School by a Redford R.A.C. unit in gratitude for sports facilities) was allotted to the A.T.C. and shot for on the miniature range. D. Gordon, Esq., father of G. D. Gordon of the A.T.C., also presented a cup this year for Recruits' Miniature Range Shooting. For the duration, the entire conduct of shooting was handed over to Sergeant-Major Scott and the Captain of Shooting: the success of the VIII. in the war-time Edinburgh Area competition (first, second, second, first) reflects the greatest credit on all concerned.

Training.—By the end of 1941, "The Lockyer System" had fully justified its introduction, the increase in initiative and military competence of senior cadets being most marked. However, the dislocation consequent upon the departure of nearly half the N.C.Os. to the A.T.C. seriously embarrassed its start. Temporary permission was therefore obtained for eighteen months to enter certain cadets for Cert. A up to six months under the prescribed minimum age. The younger cadets fully justified their selection; one of the earliest is now a Major in the Parachute Regiment. In the place of peace-time compulsory Annual Camp, three compulsory Whole Day Exercises were decreed by the War Office; two were held immediately prior to the start of the summer term, and the third at mid-summer: that of 1941 merits description.

Junior Training Corps.

The J.T.C., representing a German parachute company dropped well west of Torphin hill, mounted an attack on the line of Colinton Home Guard posts set up against such a possibility; and at their urgent request, some of the A.T.C. were permitted by the H.G. to act as "fifth columnists". The J.T.C. performed creditably, but were no match for their more experienced opponents occupying in full daylight long prepared positions; but the A.T.C. covered themselves with glory, and tales of their fiendish, and sometimes successful, cunning are still told by former members of the Colinton H.G. For instance, Cpl. A. J. McInroy, disguised as a bakery van-boy, wiped out single-handed a small H.G. post with bombs concealed in a baker's delivery basket; Cpl. G. D. Gordon, attired in battle-dress with Canadian regimental flashes and speaking in a mixture of broken English and what he hoped would be taken for Quebec French, nearly put paid to another, but aroused the eleventh-hour suspicions of a former resident in French Canada, who (luckily for the H.G.) happened to be in that particular post.

The Annual Inspection was conducted by Major D. R. Currie, M.C., The Royal Scots, who stressed the Army's lack of trained junior leaders compared with the Germans. He approved of the steps being taken to produce a supply of them from the contingent.

1941-42.—The syllabus for Certificate A was again changed, and the exam. was divided into two parts, Part I. being taken by cadets at the end of their first year of training, and Part II, when they had reached section leader standard. Both parts were awarded on practical exams. An increase in the number of really excellent Command Courses run for the more senior cadets led to increased efficiency. Training films were introduced. Two field days were again held just prior to the summer term, but the third, due for the middle of the term, was cancelled on account of bad weather.

As the old kilts and tunics could not be replaced under war-time conditions, battle dress had to be substituted as the old wore out. Even glengarries could not be renewed and the Contingent lost its characteristic appearance.

In the absence of Capt. Connell through illness the Corps was temporarily commanded by Mr F. A. Rhodes. Part of the Contingent joined other Scottish schools for a week under canvas at Fairmilehead at the end of the summer term in lieu of an official camp. No competitions were held as in peace-time camps, the emphasis being on training. An inspection of the Contingent at work was carried out by a War Office representative early in the year.

Twenty-five full Certificates A were gained during the session.

Shooting activities were again restricted, but the VIII. won the Edinburgh Area J.T.C. Cup; the Schools' Trophy and Brock competitions being both in abeyance till the end of the war.

The A.T.C. continued to be popular and 17 Proficiency Certificates were gained during the year. An A.T.C. camp was attended for the first time and keen interest was shown by all ranks, particularly when it came to actual flying.

1942-43.—The Contingent was reorganised in platoons by age groups. Post Certificate A training apart from the A.T.C. consisted of signalling, P.T., motor cycle instruction, and tactics. The reduction in the army enlistment age produced a dearth of senior N.C.Os., but in spite of this the efficiency did not drop. The annual inspection was conducted by Major W. R. G. Smith, M.B.E., Assistant Inspector General of the Training Corps, the War Office, and he reported satisfactory progress.

Junior Training Corps.

Part of the Contingent again joined other schools at camp at Gosford House, this time in huts, and, as a result of good organisation, a very enjoyable and useful time was spent there. We welcomed the presence there of Capt. G. E. Richardson, afterwards Headmaster of Melville College and Rector of Dollar Academy. Second in Command of Fettes, who were prevented by an epidemic from going to camp, he asked if he might come as our second in command, and proved most popular and useful.

On the miniature range the standard of shooting continued to be good, and on the open range the VIII. were second in the shoot for the Edinburgh Area Cup.

The A.T.C. varied their training during the session with visits to R.A.F. stations, where they were able at times to use the Link trainer. The year was completed by another week in camp with the R.A.F.

1943-44.—Training continued this year on the same lines as last, with the usual field days before the beginning of the summer term. The third exercise consisted of night work, the success of which can be judged by the fact that no cadets got lost. The annual inspection was carried out by Col. D. H. G. M'Cricrick, commanding Edinburgh Sub-District, and he commented favourably on the keen spirit of the Corps. Camp was held at Selkirk in huts, but, as the commanding officer was not permitted to go for health reasons, Mr Rhodes again stepped into the breach.

The VIII. were 8th in the Country Life competition on the miniature range and, for the second year running, just failed to make top place in the Edinburgh Area Cup at Dregghorn.

The A.T.C. continued last year's series of visits to R.A.F. stations, cadets actually handling the controls while flying. Seven cadets passed the Advanced Training Syllabus examination.

1944-45.—Night exercises were held in the middle of the summer term but, from the experience gained last year, on a rather smaller scale. The usual two field days were held just before term began. Col. A. E. E. Chitty, D.S.O., Inspector of Training Corps and A.C.F., the War Office, visited the school and saw the Contingent at work and commented on its keen spirit and alertness. Mr Roberts was recommissioned with the rank of lieutenant for service with the Corps on his return to school in the summer term. As the programme for the Scottish Schools' Camp, based on the needs of new local Cadet Units, was unsuitable for us, we camped in school on our own immediately after the end of term. This experiment proved very successful, training being done on the Pentlands during the day and training films being shown in the hall in the evenings. In spite of the absence of the Contingent from the bigger camp, our competitors went to Barry for the Sunday competitions, and the Merchiston representative brought back the Silver Bugle.

Thirty-seven full Certificates A were obtained during the session.

The VIII. were 12th in the Country Life competition, and on the open range won the Edinburgh Area Cup by an easy margin.

The A.T.C. continued to function and, as a variant to normal instruction, took up gliding with much success.

1945-46.—Capt. Connell continued to command the Contingent up to the end of the autumn term, after which Lt.-Col. A. L. Beasley took over on his return from war service. The war-time system of training was left unchanged and all instruction continued to be done by Cadet

Junior Training Corps.

Officers and Cadet N.C.Os. Post Certificate A work was made up of courses in signalling, I.C. engine, and leadership. The annual inspection was again carried out by Col. Chitty, who reported a good and live unit, cadet N.C.Os. being very good, commanding and instructing with confidence and ability. Equipment which had been taken away during the war began to come back and the armoury once more housed enough S.M.L.Es. for all cadets. Three full days' training were put in during the summer term on the hills in the Noblehouse area, considerable assistance being given by the Lowland I.T.C. from Dregghorn Camp. A Scottish Schools' camp was held, but the date was fixed so late in the season that we were unable to join it.

In the Country Life competition the VIII. shot well and came out 8th, but their promise on the miniature was not followed up on the open range. The Brock and Edinburgh Schools' Trophy competitions were restarted this year, Merchiston coming 5th and 3rd respectively. The low result in the Brock was to some extent redeemed by C.Q.M.S. R. W. Hall winning the Ranken Cup for the school.

The A.T.C. ceased to exist at the end of the summer this year and all members joined the J.T.C.

1946-47.—Lieut. D. C. V. Roberts resigned his commission on leaving the school, and Major M. S. Preston gave considerable help in his place without actually joining the Contingent.

As an experiment the old-established two parades per week was reduced to one, the Wednesday parade being dropped and the Friday afternoon one slightly lengthened. The effect of this, if any, did not show this session when a record number of Certificates A was gained, bringing up the total number of cadets with either Part I. or Part II. to 152 out of 159 who were qualified by age to take the exam. New equipment continued to arrive and, in particular, enough Brens to make instruction on this weapon possible. So many cadets held Certificate A that it was possible to extend the Post Certificate A course to include a Certificate B syllabus. This was only achieved through close co-operation with the University S.T.C., who provided instructors and the special equipment not met with in the J.T.C., namely Piats, mortars, and bayonets. Twelve cadets gained the Certificate on the infantry syllabus, and four on signals, a very satisfactory result for a first effort.

In view of the introduction of official camps again, only one field day was held in the summer term, in the Malleny area. Brig. R. G. Collingwood, D.S.O., commanding 155th Inf. Bde., inspected this year and gave the Contingent a very good report. A record number of cadets from Merchiston attended camp at Barry, starting by marching to the Waverley in intense heat and spending seven days under canvas during which the sun never seemed to set. As a result of good weather, good demonstrations and good feeding arrangements, the camp was voted one of the most enjoyable and most profitable ever known.

Shooting on the miniature range was put on a voluntary basis, any boy who wanted to being able to shoot after dinner or after tea. On the open range the VIII. had their first experience of aperture sights and the No. 4 rifle which is to be standard for the Ashburton. In the Schools' Trophy competition we came 2nd, but carried off the Lothian and Border Cup awarded to the Edinburgh school with the best 200 yard score. In the Brock we were fourth. In the first post-war visit to Bisley the VIII. finished 23rd out of 68 in the Ashburton.

1947-48.—Mr C. O. R. Phillips joined the Contingent with the rank of lieutenant, thus releasing Major Preston. Post Certificate A training continued as courses in signalling, I.C. engine, and Certificate B. In the latter, 12 cadets passed. One field day was held and, during the course of the day, the Certificate B candidates fired Sten, Piat and mortar. Major-General Hakewell Smith, C.B., C.B.E., M.C., G.O.C. Lowland District, inspected the Contingent and reported it a most efficient unit.

One hundred and forty-three cadets went to Dundonald for camp. Training areas were not very good and accommodation was in huts. The weather was very good and quarters comfortable, but as a camp it failed in its main purpose, namely, to give cadets experience of tactics on as varied types of ground as possible.

Fifty-one Certificates A were gained on the Part II. standard.

Voluntary shooting on the miniature range was reorganised on a Divisional basis, with the Cavalry Cup as a trophy for annual competition, each Division entering a team from Rogerson and one from Chalmers, with the aggregate score to count. All shooting on this range was also changed over to aperture sights. Open range shooters were fifth in the Brock, though Cadet A. M. Duthie won the Ranken Cup. A week later they were third in the Schools' Trophy, but once again won the Lothian and Border Cup for the best score at 200 yards. At Bisley the VIII. did well at 200 yards on Ashburton day, being only 9 points behind the leaders, but cracked up at 500 yards and finished 43rd.

COMBINED CADET FORCE.

1948-49.—Major J. M. M'Swiney, D.S.O., M.C., joined the Contingent and served with it one year.

Under new regulations the Contingent could be run as a combined army, navy, and air force training corps, hence the alteration in its designation. For the time being it was decided to confine activities to the army section and, as a consequence, training was unaffected. The University S.T.C. also changed its constitution and the Certificate B exam. was abolished. The standard of the Certificate A exam. was raised without altering the syllabus, but, in spite of this, 46 candidates passed Part II. Signalling continued with good results, and a Gunner section was started, using 25 prs. loaned by the University or the Contingent's own newly acquired 6 pr. anti-tank gun. The inspection by Brig. B. Daunt, D.S.O., commanding 105th Coast Artillery Bde., R.A., went off satisfactorily, and the report gave the general impression of a good unit with very good cadet officers.

One hundred and fifty-one cadets went into camp at Barry in the standard type of army cottage tent which was found to be more comfortable and better protection against the weather than the old bell tent. Weather conditions were good and profitable training was enjoyed. Catering was poor and the general impression was that, in spite of the good training areas, this was not such a good camp as the previous one at Barry two years before.

The firing point hut on the miniature range was enlarged to take six firers at a time instead of four, and a new system of lighting was installed over the targets. Divisional shooting was won by C. At Dregthorn the VIII. was fourth in the Schools' Trophy but carried off the Lothian and Border Cup. In the Brock they were sixth, and it was decided not to enter a team for the Ashburton.

A Merchistonian team shot throughout the session against the school, against the University, and in the Public School Veterans' competitions on the miniature range and at Bisley.

Combined Cadet Force.

1949-50.—Capt. C. P. Chamberlin took over the command from Lt.-Col. Beasley, who retired from all active connection with the Corps except for shooting. Training continued on the same lines, but no field day was held. A very satisfactory report was received after the annual inspection, which was conducted by Brig. T. N. Grazebrook, C.B.E., D.S.O., D.D.M.P., of the War Office. One hundred and thirty-five cadets went under canvas at Barry at the end of the summer term, and with good weather conditions made profitable use of their time. There were only five schools in camp this year, the remaining ones being in an English camp, so the Band Competition had to be held during the term. The new arrangement seemed to suit us, as our band won for the first time in thirty years. The successful pipe-major was B. K. Mann and drum major, D. H. Fleming Brown.

Forty cadets passed Part II. of Certificate A.

D division won the Cavalry Cup for inter-divisional shooting after two very busy terms on the miniature range, where any boy who wished could shoot during the times allotted to his division. The VIII. did not have a very successful season, being third in the Brock, fourth in the Schools' Trophy and 45th in the Ashburton. These results were particularly disappointing as on paper it seemed as if the team was a stronger one than usual. A new challenge cup for Rapid and Snap, presented by the brothers Ian and Ashley Duthie each of whom had been shooting captain in his year, was fired for this summer for the first time. Practice for this cup was also rewarded by the VIII. coming 10th in the Public Schools' Snap and Rapid at Bisley. The Merchistonian Club entered two teams for the Veterans' Trophy. fired after the Ashburton.

GENERAL REVIEW: 1950-1961.

TRAINING

General.—In the decade under review, Friday afternoon training has been concerned with map-reading, fieldcraft, drill and weapon training with a view to passing the Basic Test and the Proficiency Exam, the new names for Certificate "A", Parts I and II, and it is rare for anyone to leave without passing these tests. Instruction is provided by the Cadet N.C.Os. with Regular assistance only for drill. The Basic Test is a Contingent responsibility, but the Proficiency Exam is judged by a Regular Board, usually in the School grounds.

Special.—After passing the Proficiency Exam there is a choice of specialist training in:—

- (a) N.C.O. cadre;
- (b) Gunnery (disbanded in 1960);
- (c) Signals;
- (d) Engineers;
- (e) Civil Defence;
- (f) First Aid;
- (g) Life Saving.

Camp.—Up to about 1957 Camp training was on fairly stereotyped lines—section and platoon tactics, map reading, digging defensive positions, patrols, night schemes and range work.

Latterly the emphasis at Camp, both in the summer and at Easter, has been on "adventure or arduous" training wherein groups are sent out for 48 hours or more and have to find their way over rough country, make their camps, cook their food and not be miserable in the process.

Combined Cadet Force.

Band.—From 1956 the Band Competition has been held in the summer term at one of the competing schools, instead of during the Summer Camp. Merchiston was host school in 1951 and 1962. The average number of schools competing was 11, and in the twelve competitions between 1950 and 1961 Merchiston's placing has been: 1, 6, 2, 2, 6, 9, 11, 9, 3, 7, 9, 11.

Instructors:—Piping: H. Gates, 1943–1961.
D. Black, 1961–.

Drumming: J. H. T. Smith, 1948–1962.

In the Highland Dancing event of the Band Competition during the eleven years 1951–1961, Merchiston's placing (out of an approximate seven) has been: 2, 2, 1, 1, 1, 4, 1, 1, 1, 2, 1.

PUBLIC OCCASIONS

State Visit of Her Majesty, the Queen—1953.—The Contingent took part in "Street Lining" in Edinburgh on 24th June.

Centenary Celebrations of the Cadet Forces—1960.—The East of Scotland Schools attended a service in St. Giles on 3rd July, followed by a march-past along Princes Street where the salute was taken by the Lord Provost of Edinburgh. Sgt. P. de G. Gaudin and Sgt. A. A. E. Glenton were present at a parade of the C.C.F. at Buckingham Palace on 22nd July, where the inspection was carried out by the Queen. Afterwards a service was held in Westminster Abbey.

Installation of the Governor of Edinburgh Castle.—The Contingent is represented on these biennial parades.

Massed Bands.—In the summer term the Band participates in the beating of Retreat by the massed bands of the Edinburgh Schools on the Castle esplanade.

THE PREPARATORY SCHOOL, 1891-1930.

"The Prep" was started by Dr Rogerson in October 1891, following a suggestion from J. J. Guise, afterwards Secretary to the School. Its conduct was entrusted to Mr. Henry Mortimer Rush, who guided its fortunes with marked success for thirty years.

For a term, prep boys used what was then the Grant Museum (afterwards the Sixth Form Class-room) and a small room off it as a changing-room for games; the two boarders, however, slept and fed with boys in the Castle. This temporary measure was necessary while Merchiston Lodge, a house immediately to the east of The Bank, was being purchased from Mr. and Miss Burgess and being made ready for use. The Prep started with 16 boys, increasing to 22 by the end of the year.

Next term, starting in October 1892, there were 36 boys, of whom 8 were boarders and were now housed entirely in The Lodge. Numbers continued to grow and premises be enlarged to meet them: writing in 1912, Mr. Rush said that a limit was fixed at 90, but the proportion of day-boys to boarders, whose numbers could not be further increased, was much increased after the war. Landmarks in this voyage of expansion were: 1898, Mr. C. E. Dunlop opened a temporary overflow house for boarders in Mardale Crescent; 1900, Merchiston Villa was purchased; 1903, Merchiston House, across Colinton Road from The Lodge, was purchased; 1908, the east wing of The Lodge was pulled down and rebuilt, the whole school wired for electricity, and the playground to the north of The Lodge and The Bank drained, levelled and asphalted.

In its final form the Preparatory School, of some 40 boarders and 80 day-boys, comprised Merchiston Lodge, centring round the Headmaster's Study and Masters' Common Room, with one large and several small dormitories, a Reading-Room, Dining-Hall, small Plunge Bath, and the usual necessary offices. The day-boys entered the premises by a gate between The Lodge and The Bank, opening on to an asphalted walk which provided a sloping start for feats of roller-skating and also sliding in frosty weather, and which expanded into the main Upper Playground north of The Lodge and The Bank, on the site of what used to be the gardens of these houses. This was bounded on the west by a high wall, in front of which was a small workshop dedicated to basketry and raffia-work, and a gate, usually kept locked, through which gym classes passed to the Castle Gymnasium nearby. On the north ran a line of class-rooms in which most of the work of the School was carried on and the day-boys changed for games. The two most westerly of these were separated merely by folding doors, and here in this double class-room the whole School started the day with prayers, roll-call and the recital, by one or two boys picked at random, of some verses from the Bible, learnt for the occasion by all the school—an admirable custom. This double room was also used for the boarders' preparation, the Saturday Detention—an ordeal inflicted upon miscreants if more than 30 "stripes" had been awarded for bad conduct during the past week—concerts, and similar functions. East of this line of rooms was a lavatory containing hot-and-cold basins and tin foot-baths, used by day-boys after exercise and by the whole school during the working day. From this a low wall topped with a railing ran southwards, dividing the play-ground into two parts on different levels. At its southern end was the Prep Armoury and Shop, a very small building joined to the kitchens of The Lodge, in which were kept a set of light cavalry carbines, most of which however had the familiar Lee-Enfield bolt, for the more senior boys to practise arms drill with; and a store of miscellaneous stationery goods, from which "Sergeant" supplied the needy. The upper playground sloped to a central line in which were two drain covers: in frosty weather certain portions were flooded with hot water by the boarders in the evenings, producing the most wonderful long ice slides, on which some boys became extremely expert: what masters, hurrying across the playground on a dark evening, thought about them is not recorded. The lower playground to the east was seldom used except by the senior boys for primitive games of soccer or tennis, for which it was not really suitable, as all sorts of local rules had to be made to deal with the hazards created by the intrusion upon the playground area of a large lavatory, an even larger carpentry shop, and the small promontories formed by the sets of steps at each end of the railings dividing the upper from the lower playground.

Beyond the Carpentry Shop to the south was the sunken basement of The Villa, which housed on its ground and first floors the class-rooms of the two top forms, and several music rooms; doubtless the basement and top floors were used to provide sleeping accommodation for domestics and resident masters, but we day-boys, at any rate, never enquired as to what went on in the rest of The Villa; perhaps we were too much taken up by the ingenuity of the Fourth Form Boarders, who spent wet Sundays constructing the most ingenious "bug-runs" on and through the gently sloping lids of the desks, many of them substantial bits of furniture transferred from The Castle and bearing the initials or names of heroes of old. The rooms were warmed by good big fires in winter. "Bug" was the name given to small lead shot; the aristocrats of the "bug" world were the steel ball-bearings then just coming into production. Winding and branching grooves on the surface, and tunnels bored by red hot pokers or steel knitting pins, provided hours of recreation for the more practical among the senior boarders during wet week-ends, and the authorities wisely turned a blind eye to any damage that may have resulted. Finally, across the road were the comparatively extensive grounds of Merchiston House, in which lived the Headmaster and his family, a house tutor and other masters and two dormitories of boys. An extension at the back provided changing rooms and stone foot-baths for all the boarders. An expanse of grass at the north side of this longish building was just large enough to provide the turf needed for a couple of cricket nets and their necessary changes of position when the turf got worn: many a good batsman owes the foundation of his skill to the invaluable practices carried on in these nets after tea in the summer term. Promising day-boys living sufficiently near at hand, as well as all the more promising boarders, attended these practices.

The Prep had the use of the School Playing Field, usually at an earlier time of day than the Castle. Football was played on the Wall Ground, The Slope, and on "Our Own Field" as Mr. Rush always called it. Prep 1st XV. matches were played on the Wall Ground, for the Prep. Field had a sloping surface with numerous transverse ridges and was hardly suitable for matches. It had, however, the great merit of excellent drainage, play being often possible upon it when all other grounds had been declared unfit; it was often "borrowed" by Castle fifteens—even on occasion by the 1st XV. itself, for practices. The Prep XI. played matches on specially shortened pitches on the edges of the 1st XI. Square; lower games having pitches near the Wall Ground and The Slope; "our own field" was left alone in the summer for a well-earned rest: even Attewell would have been unable to construct a satisfactory cricket pitch out of its battle-scarred and Alpine surface.

Work in the Prep aimed at attaining Common Entrance standard, though the top form went considerably further. Liaison between the two staffs ensured that the methods and syllabi of the Prep provided a firm base for subsequent studies in the Castle, and J. H. Tait, in his Short Account of the School, was undoubtedly right in his statement that "boys who enter the School through the Preparatory as a rule do better, both at work and games, than those who have been grounded under a different system". The Prep profited by the services of some splendid masters, several of whom accepted the compliment of an invitation to join the Castle staff; turnover among the staff was less rapid than in most preparatory schools, and in consequence there was greater continuity in the teaching. The junior games in the Castle, also, benefited greatly by having a nucleus of boys—amounting sometimes to a third of a particular group—who had been really efficiently grounded; the writer well remembers the extra difficulty he encountered, as a football coach of first-year boys, when the stream of experienced recruits from the Prep finally dried up in the early thirties. Boys from other schools, often with greater natural ability for the game, learnt rapidly from the example of these well-drilled cohorts.

But it was not all gain. It was difficult for the Headmaster of the Castle to turn away a sub-standard Common Entrance candidate if he had been several years in the Prep; nor could the Headmaster of the latter be expected to have as wide contacts with alternative public schools as his opposite numbers in independent preparatory schools. For several years before the demise of the Prep, some astute headmasters of other preparatory schools, faced with the problem of a future for a rather dull little nine-year-old, hit upon the crafty expedient of advising parents of such boys to send them to the Merchiston Prep, thus shifting a heavy responsibility off his shoulders. The lower half of the Castle new entry suffered inevitably unless, as was seldom the case, this ruse was seen through; and several of the Castle staff greeted with mixed feelings the news that the Prep was to be no more.

For with the move to Colinton at a time of financial stringency, the Governors were unable to find the capital to build a new preparatory department, and attempts to rent suitable premises failed. Sadly, the Prep came to an end, boys of 11 years and upwards being absorbed in the senior school, and the rest going elsewhere. It was a good school and a happy school: all over the world you will meet men who tell you they were "at Merchiston", though you will not find their names among the Register of Boys in this volume. You will find they are old Prep boys, and proud of it.

37. After second paragraph, read:—Team-building for a Swimming Team started in earnest in January 1962; and after drawing a match with Loretto and winning one with Fettes in the summer term, our four fastest swimmers won an Inter-Schools 4×50 yards Relay in the fast time of 1 min. 48.2 sec.—a result which is as creditable as it is surprising, in view of the much greater experience of Watson's, Heriot's, Royal High and Boroughmuir, the other competitors.
